"Dear Mother and Father—Well I said I would do it and I done it. That long talked about trip across the pond is safely made.

"We had a long trip—just two weeks on the boat. Only three days of rough sea, but these were very rough, waves coming clear over the boat. Only two days of excitement over submarines and that was when we approached England. A boat was sunk about 30 miles ahead of us. A freight boat I think, and we had to put back to sea for a day and then sneak into harbor in the night. We were on a big, fine boat, 786 feet long ,70 feet wide. Two smoke stacks. We had pretty poor feed most of the time and oh such a bunch of sick ones. But I was never a bit sick. I didn't miss a meal or pay a cent. I traveled third class so we slept away down below the water. The band played a concert nearly every afternoon and sometimes it was so rough we nearly slid off the deck.

"We got off the boat yesterday morning and marched a long way to a train and rode all day real fast, getting here at 7:30 p. m. We had to march about three or four miles out to this camp. We were about all in when we got here for we got pretty soft on the boat.

"We are near a good sized city and only a few miles from that famous largest city. Our weather here is as near like Michigan as can be. No snow, but cold and rainy.

"We are in buildings here about like those at Jefferson Barracks only not as good, and our beds are straw mattresses on the floor.

"The Y. M. C. A. is a real treat and a home to us here and everywhere. We get two meals a day here and slim ones at that, but I guess "dey am healthy."

"This is suppnsed to be a rest camp so all we have to do is eat and sleep, but neither is very satisfactory. We will only be here a few days and then will continue our journey, but that is not far now and not dangerous.

"England is a pretty country. The towns all look alike. The houses are all made of brick and are built on the same plan. We don't like the Britishers or the English soldiers for they try to walk on us sometimes, but they do not make it out.

"Tomorrow is Easter Sunday. I don't know if we get eggs or not. I am hoping that I can go to church somewhere tomorrow and make it seem like old times again. The boys are all having a fit because tobacco is so high priced. Forty-eight cents for a five cent sack of Bull Durham, but that doesn't bother we at all.

"Well, I will close and write again very soon,

"Lovingly, your son,
GLENN R. DOLBERG."

HAD RESIDED HERE SINCE BOYHOOD

Death Takes Another of Charlevoix's Pioneer Residents

John C. Miller, one of the best known residents of this section, died at his home on Hurlbut avenue at 11:30 o'clock p. m., Sunday evening, April 28, after an illness of nearly a year, although not confined to his bed until about five weeks ago, the direct cause of his death being a complication of diseases.

Deceased was born in St. Lawrence county, York state, in 1847. When about ten years old he moved here with his parents, who took up a homestead on what is known at the present time as the Webster farm in Hayes township. After living there a year, they learned that the land belonged to the railroad company, and moved to what is now the Coulter farm, where he resided for a number of years, then retiring from farming and moving into this city.

He was united in marriage in 1883 to Mary E. Rockey. To this union was born one son, Merritt B., who with the widow survive him.

Mr. Miller was one of the successful farmer business men of the region and attained his prosperity through his own well directed efforts.

He has done much for the upbuilding of the city, and was ever alert and progressive. He was widely known and held the respect of all who knew him.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Quinton Walker officiating. Interment at Brookside.

Kelly-Springfield Tires and Tubes

We have taken the agency of these famous tires and tubes and have them now in stock. From what we have been able to learn there is not a better tire made and sold on the market today. They insure all pneumatic tires bearing their name and aerial number to be free from imperfections in material and workmanship and if upon examination they are found to be defective, they will replace them upon the following basis: Plain tread 5,000 miles; Driving tread 6,000 miles; Kant-Slip tread 6,000 miles. In Ford sizes—Plain tread 6,000 miles; Kant-Slip tread 7,500 miles. What fairer offer can be made by any manufacturer or dealer?

Goodyear Tires and Tubes

When you buy a Goodyear Tire from your dealer, and it is delivered to you over his counter, think of it not alone as a product purely utilitarian, a servant of your comfort and your need; but view it also in the light of its larger accomplishments. Think of the many miles of service you are obtaining and the security of knowing that the tires under you will hold up at any stage of the game and give you the very best of service. There is a great deal of satisfaction in this—just knowing that when you start out a day's or hour's ride, you will not be obliged to stop on the road and make a shift in tires. This is but a sample of the service the Goodyear tires and tubes will give you. Are you a user? Why not—hundreds right here in Charlevoix city and county are.

We have other tires in stock, but especially recommend the two mentioned above.

VOLUME 26. NUMBER 20. TEN PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1918. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

NEW CITY CHARTER DISCUSSED

CITIZENS MEETING HELD AND CHANGES EXPLAINED

Every Voter in City Urged to Study Proposed Charter in Order to Vote Intelligently on Issue

A meeting was held at the Court House Tuesday evening, to discuss the proposed new charter for our city, which is to be voted on June 3. Mayor Rose presided and called first on Chairman Hompton of the Charter Commission, who outlined the differences between the old charter and the proposed new one, briefly, these changes are:

1. Abolishment of partisanship in all elections, all nominations and elections to be regardless of party lines.

2. Elimination of ward lines.

3. Three commissioners (one of whom acts as Mayor) take place of six aldermen and Mayor. The commissioners also to act as Board of Review, Board of Health, and Cemetery Board, and as Supervisors.

4. Appointment of a City Manager who is to have general supervision and direction of all public utilities, such as water and light plant, streets and sidewalks, sewers, parks, etc. Also is head of the police and fire department. He will name hos own assistants and subordinates and "hire and fire" without interference by commissioners, being held responsible for the efficient and economical conduct of the various departments under his management.

5. The initiative, referendum and recall, these being measures intended solely to give the voters a larger and more direct influence and control over legislation and legislators.

There are many other changes of a minor nature, all believed to be for the good of the city, but the foregoing are the ones that will attract most attention, and over which the arguments will center. The Courier has printed this charter in full, and if the reader has not perused it, he should do so, for only by reading it can he obtain an intelligent idea of its provisions and thus be able to vote as he deems best for the interest of the city, on its adoption.

The other members of the Charter Commission present all spoke briefly, commenting its new provisions and refuting some of the arguments and objections raised. One, that the salary of a competent city manager would have to be very high, was spiked by the reading of a report on salaries paid all over the country, wherein it appeared that City Managers in towns of frum 2,000 to $10,000 inhabitnnts were being paid all the way from $1,500 to $3,000 per year, and that in Cadillac they pnid $2,000, Petoskey, $1,800, Albion, $1,500, Crand Haven, $1,800 and Big Rapids only $1,200. Alpena with 13,000 population anly $2,500. If other cities can find good men at these salaries, so can we.

Several citizens spoke in favor of the new charter, and two or three in opposition but the majority of those present were unquestionably in favor of the new plan of putting city business on a real business basis, the same as any individual citizen would conduct it if it was his own private investment. While the crowd was not as large as it should have been, those present naked numerous questions and exhibited commendable interest in this important matter.

We should like very much to see a "joint debate" on this proposition with the arguments on either side presented in full, and suggest that Mayor Rose, as the head of city affairs, undertake to bring this about before the election takes place. We believe the proposed new charter should be adopted. We are heartily in favor of the new plan, and we are sure that in an open discussion, any open-minded citizen will be convinced that we should adopt it in Charlevoix.

Made a Safe Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shapton of Marion township, received the information Tuesday morning of the safe arrivnl of their son Leslie, somewhere "over there." Hundreds of U. CHARLEVOIX GIRLS ARE PATRIOTIC

Miss Helen Armstrong Rewarded For Excellent Service Given

Charlevoix girls are not behind in patriotism, as shown by their work. In Chicago, Saturday afternoon and evening of last week, at the State Centennial Pageant given by the Illinois Foderation of Women's Clubs for war service work, there were over 2,500 in the east representing the state's history in music, tableaux, pantomime and dancing. It is interesting to know Miss Helen Armstrong trained several hundred high school children and designed their costumes for this event.

Miss Armstrong has been rewarded for her exeellont work in her profession, as the Chicago Normal School of Physical Education has appointed her director of their summer camp for girls at Saugatuck, Michigan.

CHARLEVOIX RECEIVES HER HONOR FLAG

Now Flying From Flagstaff at Court House

An Honor Flag and streamer now fly from the flag pole at the Court House, announcing to the world that Charlevoix county has exceeded her quota. The honor flag comes from U. S. government. Streamer is the work of Mrs. Irn Adams, who very industriously and deftly made the streamer itself, and of Mr. and Mrs. Dice, who cut and placed upon the streamer the beautiful lettering.

APPRECIATION OF GOOD WORK DONE

EXPRESSED BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANK AGENT

Avers Success of Liberty Bond Sales is Due Greatly to Work of Citizens

R. W. Kane, chairman of the local Liberty bond committe, received the following letter from J. B. McDougal, governor, of the Federnl Reserve Bank, District No. 7, in which he, in behnlf of the Fedearl Reserve Bank of Chicago, in which district Charlevoix county has been placed, expresses his appreciation of the work accomplished during the Liberty Loan activities. The letter is self explanatory:

"On behalf of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, as fiscal agent of the United States Treasury Department charged with the duties and responsibilities of handling Liberty Loans in this District, I wish to express sincere appreciation and most cordial thanks to those workers in Liberty Loan activities who have not been in the public eye, but who, nevertheless, have done the work that they have been called upon to do, both patriotically and cheerfully. This class represents a vast army composed of committeemen and solicitors, bank clerks, railroad employes and employes of other firms and corporations in Chicago and other cities and towns throughout the district.

"Subscriptions in this district number, in round figures, some 2,500,000 and the work involved in the handling of this enormous number of subscription means intensive labor and long hours, nnd it is on the army of workers just mentioned that this burden falls to a large extent. This work is all done voluntarily, without expense to this bank or the Treasury Department.

"An additional word of appreciation should here be expressed to those employers who have co-operated in such splendid manner and made such assistance possible.

"Those workers who have been in the public eye have to some extent been repaid by the enthusiastic applause of the public, and while fully appreciative of their efforts this public acknowledgment is particularly directed to those other earnest patriots who have worked so hard during the campaign without special notice by the general public and who will necessarily continue to be netive in this connection for some time after the campaign is over, in segregating subscriptions, tabulating them and taking care of the details relating to subsequent payments to be made."

SUGAR RECORD MUST BE KEPT

PERMIT SPECIFIES AMOUNT THAT CAN BE USED

Steps Taken to Guard Against Hoarding and Conditions Experienced Last Year

Sugar is again occupying the attention of the U. S. Food administration for Michigan, which believes it has the situation well in hand and that its new modified certificate system will prevent the recurrenee of any acute sugar shortage, such as worried the public and the adminstration last winter.

Every retail dealer in Michigan has received certificates, the execution of which will entitle bonafide purchasers to buy sugar for legitimate canning purposes.

C. A. Prescott thinks it would be unwise to allow the sale to consumers of more than the maximum quantities that have held during the past several weeks. On the other hand, there is a legitimate demand for larger quantities of sugar for preserving, canning and pickling and the food administration has determined that individuals desiring sugar for these purposes should be allowed to have larger quantities under a certificate plan. This policy has been adopted in order to make sure home canners may obtain sufficient sugar to preserve perishnble fruits and at the same time to place a check upon those who would endeavor to obtain unreasonoble quantities for household consumption. The check on consumption will be exercised through the retailers—considered a much more satisfactory method than the card system adopted in other countries—chiefly to guard against temporary shortages that may occur if more vessels are diverted from the Cuban trade and at the same time to assure a supply adequate to meet the extensive demand hoped for from home canners.

Sugar Certificates

Blank certificntes have been sent to county administrators in sufficient quantities to supply their retail dealers. "It must be distinctly understood," says Prescott, "that sugar must not be sold for preserving and canning purposes unless a record is kept of each sale upon one of these

SAYS ALLIES WILL HOLD GERMANS

"SAMMIES" READY FOR BIG SCRAP AHEAD OF THEM

Lieut. Victor H. Hampton Given a Command—Writes Encouragingly of the Outcome

The parents of Lieut. V. H. Hampton received several letters last week, and with the more personal paragraphs eliminated, we print them below. He has been given command of the place where he is now located, temporarily at least, but where it is and what he is doing, remains unsolved.

Somewhere in France.

"Dearest Mother: I am just in receipt of eight letters from you, the last being dated February 15th. They were evidently held up in some way as I received more recent ones some time ago. Some of the letters were written while you still believed I was in the U. S., and it seems funny to be just reading them now. I was tickled to death to get the one with your picture. Seems so good to eee my little mother's face, if only a photo. At the time you wrote on February 15th you had received no mail from me. I presume, however, you have received mail from me ere this. There are many things to interfere with mail service. It has to be censored and at times transportation for it is scarce. They do the best they can, but it is an enormous task to look after the incoming and outgoing mail.

"I have received just one box and three magazines but am expecting others to show up any day now. You see I moved just about the time my mail began to come through, and it takes some time for it to catch up with me again.

"Am perfectly well and very comfortable where I am at the present time, and don't need anything except candy. Have a craving for sweets which I can't satisfy.

"The big German push is now on as you know. We have every confidence over here that they will fail to break through. It ought to be decisive, and no doubt the Boche will begin to think of peace ere long, and then for the big reunion at home.

"I do wish you could see the place where I am, or that I could tell you about it. It is wonderful in every respect, and decidedly interesting. We had a band concert last Sunday that you couldn't beat any place. It sounded good, I tell you. Have met many fine chaps over here but haven't run across any former acquaintences though am apt to at any time. Don't worry about me for I am all right in every way. No chance for anything to do me harm physically, morally or temporally. Take good care of yourself and everything is bound to come out all right, sooner or later.

VIC.

"Dear Folks: Was busy Sunday so did not write my usual letter but will do so now. It has been raining here for the last few days, but it is beautiful and sunshiny today. Easter Sunday was also nice and we celebrated with roast turkey and cranberry sauce. It supplanted new bonnets and suits very well. I received more mail recently hut it was all older than letters that you had written, but I was mighty tickled to get them and learn that Dad and I fooled mother, and that you received cablegram safely. Am feeling fine and lately have had a little rest, but am now working my head off now and then.

"I am with present organization, Hendquarters Co., 6th regiment, U. S. Marine Corps, for observation and instruction for them, or for myself, I hardly know which. I like it very much. Find myself much more comfortable and with pleasant associates. The officers are nearly all regular army men. Don't know how long will be here but no doubt will receive a new assignment eventually.

"I have lots of money and am not now in a position to spend it. It is hard to get things except in the larger towns. Haven't time to write more and there is nothing more to write, except to send some writing paper. Heaps of love to all.

VIC.

April 7, 1918.

"Dearest Mother: Yesterday I was busy cleaning clothes and giving myself a sponging so did not get around to write my usual Sunday letter. It has rained here every day for so long that I have forgotten. Not all the time, but little dropping showers every so often. Your last letters were dated in January and February so find it hard to answer them. Am feeling first rate. Have my baggage with me, and don't really need anything, although socks, candy and cigarettes are always acceptable. We get the war news here by the Paris editions of the Herald and Tribune, but they contain little news of the States, and letters and things from home are awaited eager-

DEATH CLAIMS ARTHUR BEATTIE

WAS ONE OF CHARLEVOIX'S PIONEER SETTLERS

Had Been Ill Since December of Last Year—Funeral to Be Held From the House

News of the death of Arthur Beattie, one of the best known farmers of Marion township, came as a great surprise to the residents of this city, as it was not generally known that his illness was of a serious nature.

Since last December he had been under the care of a physician, his first illness being the grippe, which later developed into other serious ailments. He was taken to the Petoskey Hospital on Sunday, May 5, for treatment. On his arrival a minor operation was performed, but no change in his condition was noticeable until Monday of this week, when the change came which resulted in his death at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, caused, as stated, by a complication of diseases.

Deceased was born near Howell, Livingston county, Michigan, March 6, 1857, and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. He was married April 8, 1885, at Maple City, Michigan, to Miss Elizabeth Hulme. To this union were born seven children, five boys, Clifford of Waco, Texas; Leslie, warrant officer in the U. S. navy, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Orville, of this city; Roy of Saskatchewan, Canada and Forrest, who lives at home and two daughters, Mrs. Earl Dodd of Marion township and Mrs. Louise Shapton, of Muskegon.

Mr. Beattie came to Charlevoix in 1882, and purchased the farm on which he lived up to the time of his death, then a homestead, partially cleared and but a few acres under cultivation. By his thrift and business ability, he aequired considerable acreage, which is considered to be as good farm land as can be found in the county. He was a good neighbor and held the esteem of all whom he came in contact with.

The surviving widow and children have the deepest sympathy of their host of friends in the loss of a husband and father. Funeral services will be held from the home as soon as out-of-town relatives can be heard from.

Red Cross Social

Local workers of the Red Cross located near the Hopyard school house, in Hayes township, will give a social on Saturday evening of this week. It will be a "serve-self" affair, everything costing but five cents. After supper a short program will be rendered and short addresses by speakers. Proceeds of the affair will be given to the Red Cross.

BAD NEWS FOR KAISER BILL

MEN IN KHAKI ARE PLANNING HIS FINISH

Rev. Parshall Dons Uniform of U. S. A. Medical Department—Expects to Move Soon

Rev. R. C. Parshall writes an interesting letter from Columbus Barracks and tells of his first experiences in the services of Uncle Sam. According to his letter, he must have enjoyed his first days' work in the mess hall, and we hope he will have an extension of time for eating his meals, as it seems to bother him somewhat.

Columbus Barracks, May 8.

"Editor Courier: Lots of 'bad news' here for the kaiser. The bad news is in khaki—men that are men after your own heart. We have men here from Minnesota and West Virginia and every state between.

"I donned the uniform of the U. S. medical department Saturday and have been going ever since. Was assigned to the kitchen, 'mess hall,' Monday afternoon. I did not notice the sign 'general mess' till after we had a turn at it. If there weren't a general mess here some of us would try to make one. The standards here are not quite up to the level of cookery as it is practiced in Barnard, but we get good 'chow.'—Will Burns will smile when I say that we have only about fifteen minutes to eat and maybe he will say something. If he does don't repeat it.

"I do not know how long we are apt to remain here. I understand that the medics go to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. If I get anything, even by stretch of the imagination that resembles a permanent address, I will let you know, as I want to hear from friends.

"To my people, whom I loved to serve as pastor, permit me to say through your columns, that they are upon my heart day and night. I think very highly of the boys in khaki and those about me seem to welcome me whole-heartedly. As a private in the ranks, I have been able to do a turn for my master many times each day. I had charge of fourteen men from Crand Rapids to Columbus and you could have knocked the bunch down with a feather after we got here and I told them I was a preacher. And it was amusing to see how astonished the crew in the room were to which I was assigned, when one of them asked me point blank what my work was in civil life, and I gave my answer. They said 'put her there, old man,' and gave me a handshake that meant welcome.

"Have just heard rumors that wa shall proceed to camp soon. But I don't go much on rumors. Orders are better than rumors. Sincerely yours,"

R. C. PARSHALL.

SMALL BLAZE AT HART RESIDENCE

Spark From Chimney Starts Small Blaze on Roof of House

About 7:15 Wednesday morning the fire department was called to extinguish a small blaze at the Hart residence on Clinton street.

Fire caught from a spark from the chimney and burned a small hole in the roof. With the help of a garden hose and the neighbors, the fire was nearly extinguished before the arrival of the fire department. No damage was done to the interior of the house.

Junior Red Cross Notes

Applications have been placed on file and sent to Dr. Dooley of the Central division of the Junior Red Cross for Deer Lake, Harbor school on Beaver Island, Tainter school in Evangeline, Chaddock school of South Arm, Clarion village school, German settlement school and Nowland school.

This week applications have been received from Fair Grove school, Phelps, Sunny Side and McGeagh school.

The Fair Grove pledge of service is simple and to the point. "We pledge loyalty and service to the American National Red Cross." Their list of activities includes bonnets and booties as refugee garments for the babies of France.

You should have seen those Beaver Islanders of all sizes, ages, sexes and description knitting and collecting jokes and cutting patches for lap throws. They give every Friday afternoon to hand work for the Red Cross. The grammar grade room of the Harbor school has a school Thrift Card and many of the students own cards of their own.

A very original and old-fashioned application was received from Mr. Dewey in Phelps. He was so happy that every word was purposely misspelled but it told the story that they had gone "over the top" in their Junior Red Cross work and were ready for business. It told us also that Junior Four Minute men were organized there just as they are in the city schools.

Phelps and Sunny Side of Beaver Island hold the rural school record for Junior Four Minute men work. Word comes also that some very successful Four Minute speeches were delivered in the German settlement school and it may be that other rural schools have taken up the Four Minute work and that the commissioner had not learned of their success.

The Ranney school will hold its fund social on Friday, May 10. The Junior Red Cross chapter school committee plan on attending the social.

The Gardening man, Volz, from M. A. C. was in the county May 6th and 7th to instruct in club extension work and to help organize new food clubs for boys and girls. Only a few clubs can be organized and in every place possible, four or five districts are asked to get together in an agreement to co-operate before the county leader, Mrs. C. F. Smith, to assist them in organizing. Chairman of the school committee, Miss Stewart, is glad to assist in every way possible but only six or eight of these clubs can be taken care of. It is such a big demand at the present time, we must urge teachers and patrons to consider carefully their local leaders and the amount of boosting which they can support throughout the summer months before asking assistance of the school committee and county leader.

Don't forget that I keep a complete line of Ford repairs constantly in stock—Benj. Brown. 20tf

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the liver, organs [illegible] internal sanitation [illegible] portland than outdoor [illegible] cause the skin pores [illegible] impurities into the [illegible] bowel pores.

TRIED MURDER AND SUICIDE

Echo Township Scene of Crime, Friday Night

Alex LaValley, of Echo township, clubbed his wife into unconsciousness, and, leaving her presumably dead, went to a near-by barn and attempted suicide by hanging. Both efforts were failures.

The affair took place last Friday night, following a lengthy quarrel over property. Mrs. LaValley retired about midnight. LaValley secured a club and struck his wife a number of blows on the head, rendering her unconscious. He then stabbed her face with a jackknife. Leaving her as he supposed, dead, he went to the barn, secured some two-strand hay wire and attempted to hang himself. The wire broke, but the back of his neck was severely lacerated.

According to reports LaValley hid in the woods Saturday, and went to East Jordan that night. He returned to the Bennett woods hiding Sunday and returning that evening to East Jordan. A searching party of about fifty men were looking for him both days. Deputy Sheriff Cook located the man near the Esterly street dock in the lumber piles about six o'clock Sunday night. When arrested he wore a long piece of quarter inch rope around his body, and was evidently meditating between hanging and drowning.

Deputy Sheriff Cook lodged him in the city jail and on Monday Sheriff Wm. Kittle came over from Bellaire and took him to the Antrim county jail.

At the time of the crime only a nine-year-old boy was in the house, asleep upstairs, and had no knowledge of the crime until morning. Mrs. LaValley remained unconscious until Saturday afternoon, and is in a critical condition. She was removed to a Petoskey hospital, Wednesday.

LaValley is about fifty-five years of age, and, with his wife, have resided on their 80-acre farm in the west part of Echo township for over twenty-five years.

ly by all. I have a good dry bunk und sleep like a horse, nnd our officer's mess is very good indeed. Wish you could see us as we all sit down to dine. All are nice chaps and we have very good times visiting and talking over the news. As I sit by tbe stove and smoke I can imagine you all at home. Bill with his hair all rumpled, puttering about, and Dad with his face buried in a book or paper, and you dnrting here and there and keeping things moving, or trying to induce Dad ta say once and for all 'when the war will end.' It may be that he is no false prophet after all.

" Was glad to receive Harold's letter which you enclosed as I have not as yet heard from either he or aunt Lida. Suppose will get them after a time. Hope you are receiving my letters regularly, for I write every week and sometimes oftener.

"Hope everybody is well and not worrying about me. I'll get along all right. Heaps of love to all."

April 17, 1918.

"Dear Folks: A week ago I was the happy recipient of about ten letters, the most recent bearing date of March 10th. I think I am receiving all of your letters all right, but tbey come in installments, and bear dates of more or less age.

"Was particularly delighted with Bill's letter. Found it one of the most interesting letters I have received. Your letters are the best ever and I want you to be sure and keep it up. They cheer me up wonderfully nnd I always laugh myself cross-eyed, because they are so much like him. That's the way a letter should be—expressive of the personality of the writer. Am expecting the packages that have been sent to me daily now. I understand that there is a lot of that kind of mail ut some station waiting transportation. Naturally it has to wait until the last, as there are lots of uther things more important to get to the soldiers.

"Wish you could see the place where I am writing this. It is very pretty and the birds add to its charm by chirping their songs of spring. It rains some most every day, but is warm, and the sun shows his face every now and then.

"At present I am temporarily in command of a certain place, and have my own orderly, cook, etc., nnd run things to suit myself. Naturally I am living an the fat of the land, and am very comfortable. I received four magazines and the 'Courier.' They were certainly welcome and I have been having a splendid time nights reading war stories by candle light. Sunday papers have not shown up yet, but they are not so important as we get some news of the states in the Paris editions of Chicago Tribune and N. Y. Herald.

"I nm sending you a copy of a paper called the Stars and Stripes, which is published by, and for, the army. Will send one each week and want you to preserve them for me. Everyone here is in fine spirits and health. No cause for worry about me. I nlways was fairly lucky. Do not need anything, except a bath, which I hope to negotiate ere long. When I get home I plan to spend the rest of my life in a bath tub.

"Heaps of love to all. and keep well, fur I imagine you will see me home ere many months. Regards to all my friends." VIC

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink lots of water and stop eating meat for a while if your Bladder troubles you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

certificates, properly signed by the purchaser and the retail dealer making the sale." No other form will be permitted and on the first day of each week the retailer must mail to Mr. Prescott's office all certificates un which he sold sugar the previous week. Any previous violation of this rule will be cause for denying such merchant permission to sell sugnr.

The certificate follows:

United States Food Administration
Sugnr Pledge for Home Canning and Preserving.

I do hereby declare to the United States Food Administration that I desire to purchnse from .....
.....(Name of Retailer)
An amount of .....
(Not exceeding 25) pounds of sugar for immediate canning and preserving purposes.
.....(Address of retailer)

I do hereby pledge myself to use such sugar exclusively for said purposes.

.....(Signature of purchaser)
.....(Signature of retailer)

This certificate to be filed by the retailer on the first day of each week with the Federal Food Administrator, Lansing, Michigan.

The purchaser can file this certificate with nny dealer with whom they desire to deal with, but the denler must have the certificnte to obtain the sugar. He in return, reports weekly to the state food administration, and can obtain sugar to the extent of certificates filed only.

People desiring sugar for canning purposes must comply with these regulations ar na sugar will be sold them. When you file the certificate, you must state that the sugar is to be used for canning purpases and na ather. This does nat limit you to 25 paunds for the season, but for each 25 pounds you buy, you must file a certificate with some dealer, who in turn files with the state food administration, thus being able by doing this to obtain the sugar you need.

OBITUARY

Alfred Edson Cady was born, February 13, 1852, at Utica, N. Y., and died at Central Lake May 1, 1918.

In 1876 he came to southern Michigan. Later he removed to Gaylord, where ho was married to Miss Mary Jack, on April 16, 1889.

In 1894 he came ta Central Lake where he has since lived. After coming to Michigan he worked almost continuously in the lumber woods. But after the timber was gone from this vicinity a few years ago he purchased a new piece of land northeast of Central Lake, where up until the time of his death he was successfully occupied at clearing and cropping it.

He is survived by a wife, a daughter, Edith, and a son, George, of Central Lake and also by three sisters, Mrs. Reuben Marsh and Mrs. Thomas Simonds of Camden, N. Y., and Mrs. Helen Hunt of Rome, N. Y.

INSTRUCT ON HOW TO REGISTER

WILL CALL IN MEN OF 21 IN NEAR FUTURE

Local Draft Boards Will Probably Handle Matter, Says Headquarters News

Preliminary instruction regarding the registration of men who have reached the age of twenty-one years since June 5, 1917, were contained in a letter received by some local draft boards in the larger cities. The communication comes from military officials but is a copy of a letter from Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder at Washington.

The letter states that a proclamation giving the date of registration will be issued by the president as soon as the legislation providing for such registration is finally enacted. Local bonrd officials predict that this will be in about three to four weeks.

Every person of the designated age, with certain exceptions, the instructions say, "will be required to register under the supervision of the local board having jurisdiction of the nrea in which he permanently resides."

Under the heading of "Registration Organization" the instructions direct that registration shall take place, in all possible cases, in the office of the local draft board.

An estimate of the probable number of registrants in its district will be made by each draft board, according to the instructions.

Special cases of registration, such as sick men, felons and Indians, will be handled according to specific provisions of the provost marshal's directions, and it is believed that all contingencies have been provided for.

PLAIN QUESTIONS TO CHARLEVOIX PEOPLE

Every Charlevoix Reader Will Admit the Soundness of the Logic

Would Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they do if the medicine were not reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years have elapsed if their experiences did not show the remedy to be deserving of it? Statements like the following must carry conviction to the mind of every reader:

Mrs. John Hull, 102 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they have done me worlds of good. I suffered from an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time they entirely removed the trouble. Not long ago my back and kidneys troubled me again but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief promptly."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Hull said: "I can speak just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

NOT PUBLISHED AS DESERTERS

COURIER ARTICLE CREATES WRONG IMPRESSION

Overseas Readers Ask Apology for Branding Enlisted Men as Among Deserters

The Courier is in receipt of a letter from Capt. H. L. Winters, of the 125th Inf., Headquarters Co., formerly Company I of East Jordan now somewhere in France, in which he calls our attention to an article published in the Courier, March 6, 1918, giving the names of men who had not, up to that time, filed their questionnaires or whose papers had been returned to the local board unclaimed. The letter follows:

Headq. Co. 125th Inf., A. E. F., April 18, 1918, the Com. Officer, Hq. Co. 125th Inf., A. E. F., to the editor the Charlevoix Courier, Charlevoix, Michigan: Three soldiers of this command, Privates Clarence Anderson, Paul Fultz, and Albert Rebec, have called attention to a list of names published in recent edition of the Charlevoix Courier as deserters.

"In view of the fact that each of these three soldiers has been a member of this organization for the past ten months, it is suggested that a slight reparation be made these soldiers through the medium of the Charlevoix Courier in order to set them right with the people of their own neighborhood.

"H. L. WINTERS,"

Captain 125th Inf., A. E. F., Com. Hq. Co.

The letter referred to was given out by the local exemption board, and published in every paper in Charlevoix county. It included the names of all men who up to that time had not filed their questionnaires or whose papers had been returned unclaimed.

The object of the letter was to call the uttention of these men, or their friends, to the fact that they stood a good chunce of being listed as deserters if these necessary papers were not filed, but did not brand them as deserters. The board adopted the only method available to get in touch with those who had been negligent in notifying the board of their whereabouts, and also stated that if they were not heard from within a stated time, the only recourse for the board was to place them on the deserter list.

Since this letter was published all but ubout a dozen of the names published have been accounted for. Some were overseas, as in case of the three names mentioned by Captain Winters, others had enlisted and were in the service at some training camp in the United States, but all had failed to notify the local board of their enlistment or where located.

It was not the intention of the local board or the Courier to brand these men as deserters. The object of the letter was to ubtain their addresses, through themselves ur their friends, and complete the records in the exemption board's office.

We, as does the local board, feel that no further explanation is necessary, und congratulate these men on the action they have taken, in voluntary enlisting, and hope they will give a good account of themselves when they come into contact with the followers of Kaiser Bill.

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.

MESSAGE TO THE KIDDIES

UNCLE SAM MAKES APPEAL FOR THEIR HELP

Urged to Help Raise Much Needed Money by Assisting in Sale of War Savings Stamps

Children of Charlevoix and Charlevoix County, this is a letter to you. A strong appeal to your sense of patriotism and love of country, in this hour of need, when our Uncle Sam expects his nephews and nieces and their children to help him raise the money to keep his soldiers, who are your fathers and uncles and brothers and cousins, supplied with the many things necessary to maintain the high standard set by our government for our fighting men who are going to put the finishing touches to Kaiser Bill.

W. G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury sends this message to you:

"To the Boys and Girls of America: I want to enlist you as volunteers under the colors to help the government put the whole strength of the nation behind our gallant fighting men.

"Our soldiers and sailors must have countless cargoes of food and munitions. They must have a great fleet of ships to carry these cargoes across the Atlantic. To perform this great task, costing every day millions of money and the labor of millions of men and women, the nation must have the help of every one of you.

"It is a splendid opportunity that you have to do your part in winning the war. Try each day to find some useful thing to do—help at home in stopping waste and saving food and all the materials now so sorely needed—be workers and savers for the nation.

"When you receive money, if only a few pennies, lend it to the government by the purchase of Thrift Stamps. Twenty-five cents a week from every one of you will bring into the treasury $5,000,000 a week—a quarter of a billion dollars a year—to buy food and munitions and ships to win the war.

"Will you all enlist in the army of Workers and Savers? America is counting on you!"

W. G. MCADOO,
Secretary of the Treasury.

The children of a community are always the best advertisers in the town and we count on you boys and girls to show Secretary McAdoo that Charlevoix county always responds whether the appeal is to the grown ups or the Kiddies. So get busy, and if your parents haven't already started their Thrift Cards, ask them to do so at once and keep after them to go on buying stamps until they are filled and then start another one just the same as you children are doing.

We know they bought a Liberty Bond, and that was a grand thing to do, but the government needs more money and the opportunity to invest in Thrift Stamps at 25c each or War Savings Certificates at $4.00 each makes the investment smaller and easier to handle and it means a lot to the government just now, so go to it and remember, that 25 cents a week from everyone means $5,000,000 a week for Uncle Sam.

All the stores, the banks and the post offices now have Thrift Stamps on sale so it is very easy to buy them or they will be delivered by the mail carriers if the postmaster is notified that same are wanted. Let us all get busy and make Charlevoix 100 per cent just as soon as possible.

Start a Savings Account with the your second Liberty Bonds with the interest coupon due May 15th from Charlevoix State Savings Bank. 19tf

"Universal Sympathy"

Your boy and my boy, is "Somewhere in France."

Each bravely fighting, soldiers of chance.

YOU understand all MY feelings today

Since our dear laddies have sniled far awuy.

YOU are fighting your battle, as well as your son.

I know it full well, since mino has begun.

You strive to he brave; I am trying hard too,

Can we do any less, for our boys staunch and true.

So we'll pray for God's blessing, for all of "our boys,"

That He send them safe home, change our sorrows to joys.

But if they should fall, 'neath some fierce Hun advance,

We'll know they died, loving us, "Somewhere in France."

MONEY IN ASPARAGUS.

Essentials For the Successful Culture of This Profitable Crop.

"During the life of an asparagus bed each plant should yield a dollar in returns," said J. B. Norton, speaking before a farmers' week audience at Cornell university. Mr. Norton, who is a specialist on truck crops of the United States department of agriculture, gave the following essentials for successful asparagus growing: Land should be well drained, level, sandy loam that does not dry out badly in summer and near to markets. Manure fertilizer, green manure and lime requirements should all be attended to before planting asparagus beds.

Names of varieties, according to Mr. Norton, often mean nothing. Choose plants from stock that has a good record as a producer; select from a nearby field if possible, and be sure of your stock first. Grow enough roots so you will have ten times as many plants as you will want for selecting the one year roots for planting in the field. "I never plant two-year-old roots," says Mr. Norton, "and do not believe in starting the seed in its permanent place. Root selection is a most important factor in getting a good bed."

Start the seed bed in early spring, rows eighteen inches apart, seed ten to the foot, one inch deep, give clean cultivation. To keep the slugs and beetles away use arsenate of lead or chickens. Plow out the roots in spring and plant about the time of the last frost.

After careful selection of roots plant in rows four feet apart, plants fifteen to eighteen inches apart in the row, cover three inches deep at first.

The trenches are made deep enough to leave the crowns eight or nine inches below the level. Use no intercropping system, but plant a cover crop (hairy vetch or crimson clover) the first two winters. With rust resisting asparagus the tops are left on in the fall and disked in the next spring, thus saving a great deal of labor and plant food.

Fertilize with manure in late winter, ten tons or more to the acre, or with chemical fertilizers, 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 500 pounds of acid phosphate, 300 pounds of muriate of soda, applied before end of cutting season or before growth starts on young beds.

SAYS SOLDIER HAS FEW WORRIES

PROVIDED, HOWEVER, HE IS NOT A MARRIED MAN

Charlevoix Boy Can Just Walk Under Six Foot Bar and Weighs 162 Pounds

Army life evidently agrees with "Ted" Kibbie, now at Fort Monroe, Virginia, who, according to a letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Kibbie, in which he tells of the daily life of a soldier in the camp where he is located. "Ted's" letter is exceptionally interesting and we publish it in full for the benefit of our readers, who are at all times glad of the opportunity to learn what the boys from home are doing:

Fort Monroe, Va., May 4, 1918.

"Dear Folks—I received your May day letter and am glad to hear that everything is O. K. home. You asked me for n description of the fort. In the first place it is situated on the point of a peninsula right at the head of the Chesapeake Bay. If you look at the map of Virginia you will see why they chose this location in preference to any other as it guards all up the bay and the strip of water called 'Hampton Roads.'

"The fort is divided into batteries. Each battery is composed of two or more cannons. Some of these guns are mortars, some are rifles, and others are disappearing guns. It is quite interesting to watch the disappearing guns shoot. They can't be seen from the front of the battery, only at the point of firing. Then the inertia of the shot forces them to their original position. The mechanism is all controlled by electricity. As it costs nearly $500 to shoot a single shot. The guns all have miniature cannons, in comparison, located on the side of the big ones. In order to aim the smaller gun, the big one must be aimed, as the former is stationary on the large cannon. In this way a lot of ammunition and money is saved, while in practice it is just as efficient.

"Just before a large gun is fired, a siren blows. This is the signal for everyone in the vicinity to stand on his toes and keep his mouth open until the shot is fired. The reason for this is to lessen the jar and the keep the pressure equal on both sides of the ear drums, as the concussion is so great.

"It is surely wonderful how accurate the gunners are. They hardly ever miss their shot.

"The fort is so cleverly laid out that an approaching ship would never suspect it of being a fort, although there is no artificial camouflage. The calibre of the large guns range from 15 to 16 inch. I would give a more detailed description of the fort but think this letter will be read by a C. O.

"I am out of quarantine now and attending a balloon school. This consists daily of two hours infantry drill; one hour signal practice and four hours balloon instruction. The balloons we use are called captive observation balloons. They resemble a huge link sausage and are held by a cable. These balloons are used for observation purposes only and rise to a heighth of from two to three thousand feet. The pilot can communicate with those on the ground by the use of a telephone.

"It is all very interesting and I like it very much. We get quite a lot of time up. Saturday afternoons and Sunday are our holidays. After retreat, that is 6:00 p. m., most of the boys don their glad rags and go either to Newport News or Norfolk, there we can dance, go to the movies and have a good time in general.

"The army life agrees with most fellows. The average recruit puts on weight after a few months of drilling, and I am included. I now weight 162 pounds and can just walk under the 6 foot bar without bending. Also the soldier, if not married, has few worries. The only things I have on my mind, or look forward to are letters from home and the Courier; pay day, and end of the war, the latter of which isn't far off.

"I have most of my overseas clothing and look forward to a rapid shipment to Europe. Well, I must quit now as it is almost time for mess.

"Love to all, TED."

MURDEROUS REPRISALS

Germany threatens to murder American prisoners of war because a mob hanged a German in Illinois for insisting upon spreading German propaganda, ridiculing the United States government and trying to stir up industrial and disloyal riots against the regularly constituted authorities of the state.

No doubt Germany will carry out its threat, or more likely the Huns murdered American prisoners and made the threat afterwards. Germany has murdered prisoners and according to numerous authorities has practiced starvation murder on our American boys unfortunate enough to fall into their hands, and inaugurated the same slow murder process with Italian prisoners.

No one living in the civilized nations of the earth are astonished at anything in the way of frightfulness, murder, maiming children or ravishing women, committed by the Huns. They have done so much of it that the world has become accustomed to hear of revolting atrocities, and fully expects Germany to murder American prisoners whether a mob hangs a German trying to incite treason and sedition in the United States or not.

This is the way Germany has of looking at everything—nothing must stand in the way of Germany. The Belgians merely told the Germans to keep out of their country if they wanted to fight France, so Germans murdered all the Belgians they could, raped and mutilated their women and cut off the arms of their children. France dared oppose the great Hindenburg in his march toward Paris, and the women and children of France shared the horrible fate of the women and children of Belgium. Because Americans claimed the right to ride on the open seas Germans murdered them. The women and children of England were bombarded from the sky because their men folks had gone to war. A long range gun shot a shell into a prayer service in a Paris church because the men folks were on the firing line opposing the German will. Food and clothing were wrested from the people of Russia after they had been betrayed into the hands of the kaiser, because they would not willingly give it up. Every law of decency, every shred of honor, every tenet of morality, has been broken by the Germans to force the world to bow to the German will.

Now Germany says in effect to the United States, "permit every German in America to spread pro-German propaganda, to get up on the soap box and denounce the United States, give them free reign to incite sedition, treason and riot, and if a community does not humbly submit to having the poisoned fangs of the copperhead sunk into its flesh we shall kill the American prisoners we capture."

During the stress of one year of war it is remarkable that in a nation of more than one hundred million people, only one German has been effectively hanged for bringing the war into America, although the United States has stood for more sedition, treason, arson, dynamiting, sabotage of every description, espionage, treachery, intrigue, effrontery, brazen disloyalty and underhand plotting, than any nation on earth.

Instead of frightening America with a threat, Germany has only intensified the white heat of hatred of the Hun and his practices, and the threat will have the effect of inciting more mob violence in the United States than suppressing it. With our American boys on the firing line with the casualty lists coming in every day, with American prisoners in the hands of the Hun, those who have sympathy with Germany must keep their mouths shut and conduct themselves with extreme propriety under the circumstances of war.

WELCOME TO PROF. MASARYK

When the history of this war is written it will contain some inspiring chapters devoted to the part played by Bohemia in the conquest of Prussian Imperialism. By Bohemia we mean the Bohemian people a nation which for centuries has maintained its moral and cultural integrity though surrounded by perils and unfriendly pressures. Look at the map and realize that the geographical location of Bohemia with Germany on the north, Hungary on the east, Austria on the south, all neighbors ambitious for power, tells the story of this unconquerable people at a glance.

Few realize how much the spirit of the Bohemians in America has done to check enemy propaganda and stimulate loyalty to our cause among the foreign born of our population. Few realize the courage it has taken for Bohemians at home to oppose Austrian tyranny and keep up the fight for Bohemian self-realization. And today Bohemian troops are fighting with the Italians, while one of the most noteworthy conferences of the war, just held at Rome, offers promise of an Italian-Slav rapprochement which may do more to remove the Balkan threat to future peace than anything yet hoped for.

It is therefore at a significant moment that America receives the Bohemian patriot Masaryk. This learned and indomitable leader has escaped from Russia, whence the German influence has driven him. The United States is honored in the presence of this statesman. He brings not only the latest authoritative observation of the Russian situation but also a knowledge of the Austro-Hungarian and Balkan complex which should be of great value to our government and public in forming correct judgment of events and right policies. Since the great war began he has been an exile, but a tireless worker in the allied cause. Americans do not realize that the last blow struck from Russia at Germany—the Galician offensive under Brussiloff in June 1917—gained a considerable part of its force from the Czechoslovak army organized from prisoners by Prof. Masaryk. Brussiloff said that these men, perfidiously abandoned by the Bolsheviki poisoned Russians, "fought in such a way that the world ought to fail on its knees before them."

Bohemians to the number of 120,000 are preparing to fight again and many already are fighting against Germany.

America welcomes this great leader of the staunch Bohemian people, Thomas Garigue Masaryk. We feel sure he will feel at home among Americans.—Chicago Tribune.

It would seem that Germany has committed enough atrocities to make all Germans in the United States ashamed of their fatherland, and if they are not, they approve of such atrocities.

The German press is preparing the people to receive an explanation of why the great Hindenburg drive hasn't been able to go to Paris on any one of his scheduled trips.

Now a German scientist has discovered a drug that will cure the pain of hunger. But the question is, will the German soldier take it and be satisfied?

Germany's long range gun has shot a hole through a children's day nursery in Paris. Another great military achievement.

Why doesn't Germany adopt the Turkish fez with a spike in the top of it as the official headgear for his allied troops?

Maybe the kaiser has now decided to take his dinner in Washington on the Fourth of July.

Will "religious scruples" tie up the pocketbook when the Red Cross asks for funds?

There seems to be more than hot air in the aircraft scandal.

Finland is to have a king "Made in Germany."

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

School boards throughout the state are following the advice of the National Superintendants' Association in requiring every prospective teacher to sign a patriotic pledge to go with the contract for the coming year of school. Following is the Ann Arbor pledge which Pattengill calls a real American, all wool, yard wide, patriotic pledge: "I hereby certify that I have never said or done anything which could be construed as an act of disloyalty to my country, the United States of America. I hereby pledge my support to the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of Michigan, and I hereby agree to perform faithfully my duties, both expressed and implied, to my country and to the public schools of the city of Ann Arbor, and to teach, to the best of my ability, loyalty to our country and to the principles for which it stands." The teachers have all been patriotic. Surely no teacher would hesitate to sign such a pledge, but if she should, it would be sure proof that we do not want her in this county.

The county board of examiners met Saturday, May 4th, at 1 p. m., in Charlevoix. A set of papers was transferred from Emmet county, making a total of ten sets. Three certificates were granted unconditionally and two with conditions which can be met before the year is out. Five will return in August. Of these, three will write in only part of the subjects. Four renewals were granted to teachers having had normal training or normal training and reading circle work. In spite of the shortage of teachers, the questions were unusually difficult and the board did everything in its power to give each teacher the best of chance to make good.

Miss Clark writes from Bay Shore that she went out in the woods with her boys and girls and equipped with saw and axes, cut their own flag pole, brought it to the school house and provided suitable exercises for the erection of their Liberty pole. This is splendid for the boys and girls and their teacher, but what about the sturdy men who might have been appointed by the board in order to comply with the legal regulations and the patriotic duty of the times?

The Boys State Fair school will be held September 2nd to 6th in Detroit. The representative from this county will go, expenses paid. His selection will depend on the record he makes in the eighth grade tests and his standing on the special agriculture test, as also the choice will depend on the boy's inclination toward farming. The choice will be made by County Pomona master, commissioner of schools and county agent.

Seventeen vacancies still exist in the rural schools. Teachers have been employed mostly in all of the schools near the larger towns in the county. We hope all schools may be supplied but just how is at present a question.

The Mountain school closed Friday, May 3rd, with a picnic dinner in the school house. The commissioner regretted that time, and tide kept her marooned on Beaver Island and she missed the flag pole raising in Bay Shore; the fine patriotic rally and boys and girls' club meeting on the peninsula. We understand that every one of these meetings was a live wire success.

The Hilton school is to close its school May 24th with a dinner in the park in Charlevoix.

The Robinson school will close May 15th with a picnic. This is an unusually busy season but the commissioner hopes to attend both of these functions and get better acquainted with the boys and girls and learn their plans for the future.

After writing the eighth grade examinations, May 9th to 10th, boys and girls on the farms who have made a fair average in their school work during the school year are urged to stay home in order to help their fathers and mothers to put in a larger acreage to help our country win the war.

On Monday, April 29th the commissioner attempted to get to Beaver Island. The steamer Schnoden went out on the lake, found it too rough and returned to Charlevoix. On Tuesday the trip was made, taking nearly six hours for the passage. There are special privileges in every life but the marine joys will not be numbered. High Island school was visited on May 2nd and the trip being made by way of a discarded life boat at present fitted up with a gasoline engine. The commissioner found the little Indian boys and girls and the Israelites all intensely interested in gardening, and learning the Palmer method of penmanship with thorough drills. The Garden Island school has closed so that was one trip that need not be made. High school geometry classes, history and grammar classes, rural and primary school languages were all enjoyed by the commissioner in her visit. The return trip to Charlevoix was made on the gas boat Irene and took about 4 and one-half hours for the course.

Mr. Clarence Dewey will return to Phelps next year at $80 per month. This is a fine tribute to his work of the past year.

JOHN FABER WORKING AT TRADE

HEAD BLACKSMITH AT AVIATION CAMP IN TEXAS

Urges Friends at Home to Show Their Loyalty to Country by Buying Bonds

We are in receipt of the following letter from John Faber of Atwood, who is now in the U. S. service in the aviation corps of the U. S. A., atationed at Taliferro Field, Texas.

Camp Hicks, Texas.

"Friend Art: As it has been some time since I last wrote you and as I remembered promising you a letter for publication here goes. If you consider it worth printing send it in. If not, burn it.

"Well Art, things have been going fine with me lately, far better than I expected. We have good weather, good food and plenty of it, good treatment and a general good time.

"I um working every day at my trade as blacksmith and repair everything from a motor cycle to and aeroplane with lots of work on motor trucks and ambulances, also have lots of forging, tempering and case hardening for the machino ahop .I had quite a bit of experience in this line of work while I lived in Chicago and it all comes in handy now. At first I was alone as I was the only blacksmith in this camp, but I have a helper now, who came from Camp Benbrook.

"This is Camp Hicks. It was named after a farmer on whose land the camp is located. He has about 10,000 acres. His ranch is modern and up-to-date and he has eight or ten cowboys working for him. The wheat crop is looking fine out here.

"I was visiting a ranchman living a few miles from here last Sunday and stayed for dinner. Some feed I had too, just like Michigan in summer. Fresh eggs, green onions and spinach fresh from the garden.

"The farmers here are an easy going bunch. "Take it easy, the day is long and the pay is small' seems to be their motto. Their plowing would be called scratching the ground back home. They only plow about three inches deep. Cotton is planted now and prairie grass is about 12 inches high. They have had a good spring here. A hard rain about a week ago the first heavy one for several months I was told.

"Will try to write a little about the aviation section. An aeroplane costs about $7,500 and it costs about $10,000 to train a man from rookie to first class pilot. Then it costs $2,500 or more before a mechanic understands his business the way he should.

"All these are needed in this war and when it happens, as it often does, that a machine falls, not only killing the pilot and the gunner, but wrecking the machine beyond repair, it costs the government about $20,000, leaving out the insurance and the cost of training the gunner.

"Forty-five machines have fallen here since last fall. Does it surprise you that there has been another issue of Liberty bonds? Friends, buy all the bonds you can, a large per cent of the men in the army have not only left home and those near and dear to them, but we are buying bonds on easy payments.

"The expense of the aviation branch of the service is not the only expense of the war. I saw the soldiers on parade at Ft. Worth a few weeks ago and there is also a big expense there, the supply and equipment, the thousands of horses, mules, wagons and motor trucks and ambulances must be paid for, and it is up to the citizens of the best country in the world to pay the bill. There are two ways of getting this money. One is by borrowing on A No. 1 seeurity and the other is by taxation. You people of Banks township who claim to be citizens are not true to the name unless you loan your money to the government whenever you are called upon to do so.

"Some new types of planes have arrived in camp lately with a speed of 125 miles per hour, which will cost more than the old types. These machines are composed largely of aluminum. In fact, the engine is all that material, except the crank and cam shafts, the magneto and spark plugs, and when one of these machines falls from a heighth of from four to ten thousand feet, it means one or two men killed and another addition to the scrap heap of an expensive piece of machinery.

"Now I appeal to you, my friends again, to buy bonds. If too late for the third loan, prepare for the fourth which will probably come. Give my regards to all inquiring friends and good luck to you.

"P. S.—We were told that the 79th squadron would leave for overseas in a few days and we were sure glad to hear the news but last night the 1st seargeant told me that I would be transferred to the 275th Squadron which is to remain in Texas for a while at least.

"Yours in friendship,
PVT. JOHN P. FABER.

ELLSWORTH RESIDENT FOR MANY YEARS

Death of William Nixon, May 3, at Home in Mt. Morris

William Nixon was born at Hamilton, Canada, in 1856, and died at his home at Mt. Morris, Mich, Friday, May 3, 1918, following an illness of several weeks.

When a young man of twenty-one he came to America, was naturalized and was a good citizen and true son to his adopted country from then until the time of his death.

A short time after coming to this country he was married to Miss Mary Clark, who with four children survive him.

Mr. Nixon moved with his family to Ellsworth in 1900 and from that time until three years ago was an Ellsworth resident.

He was an honest, hard working man, who tried to wrong no one and his loss will be keenly felt by all his friends and acquaintences.

Of the four children, Mrs. Martin of Ellsworth, Austa of Belding and Grace of Mt. Morris attended the funeral. The son, Clayton, was unable to be at home as he is with the A. E. F. somewhere in France.

ANTRIM CITY

Mr. Brant and Inez were at the C. Robertson home Sunday.

A number from around Atwood are on the sick list. Hope they are all improving.

Harry Elzinga and family have moved back here from Central Lake for the summer. Glad to see them.

Anyone traveling on the flat road in an auto ought to have their life insured. The road is in an awful condition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Isan, Mr. and Mrs. F. Guyer, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle and Mr. Powers from Elk Rapids were at the Geyer home Sunday.

WILDWOOD

(Too late for last week)

We surely appreciate the warm weather of spring.

Mr. VanTil is pasturing cattle on the E. R. Wilson place this year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wilson of Cloverdale spent Sunday with the former's cousin, Jas. Wilson and family.

Mrs. Clarence Fales spent a part of Sunday with her mother, Mrs. White in Ellsworth, who left the same day for Boyne City, where she will join other relatives and go to Detroit to attend the funeral of Mrs. White's brother, who deid on Friday last, according to telegram received on that date. They will spend some time at other southern Michigan point while away.

We very deeply regret to announce that Mr. Cady passed away on Wednesday morniag, May 1, surrounded by his family, when the end came. He left them as quietly as has been his life. They will miss him most for he was such a home lover that all time not required for business was spent there. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their hour of deep sorrow.

Reid Genett is loading a car with hay at Ellsworth for E. R. Wilson.

Mrs. Chas. Gornwell and children spent Sunday at the Crawford home.

Mrs. Jas. Wilson and baby daughter, drove to Central Lake on Sunday afternoon.

Harry Davy had the misfortune to have a colt badly cut in the barbed wire fence last week.

Jim Sinclair came over from Alba and spent a couple of days at his brother's home, A. E. Sinclair, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Crawford of near East Jordan and Hubert Ruggles and George Gady, also spent Sunday as guests at the John Crawford home.

School closed on Tuesday of this week without any elaborate celebration. Owing to the fact we had only eight month's school this year, each child needed every day to "make the grade" and also our teacher, Miss Edith Gady, has had her hands pretty full all winter. In fact, her father's death such a short time ago has unfitted her for anything but the realities of life for the present.

MILES DISTRICT

Tom Jensen called at the Miles home Sunday.

Herbert Evans is being entertained with the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Evans are wearing a broad smile nawadays. The cause being the arrival of a grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Willet Simmerman, formerly Miss Goldie Evans, are the proud parents of a seven pound son, named Wesley Edward.

No report of any damage done by the electrical storm of last Thursday night has been made, but several received a severe shock.

The crowd which gathered at the school house to hear Mrs. Dean, were disappointed, as she was unable to attend the meeting. Mrs. Madill gave a talk that was interesting.

AT the City of Goodrich, they have officially announced the grand mileage of Goodrich's nation-wide Test Car work of 1917:

1,044,686 linear miles.

Those figures indite the Emancipation Act of motorists, freeing them from tire mishaps and amputated mileage.

Compressed in them is the story of the famous Six Fleets, and how they hurled Goodrich Tires the length and breadth of our nation, over city pavement and country road, ploughing them through sand and mud; mauling them against rock and gravel.

Mathematics has no favorites. That multiplied mileage of 4,178,744 miles coldly, calculatingly, puts the seal of multiplied proof on Goodrich Tires, and stamps them "Tested." In that searching test, no slightest defect, no hidden short-coming could escape the sight of the Goodrich experts.

SILVERTOWN CORDS, and BLACK SAFETY TREADS, under light and heavy cars, defied the rough going of roads wherever the Test Car Fleets rushed them.

The spiral-wrapped, cable-cord tire body, and Goodrich's tough black tread rubber fought the hard fight and conquered.

URGED TO BUY COAL AT ONCE

TO AVOID SERIOUS SHORTAGE DURING COMING WINTER

Faderal Fuel Administrator W. K. Prudden Says It is a Patriotic Duty to Buy Now

The following appeared in large type on the front page of the Flint Daily Journal in issue of Tueaday, May 7, 1918:

"Get Your Coal Now!

"It is now perfectly plain that there will not be a sufficient quantity of coal of any sort to meet the requirements of consumers in the city of Flint next winter.

"Just how fer the supply will fell short of tho demend is not certain, but it is definitely known that the government has not taken into consideration the growth of the city and the supply of coal allotted to Flint is only e portion of Flint's consumption in previous years.

"Local dealers say that it requires 90,000 tons of coal to fill their orders, based on previous consumption. There will not be 90,000 tons available. The same dealers say that it required 40,000 tons of anthracite (bard) coul to meet the demands of Flint consumers in 1915-16.

"There will not be 20,000 tons of hard coal available for the 1918-19 season. There will be no smokeless coal available for this period.

"All of the smokeless coal and u very large proportion of the anthracite coal is being taken by the government for shipping purposes. Because of the U-boat menace, the steam that generates the power to move our troops and supplies across the Atlantic to the war zone must be made from smokeless coal and hard coal where heretofore soft coal has been used exclusively. The use of soft coal in the ocean highways today makes a target of the ship that attempts it and the lives of our soldiers are too valuable to take nny such chances.

"We must, therefore, sacrifice this to the war. We must use soft coal in order that there may be available to the government for its ships a sufficient supply of hard coal.

"Flint coal dealers, conforming to the desires of the state fuel administrator and the Citizen's committee, are today stucking their yards and bins with soft coal, with a view to securing for Flint as much as possible of next winter's supply immediately.

"It is up to the citizens of Flint, the coul consumers of Flint, to put in their winter's supply of coal without delay, and TO ACCEPT SOFT COAL WHERE HERETOFORE THEY HAVE USED HARD COAL EXCLUSIVELY.

"Every day's delay imperils their chances of securing a supply of any sort of coal for the coming winter.

"Every day's delay increases the cost of the coal and, curtailing the supply, means less opportunity to secure coal.

"We have got to guard against a coal famine in Flint, and we have got to do it now. There is nothiog to be gained by a delay and there is much to be lost. Each month will see a substantial increase in the price, and the increase will be all out of proportion to the interest on the investment from the consumer's point of view, for every day that the dealer holds the conl in his yards it is deteriorating in quality and an increasing quantity of it becomes practically unsaleable.

"In nnother column of this issue, the Journal publishes a coupon, to be filled out, signed und returned to this office by the coal consumers of Flint. It is a patriotic appeal to them to pledge themselves to dispense with the use of hard coal nnd to substitute soft coal for the coming winter, in order that the hard coal may be reserved for government use. Fill out and sign these coupons and place yourself on the patriotic honor roll for Flint. Let us here in this city show the government that we are with it to a man, willing to make any sacrifice that we may be called upon to meke, and willing to put ourselves to any inconvenience, no matter how disagreeable, in order that the efforts of the government to save its man power, conserve its supplies and win the war will not be hempered in the slightest degree in Flint."

The people of the city of Flint realize present conditions and are carrying out the wishes of the United State Fuel Administretion in regerd to eupplying their requirements for coal needed next winter. I urgently request that all other towns and cities in the state of Michigan edopt the spirit and the plan of the citizens of Flint.

W. K. PRUDDEN,
Fed: Fuel Admr. for Michigan.
Lansing, Mich., May 10, 1918.

The situation in Charlevoix is identical to thet in Flint, also every city in the state. If you went coal, buy now or pay more for it later and also without a doubt be confronted with the predicted shortege.

Charlevoix consumes in the neighborhood of 10,000 tons of coal yearly. According to estimates of local dealers, less than a third has been contracted for so far. Lust winter the price soared to over $11.00 per ton. Present indications are that the coming winter's price will exceed this figure, if you are able to obtain any at all. Would it not be a good plan to book your orders with your local dealers at once?

SAYS TOWNS ARE QUEER AND OLD

Expects Soon to Be Sent to the Trenches for Experience

Eugene Macey, now with the A. E. F. in France, has written an interesting letter to his sister, telling of army life and of camp duties. He soon expects to be sent to the front and without doubt will have some thrilling experiences before he returns. Following is the letter:

Frnnce, April 16.

"Dear Sister Louise—Will try and write a few lines tonight in answer to your two letters, which were received some time ago. However, they found me in perfect health and getting along fine.

"We have had little sickness in our company so far. The day I received your letter, we had a little excitement, caused by a gas lamp exploding, setting fire to our quarters. Captain Gnmon and myself were the only ones in the quarters, and he had his hand burned so badly that he was forced to spend about three weeks in the hospital. My neek and the side of my hend were scorched and I also received a beautiful hair singe. But am all right now and tho captain is back on the job again.

"Lieut. Chase, for whom I am orderly was sent to the front this morning, and has just returned. There is some talk of using us for demonstrating army tactics to other companies, as we have the best Ambulance company in France.

"We will soon go to the front for a month's experience with real warfare. Where we are now we have the opportunity of playing ball and other American games. I don't believe I will ever learn to talk French—don't seem to get the right twist to their pesky language.

"The towns here are old and queer. All buildings are made of stone. There is a church here that was built over 200 years ago. No fences—all stone walls, nnd the change from good American customs sometimes bothers us. My, but these stone houses are cold at night, despite the fact we have a small stove stove in the kitchen and a fireplace. There is a harn connected with the house we occupy, which is somewhat unusnal. For pets we have plenty of rata and an adopted dog. Her name is "Billy." She's some dog—knows when it is meal time and likes army hash, although it does not seem to agree with her, as she has been sick for the past two daya.

"Well, this is a long letter for me to write, and there are so many things to tell you that are forbidden to write about, so will close with love to all, your brother,

Captain John T. Loskot Now on French Soil

The Courier is in receipt of a card from Captain John T. Loskot, announcing his safe arrival "somewhere over there."

GRINNED AT HIS GROUCHY SARGEANT

"Bob" Merriam Initiated Into Real Army Life

"Bob" Merriam's introduction into army life must have been rather strenuous, according to a letter received recently. He, undoubtedly, got a beautiful raise out of a grouch sargeent with the result that in the future he will be more cereful, especially when within reach of the officer under who he is drilling. Tho letter is characteristic of "Bob" and with personal references omitted, we are publishing it for the benefit of our readers:

"Dear Sir: Please excuse my writing for I am in a hurry, and have but a minute to tell you what I want. Just a word about army life here. A rooky here has about as much liberty as a lifer in Jackson. But I like it and am really enjoying myself, even though I am busy. Have a stain on the inside of my hat band where a grouchy drill sargeant 'leaned on it' with a swagger stick. And then to cap the climex, he graciously offered to lick me when I grinned at him. Just the same, it's all kinds of fun, grub or 'chow' great, and work sometimes monotonous. If you want to hear real, honest-to-God swearing, you should visit this place.

"But the real reason of this letter is to ask you to change the address of my Courier from Ann Arbor to this place. Have missed the last three issues, so send them along if you have them. I feel rather lost without a paper, as I do not know a soul here and so far haven't had any mail at all. Remember me to the boys and my many Charlevoix friends. Yours,"

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 26. NUMBER 19. TEN PAGES — CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1918. — PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

W. S. S. DRIVE ON THIS WEEK

HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS STARTED ON MONDAY

County's Quota is $459,080 Which Is $20.00 Per Capita for Every Man, Woman and Child

Now that Charlevoix has doublod her quota in the Third Liberty Loan drive, and that the Red Cross Emergency Fund of $2,425.44 has been taken care of, the city must again make every effort possible to "go over the top" in the W. S. S. drive acheduled to begin on Monday of this week. This war program is a strenuous one but Uncle Sam needs the money to carry on war activities already begun and pending.

Concerning the many uses this vast amount of money is utilized, here is some information which may be of value to you. The United States has, to March 19, 1018, extended credits to other nations as follows:

To Great Britain ...	$2,520,000,000
To France	1,400,000,000
To Italy	550,000,000
To Russia	325,000,000
To Belgium	104,600,000
To Serbia	6,000,000

Practically all the proceeds of these loans is being spent in the United States in the purchase of supplies and food stuffs by the stricken countries.

Charlevoix county's quota in the W. S. S. is $459,080, which is $20 per capita for every man, woman and child in the county. This amount must be raised, not only here but in all sections of the United States. Every dollar raised through the sale of War Savings Stamps means a lesser amount to be raised in the next Liberty Loan drive.

At a meeting held in this city on Saturday of last week, arrangements were made to canvass every house in the city. The drive began on Monday, and will continue through the entire week, or until our quota is filled. It is useless for us to remind you of your duty—you showed your loyalty during the Liberty Loan drive and now it is your duty to repeat the performance in the W. S. S. Drive.

The urgency of immediate steps in this direction is expressed in a letter issued by County Chairmnn, H. K. Allen, which follows:

"To the Citizens of Charlevoix:

"The Third Liberty Lonn campaign has just closed and Charlevoix County has certainly proved, as she has done in other things, that she is one of the leaders when it comes to things patriotic, by not merely going over the top, but by more than doubling her quota.

"The War Snvings cnmpaign with it's national committee headed by Frank A. Vanderlip and appointed by secrotary of the treasury, W. G. McAdoo, has been running since the first of the year and while it's object is to raise funds for financing the war, the money so raised going into the same treasury, it seems that on account of the time the campaign has to run, which is continually for one year and ending December 31, 1918, it's activity has been hindered by other money raising campaigns, which is to be expected, as the money raised by the Liberty Lonn drives comes in so much lnrger subscriptions and we are naturally all interested in having it come as fast as possible, but the impression that we wish to make at this time upon the public mind and especially on the minds of the citizens of our county is the necessity of working to our utmost in between times on the War Savings Certificates and Thrift Stamps sales in order to reach our quota which is much higher than is generally supposed.

"The quota for the state of Michigan is $69,163,720 and for our county $459,080, which is $20 per capita for every man, woman and child in the county.

"It is a deplorable fact that up to May 1th the state of Michigan stood 47 out of the 51 states of the union and the four southern states that stand lower are composed of 40 per cent colored population.

"Charlevoix county stands 65 out of 83 counties in the state and has dropped down from 48th place during the Liberty Loan drive, and our sales in the county to May 1st have been $8,508.75 which is only 5 and one-half per cent of our quota.

"Is it not about time to wake up to the fact that if we are to maintain our reputation as leaders in war activities, that a greater effort must be put forth and that at once to push the sale of War Savings Stamps which would be such a great factor in reducing the size of the next bond issue if carried, to a successful ending.

County Chairman.

DEATH TAKES MRS. CARL BARNHART

Following Illness Covering Period of Over Four Months

Mrs. Marion Barnhart, wife of Carl Barnhart of this city, died at her home on the north side at 6:30 last Sunday evening, following a four months illness caused from cancer.

Deceased was born in Yalo, Michigan, in 1875, and was united in marriage to Carl Barnhart at Ludington, August 20, 1897. They moved to this city in 1006, and have since made their home here.

Mrs. Barnhart was a member of the Baptist church and always took an active part in all church work. She was also a member of the local relief corps. She is survived by a husband, three sons, Charles, Floyd and Harris, also her mother, Mrs. Lucy Dodge, and a sister, Miss Maud Dodge, of Seattle, Washington.

Her death was a most untimely one as it deprived her three sons of a mother's guiding hand and counsel during the early years of their life, the time when it is most needed.

The time of the funeral services will be announced later as they are awaiting the arrival of out of town relatives.

SUMMER BOAT ALMOST CERTAIN

STEAMER KANSAS TO MAKE TWICE A WEEK TRIPS

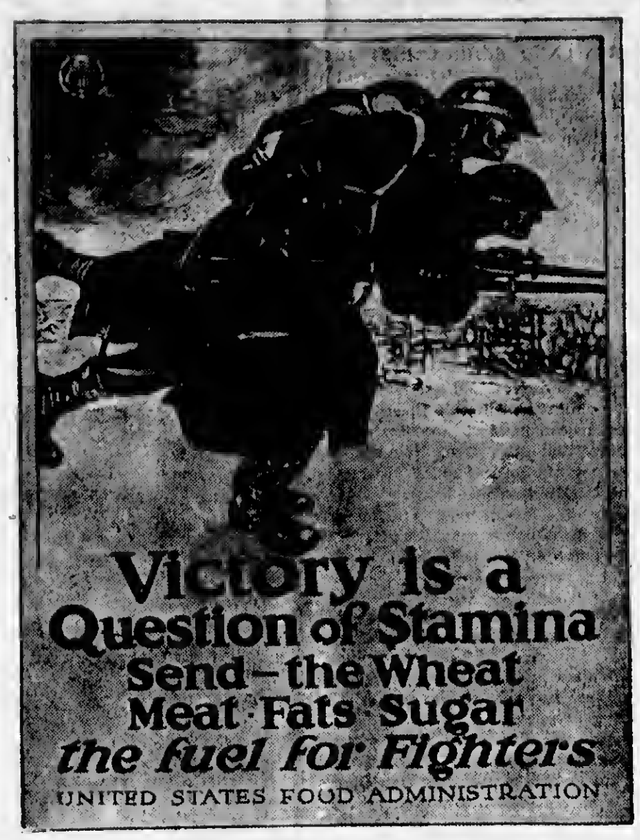
Captain Georga Johnson of Traverse City Has Option on Boat and May Buy

It looks at the present time that Charlevoix will have a boat, capable of taking care of all freight business and also passenger traffic, although more attention will be given to the freight end.

Some weeks ago a proposition was made to the business men of the city in regards to the Str. Missouri making this port during the summer season. Nothing definite, however was decided upon. A shipping agreement was submitted, and practically all business men in the city agree to do all shipping over the line. Later, when the price schedule was submitted by the Northern Michigan Transportation Co., owners of the Missouri, they were found to be in excess, and in some instances more than double that heretofore charged.

Later it was learned that Capt. Johnson of Traverse City, was negotiating with the N. M. T. line for the purchase of the Str. Kansas, which he intended to put on the run between Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Mackinaw Island and Traverse City, or in other words, making all ports north of Frankfort. Capt. Johnson was assured of the cooperation of all Charlevoix business houses in case he should close the deal, and from what we can learn, it looks as if the Kansas would make twice a week stops at this port.

Present indications also are that the Str. Manitou will be on her regular schedule between Chicago, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs and Mackinac Island again this season. It will be remembered that she was taken over by the government some months ago, but later advices state she has been released and may again resume her regular trip as in seasons past.



GLEN DOLBERG NOW IN FRANCE

SAYS THEY ARE HAVING FINE SPRING WEATHER

Anxious To Haar News From Home Through Charlevoix Papars—Notes of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Dolberg have received three letters from their son, Glonn, somewhere "over there," and which have been handed to us for publication. According to his letter, the writer is somewhat optimistic over the outcome of the present great war, and states that it is the wish of a great majority of the soldier boys that peace be declared as soon as possible, but not, however, before the Hun is thoroughly licked and taught a lesson that will last for years to come. With parts of a personal nature omitted, the letter is as follows:

April 11, 1918.

"Dear Folks—We arrived in France several days ago and are having spring here, too. It is pretty cold at night, but it warms up in the daytime and the sun shines most of the time. We have had several rainy days.

"Our cook shack is set up and our cook is feeding us like kings every meal and it surely seems good to us. The band is doing a good deal of playing and we are getting into good practice again. We practice every morning at 9 o'clock and play a concert nearly every evening at the Y. M. C. A. I play first cornet and I can play solo if necessary, but they have three other above me yet. We have a good band. About like the Furniture City band, I think.

"We have a base ball team and I am pitching in it. It seems like old times to be in the game again. We beat another team yesterday, 8 to 3.

"I will be so glad when the mail gets started to coming over here to us. The last letter I had from you was dated March 4, and I got that while I was at Camp Merritt, N. J.

"When we get to our final camp here I'll borrow a kodak and have some snapshots taken. We will get horses soon, I think. We are looking for the war to be over in a couple of months. Then we can head for home. I think I'll take a 'Zeppelin' and make a bee line for the U. S.

"I don't think our outfit will be used right at the front. I think we will be in some large city playing for the wounded soldiers and doing police work, etc., so there is no need to worry about me for I'm in no more danger here than as if I was back in Minneapolis, dodging street cars and automobiles.

"I haven't had a cold since I left Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, and I am feeling fine. I am anxious to know if you are both well.

"A Michigan regiment left this camp the day before we got here. I think maybe Ned Durance was in it. Do you know if he has been sent across yet? Please sent me a bunch of Charlevoix papers. I like to see what is going on back at home.

"I can't make it seem possible that I am away over here in France. Everything is so nice over here and the weather so fine. It is three months tomorrow since I was sworn into the army. That is some speed isn't it?

"We are sleeping in bunks in wooden cantonments here and we eat out doors on high tables. We all

WADED THROUGH CHICAGO MUD

WRITER TELLS OF EXPERIENCES AT GREAT LAKES

Training Camps Are Proper Places for Boys—Experiences in an Automatic Restaurant

Mrs. A. M. Jarvis has written us a very interesting letter of her trip to Chicago and other Western points, and gives a vivid description of every day life at the Great Lakes Training Station, where he son Dix was located at that time. The letter is quite interesting and we reproduce it for the benefit of our readers.

Little Rock, Ark., May 2, 1918.

"Editor of Courier—I promised to write you a few lines once in a while in regard to my trip and have undertaken it several times, but something has interrupted and I have put it off so long it may be dead news by now. However, I'll endeavor to make this as interesting as I can on paper, for it was all very interesting to me.

"Of course from Charlevoix to Chicago is an old, old story and not a very pleasant one either unless you have good company, which I was fortunate enough to have as far as Grand Rapids, viz, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burns, Mrs. Ned Durance, Billy Durance and last but not least a very cheerful (?) conductor. If you don't believe me ask the others.

"We all behaved like ladies and gentlemen until we reached White Cloud and there, I'm sorry to say, when Nat saw the popcorn man he went out of his head—was bound to buy the billy goat cart and all and send it to Charlevoix—but when he found he'd have to buy the man also he changed his mind.

"On arrival at Chicago found no one to meet me and the rain coming down in sheets, so wended my lonely way to the hotel Worthington, where I knew I would get in touch with Dix. Found he had phoned in and engaged a room for me and left a message saying he could not get shore leave, but it being Wednesday I could come out to see him as that was visitors day. So thankful for small favors I once more hiked out into the mud (and Chicago mud is mud) arrived at the Great Lakes station at 1:30 p. m., where I found more mud and after passing the guard at the gate, went to the information officer, told who I wished to see, his company, number of regiment and a little of his past history; they sent me out once more into the rain and mud in tow of a cute little sailor boy (messenger) who took me directly to the gymnasium where I found my young hopeful stripped to the waist, venting his pent up hatred of the kaiser on a poor, unoffensive punching bag.

"One thing impressed me right here was the fact that they know right where every boy is every minute of the time. It would be a good thing if some mothers and fathers would try it. I had just three hours with Dix and to see Great Lakes. I saw some and visited a lot.

"On account of the storm there was not much doing around the grounds, though I saw about two hundred Jackies moving from one camp to another, which is quite a sight to a "land lubber." They each carry their hammock and bedding done up in a roll, tied in a ring that just slips over their body over one shoulder and under the other arm, like an Orangeman wears his sash. Besides this they carry a small suit case for toilet articles. Their clothing is all rolled up in a bag inside of their hammock.

"I met a few of the boys among the rest the camp chief of Camp Perry, a fine young chap from Detroit. There are a great many Michigan boys there. I suppose on account of being from the Lake state they take to water more naturally. I learned a few things about the uniform of our jackies I never knew before. The black kerchief they wear is an emblem of mourning for the Maine and there is a heavy cord along the edge in token of every war the U. S. has ever had.

"Dix's insignia is three red bars on the left arm meaning 'First class,' a world surmounted with an eagle and on his cuff is three silver flashes of lightning, meaning electrician. I also learned how they kept their white braid clean. It has to be scrubbed every day with soap and water and a tooth brush, but the funniest thing is the way they keep their white hats stiff. Not with starch, but with SALT. I had to taste Dix's hat before I'd believe it. Their hats are washed every day and dried wrong side out and there is a string inside to tie it to the line by.

"I had a peep into the aviation school but could not go in, also into a mess hall and sleeping camp, but it was only a peep, as I did not have time to obtain a pass. Then we went into the Y. M. C. A. building, the place that is as near home sweet home as the boys can get. In the reception room were boys entertaining father, mother and their friends. It was so packed that they had to take some of us out to the writing room and I was glad to be one of these. Here I saw some boys writing, others reading, etc. There were lots of papers, magazines and along the wall a nice sized library of books. Over at the far side of the building were boys dancing and singing, while one fellow played the piano. They certainly did not act very homesick.

BUY "ANOTHER BOND CAMPAIGN"

One Hundred Four Charlevoix Citizens Match President's $50

On May 1, President Wilson called upon a million Americans to match him with a $50 Liberty bond—five dollars down and five dollars a month—thus inaugurating "Buy Another Bond" campaign.

The news was received in this city and within the day one hundred and four citizens took him up at his offer, regardless of the fact that they almost to a man, had about gone their limit in the recent Third Liberty Loan drive in which Charlevoix more than doubled her quota.

The presideat, after purchasing as many bonds as he could afford to, felt he could buy another on the installment plan, providing a million people in the country would go with him on the proposition. Loyal Charlevoix citizens thought the same way, with the result as stated above.

Thus Charlevoix again goes "over the top" and places herself on the map as one of the most loyal and patriotic cities in the state—and for that matter, the entire United States.

FAREWELL PARTY MONDAY EVENING

Mrs. Lillian Randall Presented With Token of Esteem by Friends

Twenty young ladies met at the home of Mrs. A. Powers on Upright Avenue, Monday evening for a farewell party on Miss Lillian Randell. It was a total surprise to this young lady.

The guests were royally entertained with "Sonora" selections and after a dainty lunch, Miss Lillian was presented with a white ivory tray, as a token of friendship of each lady present.

Miss Randall left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, and after visiting in that city will go to Flint to reside with her parents.

TRANSFERRED TO ANOTHER CAMP

LIEUT. HAMPTON TELLS OF HIS NEW QUARTERS

Saw First American Red Cross Nurses Since His Arrival In France

The parents of Lt. Victor H. Hampton have received word that he has been transferred to another camp, presumably for further training. As the letter was written before the Germans started their big drive, it says nothing about that. With the personal paragraphs omitted, it is given below:

Somewhere in France,
March 17, 1918.

"Dear Folks—I have arrived at my new station and gotten things sufficiently squared away to enable me to write again. Had a much better trip this time than my previous experience. Much better food and I was only two days on the road, with a rest of two or three days between times. Find myself much more comfortably situated in every respect than I have been at any time since arriving in France, and except for the fact that it will probably take some time for my mail to catch up with me again, I am glad for the change in station. Don't know how long I will be here but expect about five weeks will be the limit. Nothing new that I can write you, except that I saw two American Red Cross nurses, the first American women I have seen since leaving the U. S., so that was quite an event. Also saw some American locomotives with real whistles, which brought great joy to our hearts, particularly when it was tooted several times in salute by a real, coal be-grimed American engineer. Have seen many interesting towns and places, and will have lots of interesting tales to tell you when I get back.

"How is everybody? Do hope you are all feeling as well as I am. You ought to see me. Brown as a berry and as hard as can be. Can march all night with a pack on and feel rendy for more in the morning. Soldiering will make a man strong and well, if nothing else. It's the outdoor life and regularity of sleep, and meals that does it, and except in cases of necessity we always make it a point to get our share of sleep and "chow." I usually turn in about 8:30 or 9:00 p. m. and get up with the birds, have an invigorating wash and then for breakfast. We have a French cook now and American grub, so you see the officers' mess is going to be 'A No. 1,' although I think our cook will have to go some to beat the American 'cooky' we had before. You don't have to worry about my food for now I am satisfied as I ever am when away from mother's table. Well, for instance we had doughnuts the other day that were much better than bakery make, and you know what an excellent judge of doughnuts I am.

"It's about time to roll in, although I haven't done a great deal today and am only sleepy. It's just 9:00 p. m., and right now I imagine you are all sitting together after dinner, and possibly wondering what I'm doing. It is 2:00 p. m. where you are, as there is that difference in time.

"I am gradually picking up a little more French, by becoming acquainted with certain phrases, although can't understand a great deal. However, so many Frenchmen speak English of a sort, that but a very little French suffices to get you along without trouble. Love to all and don't worry about me.

"I have been here for a week or so now. You would like the place. We are in the woods and the birds sing and its better than camping out. I did quite a little traveling to get here. Had to march fifteen miles one night, and also spent a day or so on trains. It's very exciting to pass through a deserted village at 1:00 a. m. Very ghostly. Everything still, and you see all sorts of queer shapes in and about the houses which are vacant.

"Wish you could see my house. It's a dandy. Little stove and a nice bunk for my bedding roll. I have electric lights, too. It is nice and warm here, and the trees are budding out. Suppose it is still cold and snowy back home."

Patent Office Decision in Favor of "Vivo."

A decision of far reaching importance has just been handed down by the United States patent office in the case of Anheuser-Busch Brewing association vs. Fred Miller Brewing company.

In February, 1917, Fred Miller Brewing company of Milwaukee, Wis., applied to the United States patent office for registration of its trade mark "Vivo," for a nonintoxicating cereal beverage manufactured by it and sold as a soft drink. The Anheuser-Busch Brewing association of St. Louis, Mo., opposed the application on the ground that the trade mark "Vivo" was an interference with their trade mark "Bevo" used in connection with a similar beverage. The Fred Miller Brewing company proved to the satisfaction of the United States patent office that it had used the said trade mark since the year 1905, while the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association did not commence the use of its trade mark "Bevo" until the year 1908, and the United States patent office has now decided that in view of the prior use by the Fred Miller Brewing company of its trade mark "Vivo," it is entitled to the registration of same, and the opposition of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association has been dismissed.—Adv. 19t1.

"The war, according to the newspapers, ls still holding even on both sides. I am hopIng for a turn in battle which may bring about peace. However, I am feeling very optimistic with the outfit I am with, and I have no fears or doubts but what we will all eome back safe and sound. It may be along time though, but the sooner the better for me, and every man in the army is just as anxious as I am to have peace declared and be put on a boat labeled 'U. S. Ivan F. Newman Writes About Life in Spruce Camp

Ivan F. Newman, now with the 451st Squadron Camp, Nemah, Washington, has sent us a postcard of himself and members of his crew, now working among tbe big spruce trees in Washington, getting out material for building aeroplanes and submarine destroyers for Uncle Sam. The post card shows Ivan and other members of his crew sitting on a mammoth stump of a spruce tree, (described below) and his letter tells of his working outfit and other interesting items of his daily life:

Nemah, Wash., April 28.

"Editor Courier—Enclosed you will find a postcard picture of one of the spruce stumps out here. This is not what we call a big one, for we have some that will go twelve feet and this one is but nine feet. However, it is some stump at that.

"The crew that I am in is called a "rivering crew." Our business is to split the logs, as you can see by the picture, one of them being partially split. The work is pleasant, but I find it rather hard. The foreman calls us "the kids," but we split just as many trees as the heavier crews.

"Out outfit consists of two logging jacks, weight 75 pounds each, two iron sledges of 16 pounds cach, and two wooden mauls of 25 and 14 pounds cach, four gluts, eloven iron wedges weighting 20 pounds each, two bars and two axes. So you see we have quite a bit to pack from one tree to another.

"This crew alone represents four differont states. The man to my left is Joe Gallagher of Beaver Island, who is the boss of our crew. Many of the Charlevoix boys will remember him. Yours,"

Maxwell

ERICKSON & FOWLER

DISTRIBUTOR

103 Antrim Street

Charlevoix - Michigan

You know, of course, that the Maxwell Motor Car is the long distance champion of the world.

You have read that a "stock" Maxwell 5-passenger car ran for 44 days and nights without stopping the motor.

And that, in the 44 days non-stop test, the Maxwell covered 22,022 miles, at an average speed of 25 miles per hour.

But have you, up to now, realized the full significance of that performance?

Do you know that no other motor car in the world has ever equalled or even approached that performance?

In a word, did you take this test seriously when you heard of it?

Or did you set it down as a "selling stunt" to give the publicity man something to talk about?

It's worth your while to read and to study the conditions under which that test was made.

You know that the American Automobile Association (familiarly known as the "A.A.A.") is the official arbiter of every automobile test and contest.

But perhaps you didn't know that when a maker places his product under A.A.A. supervision he must do absolutely as told and abide by the decisions of the Board.

That's why there are so few A.A.A. Official Records!

This 22,000-mile Maxwell non-stop test was official from start to finish.

Therein lies its value to you.

It proves absolutely the quality of the car—of the very Maxwell you buy.

For verily this was a "stock" Maxwell. Listen:—

First: the inspectors disassembled the motor to see that no special pistons, valves, bearing-metal or other parts had been used.

Every other unit was as critically inspected. Then the car was re-assembled under their own supervision.

As we had much at stake and the test was made in winter (November 23 to January 5) we asked permission to take certain little precautions against accidental stoppage.

Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?

But they refused permission to do any such thing.

For example:—They would not permit a rubber cover over the magneto—it wasn't "stock."

They refused to let us tape the ignition wire terminals—they are not taped on the Maxwells we sell—so of course it wasn't "stock."

Neither would they let us use a spiral coiled pipe in place of the usual straight one from tank to carburctor to guard against a breakage from the constant, unremitting vibration—it isn't "stock."

Nor to use a special high priced foreign make of spark plug—the run was made on the same spark plugs with which all Maxwells are equipped.

So rigid were the rules, we were unable to carry a spare tire on the rear—it wasn't "stock." A telegram to headquarters in New York finally brought a special permit to carry a spare tire.

"It isn't stock!" "It isn't stock!"

That was the laconic reply of those A.A.A. inspectors to every last suggestion that called for anything but the precise condition of the standard, stock model Maxwell that any customer can buy from any one of 3000 dealers anywhere.

We are glad now—mighty glad—that the rules were so strict and so rigidly enforced.

Any other car that ever attempts to equal that record must do it under official supervision—and comply with the same terms.

And it will have to go some.

For Maxwell set the standard when it performed this wonderful feat.

Maxwell complied with those rules—and made good.

Every drop of gasoline and oil and water was measured out and poured in by the inspectors themselves. They would not even let our man pour it in!

Every four hours the car had to report at the official station for checking.

And it had to be there on the minute.

And every minute there was an inspector beside the driver on the front seat—two more men in the rear. One got out only to let another in—day and night for 44 days and nights!

There was one technical stop.

It is interesting to know the circumstances.

Dead of night—a driving storm—a cloudburst—suddenly another car appeared in the road ahead.

In his effort to avoid a collision the Maxwell driver stalled his motor.

At least the observers thought it stopped and so reported.

The car did not stop, however, so its momentum again started the motor (if it had indeed stalled) when the clutch was let in.

The contest board exonerated our driver on grounds that his action was necessary to save life.

That shows you how rigid were the rules—how conscientiously applied by the observers.

You who have owned and driven motor cars—you who know how small a thing may clog a carburetor or a feed pipe; "short" a spark or stall a motor—will realize what a wonderfully well made car this must be to go through that test under those conditions—44 days—22,022 miles without stopping.

The exact amount of gasoline, of oil, of water used; the tire mileage, tire troubles, tire changes; the distance and the routes are matters of official record, attested under oath and guaranteed by the A. A. A.

(By the way, the average was nearly 10,000 miles per tire.)

Any Maxwell owner—or anyone interested may see those records.

And—here's the most wonderful part—though no attempt was or could be made for economy; the Maxwell averaged 22 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Some other car may, some time, equal some one of those performances. But to equal them all in the same test— that car must be a Maxwell.

SHOULD BUY COAL RIGHT NOW

SERIOUS SHORTAGE PREDICTED COMING WINTER

Fuel Administrator Prudden Says Fuel Will Cost More in Fall—Local Selling Price

Federal Fuel Administrator W. K. Prudden again issues a warning regarding the coal situation, and has requested all local fuel administrators to give it as much publicity as possible. He says that if local dealers are forced to lay in a large supply of coal for next winter's consumption during the early spring and summer months, they will be allowed to charge an advaneed price for it. He also covers the local selling price of this much needed article and explains the reason for so doing.

"Mr. R. C. Hammett, chairman,
"Charlevoix, Mich.
"Dear Sir:

"There has heen a concerted campaign on the part of certain coal dealers in the state of Michigan to create dissatisfaction regarding the gross margins established hy. the State Fuel Administrator in order number 12 of April 1st, 1918. The prices set in some localities appear to be too low and when a proper showing is made will be adjusted.

"It is the desire of the United States Fuel Administration to allow the retail coal dealer a fair profit. It does not intend to allow more than that. In case of a town where but about twenty five thousand tons of coal is used for domestic use it can not be expected that a gross margin will be allowed that will ennble seven or eight coal dealers to make a good profit out of an average of but 3,000 tons sold by each dealer. Such n community should not be expected to pay for its coal an exorbitant price to maintain a living for several coal dealers not needed in the business.

"In view of the fact that towns and cities of a similar population have different local conditions, these conditions should be taken into account in establishing gross margins.

"The rules of the United States Fuel Administration require coal dealers to make out and certify to statements on blanks (which you have) showing tonnage sold, operating costs, etc.

"If there is dissatisfaction in your county relative to the prices in order No. 12 have ALL the dealers in the town make out and submit to you these statements and if in the judgment of your county committee after going over these statements carefully, the margins are too low, you are herchy authorized to place such town or city in the NEXT HIGHER class than the population referred to now puts it. For instance the present gross margin of towns 2,000 to 10,000 is $1.85. You could allow a margin of $2.00 In towns of 10,000 to 20,000 present margin is $2.00. You could allow $2.25. In cities of over 20,000 a gross margin of $2.50. As a help in determining this would suggest you call in several representative citizens and present the facts and get their advice.

"The coal dealers say if not allowed a greater margin it will interferc with getting in coal. Only indirectly is this true. Michigan is in a certain coal zone. It can get coal only from certain coal fields, and the mines in those fields must ship to their respective zones. An allotment of Anthracite coal will be made to Michigan and each locality will be alloted its share. The gross margin therefore allowed will have nothing WHATEVER TO DO WITH THE AMOUNT OF ANTHRACITE COAL TO BE OBTAINED.

"Do not therefore give undue attention to the coal dealers argument on this point.

"The fuel administration urges all domestic consumers to put in nt the present time any kind of conl that can be had. Should it happen that the public fails to do this, and the coal dealer is required to stock up and carry conl until next fall or winter then later, on, this additional cost will be taken into consideration if the gross margins established now are not sufficient to allow the dealer a fair profit.

"The gross margins established for Michigan, especially in the larger cities, average higher than the gross margins in the larger cities of any state adjacent to Michigan.

"You are requested to give this letter publicity and to give the matter prompt nttention. The public must not infer that coal will be stocked up and carried for them until needed. The fuel administration does not believe that coal will be shipped in quantities to be stored to any great extent by dealers.

"Kindly acknowledge receipt, and advise promptly of any chnnges herein authorized that you make.

"Yours truly,"

Early Sowing In Hotbed.

Seed can be sown in the hotbed before the snow is off the ground, and the plants will have from four to six weeks' start when warm weather comes in the spring. By this means the vegetable grower has that much start on the crop grown from seed in the open soil. This means early marketing, which every grower is seeking because of the increase in returns.

FARM STOCK.

The disposition of a brood sow goes a long way in making her a profitable dam.

Don't give the ewes corn. Corn makes them feverish and inflames the udders. Inflamed udders are a bad thing at lambing time.

The idle horses should not be fed so much grain as when at work, but they should have a small ration.

A ewe that is good to wean should not be too fleshy.

Don't overfeed the brood sows and get them too fat. A fat sow never has a good litter of pigs.

MOTHERS' DAY SUNDAY, MAY 12

Governor Sleeper Sets Aside Day for General Observance

The beautiful custom of setting apart one day in the year as Mothers' Day ought to make an especial stroag appeal to us this year. The mothers of our land are freely spending time and energy and ability in many useful forms of war service. More than all, not counting the cost, they are bravely giving up their sons in the cause of Liberty; and it is entirely fitting, while we honor the memory of the dead, that we should make mention also of the splendid spirit of service and sacrifice which animates the living.

Therefore, that we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside, Sunday, May Twelfth next, as Mothers' Day, and I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship, and take part in services appropriate to the day and, by the wearing of a red flower for the living mother and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

Let me suggest, too, that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit, if possible, the mother in the old home, or, where such a visit is impossible, that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this may mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan, on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER,
Governor.

COLEMAN C. VAUGHN,
Secretary of State.

Make Fruit Trees Pay

Don't let your fruit trees be idle this year. If ever there was a season when every fruit tree in Northern Michigan should be compelled to put in full time and to secure good results this is the year. Thousands and millions of extra bushels of fruit can be grown in Northern Michigan if extra effort and double effort is made to assist the trees and to compel their best production. Prune your trees wisely, spray them generously and in accordance with necessary requirements. Dig trenches around them for drainage where that is necessary and feed them with fertilization. Perhaps you know better yourself what to do than others can tell you, and don't fail to do it this year. An unproductive fruit tree on a farm in Northern Michigan this year will be something that should require explanation.

Meats and Fish

Our business is to keep the citizens of Charlevoix well provided with these every day necessities. You will find the meat here every day, and the fish—well we could sell twice the amount we are able to get.

6½c a Lb.

This is the price on the fish we have to sell. On meats our prices are just as reasonable, taking into consideration the quality you obtain. One order means another—and within a few days you are enrolled as one of our regular customers.

U. S. PRISONERS ON EXHIBITION

A Canadian soldier who escaped from a Hun military prison aad arrived in Holland, saw some of the American soldiers who were captured in n trench raid last October and tells how they were treated.

The American soldiers, gaunt and emanciated by starvation, wearing filthy clothing which their German captors refused to permit them to change or wash, were marched for miles over hard roads and paraded through the steets of villages as exhibits of the "American army." They were held up to public ridicula and scorn everywhere, made the laughting stock in Germany.

So terrible had been tbeir treatment and so weakened were they from want of food that some were mentally dazed. They were not treated with the scant consideration shown prisoners of other nationalities, neither were they fed the regular prisoner's allowance. For breakfast they were given acorn coffee and two slices of bread made of rye, flour sawdust and potato flour; for dinner they were given soup; for supper they were given soup and two slices of the same kind of bread they had for breakfast. They were paraded about through Germany, "an exhibition of the American army," to be jeered at, scoffed at, spat upon by even the lowest strumpet in petticoats that follows the Hun army as one of its accessories.

While this is not so dastardly as the treatment of helpless women and children caught in Belgium and France by the Huns, it is another illustration of the high ideas of kultur to which the German mind has been attuned. This is the "fatherland" wo have heard so much about, transformed no doubt from what it was 40 years ago, but it is Germany as it is today—a nation devoid of honor, minus human conscience, reeking in blood and travesty upon all principles of human rights or feelings.

No other treatment for American soldiers could be expected from the Huns other than that outlined by the Canadian soldier who witnessed this outrage. We know there is no atrocity within the scope of the fiendish Hun mind to conceive, no deed too vile, for the Huns to put into execution. We know the Hun versatility in devising torture for human beings, so we are not astonished when at last we hear of what happened to the American soldiers captured that night in October when the Germans laid a heavy artillery barraga back of an outpost on the Toul sector for the purpose of cutting of retreat and tben rushed the trenches with a superior force, outnumbering the Americans eight to one, for the sole purpose of taking a faw prisoners. We remamber that a cash prize was offered for the first American captured, aad now we know what tha Germaas wanted with tha Americans—to starva them and parado their gaunt, half naked forms tbrough tha streets of villages and cities and hold them up to public ridicule.

Thesa American prisoners will never live to return boma after tba war and tell of tbeir sufferings. Tho guilty Germans will see that thay die of starvation or ara murdered by some other cultured method, as dead men toll no talas.

CREEL AND HIS PRIDE

For of what is it that we are to be proud? Of having demanded of embattled Germaa "strict accountability" while deliberately avoiding the most elementary preparations to exact it? Of havlag delivered a series of utilimatums which we had no intention or power to enforce? To have been prepared, says Mr. Creel, "would have given the lie to everything we believed in." Would it have given the lie to our demands that Germany stop murdering our citizens? Or to our championship to the rights of nations and the sacred principles of humanity? Or to our faith in the democracy which was won and preserved on bloody fields of battle? Surely false sentiment was never more audaciously supported by false reasoning.

But turn from the dead past to the living, threatening present, and inquire what this sniveling pride in our unpreparedness means.

It means, if it means anything, that we are to be proud not only of having rejected the duty of making ready, but of all the lamentable results of that policy. We are to be proud of soldiers shivering in winter camps without overcoats; of military hospitals lacking heat and sanitation and water supply; of American troop dependent upon our hard-pressed Allies for artillery and machine guns and the very uniforms they wear; of the fighting sons of the republic sent into the trenches without and American airplane to defend them from the marauding Hun; of seeing war-worn Britain and burdened France battling against cruel odds becausa American aid is meager and belated; of being lookers-on at liberty's Armageddon. For when full weight is given to governmental errors and inefficiency, tha all-sufficient reason for every one of thesa failures is that America entered the war unprepared.

"We hnve every reason to believe" said a German paper a few months ago, "that the menacing words "Too Late' will be the title of America's help when it is recorded in history." The boast is n vain one. The help of America, splendidly aroused at last, will not be too late to make sure the smashing of that hideous Thing which has sprung at the throat of civilization. But it will be too late to save this nation from the everlasting reproach of defaulted obligation; to late to re-establish freedom without sacrifices which no mind can measure and which might have been averted; too late to save the tens of thousands of gallant men who are perishing in France and Flanders today by reason of our belated coming.

Because of these things America now will fight and enduro with sterner resolve. But of them never, while God gives her reason and memory, will she be proud.—Philadelphia North American.

How long, yes, for heaven'a sake, how long is this nation going to tolerate the German spy system, in this country, that wrecked a Jersey City storehouse holding a million dollars' worth of military food aad supplies? What is the use of conserving and scrimping the food only to have it blown up by our enemies at the sea board? Before the war can be won over there we had better start to clean up this situation at home. The government must put a stop to this German spy system or the people will get out of patience. Wa have been too lenient in this country. Dead spies light no fuses.

Possibly one reason some of these pro-Germans have no money to invest in Liberty bonds is because they tied up their surplus cash in those fine German bonds sold in this district when the kaiser was on his way to Paris in 1914.

Our enemies must be conquered morally, says Count Czernin. The Huns haven't guns enough to blow their kind of morals into a free people.

Germany's war debt is almost $35,000,000,000, not counting the blood upon her record.

SIXTH ANNUAL TROUT SUPPER

SIXTY-EIGHT PEOPLE ENJOY YEARLY EVENT

Winning Side Suspected of Tampering With Fish—New Committee Appointed

Sixty-eight people, both young and old, were on hand at the sixth annual trout supper held at the Blue hill, Wednesday evening, May 2nd, and the ovent proved to be the best yet held.

As is usual eneh year sides had been chosen, one team being captained by L. VanSkiver and the other by Geo. Huntor, the latter side winning by a small majority. It was proven later however, that the winners had rung in a bunch of suekers and grass pike, camouflaged so artistleally that the committee, whose duty it was to check the number as they were brought in were deceived.

The supper was set to start at 7:00 p.m. and was only a trifle behind the schedule. "America" was sung by the entire party to open the evening, after which they sat down and made those trout sorry they were ever hatched.

Following the supper, C. E. Bearss acting as toastmaster, took chargo of the program which had been arranged by the committee. The opening number wns a violin and piano duet by Walter McKie and Mrs. D. E. Clow, which was so much appreciated that they responded with an encore. Mrs. Clow also favored the bnnqueters with duots with two of her little music pupils, Margaret Harris and Dio Nelson, and these also received much well deserved applnuse. A song by the young people wns next on the program, after which short talks were given by Messrs. L. VanSkiver, M. R. Nelson, E. R. Harris, D. E. Clow, D. Patterson and Glen Townsend.

A splendid feature of the evening was the unexpected but never-the-less more than welcome presence of two from out-of-town visitors, namely, Ira Adams and Lyle Shanahan, both from Charlevoix. Both these gentlemen were called upon by the toastmaster and were kind enough to respond with short, interesting talks.

The entire affair was a "hummer" from start to finish and the committee which consisted of Mrs. E. R. Harris, Mrs. C. E. Bearss, Mrs. L. VanSkiver, Mrs. M. Struik nnd Mrs. Wm. Eastcott mny well feel proud of the way in which the supper nnd the entertainment following were arranged and carried out.

Before the close of the affair a short business meeting was held and a new committeo was appointed consisting of Mesdames Wm. Patterson, Wm. Eastcott, A. L. Ely, G. Hunter and F. Peebles and it was decided to hold the seventh annual supper on the evening of May 2, 1919.

OUR GIFT TO CANADIAN RED CROSS

Acknowledged With Cordial Expression of Appreciation

Canadian soldiers, who are making the Germans pay so dearly for every inch of ground in the fighting area and who have repeatedly thrown back the German hordes, are to be the beneficiaries of a gift of $500,000 just made by the American Red Cross to their own Canadian Red Cross.

This gift to the Canadian Red Cross follows closely upon a gift of $1,000,000 to the British Red Cross and both gifts are made to emphasize the close sympathy and friendship that exists between English and American soldiers and civilians.

Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of American young men enlisted in the Canadian forces before our country entered the war and the Canadian Red Cross used its resources unsparingly for their benefit. Consequently this gift in one sense simply repays the generosity of the Canadians.

While the American Red Cross placed no restrictions on the gift, the wish was expressed that the Canadian Red Cross would use the money for sick and wounded Canadian soldiers at the battle front.

The gift has brought forth the most cordial expressions of appreciation from the people of Canada as well as from the soldiers.

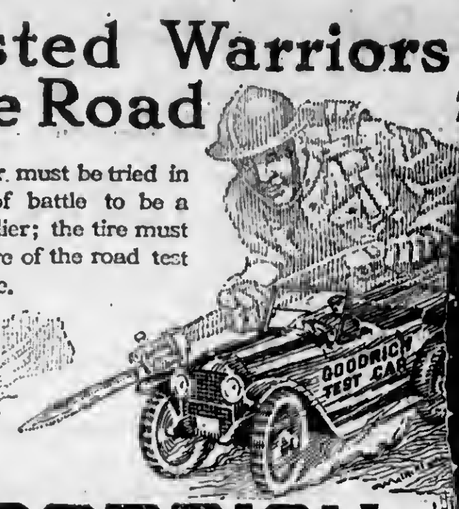
BEST IN THE LONG RUN — FAIR TREATMENT

Tested Warriors of the Road

THE soldier must be tried in the fire of battle to be a tested soldier; the tire must be tried in the fire of the road test to be a tested tire.



GOODRICH TESTED TIRES

That is the Goodrich idea of a tire. Therefore, Goodrich Test Car Fleets, six of them, for a year hammered Goodrich Tires from state to state, putting them to the road test of rock, sand, and gravel. The tires emerged tested warriors of the road, from a grand mileage of 4,178,744 tire miles.

They triumphed, SILVERTOWN CORDS and BLACK SAFETY TREADS, with an endurance that doubled Goodrich's pride in the structure of the spiral wrapped, cable-cord tire body, and the toughness of the cross-barred, close-clutch non-skid black safety tread.

WADED THROUGH CHICAGO MUD

There were a few murmurs of discontent of not being allowed to get out and blow the subs all out of the water. But they are finding out things the same as everyone else is that Uncle Sam does things his own way, 'He does what he wants when he wants to.'

"The guards made me smile. They were dressed in their rainy days suits of big square of oil cloth with their heads stuck through the middle and it hung in corners all around them, a 'sou-wester' on their heads, rubber boots and across their shoulders strapped a rifle. There was one boy at each street crossing and they looked more like Teddy Bears than anything else I could think of. I said to the guide. "I suppose if I'd speak to one of those stern looking officers I'd get arrested," and he said, 'No, I think they'd like it.' So the next one I came to happened to be standing where the water was running about six inches deep right over his feet, and I said, 'you'll get your feet wet little boy," and you'd ought to have heard him laugh and say, 'oh no, my boots don't leak.'

"At 5 p. m. all company are asked to leave, and visiting with Dix the time passed so fast that I was leaving before I had said half I wanted to. But I enjoyed every minute of the time and had it of been a nice day, could of seen so much more. But it was all grand and I learned a great deal about sailing on dry land. One thing that impressed me with the thought that it was not play, was the fact that Dix could not pass the guard to step down to the car with me. It is war times and war discipline.

"Had an experience in Chicago that was new to me, but no doubt it is an old one with others. I ate a few meals in an 'automatic' restaumant, where you wait on yourself and wait is the word that pictures your truly. Went in with a friend. We sat down at a table in the corner. Well we sat, and sat, and sat, my friend seemed to enjoy the conversation immensely, but I felt as mad as a setting hen and kept wondering why no one came to wait on us. After we had sat there about twenty minutes she said, 'let's get something to eat,' then she explained the mystery of the thing. On all sides of the room are glass cases containing good things to eat. A card over the case tells what they cost. You get your change ready go around and look at all the different things you'd like (or wouldn't like) to eat. When you find what you want, drop the coin into the slot, the case flies open and you take your prize and depart to or for your table. Then something to drink (say milk). Get a glass, hold it under the faucet marked 'fresh milk,' drop your nickel—presto—your glass is just level full of rich, sweet milk. Can you beat it?

—"Was down to Billy Sunday's big tabernacle on the lake front, but it being 7:00 a. m., Billy was not shouting, but we looked it over pretty well. It is like a big circus tent, only built of boards and all around the entrance grounds are ice cream, red hots and pop corn stands, showing that while Billy is laboring to save their souls, the other fellow is catering to their stomachs. I would liked to of heard him talk. I was just twenty-four hours in Chicago, but did not waste any time. Will tell you something of my trip later. Yours,"

The Coast Guards, under Captain Partridge will entertain the old soldiers. There will also be a few short speeches by local eltizens and a general good patriotic time.

Program of the day will be given in a later issue.

CELEBRATED HIS 68TH BIRTHDAY

Home of William Gregory Scene of Delightful Afternoon

On Saturday afternoon of last week the home of William Gregory of Hayes township near Burgess was the scene of a most delightful afternoon meeting in the form of a birthday party, in which some thirty of Mr. Gregory's friends and neighbors took part.

The neighbors rather took the home by storm and in a most convincing manner demonstrated to the host that such events as a birthday, even if it was his 68th, was not to be passed without being properly observed.

The fitting climax to the afternoon's activities was the supper provided for by Mrs. Gregory, and the birthday cake and its 68 candles. Mr. Gregory and his good wife were congratulated in many ways, he for his excellent health despite his advanced years, and his good wife for the excellence of the spread.

SUSPEND ELEVEN SCHOOL STUDENTS

Petoskey Boerd of Education Puts Foot on Rowdyism

Eleven Petoskey high school students, five of them seniors, were suspended from school for the remainder of the school year Wednesday of last week, by the board of education of that city, for having entered the school building the night of April 25 and stacked the books from the desks in the assembly room.

The young men were called before the board of education and high school faculty and each member of the party admitted his part in the escapade.

At their own request and the request of the board the names of the boys are not being published.

It is the intention of the school board to round up every student connected with the affair and to suspend everyone who participated.

MICHIGAN WAY BEHIND

Has Not Done Her Share in Purchase of W. S. S.

Michigan has not done her share in the purchase of War Savings Stamps. This fact is shown in a report filed by the director of sales for Michigan. It shows Michigan in forty-seventh position among the states of the Union, with reference to total sales during the campaign, and in forty-fourth position as regards sales for the month of March. A strenuous campaign has been launched to bring the state out of this rut, and it is believed that the next monthly report will be more encouraging.

Kelly-Springfield Tires and Tubes

We have taken the agency of these famous tires and tubes and have them now in stock. From what we have been able to learn there is not a better tire made and sold on the market today. They insure all pneumatic tires bearing their name and serial number to be free from imperfections in material and workmanship and if upon examination they are found to be defective, they will replace them upon the following basis: Plain tread 5,000 miles; Driving tread 6,000 miles; Kant-Slip tread 6,000 miles. In Ford sizes—Plain tread 6,000 miles; Kant-Slip tread 7,500 miles. What fairer offer can be made by any manufacturer or dealer?

Goodyear Tires and Tubes

When you buy a Goodyear Tire from your dealer, and it is delivered to you over his counter, think of it not alone as a product purely utilitarian, a servant of your comfort and your need; but view it also in the light of its larger accomplishments. Think of the many miles of service you are obtaining and the security of knowing that the tires under you will hold up at any stage of the game and give you the very best of service. There is a great deal of satisfaction in this—just knowing that when you start out a day's or hour's ride, you will not be obliged to stop on the road and make a shift in tires. This is but a sample of the service the Goodyear tires and tubes will give you. Are you a user? Why not—hundreds right here in Charlevoix city and county are.

We have other tires in stock, but especially recommend the two mentioned above.

Speeches Were Good, Though Cheering Lacked Pep—County Has Subscribed Over $53,000

The celebration of the launching of the Third Liberty Loan last Saturday afternoon in this city was vigorous and enthusiastic as far as the actual participants were concerned, but what was needed was more pep in the audience. Compared to the noise the averege crowd makes at a ball game, the demonstration was decidedly feeble. However, this may be remedied in time, as we get more practice and when the casualty lists begin to come in to impress upon our minds that the war is not just a form of glorified "movie show," but a stern reality to us as well as to the boys who are doing the fighting.

Dr. Armstrong presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Rose, and made some terse but eloquent remarks, placing before his audience a vivid word picture of what we are up against and the necessity af our going over the top to meet it.

Rev. Father Ives followed the doctor and outlined the duties of an American citizen, expressing his pride in the fact that he could call himself an American citizen, though foreign by birth.

Rev. C. E. Taggart was the next speaker on the program and scored the Kaiser most scathingly in his remarks. He advised the learning of the new American creed which has recently been published, by every man, woman and child.

Lawyer Shanahan made a strong appeal for the buying of bonds, not, however, unmixed with his usual witticisms which the audience greatly appreciated. He closed his address by appealing to his hearers to follow his advice but not his example—in the matter of saving money.

At exactly 1:13 p. m. the cannon which the boys had brought up from the life saving station boomed out and every boat whistle and bell rang steadily for three minutes, this being the exact date and hour of the President's declaration of war on Germany, one year ago. Then Old Glory was raised to the top of the eagle-tipped Liberty pole while the crowd sang "America."

The children of the high school deserve great commendation for the hearty way in which they led the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America" and the cheers that were given for the President, the war veterans, our boys at the front and the women of the Red Cross.

Before six o'clock Saturday night, over $21,000 of the bonds had been subscribed and as we go to press the figure is over $52,700 which indicates that Charlevoix will run considerably over her quota of $176,375.00.

The Liberty pole and Liberty Loan Thermometer raised on the lot next to See's coal office is an ambitious affair and a credit to the city. We are beholden for it to the generosity and patriotism of Mr. Harry L. Oldham, whose idea and gift it is. The pole is 65 feet in height and the thermometer, painted white and graduated in amounts of $500.00 up to $75,000.00, is 55 feet high by two feet, four inches wide. The center is slotted for the entire length and a colored statuette of Uncle Sam with his sleeves rolled up ready "to do business" serves as the mercury, which will be raised as the subscriptions come in. Above the thermometer is a cross bar sign, bearing in white letters on a red field, the county's quota, $176,375.00. Half way up the thermometer are two board wings, about six by two feet, painted white, the right hand wing bearing the columnar inscription in black letters, "For God and Country" and on the left hand wing, "Best Buy on Earth." Below these, with East Jordan on the left and Boyne City on the right, are small wings, two feet square, bearing the names of the two towns and their respective quotas ($59,000.00 apiece) and below this a space to chalk the amount raised. At the top of the pole is perched a gilded eagle with outstretched wings.

The pole and thermometer stand in a little circular enclosure, rimmed with a picket fence, and this also is painted red and white, making a very attractive appearance. Auto search lights are arranged on the roof af the Insurance office opposite to "spot" the eagle on top of the pole at night.

Up ta Tuesday night, the total af subscriptions in the county stood at $52,700.00, af which Charlevoix city and adjacent townships had raised approximately $17,000, East Jordan and her environs, $25,150 and Boyne City and surrounding territory, including Boyne Falls, $14,150.

SEE MONTRAVILLE WOOD DEMONSTRATE GYROSCOPE

He Will Be At Opera House Next Friday Evening

Montravillie Wood, of the Redpath Bureau will be at the Opera House, Friday, April 12, at 8:00 p. m.

Mr. Wood is a scientist and inventor and has invented over one hundred practical and familiar devices. His gyroscope made aerial carrying of the mail a possibility. He will demonstrate his new torpedo with ears, produce handwriting on the wall with a ray of light, run a monorail car and demonstrate how gravity can be overcome by means of the gyroscope.

This is a timely lecture and one that should be of interest to all people. It will be an amusing and instructive scientific demonstration.

This number will close the season's Charlevoix lecture course and everyone should avail himself of this opportunity to hear the noted inventor and electrical genius.

Reserve seats will be on sale Thursday evening, April 11th, at 7:00 p. m. Single admission, 50c.

CANNOT SEND GOODIES ABROAD

WITHOUT PERMISSION FROM OFFICER COMMANDING

Permit From Recipient's Superior Must Be Secured and Enclosed In Packages Shipped

To those who have boys in the service "somewhere in France," the workings of the new regulation regarding the shipment of merchandise to soldiers at the front will prove of especial interest.

While candy, books, clothing, tobacco, etc., may be freely shipped to any camp or post within the limits of the United States, nothing of this nature may be sent to troops abroad without special permit from the commanding officer of the organization to which the recipient belongs. If you want to send your boy "over there" a box of goodies, it will be necessary for you first to write him, stating that you are planning to send it to him (and, we presume, it would be a good thing to specify the articles to be sent). He must then go to his commanding officer and secure a written permit for the shipment of the goods. This will be mailed to you, and you must enclose it in the box you ship the things in.

While this procedure may, at first blush, seem rather severe and somewhat of a hardship, there is in fact good reason for it. So great a hulk of really unnecessary things have been shipped to our soldiers in the American Expeditionary Force since our troops first landed, that valuable ship room has been taken up in this way that might otherwise be devoted to the carrying of vitally necessary cargo. Hence the new law.

Our Sigh of Relief

The Courier is now in its new quarters, but only after a struggle with adverse circumstances that would make the angels weep.

Added to the confusion incident to the moving of heavy machinery, installation of shafting and electric wires and the sorting and distribution of a large stock of stationery, office bric-a-brac and the disposal of a goodly amount of accumulated rubbish (including poetical contributions, and unpaid subscription accounts), we have been forced to publish two issues of the Courier (last week's and this) with the city's new "off again, on again," make and break, intermittent system of electric juice delivery. As the Redpath lecturer tunefully expressed it the other night: "When You Want What You Get, You Don't Get It; When You Get What You Want, You Don't Want It." Really, we are tempted to incline to the belief of a certain public official that the horsepower developed by a gas engine is in a class by itself.

However, here we are to stay. But, if you have a kick or a grievance to register within these doors, step lightly, as our nerves are stretched tauter than fiddle strings and we will not answer for the consequences.

LETTERS FROM LIEUT. HAMPTON

SENDS INTERESTING WORD SKETCHES OF LIFE

Our Men Are All in Fine Fettle and Anxious to Get a Crack At Kaiser Bill

Since the Courier published the last letters from Lt. Victor H. Hampton, his parents in this city, Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Hampton, have received several letters coming in "bunches" and with the more personal paragraphs omitted, we print them below:

Somewhere in France,
February 24, 1918.

"Dear Family:

"Am lying on my stomach with my candle lantern hong on the wall in front of me. Just had a great, big supper and, as a result, am feeling rather stupid and lazy. Haven't done a great deal today except clean mud from shoes and clothes and otherwise trying to make myself presentable. Also got my laundry, which a very comely, little French women washed and repaired for me for 5 francs, 70 centimes, which is about $1.15. Had lots of fun talking to her. Her English was much better than my French, however. It's a business asset with her, whereas I don't have so many opportunities to learn the French, but at that, you soon learn to ask for what you want and how much it is.

"May be leaving here in a couple of weeks and may stay right on here. Nothing certain as to future plans. Just as at Fort Sheridan, the air is filled with rumours as to what we are going to do next.

"Hope to receive mail now in a few days. Some of the boys have had letters, so I guess they are beginning to get us located. I presume you are receiving my letters right along, as the mail goes direct. Have been writing every Sunday and sometimes another one. Am feeling first rate. Had a little cold but its all gone and am feeling as fit as a fiddle. Can't take any pictures, except personal photos, so I haven't had much use for my kodak. I will send you a picture of myself as soon as can get around to take it. Send me magazines, Saturday Evening Post, Literary Digest, etc. Don't have anything to read and on Sundays and nights sometimes have a little time to read if I had the reading matter.

"Been raining here the last couple of days, which has made it warmer. Hardly ever wear an overcoat daytimes now. No mother need fear for her son over here. No strong liquors are sold to soldiers. It means a court martial if you are found drunk. I have recently discovered a little place where they sell hot chocolate and it is now customary to drink a couple of glasses and eat some bread and jam daily. I prefer it to the light wines and beers which can be obtained.

"I can see the old Bridge street at this time of night with not a soul on it. But at that, it is a paradise compared with any European town I have seen, even though they are hallowed by the Ancients that have trod their streets.

"All my days are pretty much the same. We work, eat and sleep all we can and smoke between times and

CITY ACCEPTS OLDHAM'S GIFT

SITE FOR MEMORIAL SHRINE IS MINERAL WELL

Artistic Fountain, Cannon, Monument and Flag Poles Features Of Attractive Scheme

At the council meeting last Monday evening the city council accepted by unanimous vote a proposition submitted by Mr. Harry L. Oldham to cede to the city the lot now owned by him on which the mineral spring stands, at the south east corner of Bridge and Antrim streets, and an additional parcel nine by eighty-six feet, making a plot thirty two feet by sighty-six feet, for the purpose of erecting thereon a county memorial, which shall be financed by public subscription and be jointly under the supervision of the city and county. The council also extended to Mr. Oldham a vote of thanks for his generosity.

The plan, in general, contemplates the removal of the present building over the mineral spring, the erection of a memorial fountain to the woman workers of the Charlevoix County Red Cross, a memorial to the veterans of the Civil War and the fallen heroes of the present struggle, a cannon for salutes, and at the corners and center of the park thus formed, which is to be enclosed, grassed, curbed with granite or stone and otherwise beautified, the erection of flag poles, bearing respectively the national colors, the city and county service flags and a flag on which a star will be placed for each soldier who dies in service to his country.

This memorial is intended as a spot kept sacred and set apart for the purpose of honoring those who have gone forth from our community in the cause of justice and humanity, and to the end that each man, woman and child may feel that he or she has a share in this tribute of love and honor, subscriptions will be accepted, if only for a few cents, always provided that the giving does not interfere with doing one's duty by the Liberty Loan and W. S. S.

It is a fine proposition and one that is worthy of all possible support. We have too long been "behind the light-house" in the matter of civic pride here in Charlevoix and this plan of Mr. Oldham's will give us a good chance to redeem ourselves. We expect to have further details for our readers in the near future, as work on the new project will be begun at once.

Notice to Draymen and Butchers

All rubbish must be thrown over the bank at the City Dumping Grounds. Draymen and others using the grounds please take notice of this order or prosecution will follow. Carcasses must be buried in the earth to the depth of at least four feet and care taken to thoroughly cover them. We ask this for the benefit of all citizens and if prosecutions must be made to enforce this order it will be immediately done.

BOYS, HERE'S A CHANCE FOR YOU

ENROLL IN U. S. BOYS WORKING RESERVE

Help Uncle Sam Lick the Boches By Doing Your Part To Raise the Farm Crops

The United States government wants the names of boys who are not less than sixteen nor more than twenty years of age for enrollment in the U. S. Boys Working Reserve.

The purpose of this reserve is to provide labor for the farmers in their busy season. The boys will be enrolled under certain conditions, among the most important being consent of parents or of their teacher, in case they are of school age, and that they be physically sound.

Distinguishing badges are awarded to those workers attaining a certain standard. In the Agricultural unit, a boy must serve for 36 working days of 8 hours each before he is entitled to the bronze badge, which is a handsome affair, bearing the national seal.

Boys who leave school now will not receive credit for their work unless satisfactory work in English and history is completed. Classes for language, science and mathematics will be provided in the fall whereby the work may be made up. Unless it can be shown that their work is urgently needed, they will not be excused at all, as their training for future responsibilities is as necessary as the production of food.

The farmers are urged to use the boys for the farm work during the present summer. Superintendent H. A. Craig of the Charlevoix public schools is enrolling officer, and all information for help can be secured through him.

CLYDE DENNIS TERRIBLY BURNED TO DEATH

Young Man Falls Face Forward Into Fire Arch While Working In the Sugar Bush

The people of Ellsworth and vicinity received a shock on Thursday evening of last week when the news was received of the sudden death of Clyde, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dennis, a farmer living three miles west and one mile north af Ellsworth.

The young man who was about twenty-four years of ago, had been a sufferer from epileptic fits for several years and had but recently returned from Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, where he had been studying all winter.

On the afternoon of his death, he, together with his brother, Albert, had been working in the woods, but at about five o'clock Albert had gone to the house while Clyde announced his intention of building a fire under the feed cooker which Mr. Dennis was using to boil syrup in the sugar bush.

When supper was ready, Mrs. Dennis rang the bell and when the young man failed to appear within a reasonable time, his younger brother, Clare went to the woods in search of him and found the lifeless body, lying face downward in the coals and hot ashes in front of the fire door, the face and chest terribly burned and the clothes still on fire.

The family and neighbors were notified and the body was taken to the house and placed in the hands of undertaker Dawson of Eastport.

The indications are that Clyde was taken with a fit while sitting before the fire and had fallen forward into the coals where death was probably instantaneous.

Clyde was born at Eastport, Mich., March 10, 1894 and came with his parents to the home where he died, about fifteen years ago. He had been a sufferer from epilepsey for the last eight or nine years, but his cheerful manner had hid his trouble from all except his closest friends and although his family are grief stricken they realize that it is better as it is than that he go through life an incurable sufferer—always recovering from one attack and dreading the next.

The funeral service, in charge of Rev. Parshall of the Norwood M. E. church, was held Sunday, April 7th from the house and the body was placed in the cemetery at Norwood. He leaves beside his father and mother, two brothers, Albert, aged 26, Claro aged 14, one sister, Elizabeth aged 12 and his friends, who number all with whom he was acquainted to mourn their loss.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

Twenty four schools made this week. All of South Arm and Melrose, part each of Chandler, Hudson, Boyne Valley, Wilson and Eveline. Fine weather, good roads, and remarkable boys and girls.

The Afton school was closed part of the week for redecorating and reseating. Ready now for visitors. Miss Crowell used part of this enforced vacation in accompanying the commissioner on a visiting tour and spent the time thus profitably for her district.

Miss Cook of the Deer Lake school writes: "I have something this week that is too good to keep. Every one in second grade and above got 100 per cent in spelling for a week and the words were not very easy either.

In the Robinson school every pupil promised to buy a Thrift stamp.

The Harmon school opened Monday for the spring term with Miss Emma Knop as teacher.

Mrs. Flagg is enjoying her work in the Springwater school with every thing going nicely.

The Advance school was the first Standard School in the county. It was the first school to purchase and fill a school emergency medicine chest. It is now the first rural school to provide baseball mit, bat and ball, bean board, and croquet set. This was done with a social and they plan more.

Examination questions have arrived sealed for the teachers' examination of April 25-27th. See notice in another column of this paper.

During the past week three teachers informed the commissioner that they had "refused" contracts offering them $55. Letters from other counties from prospective teachers indicate that the inexperienced teachers are demanding $60 per month, but that after one year of experience many of them will refuse less than $76. Charlevoix country directors write: "We shall pay what is necessary." The Hudson No. 5 director wrote that they wished to keep the same teacher and would pay $75. This year they paid $55 per month. Their census list of 1917 contains only 18 names and the district is mostly wild land, and slashings.

Dance at Maple Grove Grange Hall, Friday evening, April 12. Supper will be served. Everybody come who can and have a good time. 15t1

LOCAL BANK PLAN PUTS BONDS IN REACH OF ALL

Government Official Says U. S. Wants People to Make Economies Pay Third Loan

R. W. Boyle of Chicago, federal agent in charge of the Third Liberty Loan campaign for seven northern counties of the lower peninsula, including Charlevoix, and representativo of the Federal Reserve Bank, and whose headquarters is at Traversa City, addressed a large and attentive audience of volunteer Liberty Loan canvassers for the city and township at the court house Monday night.

Mr. Boyle's talk was in the nature of instructions to the workers as to the details of the bonds; the terms of their issue, dates of redemption, etc. and advice bnsed on his experience in other campaigns as to the best methods of approaching prospects, answering their objections and solving the various problems that are liable to come up in the course of their canvnss. Iiis address was very valuable and opportunity was had for some very clarifying discussion of points which various ones in the audience brought up.

The first payment of 5 per cent on the bonds of this issue is due at the time application is made.. Twenty per cent is due on May 28th, thirty-five per cent on July 18th and forty per eent due on August 15th.

For those who are unable to purchase according to the above plan, which is known as the government plan, a partial payment system has been instituted by the banks, aidcd by Mr. Harry L. Oldham, of this city, which brings the purchase of a bond within the rench of every man, no matter how limited his income. Men of large means responded hnndsomely to the first two loans and will no doubt to this, but it is intended to make this Third loan up from the savings of the people at large.

The idea is this. Every man, woman nnd child in Charlevoix county is making daily expenditure for some things that at a pinch they can do without and are foregoing other luxuries tbat dua to tha war, are scarce, too high priced, or otherwise unobtainable. Let your savings at thesa points help pay for your Liberty bond. People have actually been known to live for some time, although deprived of daily allotments of candy, peanuts, cigars and cigarettes, and now if ever is a good time when the boys who are keeping tho Huns away from your door need the things you are gobbling and smoking up and the money you are paying for them as well, to try the experiment on yourself. If you can sport a Liberty Loan button on the lapel of that somewhat shiny, last year's coat, your right thinking neighbors will forgive you for its shabbiness, and as for being in style, ladies, you need not worry about that, as long as you are "in line" with all good Americans and not only "doing your bit" but your very level best both with your time nnd money. In the words of Monday night's speaker, "every man in the community should buy a bond or else produce a blamed good excuse for not buying one." But—we don't wnnt excuses. Only deeds will win the war.

COMMUNICATIONS

An eminent journalist has recently said that, "the most astounding thing in connection with this war is the part the women are taking in it."

Individually, we have been working and mnny cluhs, ns well, have undertaken specific tasks, such as the adoption of French and Belgian children, the rehabilitation of France cities, and work in cantonments here at home, with the always increasing Red Cross nctivities, but the club women have not hitherto perfected plans for the consummation of a task which would stand as a monument to them and their part of our country's service.

Such a work is now planned by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for a fund of at least a qunrtcr of a million dollars to be used to establish recrcation houses in France for the American soldiers on furlough.

The French soldier goes to Pnris, the English soldier to London, but where shall the American soldier go to find a semblance of home? This work is of vital importance if the moralc of the army is to be maintained and our soldiers returned to us, sanc, clean and well balanced.

The Shakespeare Study Club of Charlevoix, has felt the urgent need of help in this splendid enterprise nnd has generously contributed to this worthy cause.

CELEBRATE THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Poole Surprised By Their Friends

Twenty-one of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Poole, gathered at the home of the latter on West Mason street last Wednesdny evening, to celebrate the 35th anniversary of their wedding day.

A potluck supper was served, after which a mock marriage ceremony was staged. The bride entered on the arm of Mr. Alexnnder Shearer, who gave her nway, wedding mnrch played by Agnes Carey. She was dressed in a wedding robe of white (sh-h-h, don't say nnything—we henrd it wns a sheet) and carried n boquot of flowers. Amid decorations of flags and flowers, Rev. Quinton Wnlker pronounced the fatal words.

To wind up with, some small boys who were "next" to what was going on, gathered outside and chivaried in true post-matrimonial style.

Everyhody present had a good time and all joined in wishing the happy couple many more anniversaries.

KEEP RIGHT ON SMILING

How would you like to sit down at your desk, run over your accounts and absorb the knowledge that anywhere from one to five hundred people were indebted to you in sums varying from 50 cents to $2 and upward?

And how would you like to meet those good people day by day without ever thinking of offering you the small amount due.

And how would you like to see these same good people paying their other good bills promptly month by month nnd again forgetting yours?

And wouldn't you just revel in the knowledge that all of these small amounts combined, if suddenly collected, would swell your bank account to the tune of $500 to $1,000.

When you reach the point where you can appreciate the grim humor of such a condition, and keep right on smiling, you will have qualified yourself for the life of a country editor.

Why didn't you wait to he drafted
The answer is simple enough
You didn't need a brass hand to lead you,
You're made of the right kind of stuff.
You're bouquet will come when it'e over,
That's when you'll want to be cheered,
And then you'll know you deserved it
Beauso you volunteered.
Don't get discouraged so quickly
From what I've seen I've a hunch,
That out of the millions of soldiers
Uncle Sam likes you the best of the bunch,
You don't complain of your duties
Of hardships you're taught to bear,
You lick up your meals with a relish
—Because your a volunteer.
You weren't dragged in by a number
As tho' you were nothing at all,
And you did not go around with a frown or Afraid that your country would call.
You didn't huy every paper
And scan the draft columns with fear;
You marched right along with your head up,
Because you volunteered.
What if the little draft Willies
Do get a little more praise?
Praise won't get the old Kaiser.
It's real work we want these days.
Just keep your eyes on Berlin boys
Never mind about brass bands and cheers;
The glory will go to the heroes
And they'll be the volunteers.

wait for the time when we can take a whack at the Boches.

"Good night and love to all of you. Needn't worry about me. I only hope you are all well. Take care of yourself and save up for the big time we'll have when I get back."

Your affectionate son,
VICTOR H. HAMPTON.

Somewhere in France,
March 3, 1918.

"Dear Folks:

"Just received mother's letter from Grand Rapids dated January 14th, and dad's from Charlevoix, dated the 12th of January, a few moments ago. Was I glad? I should guess I was. A big bunch of mail came in and everybody's morale has gone up 100 per cent. A letter from home, or anywhere else, is appreciated to the utmost extent over here. I had one from Mrs. Nicholls and also from Alaslee Mayne, so I was fairly burdened with mail. Expect that it will come along fairly regular now. It would be much faster if I were assigned to troops, I suppose.

"Glad to receive the clipping showing the pictures of the Charlevoix officers and the K. P. war medal. Bought myself a new pair of high shoes by way of a birthday present. If others come along can use them as the mud and cobble stone streets are very hard on shoes, and you can use all the pairs you can carry with you.

"It snowed here on my birthday. First I have seen since leaving U. S. Just about an inch of 'sugar' snow. Been raining previous to that and everyone has put in his spare time cleaning mud from shoes, etc. It sticks like cement. Glad to know that everyone was well on January 14th and hope and trust that the situation is unchanged.

"Tom Caley and I are still bunking together. He is a very congenial chap. We are both taking the same line of work and are together practically all of the time. Its nice to have someone you know well to drink hot chocolate with. Had some milk to drink the other day. I saw some cows, dandies, too, where I have my laundry work done, and thereupon asked my pretty little French laundress for a glass of 'lait' (milk.) She very gladly gave me all I could drink, although exclaiming that she didn't see how I could like it. She didn't want to accept any pay for it, but having drank so much, I insisted that she take a franc (18c.) Had been wanting a drink of milk for a long time, and it was dandy good milk, too. They also have very good eggs here. In fact, food seems to be quite plentiful and reasonable in price, and it is nice once in a while to go down and have some French fried potatoes, chicken or steak, and an omelette, bread, jelly and chocolate. It cheers you up. The French are very good cooks.

"We have been working hard, but this week I don't think will be so hard. Will be some interesting work in the way of maneuvers to work out and we won't have any night studying, which will be a change.

"Its a beautiful day here—sunny and bright, but very muddy under foot. That's one thing they have an abundance of—mud! It clings to everything it touches and it either brown or white in color and sometimes at the end of the day I look as if I had been camouflaged.

"Am well, sleep good nights and eat three square meals a day, in addition to a couple of cups of chocolate daily. Got a haircut today where a man and his wife are the barbers. That's pulling together, I'd say: In fact, most everything over here is done by the women. They run all the stores and I have even seen them drawing a beer wagon.

"Haven't got tired of watching the aeroplanes yet. They certainly do whizz some, and air conditions are the best possible for it here. A. Y. M. C. A. hut was set up here the other day and we all got a few cigarettes and some American sweets. Seemed mighty good to see a several month's old magazine and hear a Victrola play. I think the stock of goods lasted about two days, the way the fellows flocked there. Some of them had been short on cigarettes for several days. I, myself, was down to three packages, although have can of tobacco still unopened.

"Am going to try and write every Sunday, so that if you miss a letter each week you will know that it has been delayed or lost en route, submarined, or something or that. I happened to be travelling on Sunday and was unable to write.

"Our mess has improved wonderfully the last two weeks, for they moved about half the men to another mess. We had real pumpkin pie the other day. It was good, too, although baked in an army oven. We have milk and butter now oftener, too. No reason why we shouldn't—plenty of it here.

"Thought of you all on my birthday and wondered how you all were. As well as I, I hope. You are probably just having breakfast now, though it's three p. m. here. How are the pancakes. We have them here every other morning.

"Has Harold's firm started making helmets yet? I have one now. They are dandy when it rains. Perhaps I will be wearing one that he made some day. Must close and go for a walk with Tom. With heaps of love.

"VIC."

Sunday night, March 3, 1918.

"Dearest Mother:

"Just a line to let you know I received my birthday box, with candy, cigarettes, apples, gum, etc., this afternoon and I have been munching apples, gum and peanuts and smoking ever since, and thinking of the dear mother and dad who sent them.

"You see, it arrived just right for my birthday, it being Sunday when they came, and I could enjoy opening the box. We had quite a time. All the boys gathered around and we celebrated in true, birthday fashion. I had just run out of cigarettes, so that it was all the more appreciated and appropriate. I sure will enjoy that box of goodies. The apples were in good shape—just as good as could be. Could almost imagine myself back in old Michigan, robbing somebody's orchard.

"Suppose you have lots of snow there yet. Its just like spring here. Imagine the summer will be grand. Good night, mother, I'm all tucked in with the quilt you made me and so glad I have it. Heaps of love and kisses,

"VIC."

Sunday, March 10, 1918.

"Dear Folks:

"Am in receipt of four letters, the latest dated February 4th. Also received today the Saturday Evening Post, and K. P. magazine. I will enjoy them very much.

"It is a wonderful day here, warm and balmy. Birds singing and everything that goes to make up an ideal spring day. As to the shoes, send them along, for by the time they reach me will be able to use them. High boots are the ideal shoe for this country. I bought me a pair, but don't think they are as good as those in the States. I may want another pair like the ones you have, except think the so-called "shoe-pack" is easier on your feet.

"Am now a graduate of the particular branch of service I have been engaged in and awaiting further orders. Expect to leave here today, but, of course, don't know where or what. Probably same as have been doing here. Am rather glad, for, although don't like to travel on French trains, am anxious to see more of this country.

"Have been living very good at our mess, having pumpkin pie and a pudding now and then. Had some today. Have lost my bunk mate, Tom. He left for some place today. Sorry to see him go, for we got along so nicely. Are lots of nice chaps over here, however, and you can always find a pal. Am always meeting new friends and leaving them. Its a great game.

"Tell Mr. and Mrs. Crane to write to Percy that when he comes over here, he wants to bring a good short coat, mackinaw, or leather, and also a good rain coat of medium length, without lining. Trench coats are better and cheaper in England. Also that he can use khaki uniform and all the shoes with heavy hob-nail soles he can bring. Am feeling fine and am as bronzed as a Texas cowboy. Have gained some in weight, I think for am as fat as can be.

"I continue to discover every day that mother was right on all the little things she insisted I should take. Have found occasion to use nearly every one. You are always right, mother, in everything. And the sooner everyone learns this the better off he will be.

"Glad to know you received my cable O. K. though, as a matter of fact, I hadn't actually arrived when I wrote it, but it was all the same to you. Also pleased that the postals kept mother from knowing I had sailed until I got across.

"Well, there isn't much to say. My health and morale is high, as it is with all the Yankees, and we want to lick 'hell' out of the Kaiser and get back to the U. S. and all we ask is that the folks back home back us up.

"Will write again next Sunday. Heaps of love to all the family and hope everyone is well and prospering."

"VIC."

Victor H. Hampton, 2nd. Lt., Inf., U. S. R., Unassigned, American Expeditionary Force.

BOYS AT CAMP SEVIER DAILY EXPECTING ORDERS

Powers Says His Outfit Has Baan Quarantined Ever Since They Got to Camp

Hers's a letter from Leo Powers, to his perents hsre. He is at Camp Sevier, N. C., aud thluks the army is great:

April 6, 1918.

"Dear Dad and Mother:

"It's almost a certainty that I will be in France withln five or six weeks.

"We havs beeu moved into anotber line and I am in a field of 480 meu, divided into three drafts. They are called drafts D, E and F and ara divided according to nemes. As my neme begins with P, I am in the last one, but we'll all leave togetber. The officers say we ure going to Camp Merritt, N. J., and ln the other lines from ours, heve been given their new address. But, our lieutenant seys he's never sure of anything in the army and says he may get an order to send us somewhere else at the lest minute. We'll almost surely go north beforo enother week, but any mell will reach me if sent hero.

"The longer I'm in the army, ths more interesting it becomes. There are all kinds of men bere—from boys of 18 to men of 40. There hus been no distinction mede yet about our trades but we ere drilling just the seme as though we were infantrymen. I think we'll probably bo used much as the engineers are—to be sent ahead to prepare for ths armies and to build buildings and bridges eo the army ean advanca. I know that we'll be equipped witb pistols, and these ean't be just ornaments. And—speaking of equipment—ths equipment we have costs about $175 per man. I have two suits of elothes and everything else needed. We got first aid packets tonight. They are small tin boxes, sealed and not to he opened until necessary, so I don't know what'e in it.

"I was on guard the other night, wbich was a new experience for me, as I've been in the kitchen most of the time. Wc have two houra on and four hours off for 24 hours, and you can only get about three hours sleep altogether. So, its quite a job to keep awake early in the morning, before deylight.

"We guarded the outside of our ecction and have to walk clear around—about one and a half miles, each relief.

"We get all thc war news you do in the papers, but somebow it don't seem to intercst me or unyone nearly as much as when in civilian llfe. Your idea about the war is the same as mine. Neither side will risk all on one battle and we'll always bs fortified in the rear when driven beck. It's going to take a long time to finlsh it and I'm sure of it.

"You ask what we do when the work is done. It is usually seven o'clock wben supper is over and the lights go out at 10:30, which gives three and a half hours to do as we please and most of the boys use this time to write letters. I have not seen eny chess or cheekers since coming here and very little boxing. The boys get around in their tents and argue and chew the rag about everything imaginable and especially shout their own town or state. They are all sure that the etate they come from ls thc only state in the union.

"You would be surprised how soon a person gets acquainted and how friendly the boys are. In a week, they ure just the same as though yon bad known them for ycars. In my tent there is one fellow from New York, one from Florida, one from Illinols and one from Cadillac, Michigan, and we are just like brothers, only we don't quarrel the same as they do. The men all seem anxiona to go to France and do something and none of them are contented in camp. This section of camp is different from most camps, as we are expecting to be called to leave at any time, so have been in quarantine ever slnce coming here. In most camps, the men can leave after retreat at six o'clock and go to town and can also bc off from Saturday noon until Monday morning, but I have not been outside of these lines for ncarly two months now. There is almost no sickness at all—just a few colds.

"When cookiag, I do not have to drill uuless I want to but when uot on a special duty ws get about seveu hours u day—that ls, lately, since we bave beeu getting ready to ship. Bsfore tbat, lt was mostly work aud only a couple or tbree heurs of drill.

"I will be glad to etart for France end have really not tbought about the "sub" menece."

Your son,
LEO.

PHYSICAL TESTS NOW BEING MADE

Three Day Examination of Draft Selects Began Tuesday

The examination of drafted men is now going on at the court house. It commenced yesterday and by Thursday night over 100 men will have been tested as to their physicel fitness to serve the U. S.

It has been customary in most places to make this exnmination as soon es the men wera classified and under ordinary conditiona would have been done by batches throughout the past winter. Owing to heavy snows in this region, and climatic eonditions edverse to travel in thinly populated outlying districts, it was decided to postpone the exsminetions until the men could reach the county seat by uuto.

OTSEGO COPPER-HEAD GETS HIS

CITIZENS COMMITTEE USE TAR AND FEATHERS

Some In Charlavoix County Will Have To Taka tha Same Dose If They Don't Watch Out

Herman Merquardt, a prosperoue fermer of Dovsr township, in Otsego county, was takeu in hand by a vigilance committee of citizens on Wednesdey of lust week and treated to a coat of tar and feathers for his disloyalty to the United Stetes.

Merquerdt had been doing a good deal of pro-German talking and bed refused several times to buy a Liberty bond of eitber issue, although abundantly ables to do so, being a men of considerabls means. No attention was peid to his treesonablc conduct at the time of ths second loan, when he ordered the solicitors from his place wlth abusive languags.

When approeched Wednesdey with a request for a subscriptlon to ths Third loan, he swore that he would ruther die tben buy a bond and made other seditious statements.

So it was decided by the citizens to teach Herman a lesson in citizenship. A committee met him at some dlstance from bis homo end he received a good coating of tar and was fairly bristling with feathers when they left him.

It is said that what heppened to Marquardt is likely to happen to several other residents of Otsego county if their conduct does not improve. There heve elso baen "goings" on in the Dover schools that smell rank in the nostrils of good Americans and it may be thet they will be closed rather then allowed to serve as the breeding pleces of treeson and sedition.

It would perhaps be well for certain psrsons residing in Merion, Norwood end Huyes townships (especially a certain prominent farmer in the latter district) who heva so far refused, we understand, to contribute so much es a nickel to the cause for which our boys are giving their life's blood, either througb ths medium of the Red Cross, W. S. S. or Liberty Loan, to ponder cerefully over what happened to Mr. Marquardt and profit by his much deserved if somewhat painful experience. Wc do not think they will be suffered much longer in the course they are pursuing, not only as respects the withholding of their own means but in the decidedly dengerous prectice of attempting to persuede others not to give their money or buy bonds, and adding insult to lujury by openly bragging ebout it. A word to the wise is sufficlent.

WAY OVER THE TOP ON BONDS

CHARLEVOIX FIRST DISTRICT TO EXCEED QUOTA

But the Government Needs More Money and Efforts to Secure Subscriptions Still On

The following communication from R. W. Kane, county chairman of the War Board, glves the official figures of the Third Liberty Loan subscriptions whlch will bs transmitted to ths Federal Reserve Bank when report is made.

Mr. Editor:

"Will you kindly give space to the following:

"The subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan Bonds to date for the county are, total: $117,350. Of this amount $53,650 has been contributed by the Charlevoix district, consisting of the City of Charlevoix, and the townships of Heyes, Charlevoix, Norwood and Merion. $33,450 has been contributed by the East Jordan District, consisting of the City of East Jorden, end the townships of Eveline, South Arm and Wilson. $30,250 from the Boyne City District consisting of the City of Boyne City, Villege of Boyne Falls, and the townships of Bay, Evangeline, Melrose, Chandler, Hudson and Boyne Valley.

"East Jordan, I understand, is making its drive today. Boyne City expects to make its drive Friday. At the end of the week theso two districts will show a very marked increase over the present figures, and I have little doubt that Charlevoix County will exceed its quota before the week is up.

"The figures as given above, include only subscriptiona paid in full, or the initiel payment has been made. A number of applications have been taken up which the initial payment has not been made, and are not included in the above figures.

"The quotas determined by the bank resources of each district are as follows: Boyne City District, $70,000, East Jordan District, $59,000; Cherlevoix District, $48,000. The above being round numbers instead of the exact figures. The total quota assigned to Charlevoix County is $176,375.

"It will be seen by the above that the Charlevoix District is the first to have gone 'over the top' on its quota. The government wishes it understood that the work of securing subscriptions should be continued vigorously to the end of tbe compaign, May 4, as it needs more money than was forseen at the time the amount of the loan was fixed, and all subscriptions will be taken."

R. W. KANE,
County Chairman.

TRIES TO HOG ROAD AND TROUBLE FOLLOWS

Attempt to Pass Between Meeting Cars Results Regettably

A peculiar accident, due to a flegrant disregard of the rules of the road, occurred Sundey afternoon on the Petoskey road, when a Reo touring car collided with a Stutz roadster going in the same direction, forcing the latter into a telephone pole and down an embankment.

The driver of the Stutz (whoee name, like that of the other parties to the aceident, could not be ascertained) wes on his way to Petoskey and was passing a car to the right coming from the opposite direction, when the Reo, which had been following the Stutz elosely, picked up speed and its driver attempted to pass to the right of the Stutz and between the two cars which were then passing. The driver of the south bonnd car swerved out of the way and stopped his machine, but too late to prevent the other two from colliding. The Stutz was driven into a pole alongside the road and deflected by the blow, ran down the embankment on the right hand side, fortunately for its occupants, staying right side up.

Seems as though a good proportion of the world's supply of fools drove cars, or is it just the old fashioned road hog with his "trotting horse," who used to crowd our ancestors into the ditch reincarneted in more malevolent form?

Mrs. Henry Gornell dled leat Sunday nlght at 11:00 o'clock at her homs on Antrim street ln this city, from tbe effects of paralysis. She pessed eway on her 60th birthday, efter an illness of 10 yeers standing.

Helsn Gornsll was born ln Cenade, April 14, 1858, and ceme to Cherlevoix county thirty-four years ego, and was united ln merriege to Henry Gornell, on May 20, 1007. About ten yeers ugo, a buggy ln which shs was riding with her uncle, was struck at a crossing by a railroed train. MAY YET HAVE BOAT SERVICE

MISSOURI POSSIBLY WILL MAKE SEMI-WEEKLY RUN

Merchants In Each Port Touched Must Agree to Sbip by Boat and Give All Possible Aid

J. C. Conley, of Chicago, general passenger agent of the Northern Michigan Transportation Company, was in the city Tuesday to get the co-operation of the local business men in a plen whereby twice-a-week boat service between this port and Chicago, as well as Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Mackinac, may be secured for tbe season of 1918. A conference for this purpose was held Tuesday afternoon et Captain Wilbur's office, at which time merchants and members of the Charlavoix Commerciel associetion expressed their willingness to put their shoulders to the wheel and assist Mr. Conley in the preperation of a feesible plan for submission to the N. M. T. Co. operating depertment in Chicago.

It is probable that the Missouri will be put on ths Cbarlevoix-Chicago run, if the plen goes through, she being the only boat of the line not as yet requisitioned by the government and available for such service. It is the opinion of the company that the Missouri will be spared to them by the government inspectors, so that tbere is slight probability of her being taken into the merchant merine this summer, at least.

Merchants and others in the four towns served must, however, agree to buy their goods in Chicago and have them shipped by boat, as much as possible, even though it be necessary to raise the water-freight rates. Otherwise, the company cannot afford to put a boat on the run this year.

The Courier believes tbere should be no objection to this, as the summer business brought to us by boat will more then counterbalance the increase in freight ratee or whatever inconvenience might reeult to the merchant in having hie goods shipped by water.

IS NOT DEAD OR WOUNDED

DEAN SCROGGIE WRITES FROM FRANCE MARCH 8TH

Visited Nice and Monte Carlo and Basked on Sbores of Mediterranean—Pickad Olivas

Ths people of tbis community will bs gled to learn thet Dean Scroggie, concerning whom many wild rumonrs of deuth and blinding by gas bava been floating around for several weeks, is now sefe and unharmed somewhere in Frencs, as witness the following letter recently received by his fether and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Williem Scroggie, Sr., of Detroit, aud dated March 8, 1918.

Dear Mother and Dad:

"Well all good things end, and so with my trip. I'll try and tell you of some of my sights. We arrivsd at onr place of debarkation and es are all French depots, it is of very good size. Now as yon have never seen an ordinary railroad ticket, I'll tell you about ons. In size it is about as lerge as a newspaper and lucky for us, ons did for the bunch as it sure filled a pocket. Well, it admits you to third class travel. The traine are always latc, due to the war.

"Now if you remember bow the street car conductors answer your questions, you get us trying to find out when the train left. It seems to be a secret es no one knows. Well we finally got started. It is funny to see the fellows show the conductors dog license, old campus tickets, dance coupons, etc., to ride second or first class.

"We finally arrived at Paris and eamped at the Y. M. C. A. hotel. Mother, one can never describe tba place. It is all so different from our city. We took in some shows and ran our legs off looking at the sights. The promenedes ara wonderful. Everyone walks here in tha afternoons. Everywhere are gardens and statutes—relics of olden deys. I sure wish you and Dad could ssa these places. Palaces and all.

"Well, mother, one finds one blg fault. Every one calls us rich. You see the French get five cents a dey and as we get $1.40 it seema we are millionaires. Everywhere it is 'pourboire' tips. One hee to tip tha girl in the movies, the waitress, tho hall girl, the janitor and I guess every one you meet. As we are not allowed to stay in Paris, end having already overstayed wc started for Nice. It takes three days to go to Nice, although in the U. S. it would take about fourteen hours to go the seme distance. We stayed overnight et Marseilles, a big seaport. From here it is wonderful country. Ths road winds along the Mediterranean see, a sight I naver dreamed of seeing. We soon hit the warm country. All along the tracks were palms, oranges end flowers, tbe trees in bloom. It surely is wonderful. Just like our south. Wa could ses in the distance tba Alps, all eapped with snow.

"At last we arrived ut our destination. Perhaps you canuot imagiua the joy of not having to wear an overcoat, and really sweating. An I read your letter about tho leck of coal, I wish you and dad could sit here on the beach and sun yourselves.

"We stayed at a little hotel and sure enjoyed it. Mother you know what Atlantic City and Palm Beach are like with their great promenades, well, this is the same. Here tho people are all in white and colors and sit and eun themselves. Can you sea me sleeping on the beach with not a worry or care?

"We made a number of tripe from here. Ons day at Monte Carlo, tha great gambling center—what a place. When one sees the little kingdom the prince has built with hie wiuniugs, one can't eee any incontive to try his luck.

"We thon went to Menton. It is on the border. We got over and mailed you tha card. I picked olives and oranges from ths trees. I climbed a little mount und could see for miles around. It surely was a big chance and I was glad to get back, more tired than before but very well travelled.

"Well I will elose for I guarded last night and feel a littla tired.

Glad dad likes his work and know you ara all well.

"Love to all." DEAN

FARMERS!

Now is the time to test your loyalty. Immense quantities of seeds must be planted this spring on every available spot of earth in the great United States. Yes, farmers, remember you must grow enough crops to feed this great United States; your soldiers in France; your sailors and your Allies. This is real loyalty, indeed. You know there is no half way to Patriotism—you are either for America and our Allies or you are for the Huns. We must be true Americans, not weaklings. We must stand firm for the rights of all mankind as against the aggression of the Kaiser. Farmers, make your crops strike a blow at your enemies. Plant every inch of soil you own, and don't only plant the seeds but take care of every stalk and plant as in doing this you perform the greatest loyalty to your country so near and desr to you. This awful war, remember, has become the engrossing work of the world, so be loyal and do your part—yes, we must all do our part. We are doing our part oeffring you seeds of all kinds; seeds of quallty offering you seeds at rockbottom prices. Be loyal to your home merchants and buy your seeds at home, yes, buy everything at home—there is a reason. Mr. Tom, Dick and Harry, out of town merchants don't help you pay your taxes; they don't help you bring your Liberty Loan quota over the top—don't forget these facts.

We are your true friends and hand in hand we should work. Our profits are small on all our seeds; our profits are small on our groceries; our profits are small on our feeds. Uncle Sam says you must put a very reasonable margin of profit on articles; we are with Uncle Sam and we are obeying every demand. Remember, food is going to win this war. Grow it and you are doing your bit.

A Message from America's Roads

SECURE certainty of service in Tested Tires. They give sure service because it is proven service. Their endurance and mileage have been proved in the one way to assure mileage to the motorist, on the car on the road."

Hearken to that 1918 message, the roads of America send American motorists. Last year Goodrich, launching six Test Car Fleets in six widely different regions of our country, took Goodrich Tires, and with light and heavy cars mauled them over sand, gravel and rock roads of plains, deserts and mountains, to try out—

GOODRICH TESTED TIRES

What those tires endured doubled Goodrich's pride in its tires. They fought America's roads through 4,173,744 tire miles. They conquered the roads of America in that phenomenal mileage, those BLACK SAFETY TREADS and SILVERTOWN CORDS.

Let American motorists listen to this message from America's roads. It means time and money saved them. They get lasting service with the tires that have won the title, "America's Tested Tires."

THAT BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER

Action Today May Save Charlevoix People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We over-do so much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder, an occasional dizzy spell or a persistent headache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as a warning. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a slight kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people die in the United States every year. Prompt treatment at first—that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weakness from turning into gravel, dropsy, gout, heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest, the most widely used, the best recommended Kidney Pill. Fifty thousand Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Charlevoix case:

John McCall, 905 Bridge St., says: "My back was so lame I could just about move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often have to grasp something to keep from falling. I was in awful shape when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I tried them. This medicine completely and permanently cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCall had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Tyndall visited her aunt, Mrs. Frank Burnett, the first of the week.

Gilbart Ferris went Sunday to the Reycraft hospital at Petoskey for treatment.

Mr. Kayler of the Darling Seed Co. was through here Monday contracting radish seed, etc.

A nephew of Mrs. Gilbert Ferris is staying with them while Mr. Farris is in the hospital.

Miss Ida Milton was called home Friday night by the sudden death of an aunt. Funeral was held Sunday afternoon.

The dance at Maple Grove Hall was a success. Another one is advertised for April 26, with music from Boyne City. Come everybody and have a good time.

NOWLAND SCHOOL DISTRICT

Miss May Stewart visited school last Wednesday.

Mrs. M. Saunders visited school last Monday afternoon.

Mise Marion Worth spent Saturday with relatives in Central Lake.

Wm. Webb of Boyne City took supper with Charles Pierce Thursday.

Wm. Fritz and family have moved to Detroit. Neighbors regret their departure.

George Winkler went to Canada last Thursday, called there by the illness of his father.

Thursday afternoon at school was very profitably spent in cleaning, burning and raking the school grounds. The appearance was wonderfully improved.

Our Junior Red Cross is organized with Clayton Saunders as secretary, Orlin Cunningham as treasurer and Miss Worth as chairman, and every scholar is a member.

MARION CENTER

R. B. White and wife, of District No. 5, have moved to the poor farm, near East Jordan, Mr. White having been appointed manager of the farm. In the latter's absence, his brother-in-law, Roy Guy, of Boyne City, and family, will occupy his farm in Marion.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Burgess school has already applied. Undine is ready to apply; Fairgrove has its "fund program" ready; McGeagh has applied and met all requirements; Hilton has half of its fund raised and all of the rest are on the job.

The Clark school children were cutting 5 x 5 inch blocks from knitted sweaters, crocheting around the edge and collecting for an afghan. They find that they are fully as good as the home knit and best of all they can use up more of our waste material.

The Ironton school has made a quantity of pinballs turned into the Ironton Auxiliary.

A number of schools have been making the gun wipes for Junior Red Cross notes.

One activity of the Junior Red Cross should be war savings. However, the Norwood schools under the leadership of Rev. Parshall have all been buying Thrift stamps first of all. These are the first rural echools of the county to establish sales agencies for the thrift work. It pays, too, for the McGeagh school has started 8 cards, Hilton and Clark several each, and the Norwood school is 100 per cent Thrift and War Savings. One boy in the McGeagh school has already turned his Thrift card in for a War Savings certificate.

At the Baptist Church

During the absence of the pastor, who has been granted leave of absence by the church, the regular services will be held at the usual hours. The pulpit will be supplied, whenever, possible; at other times, the services will be conducted by the young people of the church.

Come next Sunday and "do your bit" towards holding up the work during the pastor's absence. Watch the bulletin for announcements.

The pulpit was filled last Sunday morning by Mrs. Irwin, of Petoskey. Mrs. Irwin is superintendent of Sunday-school work for the Grand Traverse district and those who failed to hear her address missed a treat.

The executive committee of the B. Y. P. U. will meet in the prayer-meeting room at seven o'clock Thursday evening.

When anyone speaks disloyally, remember that Charlevoix county has more than 200 boys on the way to the front.

A little prosecution now and then helps to make pro-Germans better men.

PEACE

The United States did not enter into this war unadvisedly, hastily, under stress of heat or passion. We took the step calmly, soberly, reluctantly, with a full sense of the awful responsibilities involved, the sacrifices demanded, the magnitude of the task.

President Wilson did not advise in his war message, nor did congress act in declaring a state of war between the United States and Germany without giving the most solemn consideration to what the action meant. They knew it meant the death of thousands of brave Americans; they knew it meant suffering and wounds and the disabling for life of huadreds of thousands of our young men. They counted to the full the human cost and the material cost.

Every development since has justified and proved the wisdom and the imperative necessity of America's participation. Every German success and every German failure have ahown how necessary to our own welfare and peace, how necessary to the safety and peace of the world the defeat of Germany is. Every foot of ground Germany has been forced to give up, every foot of land she has seized, have demonstrated the imperative necessity of defeating that sinister, intolerable thing called Germanism.

Germanism is 3,000 miles away. It must never come any nearer. Let thia wnr result in anything but the defeat of Germany, let her emerge with her power unbroken and her kultur still domiaaat, aad it is but a question of time until we alone will be fighting Germany instead of warring against her with our allies on our side.

Lincola said that this country could not exist half slave and half free. All Americans now recognize that truth. The events of the last few years have shown equally clearly that this world can not exist half free and half autoeratic—half free people loving liberty and juatice and peace and half an autocracy aeeking to dominate tha world, caring nothing for liberty of juatice, and nothing for humanity and civilization where they interefere with its ambition.

There is no peace for America except a just peace, a peace that means a world fit for free people to live in. German ideals, German purpoaes and German practices are the anthiteaes of American. The beliefs we love and honor and uphold are contemptible to them; the objcets for which they will put to death millions of their own men and millions of their enemy are abhorrent to our ideas of right and justice, their methods and practicca in warfare are an abomination and horror to us.

The American who now advocates or wishes for peace, except a just peace, is either woefully misguided or a traitor to America's future and America's past, to all things American—the things which have made our country great and free, which hundreds of thousands of Americans have died to maintain, and for which Americans now are dying in France.

There can be no peace with honor or safety to ourselves or to posterity except a just peace, and there can aad will be no other peacc. Work for peace accomplishes nothing but the hampering of our effort, the delay of the real peace, and a greater toll of death of America's fighting men. Our duty is to war for a just and righteous peace; to work or apeak for any other peace is treason.

HINDENBURG'S SCHEDULE

Hindenburg is far behind his schedule. When Germany started the war in August 1914, Hindenburg aanounced that he would be in Paris September 1, and the soldiers who were leaviag Berlin took his word for it and scrawled on the sides of their railway coaches, "Paris, September 1."

It was also announced that the Germans would occupy Petrograd in six months, and the kaiser was undecided whether he would eat his Christmas dinner in the French or Russian capital. However, it was decided that a French chef should serve him his Christmas dinner in Paris.

The followiag year Hindenburg promised the kaiser his Christmas dinner in Paris.

An the year following that Hindenburg promised the kaiser his Christmas dinner in Paris.

Early this year Hindenburg promised the kaiser his Christmas dinner in Paris.

After figuring up the Christmas dinners the kaiser didn't have in Paris, Hindenburg decided to make good and promised the German people that he would be in Paris on April 1.

Just now Hindenburg is 50 miles from Paris at the nearest point, his troops have baen mowed down and declmated by Britisb and French machine guns, cannon and rifla. The same two nations that hava kept him out of Paris for nearly four years turned him back again with an appailing loss, more frightful than on former occasions. Now the British and Froneb armies have been augmanted with the American army to meet the next attaek.

Hindenburg couldn't reach Paris when he had only the French army opposing him, and then ha tried to give the kaiser his Cbristmas dinner in Paris against the combined French and Britiah armies. Now he proposes to give the kaiser a French full course dinner next Christmas by walking over the French, British and American armies.

Aa to reaching Paria on April 1, that was only an April fool's joko, and no doubt "our great Hindenburg" is holding hia sides with laughter aa he reckons up the half million men he drove to slaughter for no purpose other than to turn to the German people and say "Aprii fool."

This thing of kidding the kaiser into the belief that aome time he may eat his Christmas dinner in Paris may be very good aport for Hindenburg and tickle the kaiser into bestowing additional crosaes upon tbe godly agent of kultur, but it is mighty hard on the German people who are compelled to suffer for it, and bear the brunt of battle.

CALL THE FIRING SQUAD

An indignant New Yorker rises to protest against imposing the death penalty upon American soldiers who fall asleep in the trenches while inflicting nothing more than terms in prison upon men who are convicted at homc of espionage. The point is well takcn—no matter whether the death sentencc receives the approval or the war department or not. The truth is that we have been altogether too lenient with the factory-burnera and the bomb-placers, and the wire-tappers and other classes of German agents who have done so much to impede our efficient progress in the war. A firing squad doing its duty some day at dawn, with attendant publicity of the results would be productive of much good, we think.

The Clean-Up and Paint-Up time of year is here. Another one of the ways in which you can prove your home loyalty.

Just thirteen more days of booze in Michigan. It seems too good to be really true.

Don't get cold feet. Our soldiers in France won't. We musn't.

There are yet a great many peopic who need to be waked up.

Roberta Laced in Front Models

The well defined waist line is much to be desired.

It is a great aid in corseting, because it anchors the corset, holding it in place.

A correctly fitted Roberta Laced-in-Front is a necessity not a luxury.

The Shield under lacers is self-adujsting, always in place, and prevents the flesh from protruding.

GUS BEUKER WIRING BARRACKS

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE AND WORKING HARD

Says Si Bos Is Fat and Happy—Gus Can Talk Some French, But Would Like Home "Eats"

The following is a letter reeently received from Gus Beuker, of the 125th Inf., A. E. F. and through the courtesy of his mother we are permitted to publish it knowing well that every one is interested in hearing from the boys from overseas. The letter may appear somewhat disjointed as some parts concerning personal business have been left out.

Somewhere in France,
Tuesday, Mereh 10, 1018.

"Dearest Mother:

"Will write a few lines. although I hardly know what to write.

"Harry and I are on detached serviee, doing eleetrieal work for the S. O. R. (Serviee in the Rear). Our work is wiring barracks. It is niee work, but hard and we work seven days of every week, so we have but little time to ourselves. But we have good quarters and grub, so it isn't near as bad as it might be.

"We miss our mail and we haven't been paid yet and need both. I haven't reeelved a letter for at least eight weeks.

"Everything is strange here, but we manage to make ourselves understood and een talk a little French. As soon as we got here, we had our money changed into Freneh coins—franes, sous, centimes, half-francs, 5, 10 and 50 frane notes, etc.

"We have a good Y. M. C. A. here with good entertainments and lots of reading matter, so that we have a fine piaee to spend our evenings.

"Say, mother, I saw Si Bos a few weeks ago. We were in the same camp that he is, but were sent away the next day. I had a nice little ehat with him. Tell Mrs. Bos that she needn't worry about him because he is safe and fat and the army agrees with him.

"Is Opal DeVries still with you, and is she well? Say, is Dad still at Camp Taylor, or has he come across? Please answer these questions, as we are more than just interested. How are John and Alida, and please ask them to write.

"Am collecting some souvenirs and will have lots to show and tell when I get home.

"Give my best to everyone and love to all. Au Revoir, Avee Aimer (can you read this.)

"GUS"

"P. S.—Would enjoy some good, old homemade eats that won't spoil—cake, candy and tobacco are always welcome.

Spring tests are a little late in mailing but the commissioner still hopes to have the questions reach the teachers by the 17th. As the notes go to press, she has not yet received them from Pattengill although a letter arrived saying that they would be mailed on the 13th. This year they are spring term tests rather than mid-year tests and count one-third toward the promotion mark.

Be sure you buy your share of Liberty bonds before you try to sell the other fellow.

COMMUNICATIONS

War Preparedness Committees

There are many of them, and still their number is growing. Some time ago we were reading of county War Preparednesa committees. Then followed W. P. C. in each township. Banks township also has such a committee, appointed by Gov. Sleeper. Its members are Judge E. R. Harris, Rev. J. Wiebenga and the undersigned. April 4, we held our first meeting and appointed Judge E. R. Harris chairman and the undersigned secretary. In the great amount of work to be done in connection with the Liberty Loan drives Y. M. G. A. funds, Red Gross, etc., the committee sought out a way in which (in its estimation) the work may be done most speedily, thoroughly and systematically. It has appointed a War Preparedness committee in each school district of the township.

With one or two exception the entire school board of each district has been appointed, considering them to be a most fair representation. Later on these committees will receive instructions as to what their work will be. While our soldiers are beginning to take an active part in the fight against that terrible onslaught of VonHindenburg's forces, we are in the Third Liberty Loan drive. Our country needs money to back the best of manbood sent out and called out of our midst; not bebecause it desires to do so but because it was forced to do so in defense of its own rights and the future welfare of our country and kindred. At the same time it is not unmindful of the privileges of others concerned. Let us do our duty in behalf of our soldiers and our nation and our liberties.

Profit In Pure Bred Hogs.

If you want to get started in pure bred hogs cheaply buy a pure bred gilt due to farrow in the spring and a good pure bred boar pig. You can use this boar on the sow and the sow pigs next fall and also the following year. By raising two litters a year you can have ten or twelve pure bred sows and gilts ready to breed by the time you need a new boar. If you make good selections in the beginning you can probably sell a few boar pigs for enough to cover the cost of the first sow and boar. It is just as easy to raise the pure breds as grades, and if properly handled they are sure to be more profitable.

LOYAL WOMEN WILL RESPOND

ASKED TO LEND A HAND IN WAR WORK

Governor Sleeper Names April 27 As Day When All Are to Register for Work

An event of great importance to the nation at large, as well as to those immediately involved will be the Registration of Women for war service which is announced officially by Gov. Sleeper to begin April 27. Although this has been talked of for a long time it may not even yet be clear to all women so we should like to call your attention to some facts. In the first place while this is officiel it is not obligatory. It is expected, however that all loyal women over 16 years will register for whatever service they may be eble to render. This service may fall into several classes, volunteer, paid and partially paid, and may include training along special lines if the demand comes. It may be necessary to take women to other sections of the country where the call for workers is urgent, but of course all this is purely voluntary. Just what tbe demand may be, is as yet unknown but the first thing is for all women to respond loyally so that the federal government may know just how far the women may be counted upon for assistance.

The text of Gov. Sleeper's proclamation is as follows:

"The women of our state and nation have their part to play in the winning of the war, and right nobly have they responded to all the calls that have been made upon them. They held a wonderful conference recently in Lansing in preparation for service, hundreds of women from all over the state were in attendance and the interest and enthusiasm manifested must have been a revelation to the promoters of the conference.

"Taking lesson from the experience of our allies in the war, the federal government and the Michigan war preparedness board have given their endorsement and assistance to the registration of women for war service to be taken by the Woman's committee (Michigan division) Council of National Defense.

"Therefore, I, Albert E. Sleeper, governor of the state of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside Saturday, April 27, 1918, as the date on which registration in Michigan shall begin; and I call upon all loyal women in this state of 16 years of age and over, to go to the places designated in their several communities, and there to register for the services they are able to render to their country, or for special training to meet the needs of war."

The kaiser may speak English but he prays in German and commands his armies in German, so why teach young America the language of the kaiser.

Have YOU Purchased Your Bond Yet?

This War Must Be Fought On European Soil

If the peoples of the earth are not to become toiling millions for the Prussian Junkers and the Prussian Krupps, if they are not to be terror-ridden slaves at the mercy of a German Kaiser's will, Prussianism must be driven back within its own borders and kept there.

Not only English freedom, French freedom is at stake. Our own cherished institutions, our free government, all that our fathers fought for, all that free peoples prize, is threatened by an enemy that would impose his own hateful Kultur on every free institution in every liberty-loving land.

That is why the war must be fought on European soil. We are fighting in Europe now that we may not have to fight in America, on the very thresholds of our own homes, later.

We are fighting for the safety and liberty of our children, our homes, our country. No price is too great to pay for Victory.

Americans, you are called upon to back our armies in France, to furnish them the guns and shells and ships and airplanes, the enormous quantities of every sort of supplies that they must have to defeat the Prussian armies and drive them back across the Rhine.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

TRAVERSE MAKES POTATO FLOUR

NEW CONCERN TO USE UP SURPLUS TUBERS

Big Plant Equipped With Necessary Machinery to Handle 1,000 Bushels Per Day

Arising to meet an emergency such as has not confronted the nation for many years, the firm of J. C. Morgan & Son, last week launched a patriotic business, the effects of which will be two-fold—saving a portion of the immense potato crop of the Grand Traverse region, and establishment of an industry in Traverse City that will be an industrial achievement. The industry (manufacture of potato flour and other potato products) is highly endorsed by the federal government through Dr. H. C. Gore, of the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, sent there by the government to inspect the plant.

In the Grand Traverse region this year there was a great over-production of potatoes. Normally, the potatoes could hsve been marketed, but one of those mysterious wrinkles comprised in the law of supply and demand, entered into the market, and, while there have been various efforts made to explain the situation, the fact still remains that, in that county alone, there are some 175,000 bushels of unmarketed potatoes that would have been spoiled, or would have been fed to stock.

With the equipment the firm of J. C. Morgan & Son already had on hand, and the addition of some new, expensive equipment, the concern found itself prepared to manufacture potato chips, potato flour and potato stock feed. Many experiments were made, and they were very satisfactory. Then Mr. Gore came from Washington, inspected the plant and the process and was extremely pleased. A series of alterations have been made in the plant, new kilns and other equipment installed, and last week the business of manufacturing potato flour was started.

The potatoes are unloaded from cars or wagons into a big mechanical vat. From that they are carried, by a stream of water, that also removes a part of the dirt from them, to a large washing machine. There big mechanical paddles splash them around and thoroughly scour them. From the washer they are carried on a mechanical belt, to other machinery. Eventually, they are chopped, cooked and otherwise treated, and the starch removed from them. Another process presses the remainder of the pulp, which is eventually milled. Then this treated product is mixed with the extracted starch, and makes a fine grade of white flour. The middlings, or remaining portion make excellent stock feed and properly mixed with a small portion of corn meal, make excellent ensilage.

Thus, every portion of the potato gets into valuable use. A market has been found for all the potato flour that can be manufactured. While potato flour is in great demand this spring, it may not be another year. The factory is equipped for other years, to manufacture potato chips, that can be kept for an indefinite period, that contain all the food values of fresh potatoes, and that can be cooked in every way that fresh potatoes can be prepared. In seasons when there is a great oversupply of potatoes, and they are literally wasting, there is other machinery to treat the potatoes to make them into the best quality stock feed.

Primarily, the object of starting this industry is to help use up the great oversupply of potatoes in the region, putting them all to good use. The concern when well under way, will have a maximum capacity of 1,000 bushels of potatoes a day. Soon it expects to be working day and night shifts, and when this time comes, the payroll will be increased from the present staff of twenty men to forty or fifty men.

Successful experiments have also been made with the drying and preservation of other vegetables and fruits, and these experiments will be carried further. One form of dehydrated vegetables conforms with n system now in use in Englnnd, where concentrated vegetables are used for making soup for soldiers. Millions of dollars have been saved through this process, and millions of bushels of foodstuff that otherwise would have perished.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FORM A "LONESOME SOCIETY

RED CROSS WORK IS A SURE CURE FOR THE BLUES

Chicago Has Club Composed Of Lonely Souls, Formed For This Purpose

Are there any "lonesome" people in town?

If so, they should do what the lonesome people in Chicago are doing—the people there from other cities and have not yet made friends or who have lived there all their lives but are lonely anyhow. They have orgnnized a class in Red Cross work.

It is a happy way to overcome lonliness and the blues. Every lonely person is invited to come once a week to the club rooms, which may be most any place, and while they are doing something for their country they can find the sociability they have missed.

The lonely people in Chicago have had a "Lonesome Club" for several years. Since we entered the war they devote two hours in the evening once n week to making surgical dressings, knitting, etc., before the social hour. One young man holds the record for surgical dressings, and any number of them are knitting or holding yarn for young ladies to knit.

Several hundred new members have come into the Club since the opening of the Red Cross class—those men and women of all nges who have wanted to do something for our soldiers but who were busy during the day and too timid or shy to make other affiliations.

There ought to he n "Lonesome Club" in every town.

WANT SEED CORN

Farmers From All Over County Make Inquiries

County Agent Smith is receiving calls that farmers daily from all over the county in regard to seed corn. He is anxious that all farmers test out their corn which they have on hand and then place their order for corn just as early as possible. The corn has been shipped about ten days and should soon arrive and it is necessary that a list of those desiring seed, be placed in the hands of the different distributors at the earliest possible date.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your Kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CHILDREN RUN TO THE CAVES

RED CROSS NURSES GATHER IN THE LITTLE ONES

Society Is Helping To Win War By Saving French Families From Bombs and Starvation

"The caves! Take us to the caves! I want to go in the cellar!"

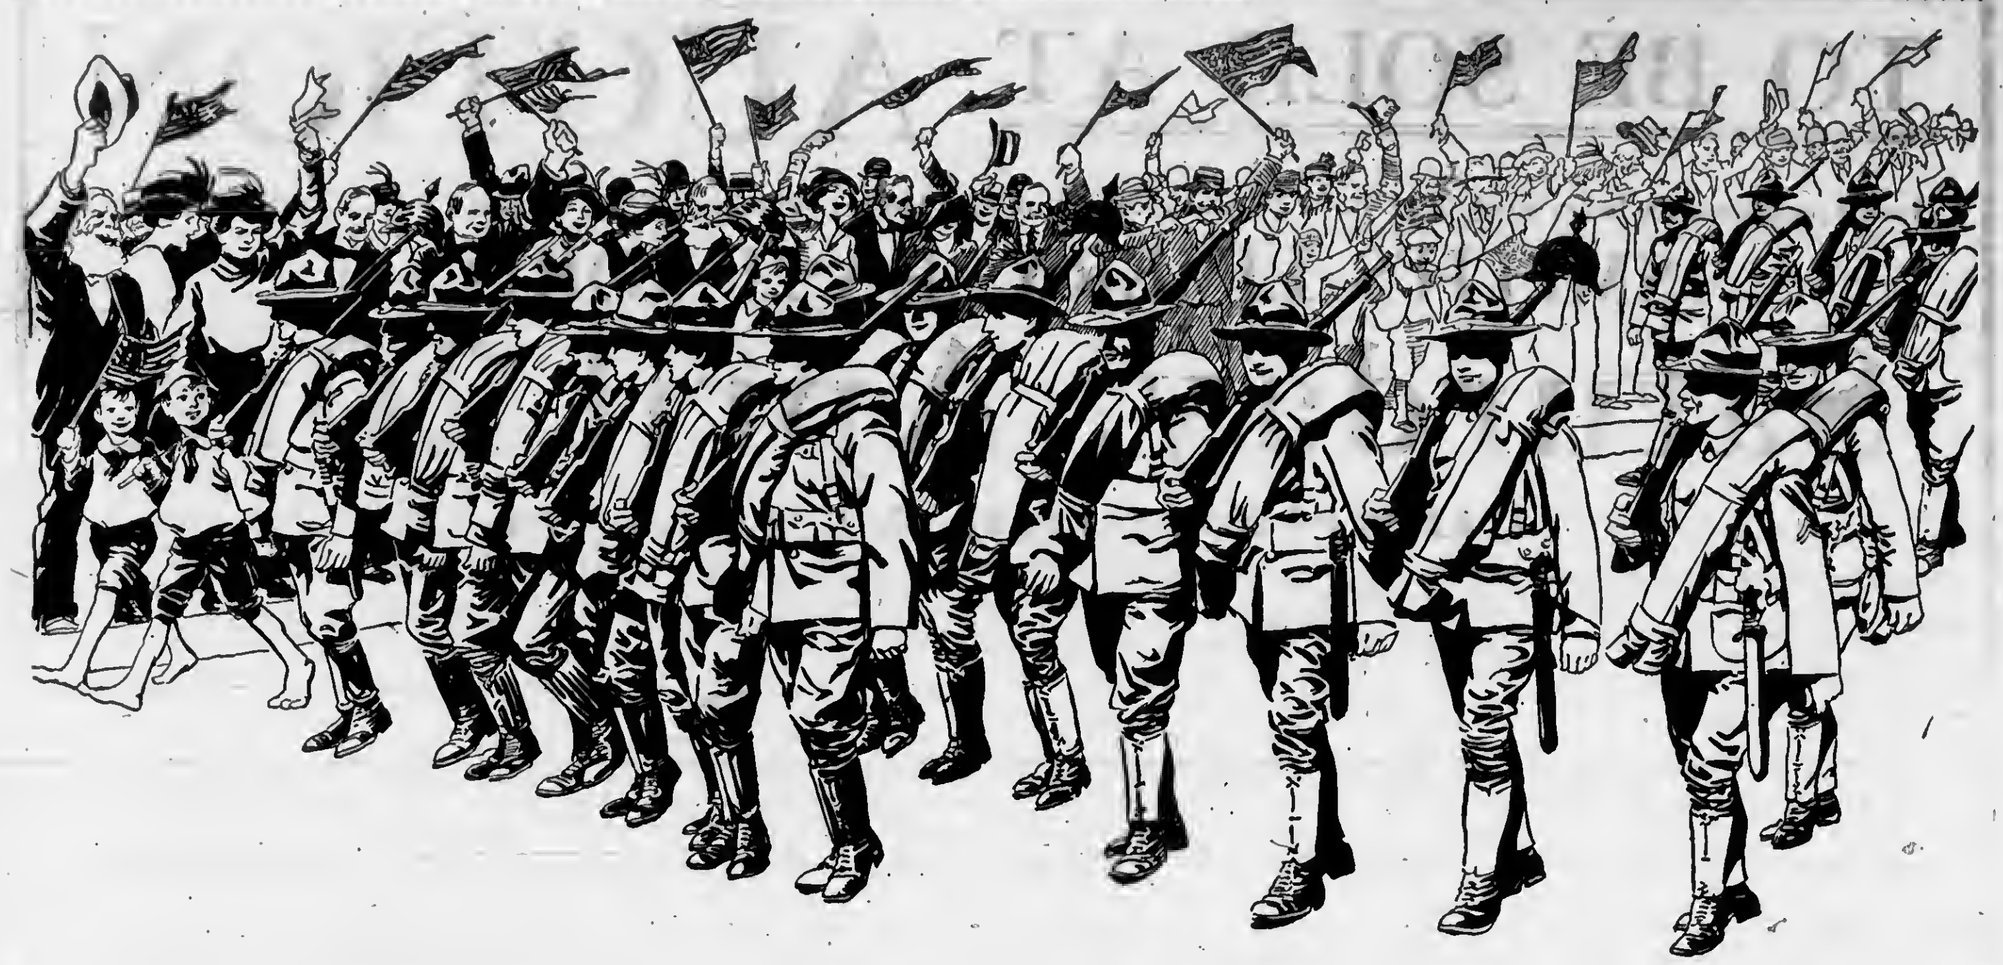
Shrill cries from French children as the German airplanes circle over their village dropping the deadly bombs. This time the children were gathered by Red Cross nurses on the hill overlooking the town, and there were no cellars or caves to go to.

In the old fort on the hill a dozen little girls got into one bed and covered themselves with the bedclothes. Perhaps the bombs wouldn't get them there! Half an hour seemed a whole day. Then the guns stopped firing—a signal that the German airplane had departed—and the children were unharmed.

Down in the village a tenement had been split in two. It had been occupied by the family of a French soldier who had come 2,000 miles from Salonica to see his wife and children. The Red Cross maneuver to the hill had saved the children—this time.

The French fighting man has more reasons than this for being grateful to the American Red Cross. It is saving his family from starvation, is keeping them together until his return, improving the sanitary conditions under which they live, and so is helping to win the war.

This work among French children is assuring France a hopeful future. The same is true of Belgium, Serbia, Roumania—every country where the Red Cross is at work.



Stamp! Stamp! Stamp!

Our American Boys Are Marching to The Front Over There

Our Charlevoix Boys, 69 strong, and every other American soldier boy in the United States will soon be marching to the front over there, to help win this world wide war and to establish a world wide democracy, so that you and I, and every other citizen of the world, can live at peace with his neighbor and enjoy the fruits of his labor.

If you can't all buy Liberty Bonds, you can all buy Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates and help in your humble way to win this war and establish the world over the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. There is only one way that you and I can help win this war and save our boys that are on their way over there, and our boys that are fighting in the trenches over there and that is for you and me to buy Thrift Stamps, War Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds. The Thrift Stamps and Liberty Bonds you buy in this campaign will fight on every front. It will munition the guns of Britain feed the soldiers of Belgium, strengthen the magnificient army of the fighters of France, hold the lines of the Italians in Italy, and supply the American army with all of its needs for victory.

Wherever the German strikes, he will find an American Thrift Stamp and the American Liberty Bond. Your bond and my bond will be resisting him, so buy more Thrift Stamps and Bonds, and then more Stamps and Bonds as they are the badge of a true American.

PROPOSED NEW CHARTER FOR THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

COMPLETE DOCUMENT AS PREPARED BY THE CHARTER COMMISSION

Synopsis and Statement by Charter Commissioners Showing Changes Made, and Where Improvements Have Been Made

To the Citizens of Charlevoix:

Herewith you will find the proposed new Chnrter for our city. It hss been approved hy thc Attorney General and Governor Sleeper, and now requires but your approval to become the new governing law for our city.

The Charter Commissioners have endeavored to embody in this new document, all of the best provisions they have found in other charters, of cities that have adopted the Commission and City Manager plan of government. They have also included some provlsions not found in any of the other charters, which they feel sure will aid in giving our city every possible power thst csn be used to advsntago. While the Charter may seem too long to read in full, we hope every voter will do so, for only by becoming fsmiliar with all its provisions can you vote intelligently upon its adoption.

To aid in this study, it has been thought wise to briefly summarize a few of the more important features that distinguish the new charter from the old one:

The boundaries remain the same, hut we have given the city authority to extend public utilities beyond the limits, with police power wherever this is done.

Chapter two gives the city the right to acquire, construct, own or lease either within or without its boundsries, public utilities of nll kinds, a feature which may be found invaluable if war, cosl shortage and high prices continue. Read it carefully.

The form of government is changed. Instead of n Board of six aldermen and a Mayor, the powers hitherto exerted by them will be centered in a Commission consisting of three men, elected for a three year term, who serve without psy, and one of whom will be the Mayor. Ward lines are abolished, and all elections will be non partisan. The Commissioners act also as supervisors. The only elective officers are the three Commissioners, (or one Mayor and two Commissioners) two Justices of the Peace and one Constable. All other city officers are appointed, nnd can be removed at any time if found incompetent.

The most important sppointive officer will be the City Manager. For his duties see Sec. 6 of Chapter V. The trend in all cities is toward what is known as the "City Msnager Plan." It is believed, and hss been proven in many instsnces, that the best results in a municipality are obtained by giving one competent man exclusive control of public utilities like our water and light plant, streets and sewers, and then holding him responsible for results. It is a centralization of authority and responsibility. Under this plan, it will always be easy to KNOW who is to blame if things go wrong. The Commission, of course, must be consulted on importnnt matters, but the City Manager will be the man who will execute, direct and control.

The Board of Works, Board of Health nnd Cemetery Board are abolished, all the duties hitherto scattered among them being given to the Commission. A new feature that should appeal to the public is incorporated in Section 4 of Chapter XXVI on Cemeteries.

Registration of voters before election is simplified, and also there is a new provision relative to Inspectors of Election which should meet with general approval.

The manner of nominating candidates for office has been simplified as much as possible, and there will be but little opportunity to "play politics" under the new charter. In case of there being only one candidate, there is a provision to snve the expense of a primary election. No man can be elected Mayor or Commissioner unless he has heen three yenrs a resident of the city.

Chapters nine, ten, nnd eleven, provide for the initiative, referendum and recall, and all nre along the linc of giving the people a greater voice in city matters, and the opportunity to "discharge" through the recall, any officer who fails to "make good on the job." Only politicians of the old style will object to these three chapters.

Chapter fourteen on Franchises is an important one, and the voters will find that in the new Charter, nll their rights are strongly safeguarded, and that no franchise-grnbbers wil ever be nble to slip anything over on the city, for the people retain the final power in their hands, and any corporation given a franchise under this charter, can never secure a monopoly, nnd must "play fnir" or quit. This Chapter should be read in full.

The right of Eminent Domnin is inserted, and private property, nccessary for a needed public improvement cnn be taken, as provided in Chapter sixteen.

The chapters on Ordinances, and their enforcement, are practically the same as in the general law, and the old chnrter, with one or two additions required by reason of the initiative and referendum features, and a provision to insure the proper reporting and safe-guarding of all fine monies.

The chnpter on Public Improvements contains all the necessary provisions in the general law which wns the basis in the old chartor. It gives new power to the city to control shade trees in the streets, and new authority over sidewnlks, in the wny of a provision whereby if the walks are not kept free from snow, or other obstructions, the city can nbnte the nuisance and charge the expense to the property owner. This will be especially vnluable in case of non-residents and it is only such against whom this provision would be likely to be onforced. Another new feature is Sec. 15 in this chapter, which will insure the city against the expense due to the breaking into paved streets by private persons for the own benefit.

Chapter twenty-seven on Special Assessments has severnl new and valuable features that will cut red-tape, and snve time and money to both the city nnd the property owners. The regular city assessor prepares the roll for nll specinl assessments, instead of having a board of special assessors do the work as at present. We believe that this important topic is thoroughly covered in the new chnrter.

Chapter twenty-eight on Finance and Taxation has the present excellent plan of separating the time of payment of city, and state and county taxes. It further removes an objectionahle feature of the present charter, whcrehy excessive interest has heen charged by the County, on returned taxes, and which has caused considernble friction in the past. The limit of taxation remains the same as in the present charter. A new feature is the requirement for a "budget," wherein the City Manager and City Clerk must prepare and file an estimnte for all expenditures during the ensuing year. The transfer of money from one fund to another, always a reprehensible practice, is forbidden. This will prevent the depleting of sinking funds, and the covering up of excessive expenditures by such "transfers." While tho tax limit for general purposes remains the samo, there is a provision whereby in case of an emergency, the people can vote a larger sum. It probably will never be used, but it is there in case of need. This chapter is necessarily a long one, as it is necessary to cover all the various matters minutely and in full. A reading of it will, wo are sure, convince anyone that this has been done. The instructions to the various officers are so plain and specific that there should be no difficulty in carrying out every step of the process of levying the taxes, and safe-guarding the interests of the individual, and the City as n whole.

Chapter nineteen contains a provision giving the City authority to buy, or lease, plants such as the Richardi water power at Bellaire. If the new Charter is adopted, the legality of such a proceeding would be unquestionable. The power to contract for a supply of all such commodities is also inserted, to be there if it should ever be needed.

No change whatever is made in the existing charter ns to our schools.

The City Manager will be the Chief of the Fire Department nnd of the Police Department, but while he will be the responsible head, he names has own ssistants. The difference will be thnt he alone will have the responsibility and therefore will bo careful to choose only competent, trustworthy men to servo under him.

In Chapter twenty-five there is a provision for a City Market, which may be put into effect, if the Commission so decides. It should meet with favor, for sometime it may "come in handy."

The chapters relating to Jails, Pounds, Harbors, and Playgrounds, are about the same as in the old charter, but with broader powers that are certainly an advantage.

The Miscellaneous provisions in Chapter thirty relate principally to matters covered in the old charter, and prescribing how and when the new Chnrter is to be put into effect.

It is not the obejct of this brief resume to make an argument for the new Charter. That document, in itself, is the best argument for the adoption. But we desired briefly to call attention to a few of the more important points of difference between the old and the new. A meeting of our citizens, when these matters can be discussed will be held in the nesr future. In the meantime we again urge all to give the new Charter careful reading. We believe it is a good Charter. We believe it is better for our City, that we adopt business methods instead of politicnl methods, therefore we have eliminated ward lines and party lines. We have no criticism of past or present city officials. The men we elect do the best they can, but they have been handicapped by too much red-tape, and too little individual power and responsibility. Let us adopt a plan, whereby we centralize the power, the authority, and the responsibility. No private corporation, doing the yearly business this city does, would run its affairs as we have run our municipal affairs. They would hire a good mnn to run the business. If he did not make good he would be fired. Let's put our city affairs on the ssme sensible, business-like basis. Hire a City Manager and tell him to make good, and that the job is his as long as he "delivers the goods." Then fire him if he fails and get one who will. The new Chnrter will ennble us to do this.

We might say, in closing, that the work of preparing this Chnrter has been a "labor of love." While the Council provided a salary, we have asked no pay, and shall not ask for any. If we hnve compiled a Charter that will receive your sanction, such approval will be the most satisfactory renumeration we could receive.

Section 4. Property Benefited—If, after considering such report, the Commission shall deem such improvement a public necessity, it shall so declare by resolution stating the improvement, and what part or portion of the cost thereof shall be defrayed by special assessment, and what part, if any, shall be appropriated from the General Funds of the City, and shall designate the district or lands and premises upon which the special assessment shall be levied, which shall consist of the lots or parcels of land abutting on and adjacent to, or otherwise benefited by the improvement. And the provisions of the preceeding sections of this Chapter with reference to special assessments generally and the proceedings necessary to be had before making the improvement shall not apply to the assessments to cover the expenses incurred in respect to that class of improvements contemplated in this section. Section 8. Annual Appropriation Bill—The Commission shall also on or before March 1st, pass an ordinance to be termed the "Annual Appropriation Bill," in which they shall make provision for, and appropriate the several amounts required to defray the expenditures and liabilities of the corporation for the next fiscal year, payable from the several general and special funds, as estimated and determined upon, and order the same or so much of the amounts as may be necessary, to be raised by tax or special assessments, as the case may be, in the next general tax levy and to be paid into the several general and special funds of the City; but the whole amount so ordered to be raised by tax shall not, except as herein otherwise stated, exceed the amount which the City is authorized by section four and five of this Chapter to raise by general tax or special assessments during the year. The Commission shall specify in such bill the object and purposes for which the several appropriations are made, and the amount appropriated for each object or purpose, and to each of the general and special funds. The Commission shall also designate in the appropriation bill the sums, if any, required to be levied to meet any deficiencies for the current year, and the amount or part of any special assessment, or other sum which may be required to be levied or re-assessed, and the disposition to be made of such moneys, and shall also designate in said bill any local improvements which they may deem it advisable to make during the next fiscal year, to be paid for in whole or in part by special assessments, and the estimated cost thereof.

Section 9. Clerk to Certify Taxes—All sums ordered in the annual appropriation bill in any year to be raised for the several general or special funds, or for school, library or other purposes, shall forthwith be certified by the City Clerk to the Assessor, and shall be levied and collected upon the assessed valuation of all taxable property within the City.

Section 10. No Expense Unless Authorized—No improvement, work, repairs, or expense to be paid out of any general funds shall be ordered, commenced or contracted for, or other indebtedness incurred for any purpose in any fiscal year, unless in pursuance of an appropriation especially made therefor, in the last preceding annual appropriation bill; nor shall any expenditure be made or liability incurred, in any year, for any such work, improvement or repairs, or for any purpose, exceeding the appropriation made therefor, nor shall any expenditure be made, or money be paid out of any fund for any purpose, unless appropriated for that purpose in said bill.

Section 11. Must Provide Funds Before Commencing Work—No public work, improvement or expenditure shall be commenced, nor any contract therefor be let or made until a tax or assessment shall have been levied to pay the cost and expense thereof, and no such work or improvement shall be paid for or contracted to be paid for, except from proceeds of the tax or assessment thus levied or from the proceeds of bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of said tax.

Section 12. Loans Authorized—The Commission shall have authority to raise money by loan, in anticipation of the receipts from special assessments, for the purpose of defraying the cost of the improvement for which the assessment was levied. Such loans shall not exceed the amount of the assessment for the completion of the whole work, nor shall any such loan be negotiated and made nor any indebtedness incurred until after the special assessment has been determined and levied.

Section 13. Must Not Transfer Funds—All moneys and taxes raised, borrowed or appropriated for the purpose of any particular fund, shall be paid into and credited to such fund, and shall be applied to the purpose for which such moneys were raised and received, and to none other. Moneys not received or appropriated for any particular fund shall be credited to the general fund, and moneys belonging to one fund shall not be transferred into any other fund.

Section 14. Commission Authorizes Payments—No money shall be drawn from the treasury, except in pursuance of the authority and appropriation of the Commission, and upon warrant of the Clerk, countersigned by the Mayor. Such warrant shall specify the fund from which it is payable, and shall be paid from no other fund.

Section 15. Appropriation Before Expenditure—Neither the Commission nor any other officer or employee of the city shall have authority to make any contracts involving the expenditure of public money, or impose upon the city any liability to pay money, until a definite amount of money shall have been appropriated for the payment of all pecuniary liability of the city under such contract, or in consequence thereof, to mature during the period covered by the contract. Such contract shall be ab initio null and void as to the city; provided, first that nothing herein contained shall prevent the Commission from providing for the payment of any expenses, the necessity of which is caused by any casualty, accident or public calamity arising after the passage of the annual appropriation ordinance; and, second, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to or limit the authority conferred in relation to the bonded indebtedness.

Section 16. Electors May Vote Larger Tax—Should any greater amount be required in any year for the purpose of erecting public buildings, or for the purchase of ground therefor, or for other public improvements or purposes, to be paid for from the general funds of the City, then can be raised by the Commission under the foregoing provisions of this chapter, such amount may be raised by tax or loan, or partly by tax and partly by loan, if authorized by two-thirds of the electors voting upon the question at an annual city election or special election called for such purpose. The amount that may be voted or raised in any year under the provisions of this section, shall not exceed two per cent (2) of the assessed valuation of the property in the City as shown by the last preceding assessment roll made therein.

The proposition to raise such additional amount shall be submitted to a vote of the electors by an ordinance or resolution of the Commission, distinctly stating the purpose of the proposed expenditure, the amount proposed to be raised therefor, and whether by tax or loan. Such ordinance or resolution shall be passed, and published in one or more of the newspapers of the city, and copies thereof posted in ten of the most public places in the city, at least two weeks before the election at which the vote is to be taken.

Section 17. Overdrafts Prohibited—No warrant shall be drawn upon the treasury, after the fund from which it should be paid has been exhausted; nor when the liabilities outstanding, and previously incurred and payable from such fund, are sufficient to exhaust it. Any warrant or order, payable by the provisions of this act from any particular fund (excepting bonds given for loans herein authorized) and issued or made after such fund has been exhausted by previous payments, or by previous liabilities payable from such fund, shall be void as against the City.

Section 18. Embezzlement—If any officer of the corporation shall, directly or indirectly, appropriate or convert any of the moneys, securities, evidences of value, or any property whatsoever, belonging to the corporation or any board thereof, to his own use, or shall directly or indirectly, and knowingly appropriate or convert the same to any other purposes than that for which such moneys, securities, evidences of value, or property may have been appropriated, raised or received, or to any purpose not authorized by law, he shall be deemed guilty of wilful and corrupt malfeasance in office, and may be prosecuted, tried and convicted therefor, and on conviction, may be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding ninety days, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Section 19. Emergency Loans—In case of fire, flood, or other calamity, the Commission may borrow for the relief of the inhabitants of the city and for the preservation of municipal property, a sum not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent of the assessed value of all real and personal property in the City, as shown by the last preceding assessment roll. All such loans shall be for a term not exceeding three (3) years.

Section 20. Bond Provisions—For any loans lawfully made, the bonds of the City may be issued by the Commission bearing a legal rate of interest. A record showing the dates, numbers and amounts of all bonds issued, and when due, shall be kept by the City Clerk. When deemed necessary by the Commission to extend the time of payment, new bonds may be issued in place of former bonds falling due, in such manner as merely to change, but not increase, the indebtedness of the City. Each bond shall show upon its face the class of indebtedness to which it belongs, and from what fund it is payable. No bonds shall be issued without providing a sinking fund to pay them at maturity; provided, that no sinking fund shall be required in the case of serial bonds which fall due annually. All bonds issued by the City shall be payable within thirty years from date of issue.

Section 21. Provision for Paying Bonds—It shall be the duty of said Commission each and every year, so long as the City shall remain in debt, to include in the taxes levied, a sum not less than the amount of the bonds and interest coming due in said year; unless in the judgment of the Commission, it is found necessary or to the best interests of the City that such bonds or a part thereof be refunded.

Section 22. Limit of Indebtedness—The Commission is hereby prohibited, except as herein otherwise provided, from borrowing any money or authorizing the creation of any liability or indebtedness against the City in any one year exceeding in the aggregate the amount of two per cent of the assessed valuation of the property in said City, nor shall it be lawful for said City to ever create an indebtedness in any year, which, added to the then existing indebtedness shall make the total indebtedness exceed eight per cent of the assessed valuation of the property of the preceding year, and in case any sum or sums of money shall be borrowed by said Commission, the same shall be paid out of the sum raised by taxes for such year, unless the payment is not otherwise provided for, and all sums of money borrowed by the City shall be applied to the purpose for which the same was borrowed, and for not other purpose whatever; but nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit said Commission from making assessments for the purpose of local improvement.

Section 23. Annual Financial Statement—Immediately upon the close of the fiscal year, the Commission shall audit and settle the accounts of the City Treasurer and other officers of the city, and the accounts also, so far as practicable, of all persons having claims against the City, or accounts with it not previously audited; and shall make out a statement in detail of the receipts and expenditures of the corporation during the preceding year, which statement shall distinctly show the amount of all taxes raised for each fund, the amount levied by special assessment and amount collected on each, and the amount borrowed, and upon what time and terms and for what purpose; also the items and amounts received from all sources during the year. Such statement shall likewise show the expenses of the City, classifying the expenditures for each purpose separately, the amount and items of all indebtedness outstanding against the City, and to whom payable, and with what rate of interest; the amount of salary or compensation paid or payable to each officer of the City for the year, and such other information as shall be necessary to a full understanding of all the financial concerns of the City. Said statement signed by the Mayor and City Clerk, shall be filed in the office of the City Clerk, and a copy thereof published in one of the newspapers of the City.

Section 24. Assessment—When Made—An assessment of all property in the City shall be made annually by the City Assessor, and the property subject to taxation for municipal purposes shall be the same as for state, county and school purposes under the general tax law. All personal property shall be assessed to the owner thereof on the first Monday of April of the year in which the assessment is made.

Section 25. Two Tax Rolls—The taxes shall be levied, assessed and collected on two (2) rolls. On the one roll, to be known as the July Roll, shall be spread all of the taxes and special assessments required to be levied by the annual appropriation bill as passed by the Commission for that year.

On the other roll, to be known as the December Roll, shall be spread all of the State, County and School taxes certified by the Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County to the City of Charlevoix to be levied, assessed and collected by it.

On said December Roll shall also appear and be spread such delinquent taxes and assessments as shall remain unpaid on the July roll, to be levied and spread and collected as hereinafter provided.

Section 26. Provisions Governing Assessments—On or before the first Monday in May of each year, the City Assessor shall make and complete an assessment roll of the City, upon which he shall set down the name of every person liable to be taxed in the city, with a full description of all the real and personal property therein liable to be taxed; provided, that the description of personal property on said roll may be made by using the word "Personal" except in cases where the general law requires the kind of personal property assessed to be designated upon the roll. In making said assessment roll, the City Assessor shall be governed by all the provisions of the general law for the assessment of property in townships. All personal property found in the city may be assessed therein, whether the owner thereof resides in such city or elsewhere.

If any person residing in the city a part of the time during the year shall in the opinion of the Assessor, unjustly or falsely claim exemption from taxation therein on the ground that he or she has a residence, and is taxed elsewhere in Michigan than in said city, the Assessor shall, notwithstanding, assess such person for such amount of personal property as in his opinion shall be just, and such assessment when confirmed by the Board of Review shall be conclusive as to the liability of such person to be assessed and to pay the tax levied in pursuance thereof, unless such person shall present to the Treasurer, or officer requiring payment of such tax, a receipt duly signed and authenticated by the affidavit of some other collector of taxes showing that such person has paid a tax upon all of the same property for the same year to such other collector or receiver of taxes.

Section 27. Board of Review—The Commission shall constitute a Board of Equalization and Review of the assessment roll of the City, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. They shall have power, and it shall be their duty to examine said assessment roll, and they shall have authority to, and shall correct any errors or deficiencies found therein, either as to names, valuation or descriptions; and of their own motion, or on cause shown, may reduce or increase the valuation of any property, and shall add to said assessment roll any property in said City that may have been omitted, and shall value the same, and shall strike from said roll any property wrongfully thereon, and generally shall perfect said roll in any respect, by said board deemed necessary and proper. The Commissioners shall each receive Five ($5.00) Dollars per day while actually employed as a Board of Review. The Board of Review shall meet on the second Monday in May in each year, at their regular meeting place, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, notice of which meeting and the time and place of holding the same shall be given by the City Clerk at least two (2) weeks prior to the time of meeting, by publishing a notice thereof in one or more of the newspapers of the City, at which time and place the Assessor shall submit to said board the general assessment roll. They shall select one of their number as chairman and shall continue in session at least four days, and not more than six days successively, and at least eight hours in each day, during said session; and any person or persons desiring to do so, may examine his, her or their assessments on such roll, and may show cause, if any exists, why the valuation thereof should be changed, and the said board shall forthwith consider and act upon such petition or request and decide the same, and their decision shall be final. They may examine on oath any person touching the matter of his, her or their assessment, and the chairman, or any member of said board may administer oaths. They shall keep a record of the proceedings and all changes made in said roll, and the amount added to or deducted from the total valuation shall be entered upon such record, which record shall be deposited with the City Clerk, who shall be clerk of said board. The decision of a majority of all the members of said board upon all questions shall govern. The roll as prepared by the Assessor shall stand as approved and adopted as the act of the Board of Review, except as changed as herein provided. Said board shall have the same power and perform the same duties in all respects as Boards of Review in townships, in reviewing and correcting assessments made by Supervisors of Townships, except as in this Charter otherwise provided. After the said Board of Review shall have completed the revision of said roll, the City Clerk shall endorse and sign a statement upon the roll, to the effect that the same is the general assessment roll for the City for the year in which it has been prepared, as approved by the Board of Review. Such statement may be in the following form, namely:

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
City of Charlevoix, ss.

I hereby certify that the Board of Review of the City of Charlevoix has reviewed, equalized and corrected the within assessment roll, and have deducted from (or added to, as the case may be) ..... dollars from (or to, as the case may be), the valuation of the real estate made by the Assessor; and have determined the aggregate value of such real estate to be .....dollars, and the total value of the personal estate to be .....dollars for the year A. D., ...

Dated ....City Clerk

Upon the completion of such roll, and its endorsement in manner aforesaid, it shall be returned to the Assessor and shall be conclusively presumed by all courts and tribunals to be valid, and shall not be set aside, except for causes mentioned in the general laws of the State, relating to the assessment of property and the levy and collection of taxes thereon. The omission of such endorsement, however, shall not affect the validity of any such roll.

Section 28. Preparation of Roll—After the confirmation of the assessment roll, and on or before the third Monday in June in each year, the City Assessor shall apportion the several taxes to be raised in said city for city purposes as provided in the appropriation bill for such year, according and in proportion to the equalized valuations entered by the Board of Review in the assessment roll of the City.

Such taxes shall be entered in separate columns with appropriate headings. The total of all taxes assessed against any one valuation or parcel of property shall be added and carried out in the last column upon the right hand side of such roll. The City Assessor shall carefully foot the several columns of valuation and taxes and make a detailed statement thereof, and file such statement with the City Clerk and the City Clerk shall immediately charge the amount of said taxes to the City Treasurer.

Section 29. Tax Roll—The City Assessor shall thereupon prepare a copy of said assessment roll with the taxes assessed as hereinbefore provided, to be known as the July Roll, and deliver the same to the City Clerk, on or before the fourth (4th) Monday of June and the City Clerk shall thereupon immediately and before the first (1st) secular day of July following, deliver the same to the City Treasurer, with a warrant annexed thereto, signed by him, commanding the City Treasurer to collect the several sums mentioned in the last column of such roll, on or before the thirty-first (31st) day of October following, and the said warrant shall authorize and command the Treasurer, in case any person named in the assessment roll shall neglect or refuse to pay his tax, to levy the same by distress and sale of goods and chattels of such person, and the said Treasurer shall have the same power and authority to enforce collection of said taxes, by a seizure and the sale of personal property, or by suit, as is conferred upon township Treasurers by the general tax law.

Section 30. Taxes—When Payable—Upon receiving such tax roll and warrant, the City Treasurer shall proceed to collect such taxes, and shall remain in his office on all week days from nine o'clock a. m. to five o'clock p. m. from the first Monday in July to the first day of October in each year, and at such other times as the Commission may prescribe, to receive payment of taxes.

All taxes appearing on the July roll may be paid on or before the fifteenth (15th) day of September of the current year without any other fee or charge. All taxes remaining unpaid on the 15th day of September and thereafter paid, shall be charged a collection fee of four per cent (4 per cent); but on all taxes not paid before October 1st of any year an interest charge of one per cent (1 per cent) for the month of October shall be charged and collected in addition to the collection fee of 4 per cent above noted.

Section 31. Taxes a Lien—All taxes and special assessments levied in any tax roll shall be and remain a lien upon the lands upon which they are respectively levied, until paid, and shall constitute a debt owing by the person to whom they are severally assessed to the City of Charlevoix.

Section 32. December Roll—On or before the first day of November in each year, the City Assessor shall make and deliver to the City Clerk a second copy of the Assessment Roll of that year, duly certified by him to be such; upon which roll shall be spread and levied all of the State, County and School taxes apportioned by proper authority to the City of Charlevoix for such year, together with all taxes and special assessments remaining unpaid on the preceding July Tax Roll, on the thirty-first day of October.

Section 33. Return of July Roll—If the City Treasurer shall be unable to collect any of the taxes or special assessments on the July roll assessed on real property, on or before the thirty-first day of October in each year, he shall, on or before the fifth day of November following, make a statement of the same with a full and perfect description of such property, together with the taxes and special assessments assessed against each such description remaining unpaid. He shall also in said statement show the taxes upon the personal property remaining unpaid, and the names of the persons against whom such taxes are assessed, and the amount against each, which statement he shall verify by his affidavit, in which affidavit he shall make oath that the sums so mentioned in said statement as uncollected, remain unpaid, and that he has not been able, after diligent search to discover any goods or chattels belonging to the person liable to pay such taxes, whereupon he could levy the same. He shall also make a statement, under oath, showing the amount of all moneys collected by him on account of the taxes on said roll. Said statements shall be filed with the City Clerk on or before the fifth day of November of such year. And thereupon the City Clerk shall immediately compare such statements and returns of said Treasurer with the tax roll and verify the same and make settlement with the City Treasurer as to said July tax roll, and report the same to the Commission at their next meeting, together with the statement or return of uncollected taxes and special assessments filed with him by the City Treasurer, as aforesaid. The Commission, upon receiving such report and after being satisfied of the correctness thereof, and that the taxes and special assessments reported in said statement are in fact unpaid, shall direct the City Clerk to certify the same to the Assessor to be reassessed and spread by him upon his December roll. Such certificate so given by the City Clerk to the Assessor as aforesaid, shall contain the amount of all such taxes and special assessments to be reassessed, together with the description of the land; or in case of a personal tax, the name of the person or persons liable therefor; and in one column, headed "Delinquent City Taxes," shall be contained the total of all city taxes returned as unpaid; in another column, headed "Special Reassessments," shall be contained the total of all special assessments returned as unpaid; and in a third column, headed "Interest and Penalty Tax," shall be included the interest at the rate of one per cent per month from the first day of October of such year up to and including the month of December; and in a fourth column, headed "Total Delinquent City Taxes," shall be contained the total of the several sums in the column headed "Delinquent City Taxes, "Special Reassessments" and "Interest and Penalty Tax;" and such certificate shall be delivered by the City Clerk to the Assessor on the fifteenth day of November, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and not later than the twentieth day of November in each year. Upon receipt of such certificate and statement from the City Clerk, it shall be the duty of the Assessor to spread upon his December roll, the amounts specified in said certificate against each of the descriptions of persons therein mentioned, which said taxes and special assessment so spread and assessed by the Assessor on his December roll, shall be collected by the Treasurer the same as the other taxes ordered to be spread on said roll.

Section 34. Collection of December Tax Roll—All taxes and special assessments returned as unpaid on the July roll, together with the interest and penalties thereon, as provided by law, and each of said amounts appearing in the said several columns of the December tax roll, shall, after the delivery of such roll to the City Treasurer for collection, be treated in all respects as an item of taxes. The total of all taxes, special assessments, reassessed taxes and reassessed special assessments, interest and penalties, shall be entered in the last column of said tax roll. In cases where it shall be found impracticable to include all taxes, special assessments, reassessed taxes and reassessed special assessments, interest and penalties in the columns contained on one single page or sheet of said tax roll, the reassessed special assessments and reassessed taxes and interest and penalties thereon may be assessed against the same description of land, or against the same person, in a separate place or page on said roll, and the total of such reassessments, interest and penalties shall, in such case, be carried to the last column of such page and collected as aforesaid.

Before delivering said December roll to the Treasurer, the City Clerk shall make and annex to said tax roll his warrant directing and commanding the Treasurer to collect all of the taxes appearing upon said roll, and that he shall on or before the first day of March next ensuing, collect all taxes then unpaid by levy and distress in the same manner and with the same powers and remedies, as are conferred upon Township Treasurers by the general tax laws of the State; said warrant shall also command the Treasurer to return to the County Treasurer all taxes which he shall be unable to collect on said roll, in the same manner as Township Treasurers are required to make returns to the County Treasurer, and to file a copy of said return with the City Clerk.

All taxes collected by the City Treasurer from the December roll belonging to the State and County, shall be paid over by the City Treasurer to the Treasurer of Charlevoix County. All school taxes collected from said roll shall be paid by the City Treasurer to the School Board upon proper warrant or order made by said School Board upon the City Treasurer.

The City taxes collected by the City Treasurer shall be credited to the proper funds for which the said taxes were spread. All collection fees and interest on taxes collected by the City Treasurer shall be placed to the credit of the general fund.

The City Treasurer shall at once and within ten days of making his returns to the County Treasurer, make and deliver to the Commission a full and complete statement of all taxes collected by him on the December roll, and shall deliver to it a duly certified copy of the returns made by him of all uncollected City taxes and assessments reassessed and appearing on said December roll.

The City Treasurer shall give the like bond to the County Treasurer which is required by law to be given by Township Treasurers to the County Treasurer, to properly account for and pay over the taxes belonging to the State and County, collected by him from the December roll.

Section 35. Penalties December Roll—Upon receiving said tax roll as herein provided, the City Treasurer shall give notice to the tax payers of the City that such roll has been delivered to him, and that the taxes therein levied may be paid to him at his office, at any time from the first day of December up to and including the ninth day of January next ensuing, without any charge for collection, but that four per cent collection fee will be charged and collected upon all state, county and school taxes remaining unpaid on the 10th day of January. Said notice shall be given by publishing the same two successive times in a newspaper published in the City. But any defect in said notice, or any omission to comply with the provisions of this section, shall not invalidate said tax roll or any measure thereafter to be taken to enforce collection of the taxes thereon.

Section 36. City Has Fees—The fees and penalties for the collection of all taxes provided for by this Charter, or by the general laws of the State, shall belong to the City, and shall be paid by said City Treasurer into the City treasury at the end of each month.

Section 37. Treasurer to Collect—For the collection of all taxes remaining unpaid on the general tax roll on the tenth day of January, the City Treasurer shall proceed in the same manner as Township Treasurers are required by law to do for the collection of taxes in townships, and shall for that purpose have all the power and authority conferred by law upon township Treasurers for such purposes. And it is hereby made mandatory upon the City Treasurer to exhaust all legal remedies for the collection of unpaid personal taxes before the return thereof.

Section 38. December Roll Return—If the City Treasurer shall be unable to collect any taxes on his roll assessed on real property, he shall make return thereof to the County Treasurer, and shall also make a statement showing the taxes upon personal property remaining unpaid in the same manner as is required of township treasurers by the general tax law.

Section 39. When Old Charter Applies—That no inconvenience may arise from the change in the Charter of the City hereby made in relation to the appropriating, levying and collecting of taxes, it is hereby declared that for the year 1918 the passing of the annual appropriation bill, the making of the assessment rolls, the meeting of the Board of Review and all other matters relating to the levying and spreading of the taxes and the collection thereof, shall be governed by the provisions of the present charter of said City, except when the provisions of this Charter may be made applicable, and until this Charter shall come into effect.

Section 40. School Taxes—The school taxes voted each year by the School Board, shall be a percentage based upon the assessed valuation of the entire district for such year as shown by the assessment rolls of the Township and City; and for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of such assessment rolls, each assessing officer in both the City and Township of Charlevoix shall on or before the first day of July in each year, render to the school board of said district, certificates showing the total amount of real and personal property as assessed on their several assessment rolls. No change shall be made in such assessment rolls after the school tax shall have been voted, except those made by the State Board of Tax Commissioners and by the Board of Supervisors in equalizing the same. And such taxes so assessed and levied shall be collected by the Township and City respectively, and by them paid to the school district upon the warrant of the director thereof in favor of the Treasurer of said school district. And all delinquent school taxes of said district collected by the County Treasurer and Auditor General shall be reported and paid to the Treasurer of said school district. It shall also be the duty of the school board of said district on or before the first Monday in October of each year, to make and file with the Clerk of the Township of Charlevoix a certificate showing the percentage of the taxes to be levied for the said year for school purposes, and a like certificate shall also be filed with the City Clerk of the City of Charlevoix on or before the first Monday of October of each year. It shall be the duty of the Supervisor of the Township of Charlevoix, and of the Assessor of the City of Charlevoix, to spread on their several rolls the amount of school tax shown in the certificates so filed as aforesaid.

Section 41. Warrants Issued by the Treasurer—The County Treasurer may issue new warrants to the City Treasurer for the collection of taxes in the same manner and in the same cases, and with the same effect, as such new warrant may be issued to Township Treasurers. The City Treasurer may, and it shall be his duty to proceed by suit in the name of the City, for the collection of unpaid taxes in the same cases, and under like circumstances in which township treasurers are authorized to proceed in that manner, and all the provisions of law applicable to suits and evidence for such purposes, shall apply to suits brought by the City Treasurer as aforesaid.

Section 42. General Law to Apply—All the provisions of law respecting delinquent taxes levied in townships shall apply to all taxes levied in the City, and to the return thereof, as delinquent to the County Treasurer, and all provisions of law for the sale of lands for the payment of taxes levied for state, county and township purposes, and returned delinquent, shall apply to the return and sale of property for the non-payment of delinquent taxes levied by the City, except as herein otherwise provided.

CHAPTER XIX.

Water—Electricity—Gas.

Section 1. City May Own, Operate, Etc.—The City of Charlevoix shall have the power to build, or acquire either by purchase or lease, suitable plants for furnishing water, electricity or gas for the use of the City at large and the inhabitants thereof, and to equip, maintain and operate the same; and if any such plant is situated without the boundaries of the City of Charlevoix, to acquire, when necessary, suitable franchises for the conveyance of such commodity from the plant to the City limits; and, to the extent which the general laws of the State may permit, and the Commission may deem wise, to furnish any or all such commodities to individuals, firms or corporations outside of the City boundaries; and for this purpose may extend the service of such plants five miles beyond the corporate boundaries in any direction; provided, however, that the amount of such commodities so furnished for use outside of the City boundaries shall not exceed in amount 25 per cent of the annual consumption thereof within the City limits as shown by the records of the City for the last preceding fiscal year.

Section 2. Purchase or Construction—Should the Commission decide that it would be for the best interests of the City to construct any such plant mentioned in the preceding section, to be located either within or without the boundaries of the City, or a water power for the operation of any such plant; or lease or purchase any such plant or water power already in existence, the money necessary to pay for the same may be raised in any one of the ways below mentioned, or by any combination thereof, to-wit:

First—By issue of the bonds of the City in an amount not exceeding five per cent of the value of the real and personal property of the City, as shown by the last preceding tax roll.

Second—By an issue of bonds secured only by a mortgage on the property entering into and composing said plant or public utility.

Third—By a tax to be spread upon the next July tax roll.

If any mortgage bonds shall be issued for such purpose, the Commission shall provide for a sinking fund by setting aside such a percentage of the gross or net receipts of such public utility as shall be deemed by them sufficient for the payment of such mortgage bonds at maturity. And it is hereby declared to be the intent of this section that the purchase by the City of any public utility and the payment therefor, shall in all respects be governed by the relevant provisions of Section 4, of Act No. 279 of the Public Acts of 1909 of the State of Michigan, and the amendments thereof, whether explicitly set forth herein or not.

Section 3. May Contract for Such Commodities—The City shall also have power to contract for a supply of water, electricity or gas, or any and all such commodities, with such persons, firms or corporations as the Commission may deem advisable; but no such contracts shall be for a longer term than twenty years, and shall contain a stipulation for a re-adjustment of rates at an interval of ten years from the date of such contract, or at shorter intervals if the Commission so determine. Such contracts shall be limited to the supplying of the City with the commodity, to be sold and distributed by the City in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter, and other applicable provisions of this Charter; and the same rule shall apply in such cases to the government, maintenance, operation and extensions of the service of such commodity as are provided above, for the plants owned by the City.

Section 4. Referendum—No such public utility shall be built, purchased or leased by the City, nor shall any contract be made for the supply of water, electricity or gas for use of the City as provided in section 3 above, unless the proposition so to do shall have first received the affirmative vote of three fifths of the electors of the City voting thereon, at a regular or special municipal election, and upon such proposition, women tax payers having the qualifications of male electors, shall be entitled to vote.

Section 5. Commission Controls—The Commission shall have full control of all water, electricity, gas, or other public utility owned by, or leased and operated by the City. SAVED SELF AND TWO CHILDREN

BELGIAN WOMAN RECITES HORRIBLE TALE OF BARBARITY

Saw Children With Hands Cut Off and Witnessed Many Scenes of Brutality

Mrs. Florence Claerhout, a Belgian woman now residing in Scott county, Iowa, who saw the German army invade Belgium in 1914, and who after suffering many hardships escaped from the Germans in that country in January, 1915.

Accompanied by her two children, Jonny and Walter, both tiny tots of 3 and 5 years, Mrs. Claerhout was forced to walk 90 miles to freedom. Sleeping in open fields and potato patches by day and spending the nights walking, the horror of those days still is impressed deeply upon her memory. And in her anxiety to protect her children from the fate which she sow overtake many helpless Belgian bobies, she forced herself to stay awake the greater part of the days when she was making the journey.

Most of the time she was trudging over the hills and roads of Belgium she was forced to carry the two children, whose tiny bodies soon became too weary to stand the rough walking.

Mrs. Claerhout knows hundreds of instances of the barbarous and atrocious treatment accorded the Belgians by the German invaders, and even now she shudders as she recalls and tells of the things she actually saw before making her escape to England. Several of them she recounts in her affidavit, but many others which she saw and heard of in Belgium have not been told.

Even though she has been assured of every protection from harm, which she fears from German sympathizers here, by the authorities, Mrs. Claerhout is now extremely fearful for the safety of her children, and for her aged mother, still in Belgium. She declares that the German spy system will surely carry the news of the publication of her story back to Germany and that her mother will suffer as a consequence. However, she is extremely glad that she has been able, in some measure to bring the actual truth before the public and dispel the doubt that has lingered in many quarters concerning the stories of Germun atrocities in Belgium.

Mrs. Claerhout still retains the original passports issued to her by the Belgian counsul in Flessingue, which is signed by the consul and herself. The passport is made out to her in her maiden name of Florence Vsrschaete, which she explains is due to the custom in Belgium, where wives are known by their maiden names. The passports were issued on Feb. 14, 1915, with the number 16,622 and with the stamp of the war relief committee affixed.

The passport was issued by the Belgian consul at Flessingue, January 12, 1915, for herself and two children, Jennie and Walter. Her photograph and thumb print are reproduced on the passport. The passport was passed on by the British vice consul ut Zeeland, Hollund, and again at Liverpool, England. It contains seals, showing that she and her children were provided with clothing by the English War Refuge committees at Liverpool, England. Her German passport was taken from her by the German officials in Belgium before they would let her leave the country.

The full text of this affidavit follows:

State of Iowa, Scott county, ss.

I, Florence Claerhout, being first duly sworn on my oath depose ond sny:

That my name is Florence Claerhout. I am the wife of Emil Claerhont. I was born in Lendelede in the Province of West Vlaanderen in Belgium on December 12, 1884. My maiden nume wns Florence Versehaete. I esme to America about three years before the war broke out in 1914. I now reside on a farm in Buffalo township, Scott county, Iowa. In August, 1914, I visited my old home in Lendelede, Belgium, in tbe Province of West Vlaanderen, had gone there in order to bring my children, mother and sister back here to America. I left America for Belgium on the 31st day of May, 1914. On August 4, 1914, I saw the German soldiers invnde Belgium. I snw them kill and imprison the male citizens of Lendelede. I saw the Germnn soldiers rob the people of my village, nnd burn their houses and cut the fingers from the women and children for the rings on them. Two young boys were imprisoned in a house which was then burned. I saw children around Leavie that had their hands cut off by the German soldiers. I saw a woman carrying two buckets of water, and saw a soldier pnss her and draw his sword and cut off her right hand. I saw the priest of a Catholic church plead with the soldiers to spare the lives of the women and children, and saw one of the soldiers draw has saber and cut off the priest's head.

I know two young girls 18 and 20 years of age who had to submit to the German officers after serving them their dinner. This was told to me by the girls themselves. I know shortly after this one of theso two girls beeame insane and tho other committed suicide. I saw fivo young boys shot by the Germans soldiers while out riding on their bicycles. I knew a young married couple that had retired for the night when five soldiers forced the door of their room and forced the woman to submit to them, while others stood guard over her husband with a revolver. This was told me by the woman herself.

At the depot at Vlaanderen I saw un English soldier wounded that had no hat or shoes or socks and it wus cold and he complnined because he suffered with the cold ond I found un old blanket and covered him up and then the soldier on guard knocked me down for doing it. I saw German soldiers have in their possession the cut-off fingers of women and children with rings on them.

I saw a French aeroplane shot down and the aviator wounded and then I saw the wounded aviator thrown into a hole by the German soldiers and buried alive. I could hardly stand the sight. I saw German aviators fly over our villago nnd drop bombs on the people. Under penalty of death we were then forced by the German soldiers to say it wae done by the English and French.

Mrs. Peter De Broon and Lillian Wineberry told me that they were forced to submit to being outraged by the German soldiers. Mrs. De Broon also told me that her husband came to her assistance and then the soldiers shot him through the head, tho ball passing through both cheeks and a sheet iron stove.

I was stopping at a small house with my mother, sister and children and a German officer came in and demanded that I submit to his wishes. He forced me into a small room, but I fought with him and got away. All this happened in the town of Lendelede in Bolgium.

I left Belgium on January 8, 1915 to come back to America. When I came to leave Belgium before they would give me my passports, I had to swear before a German official that I would not tell any of these things, either to the French or the English, nor divulge anything I had seen or knew to have happened in Belgium.

I traveled on foot with my two little children from Lendelede, nnd when I got to my destination our shoes were worn from off our feet.

—Mrs. Florence Claerhout.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by Florence Claerhout, this 28th day of February, A. D., 1918.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

Halg's line is holding. Are you holding out the money that would help him?

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

All schools in Bay, four in Hudson and four in Chandler visited during the past week. The Hart Lake school was closed because of the illness of the teacher and will need to be visited later. The Lakeside school also was closed, due to an epidemic of measles, and will be included in a later schedule.

The Blain school and Thumb Lake school closed on the 26th. Miss Gregory plunned a social afternoon for the closing day.

Splendid collections of bird nests were observed in the Hoffman, Blain and Woodard schools. The Blain school had made some very unique bird houses.

The teachers' examination, April 25-27, finds only one new candidate entering the ranks. Nine teachers wrote the test, three for third grade and six for second grade. The others are to be commended in attempting a higher grade certificate as soon as they have taught long enough under the terms of the law to receive the second grade certificate. Examinations were unusually hard this spring, and in a few subjects almost impossible but the teachers were cheerful and nervous strain was very nearly absent.

On Friday afternoon the program was varied and all teachers were excused to attend the patriotic exercises at the floating of the Liberty Loan flag, won by Charlevoix in going over the top once more in her big drive. On their return to the school house a pleasant surprise was in store for them. The normal class had prepared punch and wafers for a social few minutes before work was resumed.

The bonrd of examiners will meet on Saturday, May 4th to decide the results of the tests.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night If you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE FLAG

THINGS EVERY AMERICAN SHOULD KNOW

Observances, Customs and Regulations Regarding Its Display and Care Must be Observed

We are reproducing below for the benefit of our readers in general some facts about the flag and the national anthem and tba observance, respects and regulations regarding tbem—things whicb every loyal American should know and which we will have to teach to the disloyal ones before we get through with tbem.

Ona thing wa notice is not mentioned ln the article we are reprinting from "Moderator Topice," and that is that in faetening the flag to halyards, raising or lowering it, ita folds should nevcr be permitted to touch the ground. Thie la atrictly in accordance with U. S. army regulations and wa mention it because the rule was unthinkingly violated in putting up one of the banners across Bridge street April 6th.

Pledge to the Flag

I pledga allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for whlch it stands: One Nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for oll.

How to Give Pledge with Salute

Right hand lifted, palm downward. to a line with tha forehead and close to it. Standing thus, all repeat the pledge alowly. At the words "to my Flag" the right hand ls extended gracefully, palm upward, toward the Flag and remains in thia position to the end of the affirmation, wberaupon lt quickly drops to the eide.

How to Use and Display It

The Flag ehould not be raised befora sunrise and ehould be lowered at sunset.

Colors on Parade. When the colors ara passing on parade, or in review, the apectator should, lf walking, halt, if sitting, arise, stand at attention and uncover.

When Portrayed. The flag whena portrayed by an illustrative process should have the staff ao placed that lt ls at tha left of the picture, the fabrica floating to the right. In crossing the flag with that of another nation, the American flag should ba at tha right.

"Tha Star Spangled Banner." Whenever "The Star Spangled Banner" is played all persons within hearing should rise and stand uncovered during its rendition.

On Memorial Day, May 30th, the National flag should be displayed at half-staff until noon, then hoisted to the top of the staff, where it remains until sunset.

Used as a Banncr. When the flag is used as a banner, the blua field should fly to the north in streets running eaet and west, and to the east in streets running north and south.

Laid on a Bier. When the flag is placed over a bier or casket, the blue field should be at the haad.

Desecration of the Flag. No advertisement or lettering of any sort should ever be placed upon the flag, nor should it ever be used as a trademark. It should not be worn as the whole or part of a costume and when worn as a badge it should be small and pinned over the left breast or to the left collar lapal.

Displaying the Flag. The flag, out-of-doors should be flown from a pole whenever possible. In tha United States army all flags are suspended from poles and ln no other way.

Two lSeep on Duty

The war department has submitted to President Wilson for final actlon two court martial cases involving the serious offense of sleeping on post in France and two others for disobedience, understood to have been refusal to drill. The president must decide whether the death sentenca shall stand against the sleeping sentries, but he has the power to mitigate the punishment if he desires.

Any maker may claim for his product all the qualities there are. That is his privilege. He may even think his claims are justified.

You read the advertisements, so you know that makers, as a rule, are not over modest in that regard.

If you believe them all, they all make super-cars.

In your experience, that theory doesn't hold.

Maxwell is different.

We never claim anything we cannot prove.

As a matter of fact we never have claimed anything for this Maxwell that has not already been proved in public test and under official observation.

Maxwell claims are not therefore claims in the ordinary sense—they are statements of fact—proven facts.

They are, in every case, matters of official record attested under oath.

For example: The famous 22,000-mile Non-Stop run was made with the Maxwell every minute under observation of the A. A. A. officials.

That still remains a world's record—the world's record of reliability.

That particular test proved about all that anyone could ask or desire of a motor car.

Among other things it still stands the world's long distance speed record.

Just consider—44 days and nights without a stop, at an average speed of 25 miles per hour!

And that, not by a $2,000 car, but by a stock model Maxwell listing at $825.

You will recall perhaps that a famous high powered, high priced six in a trans-continental trip made 28 miles average over a period of five days and eleven hours.

Now compare those two feats—one of less than six days, the other of 44 days. You know automobiles—which was the greater test?

Is there any comparison on grounds either of speed or endurance?

Proves you don't need to pay more than $825 to obtain all the qualities you can desire in a motor car—if you select a Maxwell.

For that Maxwell Non-Stop run was made, not on a track but over rough country roads and through city traffic—average of all kinds of going.

And—listen to this.

So certain were we of the condition of the Maxwell at the end of that great feat, we announced that at the stroke of eleven on a certain morning, the car would stop in front of the City Hall, Los Angeles, for the Mayor to break the seal.

Five seconds after he had pulled the switch plug and stopped the motor after the 44 days and nights continuous running, she was started again and off on a thousand mile jaunt to visit various Maxwell dealers.

How is that for precision—certainty of action? That incident brought a storm of applause from the assembled thousands.

Hill climbing?—this Maxwell holds practically every record worth mentioning—especially in the West where the real hills are.

The Mount Wilson record—nine and one-half miles, 6,000 feet elevation!—was taken by a stock Maxwell.

Two months ago a 12-cylinder car beat that record by two minutes.

Then—three days later—a stock Maxwell went out and beat that 12-cylinder record by thirty seconds! Pretty close going for such a distance and such a climb—wasn't it?

So Maxwell still holds the Mount Wilson honors.

Ready to defend it against all comers too, at any time—a stock Maxwell against any stock or special chassis.

Economy—also a matter of official record.

Others may claim—Maxwell proves.

Thousands of Maxwell owners throughout the United States on the same day averaged 29.4 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Not dealers or factory experts, mind you, but owners—thousands of them—driving their own Maxwells.

Nor were they new Maxwells—the contest was made by 1915, 16, and 17 models, many of which had seen tens of thousands miles of service—three years' use.

Nor could they choose their own road or weather conditions—all kinds were encountered in the various sections of the country.

Good roads and bad—level country and mountainous regions—heat and cold—sunshine and rain—asphalt and mud.

And the average was 29.4 miles per gallon!

There's economy for you. And under actual average driving conditions—not laboratory test.

But that isn't all.

The greatest achievement of this Maxwell was in its showing of speed and reliability and economy all in the same run.

In that 44 days-and-nights Non-Stop run, though no thought was given to either speed or economy, it still remains a fact of official record that the Maxwell averaged 22 miles per gallon and 25 miles per hour.

Now you know that speed costs—and that economy tests are usually made at slow-speed—closed-throttle, thin-mixture conditions.

You know too that you can obtain economy of fuel by building and adjusting for that one condition.

Speed you can get by building for speed. Any engineer can do that.

But to obtain that combination of speed and economy with the wonderful reliability shown in that 44-days Non-Stop run—that car must be a Maxwell.

SOMETHING IS WRONG SOMEWHERE

Well Intended Remarks Cause Breakdown of Mothers

The attention of the Courier has been called several times of late to instances where people with a surplus amount of sympathy and consoling words have gone out of their way to interview mothers of boys who have recently enlisted in the services of Uncle Sam.

In their endeavors to console the sorrowing mother or other relatives they tell of harrowing experiences of some recruit, as has probably been related to them, that are entirely without foundation or truth. One mother was told that her son, recently enlisted and under age, would be sent direct to the trenches, without training or proper care. Such remarks as these are made, presumably without thought, but have the effect of unnerving a mother, already burdened with the sorrow of having her son drafted or about to enlist.

Why not try, if your sympathy has reached the stage that you must say something, cheer up the sorrowing mother? Tell her the boy will be taken good care of and is in good hands, and will without a doubt return to her a better man for his experiences. If you cannot be cheerful in your attempt to console her, keep still.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Charlevoix Recipient of Kind Words for Work in Liberty Bond Drive—Claud Volkert and S. E. Rae Tell of the Horrors of War and Big German Drive

In this issue of the Courier wa publish a number of interesting letters from our soldier boys, some doing their bit overseas and others in the training camps in the states. The writers all seem determined on but one thing—to lick the Kaiser in such a manner that it will not be necessary to repeat the lesson, and at the same time make the world a place to live where all will enjoy the utmost freedom of speech and the pursuit of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson received a letter from their nephew, Simon E. Rae, before the war a young banker in Winnipeg, and now serving with the Canadian troops on the British front. He was in the recent big German drive and describes the big battles in a realistic manner:

Witley, Surrey, England,
April 18, 1918.

"Dear Uncle Georga and Aunt Sarah—I was very glad to hear from you and I thank you for your good wishes. This is not a specially good time for writing letters from here, as things are quite at a high tension and it is hard to write anything about it. The Germans are launching many divisions against us in France and gaining ground. It will be sometime before it can be estimated whether their gains have been worth their losses of men. While we think we have slaughtered them in thousands, yet it must be admitted that their advance has cost us men and guns, and worst of all, it must disorganize bases and supply stations, etc.

"You have no idea of the tremendous amount of organization required to keep a division, say 20,000 men, in the front line. You can't feed one bunch of men 5,000 strong, but you can feed ten bunches of men 500 strong each. It is the same way with ammunition, reliefs and the hundreds of other departments outside of infantry, such as signallers, flying men, runners, cyclists, armored cars, pioneers, sappers and railway men. The tools that are broken have to be repaired or supplied in one day by different units, and for everything there must be a reserve near for when anything is wanted it is wanted at once. When the papers say we retired in good order, they simply are crazy. We don't run and we die game, but our retreat was costly.

"All of this sounds rather pessimistic, but I think the British army is about the same as it always was. The more opposition, the better they can fight. Over here we only know that we must win, and we know that we will win if it takes ten years, and no matter what reverses we have to take before the final battle. The world cannot expect the wonderful things that this war will bring about without sacrifice, and the fiery furnace in France is slowly bringing millions of minds to a better realization of freedom and brotherhood.

"The knowledge of large reserves of American men is a huge thing for the allies, and it is fine that you have a man like President Wilson in the presidential chair. We do not know how many American troops are now in France, but we do know your 100,000,000 are behind us and I am afraid the future would look hopeless were it otherwise.

"The camp life here agrees with me very well. In fact, I have gained weight since arriving in England. We get decently fed and there is everything possible done to entertain the soldiers, besides khaki colleges where they can study any line of business free, this being done to take care of the men after the war. Bad habits are not invited in the army as some would have us believe. It is of course the business of killing and the mere fact that we hate it, means it is a life not desirable. But the boy can find in the camps whatever he wishes, the same as in civilian life and the army cannot discipline his spare hours—they are his as he chooses. If people only knew what England and Scotland are suffering and how earnestly they have tried to do everything best for the soldiers, they would not be so ready to talk about drunken soldiers and the fear of overseas troops being led astray by British customs. Your Canadian or American soldier is quite able to take care of himself—he is the best fighter for that very reason.

"I hope this finds you both well and that you will write me again in the future.

Sincerely yours,
Sergeant S. E. Rae.
Hdq. Sub-Staff, Canadian Troops.

Hdq. 40th Balloon Co.,
Camp John Wise,
San Antonio, Texas.

"My dear Mother and Father—Well here it is Thursday morning and mess in a half hour and I am sure ready for it. This is a beautiful day and is like summer at home, because it is not too hot. We sure do appreciate it down here when we get a day like this—it makes a fellow feel like getting out and running.

"It was certainly some sick boy yesterday but am feeling good today and have an appetite like a horse. Whatever the dope the doctor give me was, it certainly did the trick. I didn't do anything all day yesterday, but got up last night and got out the reports that I attend to and then went back to bed. Never woke up once during the night, but slept like a top. Dreamed I was home last night, but never-the-less the day will come sometime, its bound too, and it sure will be some day, rain or shine, won't it folks. I want you both to keep up good cheer for when I come home I want to find you both looking as good as you did before I left.

"Received the letter from you day before yesterday, containing the pictures, and it sure gave me a feeling like I have never had before when I looked at you and dad, each holding on to the American flag, all alone, and I realize folks just how much you think of that flag and how much you are giving up for it. I can't describe my feelings but I guess you know how proud I am to have such a mother and father, don't you? I am glad folks that you bought more Liberty bonds, because it takes money for an army, and without a large, well equipped and efficient army we won't win this war, and if we lost it, what good would money be anyhow? What consideration would Germany have for the property rights of America? None; or any respect for the many things that Americans hold dear.

"I tell you right now that I am proud of my home town the way she went over the top in the Third Liberty loan drive. I knew that Charlevoix would more than do her share and thereby fully live up to her reputation.

"When I read in the Courier about all the 'big doings' at home on flag raising day, I, in one sense of the word, would of liked to have been there, but only on a furlough and if to have to be there, I would have to be out of the service of Uncle Sam I would rather be here, because I am able to go, and while except for a few slackers, those that attended the ceremony are unable to go, but, in spite of that fact are doing their 'all' for the U. S. by the way Charlevoix overaubscribed her quota. A man who is married I don't consider a slacker as long as there are single men in this country who are physically able to go, but if they don't go, that is the single men, I personally don't think much of them. I would like to ask a few why they don't enlist. I know not a one of them would be able to give any reason but a selfish one, which is worse than if they gave no excuse at all.

"There is the argument advanced lots of times that a young man under 21 is not as capable of standing army life as an older man. This is not true. I have spent the greater part of today typeing a copy of sick reports for the last two months and the men on the sick report from the age of 25 to 30 are twice as numerous as those from the age of 17 to 25 years. The age of enlistment is 18 years, but never-the-less there are several in this company who have yet to see their 18th birthday, and they are all as fat as butter.

"I received the Courier yesterday and sure was glad to get it, as it is home to me. I absorb it from the front page to the back and even read all the advertisements. I will be glad when I can return home again for good and hope it is soon, but I don't want to return home until the war has ended with victory on the side of the Allies, as it MUST be, and the sentiment of every man in camp is that we want to do Germany up in such thorough style this time that it will never have to be done again.

"The 42nd Balloon company left this a. m. with band playing for R. R. station where they entrain for some place in the state of Virginia, and the 41st and 43rd companies also left here this p. m. for Virginia. Talk about a merry crowd, they sure were it. I left here as all of us did, and went down to the road to watch them march past. They were sure a sturdy looking lot. I know they were all tickled to leave Texas, and who wouldn't be, but there were a few smiles present and they all had that set-to-their-chin that the Germans I expect are already beginning to get acquainted with. The two companies left at once led by a band picked from their own ranks. They marched in column of squads and everyone putting their feet down the same time you could sure hear that 'tramp, tramp,' and sooner or later that same tramp will be hear in Berlin.

"When a balloon company is so far back of the lines you perhaps wonder why we wear gas masks and have to know how to use them. For two reasons: because of gas shells and because a real gas attack has been known to take effect fatally for 12 to 15 miles.

"One of the boys killed a rattlesnake yesterday that had seven rattles. It sure was a whopper. He skinned it and is having the skin tanned to send home. I don't believe I would care to skin one for the trophy, would you? He shot it through the head with his automatic pistol.

HAD BEEN ILL FOR SOME TIME

Death Calls Robert Saunders, a Well Known Citizen

Robert Saunders, father of J. M. Saunders of this city and Mat Saunders of Evelina township, passed away at the State Hospital in Traverse City, Saturday, May 18.

Deceased was seventy-three years of age and has lived in Ironton for several years. He had been ailing for some time and was taken to Traverse City a few weeks ago for treatment. The remains were brought here Monday, the funeral services being held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., from the home of J. M. Saunders, Rev. Quinton Walker officiating.

WINDOWS BROKEN BY BIG HAIL STONES

Severe Storm Hits Charlevoix Sunday Evening

Charlevoix and vicinity was visited Sunday evening about 6:00 by one of the worst rain and wind storms ever witnessed in this section. The rain fell in torrents for about an hour, and hail stones, some measuring an inch in diameter, fell for about five minutes.

The storm was more severe south of the city than within the city limits. In some instances practically all windows on the south and west side of houses were broken, and considerable damage done to crops.

WILL HOLD A NIGHT FAIR

IS A NEW DEPARTURE FOR NORTHERN MICHIGAN

Grounds to be Ligbted by Electricity —Fair for 1918 to be the Best Ever Held

The executive committee of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society met at the secretary's office in East Jordan on May 13, and decided to have the grounds and buildings wired for electricity, wiring to be finished in time for use at the 1918 fair. The committee also decided to hold a night fair on the nights of September 18, 19 and 20.

The need for electricity on the grounds has been felt for some time as there are manufacturers of machinery run by electricity who have desired to exhibit their machines and have been unable to do so in the past, and then there have been days during the fairs of the past which have been so dark that it was practically impossible to see some of the exhibits in the buildings.

The night fair is a new departure in the fairs of northern Michigan, but has been tried with great success in other sections of the country. Early indications are that tha 1918 Charlevoix County Fair will be a hummer.

The secretary has secured for free attractions Bee Ho Gray's great Wild West show and has contracted for one large tent show, two small tent shows, one automatic baseball game, one high-striker, one shooting gallery, one ball throwing game, one large electric show and an excellent merry-go-round. With these as a starter, the management is assured good midway attractions, a feature in which the fairs of the past two years have been lacking.

In addition to these features, there will be good horse racing each day, band concerts and with the help of the county agent, very good exhibits in all departments. It is expected that the exhibits in the cattle department will be unusually fine, as a number of owners of thoroughbred cattle in this and adjoining counties have signified their intention to exhibit their best stock.

Work on the new poultry shed will be started in the near future and it is hoped the owners of good poultry will fill this new building with their best birds.

The fireworks for the night fair are being purchased from the Martin Fireworks Co., of Fort Dodge, Iowa and are displays of unusual merit.

The association asks that all farmers and stock breeders bear the Charlevoix County Fair in mind and that they will at this time make their plans for exhibiting their best products at the 1918 fair.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

"It is now 8:15 and someone is playing memories on the piano and there is a good pick up quartet singing it, and it sure does make a fellow lonesome for home. You never need worry folks about me, as I am always feeling good a greater part of the time. Give my very best to all the folks and remember me to those who care enough to ask about me."

As ever, your loving son,
FORREST FOWLER.

The following letter was received by County Clerk Richard Lewis from Claude Volkert, now serving with an ambulance corps in France. Claude has witnessed the real horrors of war, which he vividly describes in the following letter:

France, April 4, 1918.

"Dear Uncle Dick—Received your letter a few days ago, just as I was leaving for the front, and of course was glad to receive it. Had received a letter from Vivian a short time before telling me the sad news of Aunt Julia's death.

"We received orders to go to the front rather suddenly, having only an hour's notice, so we grabbed some soap and a towel, cranked our cars and were off. The first night out we slept in the back of our ambulance. The reason that we slept at all was that we were awaiting further orders.

"The second night out we found ourselves in a French town, 'farther up,' with no place to sleep, as the back of our ambulances were filled with medical supplies. We pulled out our blankets and made ourselves quite comfortable on the stone steps of a quaint old cathedral. It wasn't so soft as a bunk, but was as good as a feather bed to us after the long drive. When we awoke, the faithful old ladies of the community, who had come real early to worship at the cathedral, were bending over us, patting us on the cheeks and exclaiming, 'poor Americans, are you hurt badly?' To show them that we were not, we got up, had a bountiful portion of the army corned beef and hardtack and were off to work.

"I am sending you some pictures of the cathedral, which I think you will enjoy. It was very interesting during the whole trip. Each day something different from the preceding one. In a half day we carried three hundred wounded men and transported them for several kilometers. We did not get as near the front as we expected, but hope to go again soon.

"The Red Cross is doing a good work over here, giving food and shelter to the refugees. They certainly get their share of approbation in the papers for what they do. You would actually think that the paper we get over here was a Red Cross paper.

"The poor refugees are most pitiful. You see them going by, some on foot and others with all their belongings, packed on a two-wheeled cart, making their way to the rear and safety.

"Today I saw General Pershing for the second time, also Sir Douglas Haig and General Foch. It looks like busy times this spring—considerable fighting and more loss of life.

"I am stationed at the place I gave you in my former address now and should receive my mail regularly. You must have read about the long-range guns and other incidents of later date, so will not take time to elaborate on them. In regard to the Courier, have received three to date, so I guess they are coming through all right. It is certainly a treat to read the news from home. Wish you would send me the address of Hugo Hampton, as I might get a chance to see him. Am going to attend a grand opera tonight so will close for this time. Sincerely yours,
CLAUDE VOLKERT.

Convois Autos, Par. B. C. M., sec. 649, France.

Mrs. Lena Wallace received the following letters from her son Forrest, now somewhere in France. Forrest tells of his travels in France and daily work, which will prove very interesting to those who read them.

Somewhere in France, April, 18

"My dear Mother—Just a line to let you know that I am well, happy and contented. I wish I could tell you where I am, in what part of France, but it is impossible to do so, as they are very strict with us in the information we might give.

"Am sending you a little present—a little souvenir of France, which I think is very pretty. Remember, I bought it here in France and be sure and let me know that you received it. The weather here is not so warm as it has been in other places, especially at night.

"Have been riding in an auto the last couple of days. Went about 100 miles. France is a beautiful country. Every house and fence is built of stone or brick—no wood at all. Some of the old houses built some 500 or 600 years ago are still in use. Have received no mail so far, but expect a letter every day. Thank the Masons for the nice letter and the identification pocket piece. It was certainly thoughtful of them in sending it. Don't worry about me as I am safe here as anywhere.

"Your son, Forrest Wallace.

Another letter under date of April 20, gives information of real interest.

France, April 20.

"Dear Mother—Received two letters from you and was very glad to hear from you. Hope you will continue to enjoy good health. I am feeling great. Have been assigned as a helper on a truck and we have covered a lot of the country around here. We are quartered in a small French village. The people are very genial and kind and do all they can to make things pleasant for us. A bell in the big church in the village rings every 15 minutes and tells the time of day or night. I go to church quite often. The church is the most beautiful edifice I ever saw. Is made of cement and stone and is quite large. No wood is used, as far as I can see, except for the windows and doors. It will seat over 2,000 people and the statuary is beyond description. Beautiful designs of Christ and the most beautiful stone cross you can imagine. On the road sides, especially at thoroughfare corners, are beautiful crosses and other well known characters as pictured in the bible. All are built of cement or stone.

"Received a nice letter from Mrs. Powers at the same time I received yours. Am glad at all times to hear from my Charlevoix friends. Met Sam King the other day and was very glad to have the opportunity of shaking hands with one of the boys from home. He is getting along nicely and looks as fit as a fiddle.

"Well, must close for this time. Will write later, telling you more of my daily life and of the beautiful country we are in. Your son,
FORREST.

William Durance, son of George Durance, writes of his good fortune in being assigned to the aviation corps and being on his way to Selfridge Field, near Mt. Clemens. The writer was first sent to San Antonio, Texas, was later transferred to St. Paul, Minnesota, and in the future will be heard of from his new quarters.

Enroute, May 8.

"Dear Folks—Though I am all excited will try and be coherent enough so you will get the idea that I am going to Mt. Clemens, Mich., just about 18 miles from Detroit. The name is Selfridge Field. Would have told you that I had hoped to go there, but as I was not quite sure, I did not want to write about it until absolutely sure and thus not disappoint you. I was not in camp when the fellows put in their preference, so I went to the lieutenant and explained the case to him. He took a real interest in it and got me transferred. It was certainly fine of him and I tried to show my appreciation for the favor.

"We are now traveling along the Mississippi river and it is a beautiful sight. It is not over 100 yards across here, and its low, sandy banks are lined with trees. The day is one of the best, warm and sunshiny and the leaves are beginning to look green and the grass is bright and fresh. Have passed by a few rocky canyons and some beautiful, level fields.

"Yesterday just as I had started putting screens on the canteens, an order came for me to appear at the supply office and get ready for a transfer. Upon my arrival the lieutenant said that I had been selected to have charge of the detachment on its way to Selfridge Field. We then had medical inspection and those in charge had to go to Fort Snelling for supplies, and rations. What should have taken about ten minutes occupied several hours—army red tape—but necessary I guess. But after a lot of work, getting tickets, other supplies, etc., we finally got started. The bunch I am in charge of are as fine a lot of men as I ever met, and we hope to arrive at our destination in good shape.

"Met Quinton Walker Sunday evening and we have had several great visits since. After I arrive at Selfridge Field will write you again, telling you more in detail of both our trip and our daily life and work here. Your son," WILLIAM.

URGED TO JOIN COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

County to be Divided Into Units and Trained Registrars Placed in Charge

Charlevoix county women will be given an opportunity to register in the Women's Committee of Council of National Defense beginning May 25 and continuing one week. Commissioner May L. Stewart haa been appointed chairman of Charlevoix county. The county will be divided into several units and trained registrars placed in charge. The work in Charlevoix county, as well as several other counties, has been delayed because of the lack of registration blanks.

Who Should Register?

Are you over sixteen and a loyal citizen? Register.

Are you and alien, but loyal to America? Register.

Have you any kind of useful trained ability? Register.

Do you wish to receive training? Register.

Could you go anywhere, to make munitions or other necessities of war? Register.

Do you wish a paid position? Register. All useful work is in the country's service.

Can you give service—whole time, or even by half days or hours? Register. The Red Cross and many charitable and social agencies can use your gift of time and service.

Are you totally incapacitated? Send for registrar and register the fact. This accounts for you and registers your loyalty. Perhaps you can register to talk patriotism.

Are you nlrendy doing everything you can in either paid or volunteer work? Register. You should be on record as being a worker—not a slacker.

Are you busy in your home, rearing patriotic citizens for our country's future need? Surely you will register for that. It explains why you may not be able to register for other work. It will make you a better mother and citizen to feel that your country understands and appreciates this sacred service.

Are you one of the few who could go to do useful work over-seas? Register.

But remember, here at home, where most of us must stay, is "our country" that our boys and our nurses are serving over-seas. They left it in our handa. We must keep all its useful activities going. We must cherish its institutions, its people, its children. We must keep our country worthy of the soldiers' sacrifice—register!

Some Questions Answered

The registration of women in Michigan is not compulsory, but purely voluntary.

The registration has nothing whatever to do with polities.

Women who register will not be "drafted" into the government service or any other kind of service.

The regiatration of a wife does not affect the status of her husband in respect to the draft. The registration has nothing to do with any draft.

Women who register will not thereby be taken from their homea. Women who wish to go abroad or to Washington muat definitely volunteer to do so or they will not even be considered for such an opportunity.

If a woman registers for any kind of work and later finds she cannot perform this work for any reason whatever, she will not be criticised.

The registration of women who are now working for wages in factories, storea, offices, etc., will not change their work unless they individually seek to have it changed. The lists of registered women cannot be used by unauthorized persons or for unauthorized appeals for "war service."

What service is needed? There are 118 occupations listed under the following general heads:. "Agricultural, Clerical, Domestic, Industrial, Professional, Public Service, Social Service, Red Cross and Allied Relief, Miscellaneous." Go and register for the service YOU are best able to give!

Show this to your husband or family and talk it over with them. Being loyal, they will ask you to register for the sake of our country.

Several Ellsworth people were at Bellaire on Tuesday night of this week to hear Maj. Gen. Cressy speak on Red Cross work in the war zone.

Henry Petter, Ed Glas and J. A. Ruckle were the Banks township men called in the draft of May 25th They will leave Bellaire for Camp Custer next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete DeBryer of Linden, Washington, who are visiting relatives near Central Lake, called on Mr. and Mrs. Walter Youngedike last Friday and Saturday.

Henry Yettaw and family are moving onto their farm east of town this week. Mr. Yettaw will continue to look after the blacksmith shop, however, as he can walk in each morning.

In the list of liberty bond buyers we neglected to mention the name of James Wilson. We are very sorry that this should occur but mistakes are bound to occur and we take this opportunity to add Mr. Wilson's name to the Banks Twp. honor roll.

The school girls base ball team journeyed to the Bentley school last Friday afternoon and crossed bats with the girls team of that school. We have promised not to divulge the final count, but are allowed to state that the Ellsworth girls were winners owing to the thirteen scores made in the final inning, which placed them on the long end of the count by just one score. Alida Beuker was the particular star of the game, as she only allowed twenty-three hits in the two innings she pitched and spectators claim that short stop Emily Johnson of the Bentley team showed exceptional ability in getting out of the way of all balls batted into her territory.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school girls played the girls of Mr. Paterson's school a game of baseball Friday afternoon and won 31-29. It was a good game and played well by both sides. Mr. Patterson's school was ahead most of the game, but toward the end the high school girls, with a little encouragement, rallied and brought in 13 scores in one inning, which won the game for them.

A number of the eighth graders are out of school since the examinations, working on the farm.

The auxiliaries of the Junior Red Cross are gradually getting all of the students of the school.

Walter McElroy has had to leave school. His father is helpless, so Walter has the whole responsibility of running the farm which he is very able to do. We regret he had to leave us.

The school is planning for a picnic the last day of school and is very anxious to have a ball game at the time. If there is any school around that desires a game they may have one by notifying Mr. McKie. Either a girls or boys team.

The primary room has $20.00 invested in Thrift Stamps.

There are four Liberty Bond owners in the primary room and four belonging to the Junior Red Cross.

The second and third grades are reviewing this week getting ready for examinations.

The 6th grade have had their final examination in physiology.

The 5th and 6th grades are reviewing in preparation for the year end examinations.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades are working hard to see who can get the most members for the Red Cross.

The Carpenter family from Bentley Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Best of Ellsworth, called on Mr. Tillotson Sunday afternoon.

Notice to Correspondents

Please be careful of the items you send in. Do not confuse a news item with a joke or slam on some friend or enemy. People visiting for a few hours at some person's home, unless they are from some out-of-town place, is news to but a few of our readers. Also please refrain from mentioning in your items when some young man calls on his lady friend. That is his privilege and concerns no one else. Don't make your items "gossipy." The world hates a neighborhood gossip. They do more harm in the world than good. Write of matters of interest to all. Give the real news such as farm improvements, births, deaths. Mention sale of stock, farms, and bumper crops and in this manner put your neighborhood on the map as among the best in the county. This is news—real news—such as all like to read—Ed.

Watch for the date of the next agricultural meeting. The last meeting was not very well attended and we will endeavor to advertise the next meeting a week or two ahead of time.

Do not forget farmers that if you are shy of help that you should appeal to the Boys Working Reserve for it. Full particulars can be obtained at any bank or railway station. All boys now working at home and enrolling in the reserve are not subject to call but are considered placed. If you have not yet enrolled do so at once. See Mr. McKie at Ellsworth or John Bos at Atwood.

Do not forget the Red Cross drive next week. More money is needed than was secured last winter and if you wish to know more about it read President Wilson's proclamation. In the meantime dig down in your pocket for your just share in this needed cause. A number of the folks in this vicinity had better take advantage of this drive to become members of the Red Cross. It is going to be considered good for a person's health and peace of mind in the near future to join in these movements and the sooner some folks realize it the better off they will be.

SPECIAL CHARTER ELECTION MONOAY

VOTERS WILL DECIDE ON FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Everyone Urged to Come Out aad Vote on This Important Matter—Should Carry

The special election to vote on the adoption of the new charter is to be held next Monday, June 3rd. The proposed new chsrter has been printed in full in the Courier, snd lf you have not already studied its provisions, you should do so before you vote, ln order that you can do so intelligently. It is the most important proposition thnt has ever been laid befora our citizens, and no man should vote on it without reading it himself, or otherwise becoming familiar with its details. Don't take the criticism of those opposed to the new charter for facts—investigate for yourself.

The principal objection we have heard to tbe new charter is because of the provision for a city manager. Thnt, in our opinion, is ono of its best features. The City of Charlevoix is now the owner of public utilities thnt have cost the people close to $200,000. If you, Mr. Voter, owned this property yourself, how would you manage it? Just ask yourself this question, and then cast your vote accordingly. Would you elect seven men for political reasons, then have them appoint five more men as a Board of Public Works, and none of these twelve men, good citizens though they be, experienced and practiced along the lines of running an electric light and water plant, laying pavementa and constructing sewers? Would you do this? Or would you look around and find some man who was trained and experienced in such matters, a practical man who knew how to do things that have to be done? The answer is certain.

Not a single citizen of this city, rich or poor, would conduct his individunl business affairs on the same cumbersome, awkwsrd and inefficient plan our present form of government makes necessnry. Then why should he hesitate to change the plan, and adopt a simple, rensonable and efficient method?

If politics would be bad in a private business, it is bad for public business If a multiplicity of offices and a scattering or responsibility would be bad for a private business, it is bad for public business. On the other hnnd, if it is wise to select directors of a private corporation for their ability, and not because of their political opinions, then it should be wise to select our directors of city affairs in the same manner. If it is wiso for a private corporation to hire a general manager and hold him responsible for results, then it would be wise for a public corporation to do the same thing.

Imagine the directors of the steel trust, the beef trust, or any railrond or other corporation, elected because of political beliefs, and then trying to run the business themselves, through committees they nppoint. No. They all, each and every one, have some one mnn, as the responsible directing head of the business. And so should a eity.

Don't be afraid the City Manager would become an autocrat. Ho is at all times subject to dismissnl. The minute he fnils to produce results, he can be discharged, the same as a private business concern can discharge its busineas manager. And don't let those opposed to the plan make you believe we cannot hire a competent man, except nt a high salary. The Grand Rapids Herald reeently published a list of nenrly two hundred cities that are now working under the city mannger plan. In cities of from five to eight thousand population, the average salnry waa $2,000. Charlevoix would surely be nble to get a competent man at that figure. Any man who asserts otherwise is merely using the argument of "expense" with absolutely no foundation in fact. If he is using it innocently, he should be corrected. If he is using it knowingly, he is doing so hecnuse of aome selfish, insincere motive of his own, and he is not a good eitizen, nnd not entitled to credence.

We have confined this article to discussion of the city manager plan in the new Charter, beenuse that is the one feature most opposed by the "standpat," "don't change," "good enough" element. But there are mnny other splendid features in the charter that should make it carry, regsrdless of the manager idea. Wo are absolutely certain that the city manager will save the city double his salary, every yenr. But if the plan, after fair trial, proves a failuro, we can easily amend the charter and do sway with it. Lets give it a trial. It has never failed where given an honest trial. If it works well in other cities both large snd small (snd msny towns even smaller than ours, have it) it should work well here.

Finally: If you want to eliminate partisan politics from public affsirs; if you want to centralize authority, nnd responsibility in the hsnds of three men (who serve without pay) instead of 22; if you want tha right to start legislstion yourselves; lf you want the right to demand that matters of importance be referred back to you by your representatives; if you want the power to dischsrge through the reenll, any man elected who does not do his duty; if you want city affairs conducted on a BUSINESS BASIS, if, by, and for the people,—vote for the new Charter.

STORM OOES MUCH DAMAGE

DIRT ROADS BADLY WASHED OUT IN MANY PLACES

Heavy Downpours of Past Week Have Done Damage to Crops Amounting to Thousands

The severe rain storms which have visited Charlevoix and northeru Michigan during the past week have caused thousands of dollars damages to crops, roads and streets.

Sundays' downpour was the heaviest experienced here in years. Streets were flooded, Charlevoix's splendid sewer system being unable to carry away the great flood of water which fell for nearly an hour.

On the north side streets, lawns, gardens and fields were flooded to the depth of several inches nnd a flood of water poured down the main thoroughfsre. Dirt roads in the rural districts were washed out in many places, and on the hills in many places the road bed was washed out.

One of the most disastrous washouts occurred on the Petoskey road near the farm of M. K. Chew. At the foot of the hill north of his place the road was covered with mud to the depth of several feet, and gulleys in the hillsides wnshed out to the depth of in some instances ten feet deep and from fifteen to twenty-five feet wide. Mr. Chew and other farm owners in that section estimate that nt least ten per cent of their land on the higher ground and hillsides has been washed out, together with a great loss of crops.

The Pere Marquette roadbed west of Petoskey was washed out in several places, and tons of sand and gravel were washed down the steep hanks onto the railroad right of wny. The train due in Charlevoix Monday at 10:47 did not reach here until late in the afternoon owing to the time taken to put the track into condition for the passing of trains.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Harry Hammond In New York When Letter Waa Written and Expected to Go Overaeaa Any Day—"Doug" Nettleton Objects to Sleeping On Floor

Harry Hammond, nephew of Matt Saunders, who left Chnrlevoix for Camp Green, N. C., March 18, and who is now ia New York und expects to soon go over to France, writes as follows:

"Dear Folks—Just thought I would like to write a line or two to let you know I have not forgotten any of you. Am st a Hempstead Y. M. C. A. tonight. They sure have a fine building here. We have to get n pass before we can get away from camp at all. My pass is good until 7:00 a. m. Believe me, I would like to be at home for a few hours but don't think I am homeaick, but expect to be seasick before very long.

"Yes, we are going to move soon and it will be our last move on this side. I sure hope I pass the last examination, not but that I would like to be home, but we are in the army to fight, so I want to go. Some of the fellows have skipped. That is the last thing I would want to do.

"We sure have a load when we get everything on. I had my photo taken the other day. Had a dozen ordered which cost five dollars. I saw the proofs tonight. I chose a side view. Thought it was the best. I hsve my hat on because I have had a military hair cut, which we all have, cut close and about hnlf nn inch in front that sticks straight up. This is quite liable to be the last chance to have my photo taken, so I did this way rather than not to have them for you at all.

"Am here with a fellow but don't kaow his name. He is from our company and have known him for some time but not his name. He is my age but married.

"I received a post card from Cora Hammond the other day. She said she sent me a sweater but I have not got it yet. Am going to answer her card. I also got the papers you sent some time ago, they just came. They must of got lost some way. I sure enjoyed them too, when I had a chance to read which is seldom now.

"Well folks, don't worry about me. Remember I am here for you, but just remember me in prayer nnd write often. We sure like to get letters here. Expect letters here soon now. Have written quite a few since I camo up here but am running out of stamps. With lots of love to you all, your nephew,"

HARRY.

Three letters from Douglas Nettleton relates his experiences on the way to the training camp. "Doug" is evidently enjoying his experiences from the tone of his letters:

Columbus Barracks,
May 11, 1918

"Dear Mother—We left Grand Rapids in a crowded day coach about nine p. m. and nrrived here at eight o'clock this morning. After waiting a long time to sign up some cards, we had dinner, and I guess it was the biggest dinner I'll ever see. The room ls as large as the Colliseum in Chicago and seats nbout 4,000 people, and lt was just about full. The fellows waiting table ran about as fast as they could go, and you could hear spoons and knives and forks clnttering from here to Europe.

"After we signed the cards we were issued two blankets apiece and the fellows hsd to take their toilet articles out of their suitesses snd leava their grips with the officers to ship homa, so I was lucky that I didn't bring a lot of junk.

"We can't go out except for meals until we get our shot in the arm, then we get our servlce uniforms, but do not get our dress uniforms until we get to the cantonment.

"This is a pretty good bunch of fellows and the best of them come from Charlevoix county. We got up a little Bughouse Quartet, but it didn't go very well as every one was all in. We are going to sleep head to foot and pretty thick here tonight, just mattresses on the floor, nnd I don't know lf there will be much sleeping.

"There were 560 men came last night and they were until two o'clock getting signed up. Part of our bunch were called for examination and vaccination this morning. They said lt takes six hours to get by the different doctors. I heard the sergeant say they want to get us examlned nnd out of here as soon as they cnn as it is quite crowded.

"There are very few commissioned officers here and most of them seem to be colonels and generals. There are a lot of sergeants here and they seem to he older men, nnd I think must be in the regular army. All of the men who stay here are special duty men of some kind, and most of them are fellows who have been rejected on their final examination. This has always been a regular army camp, and now it is chief distributing point for the drafted men of this section of the country. I saw inspection of some of the special duty men this morning and they sure can jerk those guns around.

"Dear Mother—Well we hnve been so busy lately that I haven't had time to turn around. We started out yesterday morning, and the first thing we did wss to get measured for our uniforms. Then we went over and signed up our induction papers. There is a long U-shaped barracks with doctors all along the line for different examinations and they sure do have some work to do. I figure that in clvll lift this examination would cost me from $25 to $30.

"I went through everything but one ear which was marked as having wnx, nnd one other fellow nnd myse f out of our quota of 19 hnd to be re-examined on the heart. On the re-exnmination I went before the Major, who asked me a lot of questions about what I had been employed at and how much outdoor exercise I got; then he had me hop 100 times on my toe and then listened to my henrt standing up and lying down; then said I was O. K.

"Then we came out and dressed nnd went to another shop where our finger prints of each finger were taken and we were given our identification number. After this we

TO BOND SUBSCRIBERS

It has developed that there are mistakea in tho list of bond buyers publisbed in the Courier last week. This is not to bo wondered at, nlthough in compiling the list of names, and nmounts, partieulnr paina were taken. I am willing to assume responsibility for all errors, although some of them, at leaat, were no fault of mine. And in order that we may have a correct list for filing, I ask that where any mistakes occurred, either in tbe wny of omisaions, wrongly spelled names or initials, or incorreet amounts, the interested parties notify myself or the editor of the Courier at once. The corrections will be mnde in the next issue. I might sny, that in many instances where bonds were taken in the nnme of the wife, or children, and the husband or father nlso bought a bond, the total amount was credited to the "hend of the family." So long as thnt particular household was given credit for the entire amount it was not thought neeessary to print a multiplicity of names. But it is the desire to have all the nmounts correct, and the names of buyers rigbtly spelled. These corrections we are anxious to make.

DANDELION WINE MAKERS, BEWARE

Liquor Extracted From Yellow Flowers Under Ban—Has the Kick

Beware, makers of dandelion wine! You are running up against the new set of laws which make Michigan dry.

"We cannot contensnce the making of dandelion wine or any other kind of wine," announced Lee Pryor, legal shark of the food and drug department.

Also he gave a note of caution to newspapers which conduct questions and answers departments. Recent observation of the columns of such newspapers show they are being frequently asked for directions to make the wine. "It is advertising an intoxicating liquor," rules Mr. Pryor, "for newspapers to answer this question. And advertising intoxicants is illegal and punishable."

Manufacture of any kind of wine is prohibited, because it is not among the exceptions named in section 9 of the prohibitive liquor act (P. A. 338) which says as far as applicable to the question:

"The provisions of this act shall not be construed to prevent the manufacture of cider from fruit, for the purpose of making vinegar and non-intoxicating cider and fruit juice for use and sale."

Wine Not a Cider

Dandelions are not a fruit. Neither is wine, a cider, nor a fruit juice. Therefore, its manufacture is illegal. It is intoxicating and therefore it is illegal to possess it.

The ban against dandelion wine will hit thousands of households in Michigan. Here in Charlevoix a walk through the residence district most any day, will show women and children busily gathering the pretty yellow blossoms. Question to newspapers indicate a state-wide desire to "put up" the wine. One Charlevoix man, who, before he learned of the prohibition, told a friend, "Dandelion wine has a glorious kick. You put in lots of sugar and that makes the alcohol. It sure does put in a wallop."

When in need of Ford parts, go to Benj. Brown. The largest stock in the county always on hand. 20tf

Take Care of Your Tires

America's greatest need is for ships—more ships.

Every available vessel is being utilized in government service.

Many ships that have been carrying rubber from Sumatra and Brazil have been taken for active transport duty. The number now left to bring rubber to this country is extremely limited.

This will necessarily force a temporary curtailment of tire production.

So, make the most of the tires you have.

Use good tires.

Take good care of them. Keep them in perfect repair. See that they are properly inflated.

Increase their mileage by careful driving. Keep out of car tracks and away from bumps. Don't scrape the curb or apply brakes too suddenly.

Get every mile your tires have in them.

Only in that way can you be assured of your car's continuous service—and remember, your tire is a vital war-time necessity.

So again,

—take care of your tires.

signed up for our insurance and I took ten thousand which will cost me $6.50 a month. After the war this insurance can be turned into an endowment policy. After we got through with this we were vaccinated and got our first shot in the shoulder for typhoid. There are three of these shots given, and they affect no two people the same. One fellow fainted inside of ten minutes, and another got chills and had to go to the hospital. Mine didn't bother me for some time; then I commenced to ache all over.

"Next we went to the quartermasters storehouse and got our uniforms and I was fortunate in getting a good outfit. This morning we disposed of our civilian clothes. I gave mine to the Red Cross. We got a army hair cut and were given big bags the size of gunny sacks, only made of canvas to carry our stuff in, and we also signed up our occupations and the branch we would like to be in. All we have to do now is to get our identification tags with our number which go around our neck, and we are ready to be shipped.

Friday Noon, May 17.

"We leave here this afternoon at three o'clock for Camp MacArthur, Texas, will send you my address as soon as I have one."

DOUGLAS NETTLETON.

Freeman Cohlentz has written the following letter to Miss Fannie Bewell of this city, telling of his trip to Detroit and Chicago, on his way to the training camp after his enlistment:

Great Lakes, Ill., May 23.

"Dear Miss Bewell—It seems about a month since I left Charlevoix. Nothing like time flying here but I have had good luck in traveling so far, I had all of Sunday to myself in Detroit, as it took all day at the recruiting station. There were about 73 fellows that went out from Detroit Monday morning and we had a good time. Monday night we got here and they gave us our bed clothes, but we had to sleep on the soft surface of a hard wood floor, which was not much like a feather bed. We finally got our outfit but our commander-in-chief was sick so we have not received much drilling.

This morning our commander came in the barracks and lined us up and we marched to the dental department to have our teeth examined and believe me, they were some butchers. They sometimes pried the fellows teeth out, but I was lucky. We were vaccinated the second day here, have two more shots coming before we are out of the detention hospital then we will have it better but they are some shots.

"Tommorow is cleanup day or field day as we have a general cleaning up. We will be changed to another camp after we get our next shot, which will be about five days.

"Will you please tell Mrs. Nichols the president of the Red Cross, my address. I saw her in Petoskey, she will send a Comfort Kit. I hope that we leave this barracks and get in the tents, as we have to guard this shack. I have to wash the barrack dishes but one guy helps me which isn't so bad but we have a good time just the same. It is nearly time to eat so I will close, as ever,"

OUR WOMEN

It seems that a world of war has been necessary to bring about n full apprcciation of our women. Never in history have women been given the recognition accorded them today, never has woman's work been estimated at its full value until she began to play her all-important part in war.

War has not dcveloped the latent talents of woman; it has merely brought them out for review by the world of fighting men. Her tender sympathies, deeds of kindaess, sacrifices, self-denial and self-effacement have been clustered so closely about the home and fireside that she had been relegated to the resr and her works had become commoaplace. War has focused the spotlight of adoration upon all her virtues, has revealed her in all her noble ambitions and attainments in service for humanity.

How could this great war be carried on without the aid of woman? She is up to the front line trenches serving hot coffee and food to our brsve boys worn and famished through long hours of duty; she is in the field hospital binding up the wounds; she is in the bass hospital cheering the injured and writing letters to their dear ones far away; she is ministering comfort all along the long routes of travel from the utmost corners of the earth to the firing line in France; she is back home knitting, sewing, making bandages, conserving food, that the soldiers might live; she is economizing in the household to buy Liberty bonds and contribute a larger portion of the family earnings to the Red Cross to enable other women to carry on their work at the front, in addition to the work she does for thst glorious organization; she sees that the American flag is displayed in her home alongside the food conservation card, the Red Cross emblem and the Liberty Loan banner; she carries on daily a propaganda of patriotism and love for loyal service and with all this, she attends to her regular household duties, not forgeting the multitude of sacrifices and kind deeds which had characterized her routine life in the home before the war.

The women of Charlevoix county have never been found wanting in all these glorious attributes that have inspired the soldiers to carry on to victory, and have given them bodily aid and comfort in the trenches, in the camp, in the hospital, and on the way to the firing line, and still they want to do more, and they will do more, because they are true women.

NOW SAFE SOMEWHERE "OVER THERE"

Sent Overseas After Two Months Training

Mr. and Mrs. James Caskins received word the first of the week of the safe arrival of their son, James, Jr., somewhere "over there," and that be experienced no danger out of tbe ordinary in making the trip across the ocean.

"Jim," as be is better known to his friends here, enlisted in February and was first stationed at a trainiog camp in South Carolina. Six weeks after his enlistment he was made corporal, and the announcement of his arrival on foreign soil is convincing evidence that Uncle Sam realizes the great need of troops to support our French and English brothers in their fight to a finish with the hated Hun.

With the exception of Leo Powers and possibly one other, he was sent overseas in the shortest period of time after enlistment of any of our Charlevoix boys.

TOWNSHIP AGAIN GOES OVER TOP

Over Five Hundred Dollars Raised for Red Cross Fund

Banks township has once more gone "over the top" this time in the Red Cross drive for the second war fund, the limit and then some being reached at the Blue hall last Monday night, when over five hundred dollars were subscribed.

The hall was packed to the limit with one of the most enthusiastic crowds Ellsworth ever saw, but when the principal speaker of the evening, Lieut. Marsh, opened his address the room was absolutely quiet.

Lieut. Marsh spoke briefly of the reason for the meeting and followed by relating his own experiences with the Royal Flying Corps. He told of his period of training and of his encouter with the German flyers in which he was disabled, and then described forcefully the crimes of the German soldiers in the devastated sections of France and Belgium. He explained probably more clearly than it had been explained to an Ellsworth audience before, the wonderful work of the Red Cross on the different battle fronts and pushed home the need of money and yet more money to finance the work already started.

C. E. Densmore of Bellaire was in the audience and gave a short, rousing address in which he pictured the horrors of the battlefield as it would be without the ministrations of the Red Cross and these talks coupled with the music of the Trio of Bellnire young ladies, the Misses Large, Frink and Exner, of whom too many words of praise cannot be said were mainly responsible for the generaus spirit of humanity and patriotism shown by the Banks township residents.

Banks township has now raised over $1,000 and more is coming every day, and as the citizens of this community awaken more and more to the justice of the war in which tha U. S. is engaged and the wonderful work of the Red Cross, we predict still more open-handed generosity.

KAISER PHONES HIS FRIEND

INVADES OLD MAN SATAN IN HIS HOME

Is Told By Satan That He is Ready to Turn Over Entire Works

Robert Blow, formerly living near Atwood, but now a resident of Linden, Washington, sends in the following with the request that it be reprinted in the Courier:

The Kaiser Phones His Friend

The kaiser called the devil up on the telephone one day; the girl at central listened to all they had to say.

"Hello," she heard the kaiser's voice, "is Old Man Satan home?" Just tell him this: It's Kaiser Bill that wants him on the phone."

The devil said "Hello" to Bill, and Bill said "How are you? I am running here a hell on earth, so tell me what to do?"

"What can I do?" the devil said, "my dear old Kaiser Bill; if there's a thing I can help do to help you, I sure will."

The kaiser said: "Now listen, and I will try to tell the way that I am running on earth a modern hell. I've saved for this for many years and I've started out to kill; that it will be a modern job, you leave to Kaiser Bill. My army went through Belgium shooting men and women down; we tore up all the country and blew up every town. My Zepps dropped bombs on cities, killing both old and young, and those the Zepplins didn't get were taken out and hung. I started out for Paris with the aid of poisonous gas; the Belgians, damn 'em, stopped me, and wouldn't let me pass. My submarines are devilish, why, you should see them fight; they go sneaking through the sea and sink a ship at night. I was running things to suit me until a year or so ago, when a man called Woodrow Wilson wrote me to go more slow. He said to me 'Dear William we don't want to make you sore, so be sure to tell your U-boats to sink our ships no more. We have told you for the last time, so, dear Bill, it's up to you, and if you do not stop it, you have got to fight us too. I did not listen to him, and he's coming after me with a million Yankee soldiers from homes across the sea. Now, that's why I called you, Satan, for I want advice from you. I knew that you would tell me just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William, there is not much for me to tell, for the Yanks will make it hotter than I can for you in hell. I've been a mean old devil, but not half as mean as you, and the minute I get you here, I'll give my job to you. I'll be ready for your coming, and I'll keep the fires all bright, and I'll have your room ready when the Yanks begin the fight, for the boys in blue will get you. I have nothing more to tell: Hang up the phone and get your hat and meet me here in hell."

ATWOOD

Wm. Deanison is working for Mr. J. T. Odbert at present.

Albert Elzinga took Henry Petter to Bellaire Monday from where Henry entrained for camp.

Mrs. John Bos and daughter have arrived home after a three weeks stay at Lockwood hospitnl, Petoskey.

Paul DeVries bought a house of Capt. Brant of Antrim. He intends to tear it down and rebuild it on his place here.

Rev. Pickart expects to go on his vacation some time next week. Mrs. Pickart and their children will accompany him.

Elder Cross from Bellaire has taken charge of the services at the M. E. church since Rev. Parshall left. He extends a cordial invitation for everyone to attend church.

Mrs. Mary Perryman arrived here from a short stay at Bellaire and Elk Rapids Monday. Friday she left for Chicago by way of Muskegon. From there she will go to Kansas City and then on to her ranch in California.

A number of people from this vicinity attended the meeting held at the Blue hall at Ellsworth for the Red Cross Second War Fund. We are proud of the fact that the east side done as well as they did and that Banks is over the top again in this latest drive.

The Red Cross second war fund meeting was well attended last week Wednesday evening. Dr. R. B. Armstrong gave a very interesting talk on conditions that the Red Cross have to put up with in Europe and the cruelties of the Huns. Two hundred and ten dollars was collected at this meeting and in addition about sixty dollars was secured in a house to house canvass.

The west portion of Banks Township is in the public eye again, but in a different light than about eight months ago. We went over the top in the Red Cross drive at Xmas time. Again in the Third Liberty loan campaign and the last drive for the Red Cross second war fund was the crowning point of them all. A total of $384 had been secured up to Saturday night in only three school districts. The entire quota for the township is $480 and some more territory to draw from on this side of Banks. If Banks does not more than double her quota the west portion of the town can rest assured they have done their part toward their share of it at least.

Word from Edward Wiltse at Camp Custer says he is recovering nicely from a run of scarlet fever and will soon be out again practically as good as ever. He says good care and their good "chow" will soon make a sick boy well.

Our genial banker, Mr. Townsend, of Ellsworth, has enlisted and will leave on Thursday for training. We have not heard where as yet, but we want to assure "our boys" right here that we are mighty proud of those who are in the service and expect great things of them and know they will not disappoint us.

"Hud" Shearer lost one of his horses Saturday when in trying to get into the barn yard by a short cut and jumping the fence, her shoe caught in a woven wire fence, and throwing her so as to break her neck, instantly dying. He is sure having his own luck this year, having previously lost two good cows.

Not many parents attended the school picnic Wednesday, the last day of school, but the children reported a good time and lots of cake and lemonade.

Nearly all of the young people around here went to the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jensen on the Van Til farm Friday evening. They all reported a very good time.

THERE's a lot of geography in the wear of tires. Some wear well in one region, and wear out in another. Climate, peculiar roads and road conditions are the cause of it. Therefore, good service in a single region is not enough proof of tires that must undergo nationwide use. Least of all could it measure tires up to the TESTED standard, Goodrich demands of tires.

With a command to find out what Goodrich Tires do on the roads of every section of our country, and what the roads of every section do to Goodrich Tires, Goodrich sent its famous Six Fleets of over forty cars, light and heavy, the length and breath of our nation to an aggregate mileage of 1,044,686 linear miles, and 4,178,744 tire miles.

The Pacific Fleet contributed 166,960 miles on desert paths and coast highways; the Mountain Fleet 55,796 through the Rocky Mountains; The Dixie Fleet 3,285,860 in the South and North Midland; the Prairie Fleet 198,744 on the Great Plains; The Lake Fleet 217,372; and The Atlantic Fleet 254,012 on a grand tour of many tours ranging from Virginia, through New England, and back to the City of Goodrich.

Throughout this road roughing, SILVERTOWN CORDS, and BLACK SAFETY TREADS, proved themselves the tires of durability and dependability wherever you go in our broad land. They verified all the good qualities of Goodrich Tires, and revealed many new virtues.

Get the economy, the comfort and certainty of such proven service by demanding the tires proved out in 4,178,744 miles over American roads—"America's Tested Tires."

NEWBERRY for United States Senator

Truman H. Newberry

Truman H. Newberry is a candidate for United States Senator. He is an American in real earnest. His service in the Spanish-American War, his record as Secretary of the Navy under President Roosevelt, and his present work as a commander in the Third Naval District, which includes the port of New York and the Brooklyn navy yard, mark him as a FIGHTER and DOER, capable and courageous.

Michigan born, November 5, 1864, Michigan reared and devoted to all of Michigan's interests, with his record of service, and his active, positive loyalty to state and country, it is especially fitting that Truman Newberry be chosen to represent Michigan in the Senate of the United States.

When twelve years old, he was color-bearer in a Michigan Cadet organization which won fame at Philadelphia. He helped organize the Michigan Naval Brigade in 1895, enlisting as a private and serving as an able seaman on the training ship "Yantic." He was an ensign in the Spanish-American War on the "Yosemite." As a commander, in the Third Naval District he will continue to serve his country, standing for and by the government for the full prosecution of the war and leaving his campaign for Senator entirely in the hands of his friends. His two sons are enlisted in their country's service, too, one as a major in the army, the other as an ensign in the navy.

Truman Newberry is a worker. After he left college, he took hard knocks working with a construction gang on the old Detroit, Bay City & Alpena Railroad. He also sailed the Lakes and earned for himself a license as first-class pilot. HE IS A MAN'S MAN.

As Secretary of the Navy under President Roosevelt, he is credited with putting the navy in a state of preparedness, which has had much to do with its present efficiency.

"Fighting Bob" Evans said of him—"Truman H. Newberry is the greatest Secretary of the Navy the nation has ever had."

His ability and experience make him an ideal candidate for United States Senator.

CHARLEVOIX CO. FARM BOYS

URGED TO ENROLL IN BOYS' WORKING RESERVE

Should Remain on Farm and Learn Most Important Business In the World

Your country wishes you to remain on the farm. It is your patriotic duty. On the farm you are a great value to your country as well as to yourself; besides this, you are learning the most important business in the world. In a crisis, the farmer is the autocrat of the world.

The United States Boys' Working Reserve is not alone for the high school boy of our country but for you as well.

Every farm boy who remains on the farm during the summer and does consistent and contiuous farm work is entitled to the reserve badge but to get this badge you must enroll in the reserve. Uncle Sam wants you to show your colors. You are as important as your older brother in France who must be fed.

If you are not enrolled, do so at once. Those boys between 16 and 20 years of age, inclusive, should enroll with Superintendent Craig.

Come on boys! Let's make each furrow plowed a little more perfect and straighter than the one before Let's make each blade of corn a little darker by a little more cultivation. Let's increase the yield of every crop If earnest and intelligent work will do it. When you are doing this you can write your brother "over there" or to your neighbor's son in France that Charlevoix county boys are not loafing but are doing their share to win the war.

BOYS WERE GIVEN ROYAL SEND-OFF

Charlevoix County's Drafted Men Bade Farewell

Charlevoix's drafted men were given an enthusiastic send-off, Monday, on their leaving the city for Camp Custer. In all 36 men were in the bunch, 33 from Charlevoix City and county and three from High Island.

Owing to the late hour of the arrival of the train due to the bad washout near Petoskey, the boys did not leave until late in the afternoon. A half hour before train time, the parade was formed, and about forty automobiles escorted them to the Pere Marquette depot.

As the train pulled into the station, it was greeted with cheers and when leaving, the air resounded with cheers, shrill whistles and the blowing of automobile horns.

MAKES FIRST TRIP ON JUNE SIXTH

Str. Kansas Will Operate Between Chicago and Charlevoix

Capt. O. E. Wilbur, local agent for the Northern Michigan Transportation Co., received word this morning that the Str. Kansas will make regular runs between, Chicago, Charlevoix and other northern Michigan points during the coming season, and will leave Chicago on her first trip June 6.

This news gives credence to the report that Capt. George Johnson of Traverse City has closed the deal, wherein he becomes the owner of the Kansas, as stated before in these columns. While the regular schedule has as yet not been announced, the steamer will undoubtedly make not less than two round trips a week between this port and Chicago. Capt. Wilbur's orders are to receive freight at his warehouse commencing with June 3, for shipment either north or south.

The Str. Kansas is a well built boat and the placing of her on this northern run will be met with the hearty co-operation of merchants at all ports on her route.

ADD SIXTEEN NEW MEMBERS

Maple Grove Grange Closes Another Successful Contest

Maple Grove Grange closed another red hot membership contest last Tuesday evening, when sixteen new names were added to the roster, besides two reinstatements.

The work of these grange members is a record-breaker for this section of the country. Since the beginning of the year 1918, 32 new names have been added to the grange membership, and eight have been reinstated. Great credit is due the working committee in both contests, and they have set a mark hard to reach by any active grange.

With the closing of the contest period Tuesday night, the committee in charge of the affairs of the evening served fried fish—season and prepared to such a nicety that the capacity of some of the members was overtaxed—fear being expressed by their close friends they they should be laid up the next day by indigestion or some other internal disturbance.

Over fifty enjoyed the feast, it being necessary to reset the table the second time. It was a jolly crowd and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

ALIEN FEMALES MUST REGISTER

Said registration will begin on June 17, 1918, and will continue up to and including June 26, each day with the exception of Sunday, June 23. The places of registration will be police headquarters in all cities of five thousand and over and at the postoffice in places of lesser population. Said registration places will be open from 6 in the morning until 8 in the evening. Every German alien female will be required to register as stated above and failure to do so will make such alien liable to severe penalties. Should there be any doubt as to who comes within the provisions of this new order, they should consult either the chief of police or the postmaster.

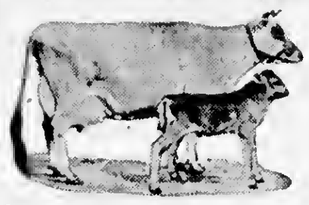
DAIRY AND CREAMERY

COW AT CALVING TIME.

Feed and Care Needed to Obtain Best Results at This Period.

There is on time in the whole milking period that has such an important bearing on the establishment of a standard for production for the year as the period previous to and following calving time, writes F. C. White, Connecticut Agricultural college. It is understood by many, but not by all, that if a cow is allowed from six weeks to two months in which to rest from one lactation period to the next she will yield more than when milked continuously up to the time of parturition.

Rather liberal feeding, which actually builds mild nutrients on the body during the last few weeks of the lactation period and while the cow is dry is the secret of preparing the cow for the succeeding lactation period. This may appear to be wasting feed, but this is the important period when it is most valuable. During the last few weeks of the milking period grain may be fed at the rate of one pound to each two pounds of milk produced, reducing at the period when the cow is to be dried. When dry, about eight pounds of grain should be fed daily—more if the cow is in poor condition. It would not be profitable to feed inferior cows this way. The grain ration should be bulky, laxative and nutritious, having slightly more carbohydrates than a milk ration, with a nutritive ratio of about one of protein to seven of carbohydrate and fat equivalent.



A $25,000 son is the latest offering that this Jersey cow, Sophie XIX., of Hood farms, the world's champion long distance butter cow, has made to the dairy world. Sophie, for whom her owner, C. I. Hood of Lowell, Mass., refused $50,000, recently gave birth to a bull calf. Mr. Hood refused an offer of $25,000 for the calf. Sophie has a record of over two and three-quarter tons of butter in six years. The illustration shows Sophie and her son.

During this period protein and fatty tissues are actually being stored upon the body to be used in the production of milk before the cow is in shape to digest and assimilate a full ration. It is just as serious to crowd the appetite during the first month after calving as to neglect to lay on this supply of nutrients. The cow should be kept hungry.

A week before calving reduce the grain to four or five pounds, feeding mostly bran and oats. On the day of calving a pound and a half of epsom salt, lukewarm water and good hay are enough for a well conditioned cow, although two quarts of bran mash may be useful. Begin the next day feeding lightly, and after four or five days introduce a grain mixture gradually. Increase this gradually about one-fourth pound per day. Do not expect a cow to handle all the feed called for by her yield of milk. If she has been properly conditioned and is coming to a good flow from one month to six weeks is early enough to get her on full feed. For from three to six months she should gradually lose the flesh stored up.

THE FRUIT GROWER.

A good time to prune fruit trees in the north is early in March.

When the apple trees seem to need something—you do not really know what—try some hardwood ashes.

The scientific sharps now claim that cranberries, strawberries, watermelons and potatoes do best without application of lime.

Sixty buds on the bearing wood of a grapevine are about the maximum for a strong vine. A less number is better for vines of weaker growth. Sixty buds should give 150 bunches of grapes.

For tree wounds paint is a good dressing. Mix white lead and raw linseed oil and have it rather thick.

If a heavy load of snow or ice comes on the berry bushes and shrubbery go around and knock off what you can with a pole. May save their breaking down.

Stop Waste of Feed.

Quite often a flock of hungry chickens will upset a vessel of scraps as soon as it is set out for them. By putting the scraps in a larger and more shallow vessel they will never upset it and there will be no feed wasted.

Children's Day Exercises

"Children's Day" will be observed at the Congregational church next Sunday afternoon, June the second, at 5 o'clock. A patrintic service of unusual interest will be presented.

Present indications are that before the season is over this country will be facing a great shortage in this line. Uncle Sam may place a ban on the importation of rubber to the extent of 50 per cent. If this is done, the result will be a great shortage. Prices will more than double, and in many instances you will not be able to buy the tires you want. VICTIM OF A TRAP GUN

BEAVER ISLAND GIRL BADLY INJURED BY CONTRIVANCE

Muscles of Leg Torn Away by Charge of Shot and May Die as Result of Injuries

One of the most shocking affairs that has taken pluco in northern Michigan for many years occurred at the Wildwood Inn, on Beaver Island, about 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning, when Miss Ila Cole was shot by a trap gun arranged by one Thomas Boyle, caretaker of the Inn.

Boyle, who had been hired by the Citizens' Realty Company, owners of the Wildwood Inn, a summer resort hotel near what is known as Cole's landing, to look after their interest during that part of the year when the hotel was closed, claimed that several articles had been stolen from the hotel and that he would "fix" the next person who tried to gain entrance.

From the conversation with a brother, he conceived the idea of a trap gun, and proceeded to arrange one of the most diabolical contraptions the human mind could conjure. Taking a 12-gauge shot gun, he placed it on the top of a heavy home-made step ladder. Pointing the gun towards the entrance door, he ran a wire from the trigger to the door knob in a manner that when the door was opened the trigger would be pulled, the gun discharged, and the individual seeking entrance would receive the contents of the gun. To make sure of his victim, he arranged the gun so that its contents would strike a human being above the waist line.

The victim was Ila Cole, the 17 old daughter of Garret Cole, who with a younger sister, had left their home about three quarters of a mile away to gather mushrooms. In their travels they came near the Inn, and Miss Cole, as she states, went over to look in the door to see if anything had been disturbed around the hotel. She reached the entrance to the room where the trap gun was concealed, and finding the door partially open, the entrance covered with an old kimona, and both window shades down, pushed on the door with the result that the trigger arrangement previously arranged, discharged the gun, the charge entering her leg, above the knee, tearing away both muscles and flesh and making a terrible wound.

She called for her sister, who was some distance away, and the frightened little miss ran home, nearly a mile, for her father. During this time the wounded girl lay in a pool of blood, almost in a fainting condition. She was taken to the Cole home, and as the island is without a physician, Fr. Jewell from St. Jnmes was sent for, who on arrival, partially stopped the flow of blood and did all possible to alleviate the suffering of the wounded girl.

Arrangements were made for her immediate removal where medical assistance could be procured, but on account of the high seas, they were unable to leave the island until near ten o'clock in the evening. She was brought to this city by boat and later taken to the Petoskey hospital, arriving there Sunday morning about 3:00, where she now lies in a precarious condition.

Proseeuting Attorney R. L. Lewis and Under Sheriff W. T. Driggett left Charlevoix on the fish tug Geiken Sunday afternoon and arrested Boyle at his home on the island and brought him to this city where he was placed in the county jail. He was taken before a justice Monday, and given a hearing, the case being adjourned until Wednesday, awaiting the outcome of the injuries to the girl. At present he is charged with assault with intent to murder, but if his victim should die, the charge will be changed to murder.

Boyle seems to be unable to comprehend the seriousness of his crime, and after being placed in jail, told in detail of the plans he had made in arranging the trap gun and expresses little or no sympathy for the wounded girl, who if her life is spared, will be a cripple the remainder of her life.

ROLLER RINK OPENS SATURDAY

As announced in last week's issue of the Courier, the rink will be under the management of Jack Fotch of Petoskey, who is well known in this city, and who conducts a similar place of amusement in his home town.

The skating floor has been put into excellent condition and those who find pleasure in this form of amusement will have an opportunity to "stretch their legs" on Saturday evening of this week. Various attractions will be featured during the season, announcement of which will be made later.

Get Your Liberty Bonds

Officials of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank have asked the Courier to announce that they have all Liberty bonds ready for delivery to those who have paid in full up to and including May 9. As the bank has a number of bonds in their possession at the present time, they are desirous to make prompt delivery and urge those who are entitled to them to call at once.

JOYRIDERS STEAL OVERLAND CAR

ENTER MCGEAGH GARAGE SATURDAY NIGHT

Car Found in Ditch on Boyne City Road Monday Noon Badly Damaged—Should Get Limit

During the late hours of Sunday night or early Monday morning, some person or persons, evidently bent on having a joy ride at the expense of someone else, entered the garage of James McGeagh on the north side and took posession of his Overland touring car.

The miscreants evidently opened the garage, pushed the car some distance before starting it, as no sound was heard by the owner or his family nor nearby neighbors.

The car was not misses until morning, when Mr. McGeagh was about to start to work. Search was immediately instituted and local officers notified of the theft. Warnings were sent out to all neighboring towns to be on the lookout for the missing car, but no trace was found until noon Monday, when Mrs. Delln Martin, living on the Boyne City road near the south end of Susan Lake, phoned in that a car answering the description of the missing one, was near her place, lying alongside the road and partially in the ditch.

The car was towed to Charlevoix and taken to Brown's garage, where it was found that the joy riders had run it a distance estimated between 70 and 80 miles and had kept it going until both water in the radiator and cylinder oil had been used up, this being the reason they had abandoned it near the Martin home.

Damage to the car amounting to at least $50 has so far been discovered, and more will probably be found when put into running shape. All pistons were stuck fast in the cylinders and two journals burned out, and it will not be until the car is given a road test that all damage will be known.

It is thought that the car was driven to Petoskey and from there to Boyne City, and those in possession of it were on their way to Charlevoix when unable to proceed further than the Martin place on account of running short of cylinder oil. Little evidence has to date been discovered leading to the apprehension of the guilty parties, but it is thought to be the work of members of the same gang of youngsters who have gotten away with similar stunts in the past, and who, if found out, will undoubtedly be given the limit of the law.

AND STILL WHEY BLOODED PACIFISTS DON'T WANT TO FIGHT, AND STILL ASK "WHY ARE WE AT WAR WITH GERMANY?"

The German officers are warned against humanitarianism, which their manual says is too frequently mere "sentimentality and flabby emotion."

How well the Hun has carried out his instructions is a tale that is not all told. Yet he has done enough so far for President Wilson, temperate and mild-mannered though he is, to declare in his Red Cross speech at New York on Saturday last: "The deepest stain that rests on the reputation of the German army is that they have not respected the Red Cross.

And on the same night Gerard, our former ambassador to Germany, was reminding a Detroit audience that the Hun had carried off 20,000 women and girls from Lille to live in lonely farm houses as bond mistresses of Prussian officers.

Rev. Dr. John Higginson Cabot of Boston tells of an English woman, now a nurse in that city, whose soldier husband was killed shortly after the birth of her first child; and how she entered hospital work, and cared for a wounded German who had made much of her little tot of one and a half years; and how when her buck was turned he forced germs of infantile paralysis into the child's mouth from a secreted vial; and how he admitted that he had done what he was ordered to do. The child died—so did the German—with the aid of a rifle.

In England they have on record the names and descriptions of eye-witnesses who saw the Hun's at work in Belgium and France; but for the protection of all concerned during the war they publish only the index number of these witnesses with their testimony. For instance:

Belgian soldier (A 22) "saw a woman, perhaps 28 to 30 years old, stark naked, tied to a tree. At her feet were two little children about three or four years old. All three were dead."

Belgian soldier (D 107) "saw a child—two or three years old—nailed to the door by its hands and feet. It was clothed and quite dead. The face was horribly drawn with pain. In the garden of the same house I saw the body of another child, a little girl of five or six; she had been shot in the forehead."

Belgian plasterer (D 130) "The wife (whose husband had just been shot) came out with a little suckling child. She put the child down and sprang at the Germans like a lioness. She clawed their faces. One of the soldiers took his rifle and struck her a tremendous blow with the butt on the head. She fell dead. Another took out his bayonet and fixed it and thrust it through the child. He then put his rifle across his shoulder with the child upon it, its little arms stretched out once or twice."

Post office official (D 85) "saw two little children (girls) three or four years old, standing beside the road with a woman who appeared to be their mother. As the Germans came up two of them drove their bayonets through the bodies of these two children, killing them. Close by the road there was a small homestead burning, and the bodies of the two children were pitched into the flames by the soldiers who killed them; they tossed them in with their bayonets."

Belgian soldier (D 94) "saw a German soldier come out of the wood and fire three separate times at a little girl from four to six years of age. Seeing that he failed to hit the child by firing at her and that she stood quite still, he ran at her and bayoneted her in the stomach. At the sight of this we rushed up, and the German soldier threw up his hands as a sign of surrender, but I killed him with the butt end of my rifle."

So the record reads all along the bloody trail from Liege to the Marne and back to the western battle lines. Some of the gruesome narratives is supplied from the diaries of dead or captured German soldiers. It used to be that the German liars in America denied these atrocities as inventions of the fatherland's enemies. They are denied no more, for too many of our own people have seen enough with their own eyes to verify the program of murder and massacre and pillage and rape which the German beasts have been executing at the command of their beastly masters.

Such butchers we must not hate, say our lily-fingered gentlemissimos. We must welcome them to the brotherhood of man. Welcome them rather to the brotherhood of hell, where they belong with all unclean things that crawl on four legs or more.—Detroit Saturday Night.

LIGHTEST VOTE CAST IN YEARS

CHARTER COMMISSION GOVERNMENT DEFEATED

Vote Cast at Monday's Election Showed People Had Little Interest in City Affairs

Charlevoix will still continue under its present form of government. Whether due to indifference or not believing the proposed change would be productive of better results in the administration of city affairs, the voters failed to turn out to the polls Monday, with the result that the lightest vote was cast in the history of the city.

Up to noon but eleven votes were cast in the second ward, with a comparative number in each of the other wards. When the final count was taken, it was found that in the three wards but 145 votes were cast, 56 for and 89 against the proposed change. Below is the vote by wards:

RE-STOCKING ALL INLAND LAKES

Work Should Be Encouraged by All Sportsmen

Members of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club received a consignment of 44,000 wall-eyed pike on Monday of this week, which were planted in Matchett Lake on the evening of their arrival.

On Saturday of last week a smaller consignment were also planted in Susan Lake by members of the club.

Fishing has never been as good in the lakes and streams around Charlevoix as during the present spring, due largely to efforts of members of the club and other interested parties in keeping the streams and lakes re-stocked.

Larger catches of Mackinac trout were caught in Pine Lake this spring than ever before, due to a strict enforcement of the game laws prohibiting the netting of fish in these waters.

The work of those who give their time and money to restock the lakes and furnish real sport both for themselves and hundreds of summer visitors, is to be commended, and should receive the hearty support of all interested in the welfare of Charlevoix.

G. E. Dutton Accepts Position With Bay City Firm

G. E. Dutton, for the past 13 years in the employ of the Charlevoix Lumber Company, at first in the capacity of day laborer and for the past five or six years as foreman of the planing mill and lumber yards, left Monday afternoon for Bay City, where he has accepted a position with the International Mill and Timber Co., of that place.

While Mr. Dutton has not been definitely told the exact line of work he will be engaged in, it is understood it will be along the line of general construction of army barracks and houses at various government shipyards and munitions plants, his first consignment, we understand, being in the Chesapeake Bay regions near Baltimore.

During his residence in Charlevoix, Mr. Dutton has been classed as one of our most progressive young men, and he leaves the city with the best wishes of his numerous friends. As soon as he is definitely located he will be joined by his wife and family.

Laundry Opens Monday

The Troy Laundry, under the same efficient management as last season, will open its doors for business on Monday, June 10. Remember this is a home industry and is deserving of your heartiest support.

BUT WAS SOON RIDING THROUGH SUNNY SOUTH

Mrs. A. M. Jarvis Writes of Southern Trip and Tells of Amusing Incidents En Route

Little Rock, May 29th.

"Mr. Editor—The following letter is made up of a few of my experiences and impressions while on this circuitous trip and hope it will be of some interest to all.

"I left Chicago 9:00 a. m., March 13, in a down-pour of rain accompanied by the worst lightning and thunder I ever saw. I did not mind the thunder much on account of the noise of the city, but the rain and lightning was very unpleasant, but being of a cheerful nature, I ignored the fact that my new spring bonnet was ruined and humming to myself the old familiar tune 'April Showers Bring May Flowers,' I tripped into the Santa Fe depot, then on my train.

"Having placed my suit case on the floor I was just settled in a dignified position to enjoy the Illinois scenery (?) when something funny happened. A big black man came through the car and I understood him to say 'all hand baggage in racks please.' Well I lifted and lugged, but could not get mine any farther than the seat in front of me, then he came back and seeing my frantic efforts said, 'lady let me help you.' Imagine my surprise to see him place it right on the floor where I had it in the first place.

"Speaking of Illinois scenery. The parties who put the drainage canal through from Chicago to Lockport did a great deal more good than just to give Chicago good drinking water and furnish a waterway from Lake Michigan to the Gulf for they added a chain of hills to break the monotony of the everlasting level of the landscape that a few years ago was only broken by a farm house or a bunch of cottonwood trees and more than that ('along the banks of the big canal') some day I'm going to write a song with the above title, you can see flocks of our Lake Michigan gulls where a few years ago Illinois could boast of nothing but crows.

"A lady who sat in front of me (and I feel sure she was writing to her home town paper) asked the aforesaid black man, 'what kind of birds are those please, are they ducks?' He said, 'no madam, those are Illinois canaries.' Imagine it? Well, niggers are not so impudent in the south.

"Ft. Madison, Iowa, where we crossed the Mississippi, is built high up on a bluff in front of the town and we could see very little of it, but it was a relief to have to

WITH FIRST-TO-FIGHT MEN

LT. VICTOR HAMPTON AT THE FRONT IN FRANCE

Charlevoix Boy With the "Fighting Marines" on a Famous Front Held by Americans

Will E. Hampton has received the letters printed below from his son, Lt. Victor H. Hampton, who, it develops, went to the front with the American troops when they took over part of the French front, the 1st of March. Lt. Hampton has been in the front line trenches for some time and has evidently seen more than is spoken of in the letters. But what he felt permitted to tell, is very interesting:

France, April 28, 1018.

"Dear Dad—Your letter March 30th received today and mighty glad to hear from you and learn what's going on. I am fighting with the 'First-to-fight' men; you know the recruiting ad. I came into the trenches with them on their first trip. Was in the trenches on my birthday, March 1st, as an officer with a trench mortar battery, which keeps me at headquarters except when actually in trenches on duty. I have seen some pretty lively times and had one or two close shaves from shell fire. Have walked in "No man's land" and spent some time in front line trenches wallowing in the mud, of which there is a great plenty. Live in dugouts and some of them are very comfortable, with a stove and floor, and I have seen those of high officers with piano, beds, etc. My own when not on front line had lights.

"I have performed all sorts of duties and at present am in charge of the wagon train, in the territory known as the third line. Have a nice little shack in the woods, a good bunk, and I'm the 'boss.' The only fly in the honey being the shells which visit us. They shelled a nearby road the second night I was here. You will never know until you hear that nasty whine, what it feels like to be shelled. You hear a muffled report miles away, then in a few seconds a whining roar, and then, BLUEY! A big crash and the sing of shell fragments and shrapnel. While I write an artillery duel is in progress, and I can also hear the popping of distant machine guns. You never have a day without the booming of outgoing shells, or the z-z-z-z-BANG of Fritz's best ones. You get accustomed to it after a while, but always have a tendency to listen for the whining moan that heralds an approaching or passing shell. It don't do you any good but you do it anyway. I have seen the German lines and also shell-torn villages. They are a sad sight. Just a mass of stones and mortar with here and there a solitary house, or one of the inevitable French churches still standing but pierced with shell holes. Our boys are good fighters and we have done some good work in taking toll of the Boches. Am in good health and except for gas alarms sleep well, although when out alone with a bunch of men, responsibility makes me a light sleeper. It would be just like camping out here in the woods where I am now, with the birds singing and caroling, but your ears always assure you that the war is still on. Well, Dad, don't worry about me. We must let God be the judge as to when a man must die, and over here we have a nonchalant idea of death, although always taking every precaution to sidestep it. Heaps of love."

VIC.

France, May 5, 1918.

"Dear Dad—We moved a couple weeks ago and at that time I was detailed to take charge of the wagon train and have been on the job ever since and expect to stay until we leave the trenches entirely. I am camped with my detachment in a wooded valley behind the lines. No danger except from shells, but don't think will be bothered, though the second night I was here they shelled the road not far distant. I woke from a sound sleep to hear the peculiar whine of incoming shells followed by the crash of high explosive and shrapnel. I jumped into my clothes and out doors to see where they were landing, but was too late. Went to bed and same thing happened. Again was too late. Went to bed again and third time they put some over. Got mad and decided to

Better than metal.

Certain-teed is fast taking the place of metal roofs, not only because of the scarcity and high cost of metal, but because is superior in every important roofing quality. Metal easily rusts and disintegrates from atmospheric gases. Certain-teed cannot rust and its asphalt base makes it practically immune to any form of corrosion.

Metal absorbs heat and transmits it to the interior of a building. Certain-teed insulates against heat and cold, and makes the building cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Metal must be painted frequently. Certain-teed gives years of weather-proof service practically without any upkeep expense.

Metal is noisy in wind or storm. Certain-teed fully deadens sound from such sources.

Metal is not safely guaranteed, Certain-teed is absolutely guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness, and actually gives longer service than its guarantee.

Metal is a direct drain on military materials, Certain-teed is made principally of waste rags and asphalt — materials which have no military use whatever.

Certain-teed* has proved its efficiency and economy for every kind of roofing service—factories, warehouses, hotels, stores, farm buildings, outbuildings, etc.

Certain-teed is more economical and more efficient in service than metal or any other type of roof Certain-teed is the best quality of roll roofing—it costs no more to lay than ordinary roll roofing and lasts much longer. Sold by dealers everywhere.

There is prevalent an idea that all wheat flours are at present blended. This is not true. Iron Duke is one hundred per cent wheat flour. The government regulations at present do not call for a mixture in manufacture. Substitutes must be bought in equal amount at time of purchase of Iron Duke. We have either the white or yellow corn meal or corn flour. These are the best substitutes. All dealers carry stocks of all these.

BUY COAL NOW OR FREEZE LATER

SUCH IS WARNING GIVEN BY FUEL ADMINISTRATION

Says One Hundred Million People Must Be Kept Warm This Winter—Buy Now

Federal Fuel Administrator W. K. Prudden, in the communication published below, again urges the people of Michigan to buy their winter's supply of fuel early in the season, or run a big chance of freezing during the coming winter. Citizens of Charlevoix had some experience with the shortage of coal last winter, and the advice of Mr. Prudden should be heeded:

"The week of June 3d. to 8th is to be observed as early ordering week for the purpose of entering a state-wide drive on early ordering of coal.

"While for several weeks an effort has been made to urge early ordering, it is advisable to have this special intensive drive, for with the bulk of the year's supply ordered well in advance, the distributing agents of the government will be in a position to adjust the demands by the different communities that Michigan may get her portion of available supply.

"Attention is particularly called to the fact, however, that the entire coal output of the country cannot be delivered within a few months, and consumers must wait patiently for deliveries, however, no matter what the condition of the supply may be, orders which are on the books of the dealers now will be filled before orders which are entered later in the year.

"There are two powerful reasons for early buying: One is selfish, the other is patriotic. The public will not only save money by buying early but will guard themselves from a repetition of the hardships of last winter.

"The Fuel Administration is doing its utmost to increase the production of coal. The Director General of railroads is working to increase the transportation facilities in the nation. Their combined efforts, however, may be defeated by the recurrence of weather as prevailed last winter. They will certainly be defeated unless a large majority of domestic consumers co-operate with them by buying early.

"There is something more important than personal comfort involved in this campaign for early buying. One hundred million people must be kept warm next winter; hundreds of thousands of factories upon which the United States and the entire civilized world depend for the successful prosecution of the war against Prussian autocracy must be supplied with coal. The industrial activities of the nation has resulted in production in excess of our transportation facilities. We are manufacturing more goods than the railroads can carry.

"There is only one way to meet the situation. Less freight is moved during the summer months than any other time. The coal must be moved in summer. If you neglect to buy your winter supply now, you will place an unnecessary burden upon the railroads.

"Hundreds of thousands of American men are at the front in France; increasing numbers will be sent during the summer. These men must be kept in ammunition; they must be fed; they must be clothed. Coal must be provided for the factories, for the locomotives, for the ships, for the men at the front.

"The consumer can help by buying his coal now. Will he do it? He is asked to place his order now that the dealer may deliver his coal at the least possible price and expense, that the dealer may be able to deliver him coal direct from the car.

"Coal cannot be stored at the mines. It can be stored in the consumer's bin. Will they do their part?

"Promptness in ordering and patience in waiting deliveries are needed as a basis for the co-operation of the whole country with the Fuel Administration in its effort to do its share of the nation's war work.

"Your hearty co-operation in giving the public any part or all of the above in each of your several editions during the week of June 3d to 8th is requested."

Paint is a necessity —not a luxury

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.

SAYS FLEAS ARE SOME JUMPERS

FORREST WEED HAS FIRST EXPERIENCES WITH THEM

Has Poor Opinion of French Bus Lines—Tells of Climate and Army Life

Two letters from Forrest Weed, "somewhere over there," have been received recently by his mother, Mrs. Charles Hull of this city. It is quite evident that the letters were written before the present big German drive, as the writer fails to mention anything regarding it. Possibly they are on the front lines by this time, doing their share to lick the Huns The letters follow:

France, April 22.

"Dear Folks—Received your letter of March 28 yesterday, after returning from a hike of 6.6 kilometers or about five miles, to a nearby city, or village, I should say. As usual am feeling fine and enjoying army life immensely.

"We stopped at a chateau during our walk and saw some very interesting things, the main one being the superflous number of stuffed animals in the rooms. We just got through eating some eggs which we bought for four cents apiece. We cooked them in our mess kits over the fireplace, which is certainly a fine one by the way, and keeps the room heated nicely. Nearly every house has a fireplace, and generally two or three. They are really necessary because the lower floors are of stone and therefore very damp.

"We were in a small town a few nights ngo and tried to have some pictures taken, but guess I must wait until I strike a city. Most of the towns roundabout here are about the size of Norwood. I had n ride in a stage which runs from the small town I mentioned to another nearby. It was some outfit. A two-wheeled covered carrisge drawn by one horse, and usually very uncomfortable, and this was no exception.

"Nearly forgot to tell you thnt I know now what a flea is like, as we were met by a regular army of them, when we moved here. By persistence we have them under control now, but I thought for a night that I was to be carried away. They are of a black color and are very quick as they can jump and fly, and are worse thsn lice, which as yet we hsve not encountered.

"We had a very nice bible study class at the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday, but as there is none here, I don't believe I shall attend any services todsy.

"Plense do not ahbreviate American Expeditionary Forces, ss in many cases our mail has become mixed with Australian mail. Must close. Love and best regnrds to all,"

FORREST.

April 27, 1918.

"Dear Folks—Although I hsven't received any letters from you for nbout a week, I will write again.

"We are having grnnd spring weather here excepting occasionally a heavy rain, which by the way, we had yesterday. However, henvy rains here seem of short duration, and this one was no exception. It lasted not longer than nn hour. We sometimes have heavy mists, as in the states after the rain. This is following the shower and this morning it was damp and cool, hut now (3:00 p. m.) the sun is shining nnd it is nice outside.

"The trees are in bloom, grass and grnin are up and looking fine. In fact, everything hetokens spring.

"It is very nice, nnd interesting here, hut it never can come up to Michignn in my estimation, nor can any of their cities or villnges compare with Charlevoix in summer, or in fact, winter either.

"The ronds here are very good and they keep them up very well. Of course this is somewhat easy ns they don't have very much travel over them, and practically no automobile traffic.

"I had a swell bath the other night in a river which was quite warm.

"I found a coin which is about 500 years old, and is worth one cent in our money. It was made during the time of Louis Neuf, or Neff, which I don't know, according to the statement of the French people. It as a dandy souvenir, and I am going to keep it. Must close now. Your loving son and brother."

The war to date has won suffrage for 40,000,000 women in various parts of the world.

Figures by the National American Woman Suffrage association today showed women in the following states and nations enfranchised since 1915:

Great Britain, 6,000,000; New York state, 3,000,000; British Columbia, 81,827; Manitoba, Canada, 103,160; Alberta, 96,751; Ontario, Canada, 718, 543; Denmark, 803,986. Partial suffrage: Texas 999,166; Michigan 786,033; Arksnsas, 351,994; Nebraska, 298,040; Rhode Island, 166,391; Vermont, 106,883, and North Dakota, 122,406.

The figures do not include the 26,000,000 Russian women placed on an equal suffrage basis by the revolution.

LEFT WEDNESDAY FOR NEW YORK

Rebuilt Tug Will Make a Fine Sea-Going Boat

The tug "Woodrow Wilson," formerly the Str. Columbia, left this port at noon Wednesday for New York, where she will be placed into commission as a hsrbor tug.

What was formerly the half burned hull of the Str. Columbis, burned to the waters edge about a year sgo, has been converted into one of the niftiest looking tugs seen in this port for years. The work was done under chsrge of its present owner, Capt. J. J. McCambridge, who with a force of men have been busily engaged in rebuilding the boat for the pnst two months.

The boat left under command of her present owner, with a crew of men as follows: Wm. Campbell of New York, chief engineer; Robert Simineau, Charlevoix, second engineer; and Ray Whitley, fireman. Bert Beudoin will accompany the tug to New York, to complete some unfinished work. Wm. Finucan, Jr., will also go with them as far as Buffalo, N. Y., and from there to Utica, where he will work in the office of the Remington Arms Co., having previously passed the civil service examination.

Capt. McCambridge estimates that they will make Buffalo in 70 hours, the trip through the Welland canal in at least two days and from there down the Hudson river to New York harbor in a few hours.

HAD BEEN RESIDENT OF CITY 27 YEARS

Friends Pay Final Tribute to David G. Tillotson, Well Known Resident of Charlevoix.

David G. Tillotson, for the past 27 years a resident of this city, died at his home on Hurlbut Avenue, Thursday, May 31, after an illness of over a year.

Deceased was born in Newark, N. Y., on July 22, 1847, and was the youngest of eleven children, all of them living to manhood and womanhood. He was united in marriage to Sarah Follett, and to this union were born two sons, one of whom is now living. After the death of Mrs. Tillotson he was united in marriage in 1879 to Ella E. Burnett and Mrs. Billings of Harbor Springs, Mrs. Belle Clark of Beulah. The L. O. T. M. ladies of Eastport, Central Lake, Mancelona, East Jordan and Alanson attended in a body.

WORK OR FIGHT

The adoption of the amendment to the draft regulations forcing all idlers and men engaged in occupations not necessary to maintain the war, is the wisest bit of legislation that has eminated from Washington since war was declared. It is to be regretted that the stringent law was not adopted many months ago, or better still, had it co-ordinated with the calling of the first selected draft men to the colors.

Gen. Crowder well points out the ridiculousness and irony of men called from useful occupations and the farms to fight and march by idlers, street loafers, gambling joints, saloons, pool halls, and other places where rough necks, tin horn gamblers, pugs, well dressed sharks, "sports" of all descriptions, and parasites on society assemble.

The crying need of the nation today is for workers in all industries, required to manufacture munitions, army equipment, and things necessary to maintain our land and sea forces; to build ships; to man the plow and harrow in the fields. It is necessary to speed up production in all industries associated with the war, they must operate at full capacity night and day to keep pace with the progress of the world's battles and in the face of this tremendous pressure, their employes in hundreds of thousands have been drafted into the military service.

There is no excuse for idlers, tin horn gamblers, pool sharks, race horse touts at any time, and the nation may well spare hundreds of thousands of men from saloons, the baseball diamond, clubs and cafes, none of which is essential to the war, and there are many industries that so far as their military necessity is concerned, might as well shut down. This procedure will not throw men out of employment, for there is room for all in war industries, and at top notch wages.

Winning the war is the sole ambition of the United States, it is the vital necessity if the world is to be made safe from the ravaging and ravishing Hun. To do so requires the concerted and concentrated efforts of every man, woman and child in America, and there is no time to debate any issue but war and how to win it as quickly as possible.

It is time that legislation was enacted to force all men to do their part at home to help win the war. When the nation is forcing millions now to offer their lives that we at home might live in peace and happiness, how much more strongly should the nation force non-combatant men to work in industries to sustain and aid the fighting men. So far as non-essential vocations have been enumerated by Gen. Crowder they could all be easily dispensed with and the public would be greatly benefited as well as the activities of war work enhanced.

Barnacles on industry and society sap its life blood and retard progress at any time, and scouring the hull of the ship of state will permit it to slip smoothly through the troubled waters of the nation, increase its speed and make it more wieldy for the helmsman.

Everybody should be made to work at some occupation useful to the war, or be drafted into the military service.

Now the department of justice is beginning to inquire into the sanity of pro-Germans. Good idea. A pro-German must be either a cuss like the Huns that raped Belgium or a lunatic, in either case he ought to be locked up.

If those swivel chair heroes in Washington prove as effective when they are ordered into active service as they are ornamental, the kaiser might as well give up now.

With some people it appears that 1918 will be remembered as the "yellow paint year."

The more territory the kaiser grabs the more he will have to give up.

Strange that the kaiser hasn't set another date for that dinner in Paris.

RURAL EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATES

THOSE IN COUNTY WHO PASSED EXAMINATION

Districts Must Pay Tuition If Application Is Made in Writing Before 4th Monday in June

Of the 113 students who wrote the state test May 9-10 in Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and St. James, the following pupils have been awarded diplomas, and will be welcomed to any high school of the state with tuition paid by their districts. The high school receiving this tuition must have a certificate of approval from the state department. At the present time, East Jordan, Charlevoix, Boyne City and St. James are on this approved list. Any other high school of the county wishing to become approved so as to be able to receive tuition from rural students has until July first to meet requirements.

The pupils have done well in the test and although the percentage of failure seems high, it is similar to that of the entire state. General weaknesses in special subjects will receive special attention next year and special efforts will be made to raise the standard of those writing the test from this time on. Teachers should not allow their students to write unless they think they will pass and the course of study must be supreme. The successful candidates are: Mabel Zoulek, Hilda A. Wilson, George Whitley, Norman Walton, Elsie Ward, Erma Walker, Adeline Trojanek, Cora Townsend, Bernard Trojanek, Ivan Tillotson, William Smith, Bessie Simmons, Fay Shepard, Verda Shearer, Arthur Secord, Otilia Schmidt, Isaac Schantz, Rex Sanford, Marion Redfield, Louie Preiss, Wm. Preiss, Floyd Parsons, Teresa O'Donnell, Patrick Murphy, Carrie Meggison, Caryl Meggison, Ted Magee, Hazel Mnscho, Agnes LaCroix, Beulah Launderville, Lester Kent, Carl J. Kindy, Eber Jolliffe, Violet Johnson, Rose R. Jenson, Alma Holdorph, Floyd Hausler, Edward Grenier, Mary Greene, Elsie R. Gootch, Emma Gennett, Audrey Gilmartin, Bert J. Fudy, Granee Francisco, Lillis Flanders, Genevieve Erickson, Ida Flora Flanders, Gertrude Dow, Emma Dietz; Ruth Davis, Edna V. Davis, Velma Crouterfield, Iva Crego, Nellie Conkright, Wm. School Commissioner's Notes

Last week's papers found no notes but it was not the fault of your editor. He probably was saving the space up to the last moment and the commissioner was expecting to typewrite something at least but so many things had to be done that anything that could possibly be postponed had to be pushed to one side. Thus the notes did not appear. Now that the registration of women is under way and Thrift Week passing by in fine shape, the relief is such that a brief sammary of events may be published

Sixty-four diplomas are being mailed today to eighth grade students passing in the examination of May 9-10. Fifty students of the same examination will receive standings only. Those receiving diplomas will have names printed in another column of this paper. Sixty-six seventh graders writing on physiology and geography receive partial credit but only a few passed in both subjects. Their names will not be printed. Highest averages will be computed later.

A special delivery letter arrived from Miss Milton this week stating that Lottie Webster had been present every day during the year in spite of severe storms and bad roads. A full year diploma has been mailed to Miss Milton for Lottie. Miss Milton was also overjoyed because she had received the certificate accredited the Maple Grove application for admission to the Junior Red Cross. Previously the application had had to be returned for corrections. Once in a while this red tape delays matters but the faithful arrive never-the-less.

The afghan at Ironton is one of the best displayed anywhere and a great deal of credit should be given not only to the pupils, but to teachers and parents for interest and assistance. Two others are already under way. Splendid afghan reported at Undine this week.

Boyne City schools have not been content with merely being over the top in Junior Red Cross work, but are a great deal more than one hundred per cent and claim the honor of being the first entire system to include every building and oversubscribe its fund. The work is fine and we suggest Boyne City Junior Red Cross notes. The county chairman cannot be in close enough touch with the varieties and amount of work to do justice to any city system and the public wants to know.

East Jordan is fairly booming with Junior Red Cross spirit and several rooms are already 100 per cent. Applications are not yet in. Look for an East Jordan record soon.

Picnics during the past week that were reported to this office were as follows: Ranney, Ironton, Hilton, Tainter, Lakeside, Hopyard. The commissioner has always wanted to be at more of these social functions so as to become better acquainted with both parents and boys and girls and to help work with them in the things which they are planning. She had hoped to be present at several this year but the war work has been so heavy that even all sorts of system in the regular work could not make this possible. Here's hoping that another year will find more system and no war if victory may have come, so that all things may conspire toward better schools.

County normal students graduating this week are already employed for next year, one considering an offer and the rest engaged by contract or promise.

Have you sent the commissioner the school news from YOUR district? She is interested and knows that the county is also wishing to hear from you. Have you sent the editor of this paper your district school notes? He wishes them and would like to talk to a committee or to a chairman who would assume this duty to the public.

The largest stock of Ford parts in the county. No matter what your car may need, you will find it here—Benj. Brown. 20tf stretch our necks trying to. I understand Ft. Madison is not listed as a military station now. From here on to Kansas City was very uneventful—beautiful country, some heavy wooded mountains, green valleys and lots of beautiful farms. It seemed to be just planting time and made me feel as if I'd been on the way about two months, for thirty-six hours before I was among the snowbanks of Michigan.

"Kansas City is a beautiful little city, the residence portion built upon a pleateau about eighty feet above the factory and railroad district. There is a cliff right along the city front with a driveway at the top. I think they call it Cliff Drive, and as the train pulls out you can look up and see autos speeding along eighty feet above your head. It must be a very pleasant drive, but could not help wondering what would happen if something went wrong with the steering gear.

"Leaving Kansas City March fourteenth, already the sun is making himself obnoxious, still I'm southern bound, going miles along the banks of the Osage river which looks like most all rivers in the middle west (very swift and very muddy). Saw great fields of wheat (I think they say fall wheat) anyway it was all dying for want of rain and I thought of the johnny cake we'd have to eat next winter "on account of the war.'

"Went through Wichita, Kansas. Was there six years ago and it doesn't look like the same place. The discovery of oil there has made it not only a farming and railroad center, but an oil town as well. For miles and miles all you can see is oil cars, oil tanks; and oil wells and derricks. The five railroads that run through the center of the city and used to be a menace, are all elevated for five or six blocks on solid cement and steel viaducts and in passing through you see the city from quite an elevation.

"South of Wichita the Indians begin to be numerous. I learned that that the Osage tribe were the richest in the U. S., made so through the oil discovered on their reservation. The Pottowotumas were the laziest (but believe me, they make some beautiful bead work.) The Crees are the most industrious. They work farms, run livery stables, granges, study law, etc., and some are fine musicians. Funny thing no one objects to sitting in the same car with a lot of Indians, but they even have separate depots for the niggers, but after a few weeks down here you can understand why. I think it is the 'black peril' we should worry about instead of the 'yellow.'.

"Arrived in Guinsville, Texas, March 16. All the fruit trees were in bloom, also lilacs, and all the truck gardens were looking fine. Green onions, lettuce, radishes and strawberries in our back yard—felt that I was five months ahead of the calendar. The first day of the month in Texas is called 'trade day.' Every farmer who has anything he wants to sell or trade goes to town on that day. In Greenville, the court house stands in the middle of the public square and this is just packed with live stock and loads of grain, etc. Men, women and children stand around and talk, laugh and cuss a little. It was worse than circus day. I was told land sold for from $15 to $20 for sandy soil to $75 to $100 an acre for black soil.

"Transferring in Ft. Worth we were fortunate to have several hours to see sights of interest. One of the most startling experiences was while passing the great aerial school that the government has at this place. Our train passed close by and one of the many machines came whizzing along and glided gracefully over us. He was flying so low the driver could easily be recognized. It made you think of an eagle circling over a large serpent. The streets of the city were thronged with khaki clad boys and many of them wearing the aviators white cards. It was interesting to note how easily our Canadian neighbors can be recognized from our own Yankee boys. They have such a natty air and with their snappy little Scotch hats and 'swagger sticks' they would never be able to conceal their English origin.

"Was awakened up one night in Greenville by some negro serenaders, and say, you have no idea of the weirdness of this music about 3 a. m. in the morning. I had heard about the old plantation melodies, but I'm sure this was some old 'Voo-doo Witch' and her 'jazz band.' It made me feel so creepy that I closed the windows and covered up my head.

"We made a twenty-four hour jump north to get away from hot weather and after that trip on the Rock Island will never have anything but kind words for the old P. M. There came up a 'norther' during the night and the heating facilities out of order, no Pullman, so all we could do was freeze and like it. I sat up all night, being too tall and too stout to drape myself comfurtably on one seat, and the breakman said it was against government laws to turn the seats over. But there's no loss without some small gain. I saw the sun rise, a sight I will never forget. We were coming directly east through the Ozark and Blue mountains and just as I think of it, Arkansas is a timber state which I never knew before. Pine is the predominating wood. Through the heavy timber land we could just see the golden rays, but as we rounded the foot of, I think they called it Eagle Mountain, the sun was there to meet us, not risin · but risen and half way to the zenith. I have seen that same sun drop into old Lake Michigan just as unexpectedly.

"Well it was one hour later than our dollar wrist watches indicated—surprise, hurry, music, tableau, everybody setting watches ahead. At noon we rolled into Little Rock which is a beautiful, busy little city and if it wasn't so hot would be an ideal town to live in. Camp Pike is eight miles from here. We were out there Sunday and as I was elbowing my way among the thousands of boys in khaki, I kept looking far a familiar face, not knowing if there were any Charlevoix boys there or not. There was six train loads (ten thousand new recruits) brought in there Saturday night and Sunday and there were that many sent out of there the week before. Its sad to see them, all young boys, away from home, and though they all seem happy, still we know they miss mother's smile and father's hearty, if gruff words of cheer, and all the things that make 'home sweet home,' but they are brave boys and we are proud of every one of them.

"I attended an entertainment out there, myself and another lady were the only ladies in the audience of several hundred, the rest all soldiers. I never saw a more quiet audience and we never heard a word out of the way. They are true American gentlemen.

"They also have an aerial landing station here and nearly every day we can see 'bird men' doing all kinds of stunts. Saw a big Red Cross demonstration last week, three military bands in parade and a big drove of cattle, placarded 'doing our bit.' The next day the colored population had their Red Cross parade with two bands and it was great also.

"Have seen a magnolia tree in full bloom and they are wonderful. The blossoms are white and look like water lillies and about the size, and are very fragrant and I never saw so many roses in my life—so far I have had a fine time. Regards to all."

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Copyright 1918, by The Wooltex Designers

WHEN the Wooltex makers showed us this becoming skirt we were astonished at the reasonable price—so fine is the quality of the gabardine, so smart are the style lines and silhouette.

The belt is pre-shrunk and boned to prevent curling and wrinkling. The gabardine was shrunk in the piece before cutting—it can't shrink no matter how often you launder it. A mighty good skirt at a very reasonable price.

BROTHERS MOBBED FOR DISLOYALTY

Angered Citizens Take Law Into Their Own Hands

Jacob, Julius, William and Carl Ricker familiarly known as Ricker Brothers, were mobbed at their home four miles west of Kalkaska, Thursday eveaing of last week by a delegation of sixty angry citizens from Kalkaska, Rapid City and Alden, who went in autos. The Ricker Brothers are full-blooded Germans, and are wealthy, they are reputed to be worth over two hundred thousand dollars, they are bachelors and live in abject squalor in a dilapidated house which has been their home for the past thirty years.

Last Thursday afternoon three ladies, wives of Rapid City business men who were soliciting funds for the Red Cross drive, called on the Rickers and asked for a subscription but were met with an absolute refusal and were insultingly used. They said, "that they would not pay a single cent to the Red Cross Society and that the society was a bunch of grafters and that the money collected by the society went into the pockets of the members and was not used for relief." The mob Thursday evening was led by a member of the American Protective League and the Rickers were roughly handled. Jacob, the oldest of the brothers came across with a one hundred dollar subscription and the remaining three were yanked out of the house and lined up in front and commanded to salute the American flag. Carl the youngest member of the quartet saluted the flag, but the other two, Julius and William refused to salute, after being requested to do so several times and were roughly handled, placed in autos and later taken to Kalkaska, and placed in jail to answer to the charge of not registering under the alien act. Friday afternoon Jacob Ricker walked to Kalkaska and paid over to the local war board three hundred dollars for the Red Cross, making one hundred dollars for each one, including the one hundred dollars paid the night before, he also signed a written agreement stating that hereafter on the occasion of all liberty bond or Red Cross drives the brothers would contribute liberally to each fund without a murmur and to spend their net income amounting to $850 apiece, or a total of $3,400 in full each year and not hoard it up, but live comfortably from it; on the signing of this document Julius and William were released from jail and went back to their home.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

DEPOT DOOR ARTISTICALLY LABELED

Sign Evidently Warning That More Is to Follow

On Tuesday morning an artistically painted sign, about 8 x 8 feet, appeared on the entrance door to the P. M. freight house, bearing these words: "This agent refuses to donate to the Red Cross," a large cross being used instead of the words.

Can it be possible that the village of Ellsworth, with its many red-blooded, true-spirited American citizens has among them a man so utterly devoid the spirit of patriotism and loyalty to the country in which he lives that he refuses to "do his bit" toward helping out the wonderful work of the Red Cross?

The painting of the sign would indicate so, and the only criticism we can make regarding the action taken is that instead of decorating the door of the depot, the offender should have received the coat of paint. Possibly after a few treatments of this kind he would realize that there was something lacking in his makeup and he would get in line with the other real citizens of the community in which he lives.

How Bad Backs Have Been Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected

All over Charlevoix you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Charlevoix people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Charlevoix citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Rome Pappin, 117 Garfield Ave., says: "About three years ago I got wet while watching a fire and about a week later was on my back suffering from rheumatic poins. For eight weeks I was in such bad shape I could hardly move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly and the kidney secretions were highly colored and unnatural. Dizzy spells came over me and spots floated before my eyes. Doan's Kidney Pills straightened me up in a short time, curing all the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Pappin had. Foster Milborn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SOLDIERS' TOGS.

How Khaki Came to Be Standardized For the Army.

With so many armies of the world donning khaki it is curious to remember the accident which gave that olive drab material its being, for an accident it was pure and simple.

British troops in India formerly wore a cotton cloth of brownish green. It always faded when put to the test of soap. An English business man, discussing the defect with some army officers, remarked that a large fortune was waiting for the man who could discover a process for making a cotton drill that would not fade.

One of the youngest officers became interested. Together with a skillful dyer he began a systematic search for an unfading olive dye, something that would yield no shade of color when the cotton dye was subjected to soap or soda. But many years did the two spend in useless experiment.

One day at the bottom of a hundred similar little scraps they happened upon one which somehow retained its color under the most severe tests. The puzzling part of it was that this scrap had been taken from a piece of cloth that had been subjected to the same process, yet was faded. For a long while the two attempted to solve the mystery—in vain. This one little bit of cloth was the only one which withstood all attacks.

Finally by the merest chance they came upon the explanation. The dye in which this scrap had been dipped had remained for a long time in a metal dish of a peculiar kind. The metal of the dish had furnished what the chemicals lacked. They made the experiment again in this particular dish. The dye held, and the fortune was made.

Who Began Trench Warfare?

THE trench, which always encircled the Roman castra, or camp, was brought to France by Julius Caesar and used by him on the very battlefield where to-day the Allies and the Huns have 25,000 miles of trenches.

With rings of trenches, gradually drawn smaller, probably the first modern trench warfare, the Turks in 1667 took Candia.

Vauban, builder of Verdun, in 1673 employed the first parallel trenches, the system of the present war.

Defeat, not foresight, turned the Germans to trench warfare. But Goodrich never had to dig in.

Since twenty-two years ago Goodrich manufactured the first American pneumatic automobile tire, Goodrich has driven ahead to the big, graceful, masterful—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

But whether Goodrich was revolutionizing tire manufacture by bringing forth the first American clincher tire—

Or originating the one practical non-skid, the cross-bar, safety-tread, or tough black tread rubber—

Goodrich built tires to one end—SERVICE VALUE—what they are worth to the motorist on his car and on the road in COMFORT of an easier riding car—ECONOMY in gasoline saved,—and LONG MILEAGE.

Small difference whether you buy GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning laside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, con. Instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

How to Wash Shawls So They Look Like New Ones.

To wash knitted or crocheted shawls fold them as flat as possible and lay carefully in a pillow case run through at intervals with basting thread to keep flat. Then they should be handled like other flannel or woolen goods. If washed separately observe the usual precautions for woolen goods, gently squeezing through the hands and keeping the suds and rinsing water of the same lukewarm temperature. Take out of pillowcase, but do not hang knitted goods up to dry. Put in the oven on a big platter, shaking and turning occasionally, or lay on a clean cloth in the sunshine.

How to Cleanse Window Shades After a Season's Wear.

After the summer light colored window shades are usually soiled. Clean by rubbing very gently with a soft cloth wrung out of a mixture of one pint of hot water and three tablespoonfuls of benzine, keeping the benzine away from the fire. Dry by wiping with a clean, soft towel.

Three Signal Years in American History

1898—War with Spain! Humanity and liberty brought by America to oppressed Cuba and Philippines, the United States taking its firm place as a world power.

1908—Peace and prosperity! America's battleship fleet, "Ready for a fight or a frolic," as Admiral "Bob" Evans remarked, goes on its 45,000-mile, around-the-world cruise, pointing out to all nations the fact that we had become a power to be reckoned with, and a cruise which European experts said could not be completed. But it was!

1918—America in the Great War, throwing its every energy into the combat to make the world a decent place to live in.

In 1898, TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY, one of the organizers of the Michigan Naval Reserves, served through the Spanish war as a lieutenant on the "Yosemite," which was manned by Michigan's Reserves.

In 1908, TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY prepared the battleship fleet for its famous cruise and from assistant secretary became Secretary of the Navy in the Roosevelt cabinet.

In 1918, TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY, again a volunteer, a Commander in the Third Naval District, including New York City and Brooklyn navy yard, the most important naval division in the country.

WITH FIRST-TO-FIGHT MEN

sit up and wait for next volley. They were working every hour, on the quarter past, and at exactly 3:15 a. m. the dull boom of the battery sounded, then the whine of the shells and I saw where they were landing that time, just a nice distance away, and a few over the quarters I had luckily decided not to occupy. Being convinced they were after the road and not our camp, and that no gas was present, went to bed again, and after another volley at 4:15 they stopped. Everything was o. k. You don't get frightened, but you do get deuced curious to know 'where that one went.' Artillery and machine gun fire no longer interests me. The air vibrates with sound and the earth shakes, but unless I hear the whistle of incoming shells I pay no attention and don't worry. No use. Couldn't stand it if you did. Have to be a fatalist these days, and most of the boys have the same attitude. Once you learn how safe it is flat on the ground, and what a small target you make, you conclude your chances are very good, unless it has been decreed otherwise.

"Aeroplanes furnish the chief amusement. On all clear days they hum above us, and when a Boche plane shows up it's fun to see how close the anti-air guns can come and not hit him. You stand on one foot praying for a hit, and swearing that he must have been hit, and then the devil only ducks, sidesteps, soars and goes hurrying back to his lines. Saw a fight the other day. The planes were very high, but you hear the machine guns pop, and see the planes as they dart and dip and manoeuver for position. It's the most exciting thing in the war.

"We are in one of the most famous of the fronts, and there are many interesting places. I am as safe here as though in Paris. In fact, I have found that the further front you are, the less chance of a hit. It is back on the roads and third lines that it is sometimes unhealthy. I am out of luck so far as promotion goes as long as I stay with the Marines. Promotion goes by number there, and of course I am not in it for that reason. But I may not always be with the Marines, though it don't matter much to me about being promoted. By the time you get this I expect we will be out of the trenches, for we have had a long spell of it, and are due for a relief and rest back from the front. Am feeling fine. Shall ask for permission to go to Paris in a few days, as need some things, and that is about the only excuse that will enable you to get there, unless you are in the Y. M. C. A. or Q. M. department.

"I had to make a little trip the other day and had the Colonel's car and saw a lot of the surrounding country. The roads are certainly magnificient, except in places where they have been shelled.

"I have received my boots, also magazines, papers and the Courier and enjoy them all very much. Makes the time pass faster, and of course it is not all fighting, and often there is plenty of time for reading.

"Glad to see that the Liberty Loan was such a success. The people in the U. S. know absolutely about war, but they must come through. Now we want the ships to carry the supplies and we will be 'hunkydory.'

"Am getting along fine. For last few days have only had to keep the mules and wagons going. Have a horse to ride. Just sit around and tell the other fellows what to do. Feeling first rate, and like all the rest of us am sure we can lick the Boche, although the dead ones I have seen were young and husky. Will probably be in Paris before you get this. At least I hope so. Your loving son, VIC."

France, May 8, 1918.

"Dear Folks—Today I had a hunch was going to get some mail when the carrier came in, and sure enough my orderly brought me several letters, and a nice box of candy and smokes from Ernie Madison. Think am getting all the boxes sent so long ago, now. They have a new rule about packages, requiring written bors, clubs, and liberty of movement, request of soldier before anything can be sent. Guess they don't want the boys to have so many packages. It's an awful job to handle them, and they'd need space in ships, too, I suppose. It's a hardship, though, for if there is anything that helps the morale of our soldiers over here, it is the packages and mail from home. They walk miles, and even risk their lives sometimes to get their mail. When my last box came, 'whacked up' smokes with my men, for they appreciate candy, American tobacco and cigarettes. I get magazines and papers eventually. They come in spurts. Have had all I could read lately. Enjoy the Sunday paper and also Courier. I am in good health and don't need anything just now. We generally eat pretty well, and always have my bedding roll to sleep on, for I watch it as a cat does a mouse. The last few days it has been just wonderful weather. Can understand why its called 'Sunny France' for when the sun does shine it is wonderful. However, the sun only shines about once a month, and then it always rains a little the same day. Sometimes it's just a little shower, and then again a long, steady drenching rain that turns everything into muck.

"I presume it's hard for the people back home, with theatres, neighbors, clubs, and libery of movement, to realize what the situation is like over here, where you never see a CONT HAMPTON STORY... .... woman, a house or anything but soldiers, soldiers, soldiers! That's the hardest part to me, the dull monotony and sameness of everything, with scarcely ever a chnnge. I was lucky the other day, though. As I wrote in last letter, had to visit several places on duty, and went in the Colonel's car. It was a beautiful day and I saw many interesting sights and a lot of pretty country. The roads are wonderful. On this trip I visited villages still occupied by the citizens in spite of the fact that they are bombarded occasionally, and many of the houses are in ruins. Often they have to seek safety in their cellars. These villages are of course always teeming with soldiers, and are filled with trucks. Everybody's busy and it is very exciting. I bought the paper I am using from a very pretty French woman who was just coining money selling articles of all kinds to the 'poilus.' It is now warm and pleasant over here. I took a bath outdoors in a pail the other night and enjoyed it. When you can do that, comfortably, over here, you may be sure summer has come.

"I expect to have leave in a few days, and when I do am going to make Paris or bust. As said before, am in charge of wagon train. Responsible, but easy job. Ride my horse and see that everything's kept ship-shape. It's only a detail, (temporary arrangement), and for the experience, I suppose. Don't worry about me. I'm safe and sound. Find accounts of the war, in the U. S. papers, very interesting. You know my name is 'Victor' so we are bound to win. Heaps of love to all."

R. F. D. CARRIERS HOLD CONVENTION

Semi-Annual Meeting Held at East Jordan Memorial Day

The semi-annual meeting of the Rural Letter Carriers' Association of Charlevoix, Antrim and Kalkaska counties was held in East Jordan, on Thursday, May 30, Memorial Day.

The meeting was well attended, delegates being present from South Boardman, Bellaire, Ellsworth, Central Lake, Charlevoix, Clarion, Boyne City, Boyne Falls and other places.

The forenoon was largely devoted to informal work and then adjournment was made to Red Cross headquarters, where a fine dinner was served by the ladies of the Red Cross. In the resolutions adopted later, a fine tribute was paid the Red Cross workers for the delicious menu prepared and served.

During the afternoon session A. K. Hill of East Jordan was elected president and James McNeal of Boyne City, secretary and treasurer. Messrs. Hill and Brintnall were also elected delegates to the state convention, to be held at Springport sometime in July. Ellsworth was decided upon as the place of holding the next meeting, the date being set as Labor Day.

HUNDREDS ATTEND RED CROSS SOCIAL AT D'OOGE BARN

Estimated That Over Five Hundred People Were In Attendance—Receipts $291.79

Hayes township not only went over the top in her Red Cross quota, but also over the top in attendance at the Red Cross social and barn dance at the D'Ooge barn on Wednesday night of last week. It is conservatively estimated that at one time during the evening over 125 cars were parked along the roadside and in the yard, and not less than five hundred people were present on the grounds.

The crowd began to assemble early in the evening, some walking, others driving horses and automobiles, others came by boat and dancing, the chief amusement of the evening continued until a late hour.

The entire program was a success from a financial as well as a social standpoint. Receipts of the evening above all expenses, amounted to $291.79. A pig and a calf were raffled off, the pig bringing $35.25 and the calf $22.00. Lunch boxes were also raffled off which substantially swelled the receipts of the evening. As the township's Red Cross quota was $250.00, they went over the top better than $100.00.

A program, every number of a patriotic nature, had been prepared and was carried out in full. R. W. Kane, of Charlevoix, county war board chairman, with appropriate remarks presented the Hayes War Board with the Honor Roll flag bearing one star, which indicates that the township over-subscribed its quota on the Third Liberty Loan drive. Other speakers followed in order, some explaining the work of the Red Cross and others touching on various phases of the war situation, all, however, urging the people to give freely in every cause.

A quartette from Charlevoix sang two selections and were heartily encored. The school also offered a number which was greeted by great outbursts of applause. Taken in its entirety, the program was most interesting and was greatly enjoyed by the hundreds present.

The success of the event is largely due to the hard work of the township war board, E. E. Stroud, Andrew Struthers, and Frank C. Burnett, the ladies war relief committee and Frank Bird, manager of the D'Ooge farm. The Boyne City Marine Band and orchestra donated their services for the evening and those who enjoyed the dance have them to thank for this enjoyable feature of the occasion.

VETERANS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Memorial Day Fittingly Observed In Charlevoix

Memorial Day exercises, both at the cemetery and Coast Guard station, were an impressive tribute to the soldier dead, also to her fighting men in France, a fitting close of a day of solemn ceremonies and patriotic devotion.

At 10:00 a. m. the G. A. R. and W. R. C. formed in line on Bridge street, and were taken to Brookside cemetery, where the program published last week was carried out in every detail.

In the afternoon the services on the high school grounds and at the coast guard station were attended by hundreds of people from both city and surrounding territory. Music by the Petoskey band was a treat, and murmurs of applause were heard from all.

In the evening at the opera house standing room was at a premium and hundreds were turned away. The talk given by Major Cressy was very timely and touched on all phrases of the present world war. The pictures told the story better than words could express it.

Bookings Give Evidence of Successful Season

The Charlevoix Beach Hotel, under the management of Mrs. J. S. Baker, will open the 1918 season on Saturday of this week, with a number of guests, some already here and others to arrive on the opening day.

From all indications the season of 1918 will be as good as previous ones, convincing evidence that the popularity of the Beach as a summer hotel is one of the biggest drawing cards for Charlevoix and adjacent resort territory.

Buy Your Auto Tires NOW

Present indications are that before the season is over this country will be facing a great shortage in this line. Uncle Sam may place a ban on the importation of rubber to the extent of 50 per cent. If this is done, the result will be a great shortage. Prices will more than double, and in many instances you will not be able to buy the tires you want. We are closing out a $3,000 stock of automobile tires and are offering you prices you may never have the opportunity of having again.

GUN WOUND PROVES FATAL

ILA COLE DIED THURSDAY AT PETOSKEY HOSPITAL

Was Conscious Until Death Claimed Her—Funeral Held Saturday From Methodist Church

Miss Ila Cole, the 17-year-old Beaver Island girl, who was badly wounded by a set gun at the entrance of the Wildwood Inn, Beaver Island, mentien of which wns mado in the Courier Inst week, died at the Petoskey hospital early Thursday morning.

The young woman was conscious until denth eluimed her and her sufferings were intense. Upon reaching the hospital it was feund that her clothing had been blown into the wound in her leg, being at the time the charge of shot struck her but u short distance from the muzzle of the gun. On Wednesday her leg was amputated in u final effort to save her life, which proved of no uvail, her death taking place the following morning.

The remains were brought to this city Friday and placed in See's undertaking rooms. Funeral services were held from the Methodist church Saturday at 2:00 p. m., interment at Brookside cemetery.

Her mother, who was in Chicago at the bedside of u sick relative at the time of the shooting, arrived in Petoskey in time to see her daughter alive. A sister, Mattie, living at Chicago, also arrived before her death. Two other sisters and other near relatives were at the funernl services.

Thomas Boyle, the man who set the gun which eaused the girls death, is in the county jail, and the charge lodged against him will undoubtedly be changed to murder. Relatives state that the gun was set for Garret Cole, father of the dead girl, and that Boyle says that he also has another set gun stationed in some unknown place on the island to "get" unother party.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Claud Volkert Tells of Return Trip From Front Line With the Boche Shells Burating In Road Behind Him—Others Tell of Daily Army Life

How would you enjoy sleeping in a house with shells bursting in your front yard and in your back yurd and expacting every minute that one would land on the roef of your house? It hardly aeems possible thnt auch things are every day occurrances near the front in Fraucc, hut the following letter frem Claud Volkert describes them in detail, and also relutes of the other dangers thut come in with his every day life:

May 1, 1918.

"Denr Uncle Dick—It is the first of May I think, at least that is tha cencensus of opinion out here, although we haven't received a paper for some days, and have sort of lost track of the divisions of time.

"We left Parla n short time ago and now are at the front, and a real actlve sector too. The shells come whizzing over very aften; some of them hnve landed in our back yard and seme in the front, but so far our house has been spared.

"The shells coming on hnve a most peculiar hum. One of the boys said 'they sounded like a N. Y. subway rounding a curve.' Guess that's ubout as good a description as any.

"The house I speak of is a combination house and barn, built nreund a court yard with an old fashiened well in the center. The roef is of slate, while the floors are a sort of tile and the side walls are made of a mud composition. It is divided up into small compartments or rooms, which we have fitted up quite ntructively.

"My room, so ealled, is about six feet square with just about room enough for a chair nnd our bunks. It nccommodntes six of us, as we have a double deek arrangement for a bed made of chicken wire, stretched across frames, one over the other. The first few nights here we all suffered a little from insomnia, not because the bunks were hard, but the roar of the guns was somewhat annoying. I am occupying 'the chair' at present with a board ucross my lap for a writing desk, while the other boys uro lying on their bunks reading. The room is so full of smoke you could cut it with a knife and we have to keep our only window covered up to cenceal the illimunating rays of our family lantern.

"At this village there is a dressing station and our work is transporting the wounded from the advanced posts te this station. I was up at one of the advaneed posts a few nights ago for the first time and certainly got n lively reception. Wns going down a road and the shells were exploding behind me like firecrackers 'tied to a dog's tail.' But luckily they were alwuys some distance behind me nnd I wus looping it as fast as u Ford will go. We have no lights and have to dodge shell holes by chance.

"After the wounded nre transported from the advanced posts to the dressing station they are transferred to the field hospital, und as soon as their wounds permit, they are again transferred to the base hospital.

"We are still uttached to the French army, but have been loaned to the Amcrican army for a time at least.

"In the morning I am going to try and draw enough water to wash a shirt. Our well is very antique and is operated with a sort of windlass effect. It's slow work—about like trying to bail water out of Lake Michigan wns an eye dropper.

"Have been helping one of the boys dig a hole in the side of n bank this p. m. The dug-out la a sort of preparedness measure in ease the Boche send the 'subway' missles too often.

"Am beginning to get a little drowsy, so will close now for this time. Trusting that you are well and not working ns hard as when I last heard from you, and hoping to receive a letter soon. I am as ever,"

Your nephew,
CLAUDE.

Claude J. Volkert, S. S. U., sec. 649, Convois Autos, Par B. C. M., A. E. F.

Imagine "Bob" Merriam standing for three hours at "attention." Its beyond belief. But Boh said he did—and we must believe him. He says camp life is just one "darned thing after another," and the boys cuss and kick all of the time. But he likes it—and with his true Yankee spirit he is making the best of everything and taking everything as it comes. His letter is characteristic and is most interesting.

June 2, 1918.

"Dearest Grandma—I haven't written all week, but I sure have been busy enough to make a decent excuse. We started out Monday with police duty, Tuesday, drill; Wednesday police duty. Thursday morning we had memorial exercises and n little drill in the afternoon, Friday morning we hnd camp parade, Friday afternoon wa went 'inside' (main barracks) on guard duty. We were relieved from that Saturday afternoon at five, marched back and then were paid, then washed clothes and went to bed. Thla morning we had inspection and then a talk by ths battalion commnnder. Following that I washed clothes, instead of going to church, for they had to be washed today, and I wanted to write letters this afternoon.

"Police duty is nice. Very. It consists of marching the company to the "lucky bag' and having them draw whatever the corporal in charge wishes to give them and then take it out and use it. Our company always draws shovels, pushcarts and wheelburrows. These are gladly led to the new athletic field, and handled as well as any dago in the world. There is a whole line digging, and a push cart or wheelbarrow is pulled down the line, each man who has a shovel henves a shovelful of dirt into it as it passes, until it is full. Frem there the cnrt is marched to a big 'sink' in the middle of the camp, (about the length of three blocks anyway) and dumped in, turned around and started back for another load. As there is a long line of carts, no one gets any rest at ull. That's mixed up a lot, but I guess you get the idea.

"Now don't get the idea we pull these carts along singing, 'Where Do We Ge From Here." The only anthem we turn out is a mingled collection of cuss words and grunts. But we don't pull hurd. Net a bit of it!! One fellow in the 68th is in the hospital now, with un operatiun fer hernia he contracted, leading one of these 'tanks' along. But for the 'love-o-mike,' don't worry about me hurting myself. I guess I do my share, too, but still, I don't intend to hnul n cart all alone, when they detail five men to one of them.

"I guess you've noticed the change in paper. I started this in the K. of C., but as it's the most popular here, (cooler, curtains on the windows, better victrola and wider desks) it got crowded, se I changed to the Y. The K. C.'s have a porch too, with really-truly chairs on it. The Y. is the more popular most places I guess, and it's the more universal, but the K of C. is the best at this post.

"But to return again to police duty. I don't mind doing a dago's work for a dollar a day, but to have to come back and wash everything you had on, and begin the next morning in clean clothes ugain, makes me mad.

The parade we had Friday was very enjoyable. Marching at attention and standing at attentien for three hours is no cinch for me. They had to carry off four fellows in my battalion, and I don't know how many from the entire hunch. It got pretty wobbly once, and stepped out and took a drink, or I guess I'd have gone to sleep too. The heat is sure fierce, and the darn sand burns clear through your shoes. The one very distinct memory that I have of the parade was how terribly bow-legged the commanding officer was, and how he went through the marine old manual in his movements, instead of the army's which we use now.

"We came in from parade near all in, and after chow they very kindly paid our company the honor of allowing us to go on guard. That gave us from one until three, to clean our rifles, scrub all our dirty clothes, roll a blanket pack, clean up the bunk house, put on a complete new set of clotbes, he inspected and march over

FOUND HIM IN BED

William Cowan Reminded of Day of His Birth

About a dozen intimate friends of William Cowan framed up a surprise on him Monday night that was not only complete, but rather embarrassing to the host.

The occasion was his 62nd birthday anniversary, and when the bunch renched his home, he had retired for the night and was peacefully slumbering, "his handsome features resembling that of a sleeping infant," as expressed by one of the late hour prowlers who invaded his home.

He was routed out, jostled and roasted—almost "gassed" to hear the fellows tell about it. After playing cards for a short time, refreshments were served by Mrs. Cowan, and the bunch before their departure presented him with a beautiful pillow cover.

CARELESS HANDLING OF SHOT GUN

CAUSE OF YOUNG BOYNE CITY GIRLS DEATH

Contents of Gun Enter Breast and Throat Causing Almost Instant Death

About five o'clock Saturday afternoon, Clare Pieree, fifteen years of age, who resides with his parents on East Lincoln street, Boyne City, accidentnlly shot and almost instantly killed, Daisy Morey (Pierce) a fourteen year old girl who lived at 132 Trent street.

Although both the young people were known by the name of Pierce they were not related.

Young Pierce, who was not familiar with guns, was fooling with a Winchester shot-gun, which belongs to his father, when the Morey girl called. Reports ure somewhat conflicting, but it would saem that he started up an open stairway, which lends from the kitchen to the floor above, carrying the gun butt forward, barrel trailing, and that in some unaccountable manner the weapon was discharged; the shot entering the throat and chest of Miss Morey, who was at the foot of the stairs.

Pierce claims that he did not know the gun was loaded, but under the circumstanees, providing this version of the matter is true, that would have made little difference with his handling of the weapon. Immediately after the accident, a physician was aummoned, but the girl died within an hour. It is reported that her last words were in effect, that Clare was not to be blamed as it was an accident. Sheriff Novak investigated the mateer Monday and placed the young man under arrest.

STR. KANSAS IN PORT FRIDAY NIGHT

First Trip of Season on New Northern Michigan Run

The Str. Kansas, in command of Capt. George Johnson of Traverse City, her new owner, made this part about eight o'clock Friday night, on her first trip of the season.

At the present the steamer is running "wild," that is, on no regular schedule, but within a short time will make tri-weekly trips between this port, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Mackinac Island and Cheboygan. On her first trip she ran as far north as Cheboygan, leaving for Chicago, in time to leave there on Wednesday evening.

Capt. Johnson stated that the boat was well loaded with freight on her opening trip and that all assurances has been given him of the support of local shippers along the entire route.

HOW ABOUT THAT JOB OF YOURS?

WAR WORK OR FIGHT PLAN BEGINS JULY 1

Many Men Will Ba Looking for New Jobs Considered the Right Kind by tha Government

You men of draft age who are not in the army because you have a wife and children or father or mother dependent upon you, ought to size up your job to see whether or not Marshal Crowder's new regulation will touch you.

You know what the new regulation is. It takes effect July I and says no matter whether a man is married and has dependents or not, he must go into ths service if he is either a lonfer or is doing work which is not useful in winning the war, and thia ordor names certain jobs as being non-useful, such as running passenger elevators, sales clerks in stores, men doing housework, and some jobs which are regarded as hurtful, such as working around gambling houses, pool rooms, bucket shops, race tracks, etc.

It is easy enough to look at your job and say, "My job is not in the list," but General Crowder says it is expected thut the list of non-useful jobs will he extended from time to time. Suppose that another list is gotten out as soon as they take cars of the men in the non-useful jobs which are already named? Will your job be in the next list?

It is not n very long step from running n passenger elevator to being n street car conductor.

If selling dry goods or grocaries in a store is a non-useful job, how would they classify n deputy clerk over in the rourt house, or a bookkeeper?

If you are a bond salesman or an insurance solicitor and have received deferred classificatien in the draft, what ure the chances thut your occupation will he named in the next list?

If you are a chauffer for a privats family, what are the chances that ths next list will put your job down as non-useful just as this list names the doorman and the butler.

In sizing up your joh, you had better think also about whether or not a woman with sufficient training could do your work, not as well perhaps as you, at first, but could she learn to do your work?

When you are thinking about whether or not your job will be in the list of non-useful jobs, put yourself in the place of Provost Marshal Crowder, who must not only get men into the army, but must see that all the man-power of the country is working in things which are useful in helping to win the war, and then you can figure out just what kind of a job you hold.

The first list goes into effect July 1. There will probably be a large number of men hunting for useful jobs. There will be more of them as other lists are made up.

Maybe you just happened to get into the job you now hold and have stayed in it just because you didn't happen to get out. Maybe you have alwnys wanted to work in a machina shop or to work on a farm but nothing came along to make you do it, especially after you got married. No one can tell you what you had better do right now, but one thing is aure and that is that you had better think about your job.

RECITAL RECEIVED WORDS OF PRAISE

Brilliant Future Predicted for Entertainer

The Methodist church in this city was the scene of a delightfully rendered recital, given by Mrs. A. L. Coulter of Indianapolis, as a Red Cross benefit, Tuesday evening.

The church was finely decorated with bunting and flowers, and the program, which consisted of threo groups of well selected songs, finisbing with words given at the close of the civil war by ex-president Lincoln's private secretary, John Hay, and set to music which charmed the audience. Together with a finely rendered reading entitled, "The Flag on the Farm," give by Miss Herrington, closed a most enjoyable evening.

Her pleasing personality and wonderful voice predicts for Mrs. Coulter a brilliant future.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

Good, reliable farm hand wants a job on a farm in Charlevoix County. A willing, strong worker who will be ready for 24 hours service every day. Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, ao let's make our stay ngreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. what a glorious condition to ntiain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the moraiug inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull aad heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, ansty breath, acid stomach, raa, lastead, feel as fresh as a daisy by openiag the sluices of the system each aiornlag and flushlag out the whole of the lateraal poisouous stagaaat matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water wiib a teaspoouful of limestono phosphate la it to wash from the stomach, liver nnd bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, soui oilo and poisonous tnxias; thus cleaaslag, aweeteaing aad purifyiag the eatire alimentary canal before putting more food lato the stomach. The action of hot water aad limestoae phosphate on an empty atomach is wonderfully iavigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentatioas, gaaea, waste and acidity aad gives one a spleudid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoyiag your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood aad aetting ready for a thorough flushlag of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, billous spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing. Just

S. O. S. CALL FOR TEACHERS

SHORTAGE GREATEST COUNTRY HAS EVER KNOWN

Schools in County and State May Close—Urged to Attend Summer School

S. O. S. soldier boys! S. O. S. teachers! Both hearken to the call of the colors and in hearkening both enter into the training camps to fit themselves for moro efficient service to their country.

We face the most serious shortage in the teaching ranks that our country has ever known. The earlier estimates of the year that Michigan's shortage would be at least one hundred now seem small compared to the latest figures indicating that at least one thousand positions cannot be filled in the school rooms of Michigan. Three weeks ago it seemed that Charlevoix county might have her ranks filled, but at the present time, several schools are still without teachers, and even now, it is almost impossible to get in touch with qualified teachers who are unemployed.

Great as the danger may be of a few schools closing during the coming year, we face at the same time a greater danger. We can not take any and every applicant into our school system. Our teachers must be trained. Just as Uncle Sam drafts his men into service and then trains them so must we likewise note in the schools the great necessity for training. To lower our efficiency at this time when wages are rising would be the biggest death blow to educational progress and the need for education is greater than ever before, becoming greater every day and week.

Women! "Register to teach" has been a patriotic slogan. Therefore, women, register that you will take training, teaching, that you want pay for your services, but that you will pay for your own training in preparing for the war position which you will volunteer for. Summer schools open June 24. Enter at that time for your training and appear for examination in August. Within one week from time of examination you will learn whether or not you have received a commission. Do not expect the commission without appearing for examination or attending officers' school. Do not appear for examination without preparation. In the face of this great danger, our efficiency shall not be lowered! Your country calls you! The teachers' call is to the colors! Do we hear your answer?

HOW TO BUILD AND FURNISH A HOME.

—Every home should be built around the needs of the individual family. Furnishing should not be done hastily, but rather should be a matter of development, asserts Miss Araminta Holman, instructor in home art in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Some important features should be observed in the construction of every modest and simple domestic dwelling," says Miss Holmnn. "The homes that are nearly square are the most economical where expense must be considered. The porch should be at back or on the side of the building to allow for the quiet and privacy in recreation that cannot be obtained on the front porch where every one is on exhibition. Having the porch on the rear will also help to improve the appearance of the back yard. The simple and rather small front entrance is being used more and more—an adaptation of the colonial door entrances.

"The windows should be grouped to allow for a flood of light and to offer better opportunity for the satisfactory arrangement of furniture. A generous amount of wall space should be devoted to these windows. Grouped windows show good design from the outside and do not look like portholes in the side of the house.

"The reception hall in the modest home need not be large, but should be of sufficient size to contain a chair and coat rack and should be well lighted. It should be large enough for the removal of wraps and to transact business of a brief nature, and for this reason a large opening between the hall and living room is not desirable.

"The living room should be the largest and best room in the house. It should be on the west side if possible, because that room is most used in the afternoon. By having sliding doors between the living and dining rooms they can easily be made into one large room for entertainment and festive occasions."

Anniversary of the Battle Cruiser Yosemite in Spanish-American War

On Friday, June 28, will be observed in numerous Michigan homes the anniversary of an event which looms large in the memories of many people in the state. The day marks the passage of twenty years since that twenty-eighth of June, 1898, when the nine officers and 260 men of Michigan's Naval Militia marked the climax of their service in the United States navy by destroying the "Antonio Lopez," a steamer that was bringing war munitions from Europe for the aid and comfort of the Spanish armies in Cuba and Porto Rico.

The history of this important episode of the Spanish-American war is contained in the book, "The Log Of The Yosemite," written by Truman H. Newberry. Newberry was then a lieutenant on the cruiser Yosemite, engaged in blockade service off the port of San Juan de Porto Rico. Since then, and mainly because of the splendid showing he made in this service, he has served as secretary of the navy under President Roosevelt and is now a commander of the Third Naval District and candidate for the United States senate. The following excerpts are taken from the report of Commander W. H. Emory, who was in charge of the Yosemite during the fight, as it appears in the book:

"I have the honor to report that about 5:30 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, June 28, we sighted a steamer to the westward, about two miles distant. * * * * * The Yosemite was headed for the stranger. * * * * Seeing our intention, the steamer was instantly headed for the shore and beached on the reef, six miles to the westward of Morro Castle. * * * * The Yosemite remained in the vicinity of this position for some time, during which shell and shrapnel were discharged at the Spaniard. When it was deemed that the steamer was sufficiently disabled the Yosemite steamed for a Spanish cruiser and gunboat which had come to the relief of the beached steamer. During this period, I was much surprised to find that the guns of Morro and the water battery below it had the exact range of the Yosemite's position and were effective at that distance. * * * * Many projectiles of large calibre passed over the Yosemite * * * * and although the enemy made excellent line shots, some very near to the ship, she was not struck once. * * * * Our fire seemed to be very effective and made the Spanish cruiser join her consort, the gunboat, in seeking shelter under the guns of Morro. * * * * The spirit and behavior of the officers and crew was in every way highly commendable."

With Commander Newberry and many others of the old crew of the "Yosemite" again serving their country, there will be no official celebration of the anniversary this year. However, all of the survivors of the battle of twenty years ago and their families will live the stirring day over again in memory.

THE SENATORIAL SITUATION

Three candidates for U. S. Senator have so far presented themselves for the approval of the Republican voters at the August primaries. The list includes two former governors of the state, Ex-governor Chas. S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, Ex-governor Fred M. Warner of Farmington, and a former secretary of the navy, Truman H. Newberry of Detroit.

Mr. Osborn has been in the field for some time. He is a man of wide experience, extensive knowledge, remarkable eloquence and great versatility and magnetic power as an orator. Had he been less erratic in his political movements and more tactful in his treatment of men of equal honesty of purpose who differed from him; had he been more staunch in his loyalty to his party and its candidates, he would not have awakened against him so deep-seated and persistent hostility as seems to exist toward his candidacy. But acknowledging all this to be so, whenever Chase Osborn gets a chance to talk to a crowd, he never fails to arouse great enthusiasm and win many friends. He is a man to be reckoned with in this campaign.

Truman H. Newberry

Next in order of announcement is Truman H. Newberry. Mr. Newberry was former secretary of the navy under President Roosevelt and is at present, commander of the Third Naval District. He has for many years been a leading citizen of Detroit. Patriotic, honorable, generous in his private life, consistent in his political career, you always know just where to find Truman H. Newberry. While not posing as a public speaker, he is acknowledged to be a man of ability and one who, as U. S. Senator would well represent the interests of the state in the counsels of the nation.

Fred M. Warner

The last to announce his candidacy for this exalted office is Fred M. Warner. As governor for three terms, Mr. Warner displayed a large amount of executive ability. He is a business man not an orator, but he has demonstrated not only his ability as an executive, but his intense Americanism. He is loyal to his country and to his party. He is a man whom the state has delighted to honor and may delight to honor again.

These are all the candidates to announce themselves. Hon. Joseph W. Fordney has been repeatedly mentioned and no one can be chosen who would more ably nor fully represent the state than "Joe," but it is said he will have none of it. He prefers to stay in the lower house.

Hon. Pat Kelly of Lansing who has also demonstrated his marked ability as a congressman is another man prominently mentioned for Senator, but who has discouraged the idea, preferring to remain in Congress. He is at present on a mission to Europe and will be absent a month or more. It is altogether probable that he will not enter the contest.

The Courier announces above, all whom we believe have given or are really giving the subject of U. S. Senatorship serious thought. We are making these announcements that our readers may give them careful consideration. We shall from time to time publish such advertising for the various candidates as they see fit to run and pay for. The Courier may or may not in the future espouse the cause of any individual candidate, but if it does so, it will be done editorially and without compensation of any sort. Our advertising columns are for sale at regular rates to any worthy candidate, but our editorial columns are not for sale to any one at any price.

DRY FEEDING CATTLE.

Advantages of This Method of Handling Over Pasturing the Animals.

At the recent meeting of the Kankakee County (Ill.) Pure Bred Cattle Breeders' association visitors were given an opportunity of comparing the benefit of the so called dry feeding over that of pasture for cattle, says the Orange Judd Farmer.

E. M. Wright of Manteno exhibited two herds, one which had been raised on blue grass pasture after they were large enough and another which had been fed on silage, alfalfa, hay and cotton seed and which had never run on pasture in their lives. At the age of twenty-two months the herd of eleven cattle which had been dry fed averaged 1,400 pounds each, and at the same age the herd of cattle which had run on good blue grass pasture averaged a little less than 1,100 pounds each.

The following is the diet of the calf until he is large enough to eat the dry feed: One pound of red dog flour, one pound of soluble blood flour, one pound of ground hominy meal and one pound of linseed meal mixed together in one gallon of water for one feed. The demonstration showed that more cattle could be raised by this method on fewer acres of land than by the old pasture method.

MEASURES OF CONTROL FOR DOCK FALSE WORM

(Prepared by United States department of agriculture.)

A green worm, known as the dock false worm, which causes considerable damage to apple crops, is found throughout the northern section of the United States and is noticeably prevalent in the state of Washington. The insect feeds upon certain succulent plants such as the docks, knotweeds and bindweeds. When these occur in an orchard the worm makes its way up the trunk of the tree and burrows into the fruit, causing it to rot. There can be little or no danger from this insect in clean cultivated orchards or in orchards where its food plants do not exist. However, where a perennial cover crop such as alfalfa is grown other control measures must be taken.

Efficient protection may be secured by banding the trees with cotton batting or with some sticky substance. In experiments by the department an eight inch strip of cotton batting was placed about the trunk of each tree and tied with a cord about the middle. The upper half of the cotton band was then rolled down over the cord. Good results also were obtained by applying to the trunks of the trees a band of a commercial sticky substance one-eighth inch thick and three inches wide. The lower limbs of the trees should be kept well up from the ground, and any props used also should be banded. Bands should be put on in the latter part of August and left on until after the fruit is harvested.

Spread the Manure.

From the standpoint of conserving its plant food about the poorest place manure can be kept is in a heap, writes a correspondent of the Ohio Farmer. It is likely to ferment and in so doing it will lose nitrogen and organic matter, and unless it is protected from rains there is likely to be much loss from leaching. In experiments at the Ohio station manure stored in heaps from January to April lost 35 per cent of its organic matter, 22 per cent of its phosphorus, 51 per cent of its potassium and 36 per cent of its nitrogen. While I would not undertake to say that there are no losses when it is spread in the field, they are greatly reduced, as long time experiments have proved. The greater part of the leachings are promptly absorbed by the soil and are distributed where they are wanted.

Frozen Roots.

Roots will not give as good results after they have been frozen as though they were properly stored. They will not kill hogs or cattle, provided they are thoroughly thawed out before feeding. If possible they should be kept frozen until just long enough before feeding so that they may be thoroughly thawed. After having been frozen they will rot very quickly after being thawed out, and much care should be taken especially in feeding the cows that no spoiled beets be given them.

Don't Fatten Breeders.

Be sure and see that the hens in the breeding pens are not too fat. The offspring of any overfat animal is likely to lack vitality and vigor. The same holds true with hens. The loss of many of the chicks which pip the eggs in the incubator and fail to get out of the shell can be attributed to this cause.

THE FIRST INVASION

We are scarcely recovering from the shock of the first invasion of our coast by German submarines, yet such an attack has been expected ever since war was declared on the Hun nation. It seems almost unbelievable that so large a number of submarines as appear to be strung along our coast without knowledge of our navy, and that such a wholesale sinking of United States ships could have been accomplished without capture or destruction of some of the U-bouts.

German submarines have been sighted along the coast at various times for more than a week, and armed ships, patrol boats, destroyers and cruisers no doubt have been on the look-out for them, but it seems that the stealthy submarine has eluded their alertness and made prey of many craft.

The sinking of the ships along our own coast bears out the statements by naval authorities that the submarines are cowards, that they are wary of attacking even armed merchantmen, much less naval ships. It, is noted that the first three ships identified as being sunk in the coast raid were small craft, sailing vessels, and were practically defenseless against the attack of most any kind of war ship.

The work of submarines corresponds to the conduct of the German army on land—the specialty is to destroy the weak and helpless. Where the German army has faced anything like equal numbers and equal equipment, it has been a miserable failure. German battleships have remained safely at Kiel ever since war was declared, the U-boats taking the initiative, and where they have encountered well armed ships, destroyers and cruisers, they have usually been sent to the bottom.

The submarine is seldom discovered until it fires a torpedo, or comes to the surface to attack an unarmed merchantman. It travels so nearly submerged that it can not be sighted any great distance, and when approaching its enemy ships leaves nothing but the tiny periscope sticking above the water. So, it is not surprising that even a flotilla of submarines could lie along the coast and escape the most vigilant patrol. The wonder is that more ships have not been sunk.

In relation it must be remembered that the United States has transported hundreds of thousands of troops to France, hundreds of cargoes of supplies and munitions for the American army and the armies of our allies, without losing one ship until the President Lincoln was torpedoed on a return trip a few days ago.

It is evident that the raid along the New Jersey coast was planned more to terrorize than accomplish a naval achievement. The ships sunk were coast-wise vessels and were of minor or no significance in the war. Had the attack been launched on trans-Atlantic shipping and been successful, then it would have been of military advantage to Germany. But the trans-Atlantic shipping is well guarded by convoys, hence the Huns steered clear of the lanes of war traffic.

The sinking of the small coastwise vessels was merely to scare Americans, but the effect has been to arouse Americans to fighting pitch, just as the ravishing of women and maiming of children in Belgium and France stirred up the blood of the French, English, Canadians and Australians until they will all die fighting rather than submit to Hun "kultur" government. It would not be surprising for a submarine to carry its frightfulness directly into New York harbor some night, but such an attack would only intensify the hatred for the Hun.

The attack on our own coast has aroused the nation probably more than a long casualty list from the front. The casualty list has been so regular during the past few months that it has become almost commonplace and is read with calm demeanor as a part of the "war news." The sea raid is something new, sensational, a blow between the sleepy eyes of Americans that has awakened them to the fact that we are at war with Germany. And the awakening will be noticed. The more disastrous the raid the more determined will Americans be to take vengeance on Germany and everything that is German, and crush the pro-German in our midst.

Americans haven't got their "mad up" yet, but the time is not far distant until she will be in full-fledged fighting spirit, and then Germany will know that America will do more than "protest" with diplomatic language. The time is not far distant when every American will say

"DAMN THE HUN."

The difference between Great Britain and Germany is this: Great Britain rules the waves, and Germany waives the rules.

The war profiteer will be uncomfortable some day when his children and grandchildren ask him what he did to help win the war.

After killing the hospital nuns possibly the kaiser will tell the Pope that it was merely an act of "Me und Gott."

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM SOLOIER BOYS

to the main barracks, about a mile and a half away. That is, its a mile between camps and we're in the farther end of this one. But we done'er and arrived there feeling like fighting cocks—which had just taken the count.

"They gave me the nicest post. It was in back of the hospital, guarding a naval prisoner in a tent. There was a good thing about it. I didn't have to carry my 'multiplying' rifle, (multiplying because it doubles in weight for every hour you carry it) but was given a 'gat' to 'pack.' I'm sure glad the old boy was too sick to try to run away, for the gun was so big, I don't guess I'd had nerve enough to shoot it.

"We were relieved at five the next afternoon, marched back and paid off (off like blazes) for the month. I believe I had the biggest wave of 'love for country' when they passed me my little fist handle of money, that I've had yet.

"And it wasn't until I'd been paid, —about six p. m. that I happened to call to mind that it was my birthday. I sure am getting old—nineteen yesterday. I'll be old enough to enll myself a marine in a couple of years from now.

"This extended order drill they've been giving us would be fun, if it wasn't that the cussed sand is so hot it makes your eyebrows curl every time they call out—'piny dead,' or to be exact 'down.' It would be more fun if they'd give us blank cartridges too, for it isn't horribly thrilling to be sprawled out all over the map of South Carolina, snapping an empty rifle at a Hun about four thousand miles away.

"I was pretty much warried for a few days. We go on the range tomorrow, and as I have a dislocated tendon in my right knee, I thought it meant that I got to be made a cook or something equally inviting.

"I tried to hop a negro's flivver at the applicant's camp when I first got here, and tripped, but outside of a stiff knee, it didn't bother me any. It doesn't bother a bit now in marching, but I can't kneel. When we were first given positions in firing, I blew up so went to the sick bay where the doctor told me what was the trouble, and said that if I wanted it treated, I'd have to go on light duty for a while—two weeks or so. I went back and after a talk with our non-coms who said that if I went on sick list, I'd lose my company and have to start over again when I got off, I let it go, and now they have decided to let me shoot sitting instead of kneeling.

"The Marine Corps have the best shooting branch of the service, and for that matter of the world, for eighty per cent and over qualify. Here's hoping I'm not one of the twenty per cent. Our captain said that if ninety per cent of us didn't qualify, he'd see to it that we all were stationed right here on this blamed island, so we all intend to work. Out of sixty-four men who finished the other day, there were eleven experts, seventeen sharpshooters, twenty-three marksmen, eleven first class riflemen and two who got nothing.

"Now grandma, its like this. I guess I've raved enough about having to work hard—BUT. I'm not, nor is anyone else working too hard. Nor is there anything at all to really kick about. What if we do work? Lord, we didn't enlist to go to pink teas. The food is good and there's lots of it. We keep busy, and we are all having a really good time. Everyone kicks at something, but you put the same bunch of us in a summer resort as guests, and we'd kick just as much about something or other. It seems to be taken for granted that you aren't good natured if you don't kick about nearly everything that happens. Of course there are a few who are really sorry they enlisted—and they are the ones that will be sorrier before they get out. I'm darn glad I got in and I kick as much as anyone else. You get out mussing up the island with a shovel and everyone swears that in another hour they'll desert. Then you come in, wash up and get chow, and everyone leaves the table with their belts loosened about three inches, but everyone kicks because there wasn't enough to eat. Then we turn to and wash clothes, and everyone cusses all the time and declares it's an outrage. Next a shower, and the water is too hot or too cold. Next everyone either writes letters, or goes to the movies and cusses at something else. Just about taps everyone begins to realize that they are feeling pretty good after all, and this isn't such a tough old world as it might be, but at first call the next morning, there is something else to cuss at—and that's the way it goes. It's supposed to be an offense to swear here—but tell Funny Curtier I'll teach him some new ones when I get home.

"All my love." BOB.

Three letters from Dean Scroggie, now doing ambulance duty in France, relieves the tension and anxiety at home concerning his safety and health. From his view point of the great struggle, the present big drive may be the deciding factor and the war may end by the first of the year:

Mother's Day Letter.

"Dear Mother—Tomorrow is Sunday and more than that, it is Mother's Day. We were told that a mother's letter would be hurried on through. Tonight, I and a chum are sitting up in the attic of a little old farm house near the front, writing to our mothers, trying to tell them how much we appreciate them. I know you are always thinking of me, and when the war will finish. Yesterday one of the boys received word that his mother had passed away. It sure made us all set up and think, for that is a place no no one else can fill. Mother, I can't send you flowers this year, but you know I am thinking of you each night. I wish I could tell you all the good things I have to eat, but my picture which I enclose shows it better. I will close hoping to wear the pink flower with you next year.

"With all the love that one can give, from your son,

DEAN.

"Dear Mother and Dad—As you know I am now one year older and of course you wonder how I spent the day. We are now back at the front, but not where we wished to go. Four cars came out a little early to learn the roads, and I happened to be one of them. We stay out at the front post for two days then others take our place. This was May 3rd. It was my turn for K. P. which is 'kitchen police.' I never thought last year that I would be washing dishes, serving eats, and general flunkey in a little kitchen near the front. Mother, I wish you could see us. We are stationed in a little farm house near one of France's big rivers. You know how all of us like the water. We finished our work early in the afternoon, so some of us took a swim.

"It rains a lot, but the last week it has been real hot, although the nights are cool. Life is easy now. I have been to the front and finished my 'K. P.' so now I am practically free until my turn comes around again. I hope you received my pictures. I am sorry I had my hat on in all of them but as my hair is short I'll wait for a while.

"Gee, won't we three have some time when I get back. Mother, a great deal may come of the big offensive at the Somme—it may mean the end this fall or next winter. Let us hope for the best. I know you are all well and enjoying the summer.

"Love from your son, Dean."

May 16, 1918.

"Dear Mother and Dad—Well today is surely sunny France. For two days it has been as hot as August, and you may think it funny but it hasn't rained. It rains here all the time. Had a dandy swim in the river and you know how I like the water. Mother, can you imagine me doing my own washing. It sure strikes me funny. Yesterday I jumped into my high topped rubber boots and waded in, and with soap and brush on an old board, you should see the dirt fly. I just returned from the post and after filling up the car with gas and washing it, I had to tinker it up, for one has to have it so that it can be depended upon. There is very little to do when back for it is quiet in this section.

"Mother, you hear queer reports about me being sick. Do not believe them, for you will be notified by the government the minute anything serious happens. I will also send you a cablegram, so there is no cause for worry.

"Yesterday I took a trip to the trenches and found some fine Boche souvenirs. Will try to send you a German helmet. You should have been here last night. It was just as warm as an August evening and the moon was out. We all sat out under the trees and had a dandy songfest. Three of the fellows play and we sang everything we know.

"It is nearly noon and the cook has some fine dinner for us, so I will close. With love to you and Dad,"

DEAN.

Maurice Nowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nowland, one of the late recruits sent from this county, now stationed at Camp McArthur, writes interestingly of camp life and incidents while enroute:

6th Provisional Co., Recruit Camp
Texas, May 23, 1918.
7th Div., Camp MacArthur.
Waco, Texas, May 23, 1918.

"Dear Mother and All—I suppose you are all wondering about me and what I am doing and how I feel. Just as I am wondering about you. Well, first of all I will tell you how I feel. We just had breakfast about an hour ago, so I am feeling fine.

"There are eight men to a squad, and we have a tent with a board floor and boarded up the sides for about four feet. We sleep on folding cots, using our own blankets, and it is quite comfortable.

"The cook camp is in front facing the road, and our tents are in a row running back from that, and you can see rows of tents as far as you can see. There are large fields in the center, where squads of soldiers are drilling all day. There are about thirty tents in a row, and back of them are bath houses where you can take a shower bath at any time. There is a place to wash clothing. The water is piped so all you have to do is turn on the faucet. Of course all the water here is warm, so it makes it just right for bathing.

"We get coffee for breakfast, and water for the other two meals. The feed is good, and of a variety and you can have all you want, so no one kicks on the grub here. It certainly tastes good. We have to line up with tin plates, knives and forks, and as we go in the door we line up along the counter and the cook puts a large spoonful of each kind of food on our plates. If we do not have enough we can go back after more.

"It stays cloudy here in the morning until nine or ten o'clock, and there is a good breeze blowing all day so it is not so terribly warm.

"We are in quarantine for two weeks, so we will sure have a good rest. We were vaccinated and inoculated in Columbus and my vaccination is working this time. We expect to be moved as soon as we are out of quarantine, and will probably be sent to California.

"I like it down here fine and came through some of the finest farming country I have ever seen. It was level, and you could see fields of cotton, corn and potatoes as far as you could see. The corn was about knee high, and looked bright and nice. The cotton was large enough for cultivating and chopping out. Lots of darkies were working in it and their shanties were built just a little ways from the road.

"We stopped at a little town by the name of Couisclano about forty-five miles from Waco. It was a very pretty town with lots of shade trees in front of the houses.

"There is an aviation camp in one corner of this camp. We cannot see it, but we can see the aeroplanes leaving from that direction every day. I can hear them going overhead as I am writing, and as I look out I can see three flying together. You can see as many as twenty-six flying at a time.

"It is hard to comprehend the size of this camp. They say there are eighty thousand men here now and that it will hold one hundred thousand. There are three of us in this squad that do not smoke. We also have a barber with us.

"We stopped at a little town by the name of Texarkana for about two hours. It is in the two states of Texas and Arkansas. We were allowed to get off and stretch our legs. It was here that the gray haired lady treated us to pie, gum, matches and cigarettes. She drove in an old-fashioned buggy, and had a little darkie with her, and believe me she drew a crowd around her all the time she was there. She dished out everything herself, starting with the pie and going up and down the platform until everything was gone and then getting something more. She also took all the post cards without stamps and mailed them. An old darky told me that she was very wealthy, and that she had met every train that came in with soldiers on since last August. She said nothing was too good for her boys.

"I did not care much for the state of Arkansas. The people did not look very prosperous, and part of it was low and swampy. We passed by one place where a river had overflowed its banks. One family was living in the second story, and some people had row-boats tied to their porches.

"Well as you know I like to travel and have always wanted to see the south, so you may know that I thoroughly enjoyed the trip. We were out of luck coming down, we had corn beef, bread and coffee, and got kind of tired of it, but we are well fed down here.

"I would like to hear from all of you as it gets a little lonesome here. It seems as though I have been gone a month. Its hard to get stamps while in quarantine. All the boys are hollering for them, and they won't let us go out of our own street. Some of the boys get the regulars to get them for them. Your son,"

MAURICE.

May 30, 1918.

"Dear Folks—As this is Decoration Day suppose you are wondering what I am doing. Well I am getting along fine and will soon be as tough as a mexican steer fed on cactus and barbed wire.

"Today is a holiday for us, but that does not mean much, only that we do not have to drill. We got our second shot in the arm Monday and that took the pep out of me for a couple of days.

"Yesterday we drilled out in a big field. They surely walked our legs off in the afternoon going through the drills. When we came in for supper we were ready for it, but mostly a drink of cold water is the greatest luxury I know of down here. They keep a big can with ice in it all the time. A little of the water that you draw out of the faucet goes a long ways. It is real warm and about one swallow is all you want.

"Well right after retreat last night, which is about 6:30, I made a run for the bathhouse, and took a good shower bath, and I felt fine, so I went over to the Y. M. C. A. for a while. I don't care how much they drill us, I can stand it to march around if the officers can. They haven't anything on me. I'm glad I brought that pillow along, the boys all envy me.

"Our tents are square with posts around the sides and about as high as your head. The sides are boards up a little ways. There are four rafters running up from each corner, making a square roof, which is covered with a heavy khaki canvas. At night we keep it rolled up even with the rafters, so we get good ventilation. During the day we have to roll the tent up on the rafters as far as we can reach upstanding on the platform, so that plenty of sunshine enters the tent. Its very nice when we are away drilling, but today we are just living out doors. We get the full benefit of the dust that rolls around, and we have to keep moving to keep in the shade.

"There are eight of us to a tent, and only a few of us are in the tent at a time or it would keep us busy trying to keep in the shade. I can say with authority that the old sun does shine down here very nicely. I have to keep this paper held down tight, for if it started blowing it would blow across the seventeen states before it ever stopped.

"I bet you would laugh if you could walk in here and see me. I got my hair clipped to give it a chance to grow and keep the sand out. My head was a little tender at first, but we run around quite a little in the sun without our hats, and it is beginning to feel as tough as a cocoanut.

"Well, I wouldn't back out of this if I could. I am satisfied and I am learning to like to do some things that I didn't like to do. When we get out of quarantine I suppose we will get a hard training of about eight hours a day. I will get a chance then to look around the town and it won't be quite as lonesome. I haven't had a chance to look the country over, either. All I have told you is about the bad qualities. I don't want to be a knocker so as soon as I find out what its good qualities are I will let you know.

"Some of the fellows here are learning that they have to be fully dressed when they are called out and many other things. Some of them are doing kitchen police duty, because they didn't go according to rules. Its all very simple. All you have to do is keep your eyes open and your mouth shut.

"It seems as though I have been away a couple of months, just because I haven't been able to hear from any of you. Well I will get a letter in a few days now. I hope you are all feeling as good as I am. Don't worry and I will get through all right. Your loving son,"

MAURICE.

Word from Forrest McGeagh, written on Mother's Day, states that he is getting along nicely and that army life seems to agree with him. He deplores the fact that the strict censorship deprives him of the opportunity of writing more about army life and what the boys are doing. However, any word from the boys "over there" is most welcome and all are glad they are doing so well.

Mother's Day,
Somewhere in France.

"Dear Folks at Home—I received your letter a few days ago but thought I would wait until today before answering, on account of letters written on Mother's Day being sent out at once, thus enabling them to reach you at an early date.

"Am feeling fine—in fact, was never in better health than I am these days. The climate seems to agree with me, and although it rains a great deal, it is fine, almost like summer in Michigan.

"You wanted me to tell you of Clare Nowland and Harry Webb. I have not seen them for over two weeks, but they were all right at that time. 'Candy' is a corporal and Harry a first-class private. I didn't want to leave them on account of being such good friends, but in the army one is compelled to do many things you do not care to do. I think I will be able to see them some time this week and will tell them to write home.

"I am sorry I can't write you more about the country, army life, troop movements, etc., but you know the censorship is very strict, and if I attempted to, would be called down and the information stricken out by the censor.

"Give my best regards to inquiring friends. Tell them we are coming out on top or else we won't come out at all. We all long for the day when the day when the war will cease and we can come marching home victorious. It won't be long, I think."

"Your son, FORREST.

LIME ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water.

If you must have your meat every day eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three time during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

School Commissioner's Notes

Miss Howard closes the school at Rock Elm on June 14 with a picnic. Miss LaLonde closes the East Chandler school the same date with a picnic.

The Knopp school will close June 14. Miss Cook will return with a fine increase in salary.

Miss Metcalf closes a successful term of school in Chandler June 6. She will teach a neighboring school next year after spending the summer in Ferris Institute.

The commissioner received a friendly "hello" from three Charlevoix county teachers who are resorting in B. I. for the summer. Miss Berg, Miss Scroggie and Miss Worth had to be away from home but did not want to be left out of the registration and wished to be registered by proxy. The deed was done.

Miss Barkley writes that May 31 was her last day of school in the Clark district. The pupils went to Charlevoix in cars to celebrate the event.

It takes considerable adding, and several trials in estimates to arrive at the very best examination returns in a group of a hundred sets of papers. Thus the most important news regarding the examination comes late, after the essentials have been cared for. You are now waiting to hear that the four best averages in the county are as follows: Otilla Schmidt, Beaver Island, average 89.2 per cent. Teacher, Sr. Ida.; Floyd Hausler, Boyne Falls, average 87.1. Teacher, Marion Savidge. Tereasa O'Donnell, Beaver Island, average 87.0. Teacher, Sr. Ida. Leo McDonough, St. James, average 85.4. Teacher, Sr. Ida. Leo also had the best special agricultural test and wins the trip to the Boys' State Fair School next fall.

Word comes from Supt. Keeler that the night of annual meetings of school districts will also be made nights for patriotic rallies everywhere throughout the state. A local patriotic program in every schoolhouse, and a speaker for every district is what Mr. Keeler's message means. This means considerable work for the Charlevoix County War Board and for the school commissioner, as well as for the school officers of each district, but surely Charlevoix county will fall in line and plans will will be made at once. We have done it before and we can do it again. Let us plan for a big night.

Junior Red Cross Notes

Last week's notice told of Boyne's big drive and of her success. This week finds the formal application for enrollment on file. Miss Martin is city school chairman of the third ward. Application for her wards not yet received. The pledge is brief but unique, simply "We shall work to help the boys 'Over There.'"

Thrift reports should not decrease during vacation. The national drive for the entire W. S. S. quota comes in June. Our schools will all be closed. May they leave a Junior Red Cross committee to represent the schools in this drive?

Mr. Jeffers, of the State Board of Education tells us that he is frequently disgusted with speakers who tell of what they can not do in their schools by way of hand work just because they have so many boys. His boys knit, he says, and are proud to do it. The boys of his high school in Iron county, Painesville township, knit 282 sweaters. His wife is the county Junior Red Cross chairman and he says Iron county always goes over the top, and that they intend to keep on doing it in order to back the 509 boys they sent in the last quota. He says they have largely foreigners up there in the mining country, but that they are more patriotic than other folks because they are Americans from choice and that the rest of us just take America for granted and don't realize just how much she stands for. It was a pleasant visit that we had with him, but the station was called all too soon and we didn't have time to tell him all the good things that plain Americans have done in Charlevoix county. Just a chance visit on the train but the news from up there sounds good.

There is prevalent an idea that all wheat flours are at present blended. This is not true. Iron Duke is one hundred per cent wheat flour. We have either the white or yellow corn meal or corn flour. These are the best substitutes. All dealers carry stocks of all these.

AEROPLANE HERO LEAVES TO WED

LIEUT. FRED MARSH GOES TO ST. JAMES

Was Terribly Burned and Lost Leg When Hun Bullet Explodes His Gasoline Tank

Lieut. Fred Marsh, of Detroit, hero of the Canadian aviation corps, who has been in the Petoskey hospital for treatment, has gone to Beaver Island to be married.

Lieutenant Marsh enlisted from Detroit in September, 1914, and for a time drove an airplane over London to repel Zeppelins. Later he was transferred to France, and it was while there that a Hun airman's machine gun penetrated his gasoline tank. The tank exploded and the machine took fire. The gunner jumped to his death, but Marsh held his seat, terribly burned, until within one hundred feet of the earth, when he also jumped. He was picked up for dead, but eight months in a French hospital healed him sufficiently to enable him to come to Detroit, where he passed another four months in a hospital.

As a result of his burns and injuries Lieutenant Marsh now has only one leg. He is thirty-two years of age, and talks interestingly of his trips over Paris, where he was one of the home aviation guard, and of trips over the German lines. He came to Beaver Island last summer to recuperate, and it was there and then that he met the girl he has gone to wed. He is to return to Petoskey to lecture on bis expcriences, he says. —Petoskey Evening News.

NOW SAFE ON FRENCH SOIL

MAIL DELAYED BY TRANSFER OF TROOPS

Private Leonard Herrington, With Headquarters Co., Writes Interesting Letter to Parents

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Herrington received two letters from their son, Leonard, now with Headqaurters Co., in France, under recent date. Evidently at the time they were written the boys were still among the reserve forces, but at the present time may be on the firing line. The letters follow:

France, May 6, 1918.

Hdq. Co., 125th U. S. Inf., A. E. F., 32nd Division.

"Dear Mother and Father— I just received your most welcome letter of March 31, and I was glad to hear that you were all quits well, but I think that through some misunderstanding you think I haven't been receiving your letters and that I might think that you haven't been writing. Now don't feel that way. I have been getting as many letters as could be expected. I will try and explain the cause of the delay so you can understand. I only got a few letters while I was a Camp Merritt, N. J. Then of course I didn't get any more mail until we had been here in France a week or ten days, so that made an elapse of about a month that I didn't get a letter. But I knew all the time that it was no fault of yours. It was just a matter of necessary time for us to get over here and for the large quantity of mail for the whole division to be sorted and distributed. So don't worry about that any more.

"In your letter you said father wasn't feeling very well yet after the effects of his bronchial sickness last winter, but was gaining. I hope he is able to work by this time, because I know what this time of the year means.

"You asked in your letter how many eggs I ate Easter. That is an easy question to answer, because we had none at all. I guess the price of eggs is so high that it pays to sell them and buy other kinds of food instead of furnishing eggs for such a large army of men.

"So the teacher said her brother wrote to them, that we were at work doing construction work near the firing line. It is all O. K. except the place which I am not permitted to tell.

"Mother, you said in your letter that you hardly knew what you dared to write, but I don't know as you need to be so careful about what you say. But you may ask me some questions which I can't answer, because we are not allowed to tell some certain things.

"Dear Father—I see in your letter that you are feeling better and you expected to start plowing soon. That is good. I am sure glad to hear that you are feeling better and I wish that I, too, could start plowing soon, but I guess I can't right away, but hope to soon.

"You said the day that you wrote your letter was election day and you were going and wished you could see me there. I sure wish so too, but it will probably be some time before that can happen, so all I can do this time is wish you good luck.

"It seems rather queer that you haven't received my allotment before this. I spoke to my company sargeant not long ago and I think it will reach you within six weeks from the present date, and it is being looked up now. I hope they will hurry it up a little. It has been kept out of my pay for about five months. Oh, say, we get paid in French money over here and it is queer looking stuff. The paper money looks like soap wrappers and tobacco coupons. Their standard is known as francs as ours is dollars. One franc is worth 19 3-10 cents, their distinction of fractions of a franc is standardized as centimes. Three centimes equals one cent, 10 centimes equals one and 9-10 cents; 100 centimes equals one franc.

"I can tell you one thing that seems good to me and that is, I am where I can get milk to drink and it reminds me of home. I can buy it for eight cents a quart.

"Well, it is bedtime and I can't think of any more to write, so I will close hoping this finds you all well and getting along fine.

"From your loving son,"
Pvt. Leonard O. Herington.

School district No. 4 of Banks township's quota was $31.50. The generous farmers although there were only a few in number donated with willing hearts and said they would do anything to help our country and her army and navy soldiers. $41.00 was received. If all the citizens of this country could only do the same it would be a great benefit to our government.

SCHOOL CLOSED WITH PICNIC

DINNER ONE OF FEATURES OF DAYS FESTIVITIES

School Closes One of Most Eventful Years in its History—Winners In Athletic Events

Friday afternoon of last week wns the closing of the school year at the Bentley Hill district and the writer had the privilege of attending the closing exercises. The exercises this year took the form of an old-fashioned picnic and athletic program conceded by all to be far superior to any event of the kind ever held in this locality.

Not only the teacher and pupils alone were on hand at the noon hour but the entire neighborhood had declared a half holiday and were there for the dinner—and such a dinner. The Bentley Hill people are conceded to be among the most patriotic and loyal to the food administration's plan, but for the once, Mr. Hoover was forgotten and the cooks showed their culinary ability.

Tables had been arranged in the beautiful maple grove on the H. S. Peebles farm and the teacher, DeWitt Patterson, says the easiest job of the year was in lining the crowd up at the call to eats. The only thing which marred the event was when Pete Dennis got "foundered" and had to be carried from the table and operated on with a stomach pump.

The athletic program was held following dinner and practically the entire forty pupils took part. Mr. Patterson is himself an athlete and has instilled the athletic spirit into the children until their ability ranges from all good to some extraordinary.

The sports were held on the school ground and consisted of racing, jumping, etc., even a tug-of-war being an interesting feature, and the old people as well as the youngsters enjoyed every minute of the two hours needed to find the winners of the different events.

The Bentley school has closed one of the most successful years of its history and the credit should be divided between the hard, conscientious work of the teacher and the cooperation of the parents.

Boys 100-yard dash—1st Lucas Reamsma; 2nd. Lambert Doctor.

Girls Running Board Jump—1st Pearl Johnstone; 2nd, Lizzy Dennis.

COMMUNICATIONS

Ellsworth, June 8, 1918.

Editor, Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Sir—Referring to item in this week's issue of your paper regarding the notice painted on door of freight house, I wish to say to the people through your paper that the party who done this is a liar, sneak and a dirty cur. "I apologize to the dog," and that I have put more money in government bonds and paid more into the Red Cross a hundred to one than he has, whoever he is, and I don't go around with a signboard on my back advertising it either. In justice to yourself and me, kindly publish this letter also the name of the party who phoned you this news as it is very evident that the one that phoned you is the one that painted the sign. Please send me half a dozen copies of your paper of next week with bill for same and oblige.

Respectfully yours,
W. Slough, Agt. P. M. Ry.

In commenting on the above. we desire to give the writer full credit for each and every good deed he has done, that has been brought to our attention—and at the same time omit nothing to his discredit.

From what we can learn there's been trouble brewing for sometime past and the climax came with the painting of the sign above mentioned on the door of the depot on Tuesday night of last week.

Mr. Slough makes the statement "that I have put more money into government bonds and paid more into the Red Cross a hundred to one than he has, whoever he is." Possibly he has, as we are not acquainted (not to our knowledge at least) with the artist who handled the yellow brush. But—how did Mr. Slough happen (it was not voluntary nor prompted by his extreme generosity or loyalty to country) to donate these vast amounts he refers to.

As near as we can find out, and we have interviewed many of the best and most influential citizens of Ellsworth, Mr. Slough has never, with the exception of once, donated a cent to either cause unless considerable pressure was brought to bear upon him and he deemed it advisable, to save himself from serious trouble and possibly treatment more strenuous than the painting of his freight house door, to come across.

We are told that during the late fall of last year, in the Red Cross membership drive, he and one member of the family, became members, the fee being $1.00 per membership. $2.00—please note. That the first Liberty Bond campaign passed without his name being added to the honor roll. That the second Liberty Loan campaign passed without him being aware of it—not at least by buying a bond. Then came the third Liberty Loan campaign. We have been told that he was approached several times and urged to buy bonds and that he refused. That one of the leading officials of the P. M. railroad urged him to buy, and that again he refused. That up to the time a certain Mr. Oosterdyke of Grand Rapids was in the village, called to Ellsworth to address a mass meeting, he had not bought a bond. That Mr. Oosterdyke called upon him at his place of business and came away with the assurance that he, Mr. Slough, would soon invest. That within the day Mr. Slough bought bonds to the extent of $500.00 (some say $550 and others say not, but we will place the amount at $500.00.)

That during the recent Red Cross drive he had been approached several times and asked to do his duty and subscribe, but he still refused to do so. Then came the painting of the sign on the depot door.

An eye witness tells us that Mr. Slough spent the early morning hours of Wednesday of last week in a frantic endeavor to efface all evidence of the work of the previous night. That when this had been accomplished to his satisfaction, he made his way to the Citizens Bank, disgorged a five dollar bill, or an amount equal, paid it to the cashier of the bank, stating at the time that it was his desire that nothing be said of the time the payment was made. He was given a receipt for this amount, we are also informed, dated June, but no day inserted.

Then in the heighth of his indignation, he typewrote the above "message" to the editor of the Courier. We are complying with the request, and have mailed him a half dozen extra copies, also bill for same.

While making these investigations we have been told of several, not many, however, matters for which Mr. Slough should be given credit, such as donations to the poor and needy and occassionally to help pay the expense of some local celebration or days' observance. That on Tuesday, June 11, at about 11:00 a. m., he walked into the store of D. E. Clow and Co. and donated $25.00 to the Red Cross. We ask our readers to take these instances into consideration. We firmly believe we have done justice both to Mr. Slough and ourselves, as he has asked.

In our estimation he made no sacrifice in the buying of bonds—merely loaned his money to his country at the same rate of interest paid by any bank. Taking a membership in the Red Cross is merely the duty of any real, patriotic American citizen. The donation of the $25.00 was an effort on his part to regain, at least, a shred of respect of the citizens of Ellsworth—but his request to conceal the date—how can we classify it? Can we in any manner compare his actions and sacrifices? with those of the many boys—our boys we can rightly say—who are somewhere in France, "doing all in their power to make the world safe for democracy; willing, if necessary, to make the supreme sacrifice?" We leave this to your own good judgment.

Still we are glad that Mr. Slough has at last "seen the light," and trust he will be ready, voluntarily, to buy bonds in the fourth loan and help the Red Cross when the next drive comes along.

"For while the lamp holds out to burn,
The vilest sinner may return."

The First Infantry Guns Weighed 75 Pounds

FOOT soldiers began to carry firearms about 1350, huge, clumsy guns weighing from 25 to 75 pounds.

Mere hand cannon, iron or copper tubes, they were leveled by a forked support, and fired at a touch hole.

With the invention of the wheel-lock arquebus, in 1517, the first self-firing gun, the musket, was a quick step.

Like the first guns, automobile tires, when Goodrich began to develop them, were crude, clumsy affairs, and it's a long, long road of improvement to the symmetrical—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

The history of the last twenty-two years of The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company is pretty much the history of pneumatic automobile tire.

But whether Goodrich was bringing forth America's first clincher tire, or America's first cord tire—

Goodrich built tires to but one end—SERVICE VALUE to the user—the worth of the tire to the motorist on his car and on the road in comfort, economy, dependability and durability, and mileage.

That is why the tire user to-day gets the utmost SERVICE VALUE in GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, and BLACK SAFETY TREADS.

The Man Who Does Things

Truman H. Newberry

Now as never before this country must have in the United States Senate able men, experienced men, men far sighted and unafraid.

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY is such a man. He is always to be depended upon. He is not a dreamer, but a worker, a man who does things. He is a business man of rare judgment. He is unhesitating and well-balanced. His breadth of vision, his ability to handle large affairs, and his sense of justice and fair play splendidly qualify him to serve in the United States Senate and to help solve the big problems arising and to arise out of the war.

Commander Newberry is now serving in the Third Naval District. He is going to continue to stay by his work and to do all he can to help win the war. His friends are actively presenting his qualifications to the people of Michigan as a man who would make a splendid United States Senator. Men of all walks of life are behind the movement because Truman Newberry would be a Senator who would stand squarely for right, for justice and for equality.

ALLEN SENDS IN HIS RESIGNATION

As Chairman of Charlevoix County War Savings Committee

H. K. Allen, who since about the first of the year has been chairman of the county war savings committee, tendered his resignation last week, owing to his unability to give proper attention to the work during the busy summer months. As yet we are informed, a chairman has not been named to fill the vacancy. Following is letter received by him, acknowledging his resignation:

Mr. H. K. Allen,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Sir:

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of your wire of the 8th inst., announcing your resignation as Chairman of Charlevoix county.

"We regret that this resignation is necessary, but presume to say that the busy season is now on in Charlevoix county, and your attention is needed elsewhere.

"We wish to thank you Mr. Allen for the assistance you have given us in the past, and sincerely hope that we may have your co-operation in so far as you are able to give it during the coming campaign.

"With best wishes, I am, yours very truly,"

J. L. THOMPSON,
Director of Organization.

RAN IN FRONT OF FORD CAR

Young Son of Wm. Santos Suffers Broken Leg

The first serious auto accident of the season took place on Bridge street, opposite Ashdoa's Barber shop, Saturday afternoon, with the result that Joseph Santos, the 7-year-old son of William Santos, is confined to his home with a broken leg and other minor bruises.

The young lad was hit by a Ford car driven by Joseph Lorentz of Bay Shore. Lorentz was driving slowly north on Bridge street and when opposite the barber shop, the lad ran out from behind another car parked near the curb. He and the Ford met head-on without warning to the driver. The boy was knocked down, the wheels of the car passing over his right leg, breaking it between the knee and hip.

No blame can be attached to the driver for the injury to the young lad, as it was purely accidental.

If your Ford car needs repairs, bring it here. We have the largest stock of Ford parts in the county—Benj. Brown. 20tf.

POULTRY WISDOM.

As a means to weeding out poor layers and raising the standard of production, pedigree breeding is unsurpassed.

Many cases of disease in the poultry yard could have been prevented if the drinking vessels had been scalded occasionally to rid them of disease germs.

The best sized eggs are produced by the regular layers, while the spasmodic producer usually has an assortment of sizes.

Fix up a sheltered corner for the early broody. A newspaper in the bottom of the nest helps keep the eggs warm.

It stunts chicks and young hens to get short of grit and shells.

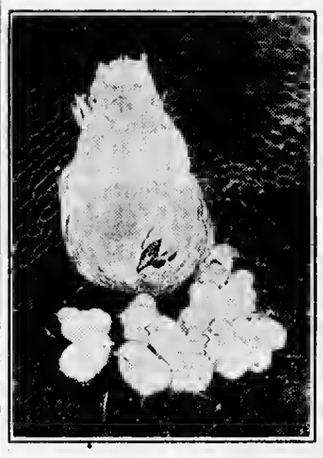
If we allow eggs for hatching to get too old or too cold we may expect bad luck with the incubator.

HARDENING CHICKS.

Importance of Regulating the Temperature Under the Hovers.

The New Jersey station calls attention to the importance of the proper regulation of the temperature under the hovers in brooders, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The brooder is thoroughly cleaned and adjusted, and the temperature regulated and maintained uniformly at 98 to 100 degrees two or three days before the chicks are transferred from the incubators, in order that they may feel no sudden change when transferred. Maintain this temperature for two days after the chicks are placed in the brooder. Thereafter gradually lower the temperature beneath the hover until it is about 95 degrees at the end of the first week, 90 at the end of the second and 80 at the end of the third.

Continue this so called hardening off process so that at the end of the sixth week the chicks will be receiving little artificial heat, depending upon the climatic conditions and temperature in the brooder house. The chicks thus gradually become accustomed to conditions met in the colony house and on the range. Run the lamps and stoves as uniformly as possible and avoid variations in temperature from day to day or from night to day. See that lamps and stoves are adjusted to meet any extreme changes in weather. The action of the chicks is an indication of whether or not they are receiving the proper amount of heat. If the temperature is right they will form a loose circle at night. If they are chilled they will tend to pile up against each other, often smothering some and weakening the rest. The proper temperature is the most important factor in artificial brooding.



RESULT OF NATURAL INCUBATION.

Poultry Manure.

Poultry manure is more valuable than that of any other common farm animal, and it should be properly handled to prevent waste. Frequent cleaning of the house is necessary, and an absorbent should be used daily—fine dry loam or road dust or mixtures of these used with land plaster and acid phosphate. Sawdust may also be used with good results. Sifted coal ashes, too, may be used, but not wood ashes or lime.

Analyses and value per ton of manure of different animals:

Animal	Nitrogen. Per cent	Phosphoric acid Per cent.	Potash. Per cent.	Value per ton
Poultry	0.95-2.00	0.50-2.00	0.80-.90	$7.07
Sheep	.768	.391	.591	3.30
Hogs	.540	.350	.320	3.29
Horses	.490	.290	.480	2.21
Cattle	.426	.280	.440	3.02

Poultry manure is particularly well adapted to gardening, and poultry raisers should either use it on their own gardens or dispose of it at a good price, thus increasing the profits of their flocks.

From 500 to 1,000 chicks may be comfortably brooded in one flock with a colony brooder. However, the specified capacity of any machine should not be overcrowded. Proper attention to all the chicks is impossible if they are crowded under a hover. There should be good ventilation under the hover at all times. It is well to keep the curtain raised a little. The house should not be allowed to become damp. At the Pennsylvania State college experiment station it is the practice to clean the hover about once a week or oftener if necessary and the brooder house about every two weeks.

PROCLAMATION FOR FLAG DAY

SLEEPER NAMES JUNE 14 AS DAY

Asks That Loyalty Be Re-affirmed Especially by Citizens Who Have Come From Other Lands

The following Flag Day proclamation has been issued by Governor Sleeper, setting June 14, as Flag Day:

Flag Day seems to have been first observed in 1894, when, by order of the governor of New York, the national flag was hoisted on the public buildings of that state in honor of the one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of its adoption by congress, June 14, 1777. The idea has spread until every state in the Union has adopted the custom.

This year the flag has for us a deeper meaning than ever before. It means more to the world. It carries a message of universal hope and cheer. It has become the symbol of the world's freedom. The world looks to us to save it, and by this sign we shall conquer. Our glorious banner proclaims America the hope of the world.

Let Flag Day be a day on which those who have come to us from other lands, and have here found freedom and opportunity, shall reaffirm their loyalty to the United States and her institutions; and let us all on that day pledge anew our allegiance to our flag, and our faith in those principles of liberty and justice upon which the republic was founded.

Therefore, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do issue this my proclamation, and urgently request that Friday, the 14th day of June, 1918, be observed as Flag Day.

Let flags be displayed on both public and private buildings; and I suggest that appropriate exercises be given in all the schools of the state on the afternoon of that day.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the state, this 6th day of June, in the year of our Lord, 1918, and of the commonwealth the eighty-second.

Albert E. Sleeper,
Governor.

By the Governor:
Coleman C. Vaughan,
Secretary of State.

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

WAS A VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

John H. Williams Answars to Roll Call at Age of 76

John H. Williams was born the 10th of March, 1842, in St. Johns, New Brunewick, and passed away Wednesday, June 12, 1918, heart trouble being the cause of his death. He had not been feeling well for a few days, but was not confined to his bed, being stricken Wednesday morning.

Mr. Willisms was a miller by trade, but gave that up and enlisted in Co. I, 2nd Regiment, Ohio cavalry volunteers on the 13th of August, 1861, to serve three years. He lost his left arm at the battle of Antietiam, and was given an honorable discharge January 27, 1863. His courage as a soldier and citizen was unsurpassed and at all times seemed possessed with iron muscles and nerves of steel.

Deceased had lived in Charlevoix for about thirty years, and had made many friends while here. He is survived by one son, Rossie Williams of this city. The G. A. R. and Rev. Pontious had charge of the services which were held Friday from the residence on Park Avenue.

DEATH CLAIMS DR. L. B. BARTLETT

HAD BEEN A RESIDENT OF CITY SINCE 1890

Conducted Hotel Bartlett for Over Fourteen Years—Will be Missed by a Host of Friends

Death claimed Dr. L. B. Bartlett, one of Charlevoix's well known residents, at his home on Park Avenue, late Wednesday evening of last week, after an illness covering a period of over eighteen months.

About eighteen months ago deceased was stricken with sugar diabetes. As the course of the disease developed, complication set in. About a year ago, symptoms of gangrene was discovered in his feet, causing one leg to be amputated below the knee. At various times later he was confined to his bed with the same trouble. About two weeks ago he began to rapidly fail, and all hopes of his recovery were given up. He lingered along until Wednesday morning, when he went to sleep at about six o'clock and did not awake, death claiming him at about midnight.

Deceased was born in Olmstead Falls, Ohio, in 1853. He moved to Charlevoix in 1890 and engaged in his chosen profession, taking up the practice of Dr. Brown. Five years later he purchased the hotel now known as the Hotel Charlevoix. Upon taking possession the name of the hostelry was changed to the Bartlett. He operated the hotel under this name for fourteen years, when he sold to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Baker.

After the sale he moved to the present home on Park avenue, where he conducted a private boarding house under the former name of the hotel.

Dr. Bartlett during his residence in the city made a host of friends, not only among the residents of this section, but among those who traveled on the road. He had a faculty of making those who stopped with him "feel at home," and as a citizen did his part toward the success and future prosperity of the community in which he lived. The news of his death was received with deep regret by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn their loss a wife, and daughter, Benona, of this city, also a daughter and son by former marriage, Mrs. Clara Rice of Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, and Frank C. Bartlett of Ashtabula, Ohio.

Funeral services were held from the residence Saturday morning at 10:00 a. m., Rev. C. E. Taggart, officiating.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Leo Powers Says He Will Be Obliged to Locate Himself on Map Before He Can Tell Where He Is—Forrest Weed Tells of Country Over There

Leo Powers, now somewhere in France, says it will be necessary for him to look at a map to locate himself. He has lost all track of time, place—completely taken up with the game of war. Following is a recent letter from him:

"Dearest Edna and Baby—I have been moved to another camp in France, so I will see if I can't write you a few more letters. I haven't been very good to you in that respect since arriving in this country.

"We are now quartered in a new camp about one and one-half days ride from where we landed. I don't knew where it is myself as I haven't seen a map, but it is one of the prettiest places I have seen. The barracks are of concrete, plastered inside and out, and the roofs are of red tile. It looks a lot like Miami, and the scenery around reminds me a lot of Florida, only its a lot prettier.

"In all the miles we traveled I didn't see one spot that was not being cultivated and made ready to produce something.

"There are things here that are different from the states, and they seem funny to a person when he first sees them. There are no wire fences at all, either stone walls or hedge fences separate the fields. Every town is full of walls and stone streets, and the lawns are very small. The only frame buildings are those put up for the armies. Lumber is so scarce. Railroad ties are of steel, and telephone poles are of concrete. The roads everywhere are fine, but the street cars and the railroads don't compare with those back home. The coaches and freight cars are just about one third the size of U. S. cars, and the engines small by comparison.

"I haven't seen two horses hitched side by side yet, one is ahead of the other. I saw quite a few oxen plowing, and in some towns donkeys and goats pulling two wheeled carts.

"Automobiles are scarce, but I think it is because the government has taken them all. I am told that gasoline sells for ninety cents a gallon, and a person has to have a permit before it can be purchased at all.

"I have not received any mail yet, and don't expect to for another month at least.

"Have not done any plumbing yet, but I am sure I will be at it pretty soon now. I was called before a Captain tonight and he wanted to know how long I had worked at my trade, also if I could play baseball. This last seemed to be the most important, after, I gave him a history of my achievements in both lines.

"I have become so interested in this business of war that I have lost track of affairs back home, but I am sure you don't need any of my poor advice, but if you do just drop a card and you will get the proper directions in a couple of months.

"I am sending you a couple of poems which I thought were pretty good. The one applies pretty well to the censorship, only of course a little exaggerated. Send them on to the folks at home after you are through with them. Send the letters too, so I can make their letters shorter which will save both myself and the ocasor some time. Write me all you can and tell me all about Ethel. She must be some girl by now, and I suppose she can sing, 'Somewhere In France is Daddy,' and I know she has not forgotten me. Love to all."

LEO W. POWERS.

Camp Series Apr. Rep. Troops, S. C. A. S., Co. F., A. E. F. via N. Y., France.

May 28, 1918.

"Dearest Edna and Baby—I think that about the time I am writing this letter you are receiving my first letter from this country, as I have now been here about two and one-half weeks.

"Things here are pleasant, and I am really enjoying it. Food, barracks and everything is much better here than in the states. Of course we are in one of the newest American camps, and they may not all be the same.

"I am a cook again, and work one day and have the next one off, so I have plenty of time to look around.

"I told you in my letter that France is a pretty country, and I will say so again, so you will know that I mean it.

"I took a long walk into the country yesterday, about six or seven miles, and I saw many interesting things. The people are of the poorer class around here, and as this is a small town they haven't seen much of the world. I saw many of them plowing with cows, not oxen, usually a woman leading them, and a man between the plow handle, shouting 'allay' which means in French 'go ahead,' or 'get up.'

"Every half mile or so is a small French town of forty or fifty inhabitants, with maybe a church, or a schoolhouse. All the houses being of stone, and tile roofs, and small windows. The streets are sixteen or eighteen feet wide, and no sidewalks. It's just like walking between two walls. On the way back the fellow with me wanted some milk, so I looked into the French book we had and asked a Frenchman where to get some 'doo-lay,' and he took us to a house and a French woman brought us each a bowl, which we drank and paid for. It tasted funny and just then three or four goats ran down the street and this gave me an idea. I took the book and asked her if it was cow milk, and she said no pointing to the goats. So you see I am easy to fool on any kind of a drink, even coffee with syrup or pepsin in it. We talked with the Frenchman who took us into the house. He was a bright young fellow, who had been wounded in the battle of the Somme, and had been sent home to recover. He is carrying the mail now until he is able to go back.

"In the evening I got a pass and went down town. They are nothing at all like American towns, no sidewalks, but the stores are up-to-date, and public buildings are wonderful. I went into a cathedral which is three or four hundred years old, and it alone is worth a trip to France. The inside is full of columns, all hand carved, and reaching to the ceiling, which I guess is about fifty or sixty feet high. The religious pictures and statuary are wonderful. I never saw anything like it in my life.

"I don't know how long I will be in this camp, but I don't care if it is for the duration of the war, at the end of which I am going back to Michigan, down on the farm.

"You notice we don't have to buy stamps, and I understand the government is going to furnish our tobacco soon, I don't know what I will do with mine. Also we get a ten per cent increase in pay, which will help a little. My present address is Private Leo Powers, Co. D., 1102 Replacement Squadron, A. P. O. 725 American Forces via New York.

"A. P. O. means American Post Office, love to you all,"

LEO.

Mrs. Charles Hull is in receipt of two letters from her son, Forrest Weed, which we publish below. All the boys "over there" observed Mother's Day by writing lengthy letters home. Some have been delayed on their way over and consequently are late in arriving. But they are most welcome even if late. Forrest writes as follows:

France, May 12, 1918.

"Dear Mother—Today being Mother's Day, we are all observing it by writing home. Of course this is nothing unusual for me as I always write every Sunday anyhow. Last year I was in Grand Rapids and observed it by wearing a flower, but now it is different, and we wish to let our people know that although we are at war, we sure do think of our dear mothers at home while we are far away in a foreign country. It is not near as good a day as we had last year in Grand Rapids, as it is rather cool and damp, and I guess it will rain before night.

"I am well and really enjoy our work now, and think our line is always very interesting.

"Today is a very poor day for me to write a letter as my mind seems to be wandering from one thing to another and naturally cannot settle down and write what I would call a suitable letter for this day, so this one will have to do I guess. I intend to take a walk later, and then probably my mind will be a little fresher, so I will try and write a decent letter.

"Sincerely hope you are well and enjoying yourself, as much as possi-

HAPPILY WED AT PETOSKEY

Former Charlevoix School Teachers United In Marriage

At 4:30 p. m. on Wednesday of last week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Niles of Petoskey, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise Niles to Lieut. Leland Barton Aseltine.

While the wedding was simple, only the members of the immediate families being present, yet the event was one of the prettiest home weddings of the season. The young couple were unattended, three sisters of the bride, Misses Nina, Beryl and June Niles, acting as witnesses to the ceremony.

The bride is one of Petoskey's charming and well-liked young women and for the last three years a teacher in the Charlevoix public schools.

Lieut. Aseltine was principal in the public schools here, resigning to enter the training camp at Fort Sheridan in May, 1917. Both the bride and groom have a large number of friends in the city who extend them their best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

STRUCK ON HEAD BY FALLING BRICK

Alonzo Powers Has Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

While at work at the high school building Saturday last, Alonzo Powers was struck on the head by a falling brick, and while not seriously injured, his escape from death was a miraculous one.

The Sanitary Engineering Co., of which Mr. Powers is the manager, has the contract of installing a new boiler for the heating plant. Among the changes made was the converting of a former ventilating flue into a chimney. The flue was divided into two parts by a brick partition, and Mr. Powers was engaged in tearing out this partition. Work had been begun at the top, and at the time of the accident he was some fifty feet down the chimney.

Mr. Powers was relieving his son Joe, who was helping him, and while being lowered into the chimney, a brick become loosened, which fell down the chimney, striking him on the head, rendering him unconscious for a few minutes, beside cutting a severe gash in the scalp. He fell a short distance from where he was working to the bottom of the shaft and as soon as he regained full consciousness, crawled out of an opening and made his way to Dr. Armstrong's office, where his injuries were attended.

Had the brick not zigzagged on its course down the shaft, thus lessening its speed of falling, there is little doubt but what the force of its fall would have crushed Mr. Powers' skull.

COMMUNICATIONS

Speciel to the Taxpayers of Charlevoix County

Charlevoix, June 14, 1918.

"To the Editor—In building the Dixie Highwny, as we are preparing to do this year, with the money raised from bonds voted last December, we expect to pay about Fourteen Thousand ($14,000) Dollars per mile and in so doing we receive Seven Thousand Dollars ($7,000) per mile of Federal Aid from the government. This is for a 16 foot concrete road and we will build 6 and on-half miles this year between Charlevoix and Petoskey.

"I doubt if any community in the state can do better.

"Did you ever stop to consider what the results would have been had we built concrete roads when we first began the state highway system? At that time, we could have built concrete roads 16 feet wide for $11,500 and the state would have allowed $6,800, leaving us only $4,700 per mile. Whereas, we began building 9 foot gravel roads, forty miles of which have cost us according to expert accountant's report of the Road Commissioner's bills the sum of $200,000 or $5,000 per mile aside from what we received from the state of $1,000. Now the upkeep of these forty miles of road is going to be enormous. In a few years it will amount to a great deal more than the original cost of the road, whereas, had we built of concrete, there would have been virtually no expense.

"This shows without contradiction that we could have built the same number of miles of 16 foot concrete for the same as we built the nine foot gravel, and had something to spare.

"In addition, we would have a good road that not only would have lasted for fifty years but would have added very largely to the assets of our county, whereas, the gravel has become in mortgage, the amount of which will, necessarily, be enormous and increasing each year and it ought to be an object lesson to us not to build any more gravel roads. We will be far ahead of the game in the future, if, instead of building nine foot gravel roads, where the travel is not very great, we build with concrete. Unfortunately, I do not know what the plan is of supervisors or the road commissioners for the coming year, but, certainly, judging from the meeting we had last year, and the vote cast for bonding the county, would indicate that our people are well educated and certainly know that concrete would have been, is, and will be much cheaper for our county.

"Yours for good roads,"

VAN PELT.

Lend Your Money As Freely As They Are Giving Their Lives

You don't have to fight, you don't have to die.
But—

Your son does, or your brother who is now across the way—or the kid now in khaki to whom you used to give pennies a short time ago.

That money you have laid away for "a rainy day"—wouldn't you give every nickel of it to keep a Hun's knife away from his throat?

Well, the Hun is here, and so is his knife—and so is the "rainy day"—it's raining bombs and shrapnel upon our boys "over there."

CHEATING THE HUN OF HIS VICTIMS

Red Cross Remove Children From Danger Zone

At least 50,000 French children are to be removed by the American Red Cross from the danger of German air raids and long range bombardment. They will bs taken from Paris this summer to a provincial city for the vacation period.

French men and women, so far from being intimidated by the German atrocities, are manifesting greater courage and a stronger determination to win the war. The German staff announced that the raids and bombardment were intended to strike Paris as "the heart of France." To thia the Parisians replied that "the heart of France is at the front!"

Naturally Frenoh parents will be glad to have their children safe in a smaller city farther away from the battle line. The Red Cross therefor creates in this service one more tie that binds the two nations together for all time.

The children will be billeted in homes and dormitories, and will be supervised as to recreation and health by the Red Cross. It doubtless will prove to be the most profitable summer they ever had. Their fathers in the army at the front will fight all the harder from knowing their loved ones are protected.

The American people, when they open their purses in June for the Second Red Cross War Fund, unquestionably will consider this service for French children a most worthy disposition of their subscriptions.

75 years ago everyone wore homespun—and, likewise, everyone used hand-mixed paint. To-day, when machine-spun cloth is so much better and cheaper, no one would think of wearing homespun. Many people are still using hand-mixed paint, however, because they do not know that will save them money and labor. Devoe Lead and Zinc Paint is made of the same ingredients the old-time painter used: Pure White Lead, Pure White Zinc, and Pure Linseed Oil. The only difference is that Devoe is mixed by machinery, 1000 gallons at a time. Therefore, it is always absolutely uniform in strength, color and covering capacity.

We guarantee Devoe Lead and Zinc Paint to be pure. We know it contains no whiting, silica or other worthless materials. Stop in and ask for Color Card and valuable free booklet—"Keep Appearances Up and Expenses Down."

Flops On Her Side When Driver Attempts Sharp Turn

About 3.30 Sunday afternoon the Ford car owned by Lester VanDusen turned turtle in the road near the cemetery throwing the occupants out.

Miss Myrtle Mack, who was driving the car at the time, attempted to turn around and in some unaccountable manner upset tha cnr. Miss Mack and Miss Marjorie Richardson were thrown out and escaped with a few scratches, and Mr. VanDusen was caught under the car, and while no bones were broken, he was pretty well bruised up.

The car was damaged to tha extent of a broken fender, and other minor damage. Passersby at the time of the accident say that it was not due to careless driving, but merely an accident. The occupants of the car feel themselves lucky to think they escaped with so few injuries.

"A. E. F." On Soldier Mail Not Sufficient Says Postmaster

"A. E. F." doesn't mean American Expeditionary Forces only. "A. E. F." also means "Australian Expeditionary Forces." For this reason all persons writing to soldiers in France are cautioned to write and spell out "American" instead of using the initial, thus "American E. F," or better still write our "American Expeditionary Forces."

"There has been considerable confusion in distributing mail in France," said Postmaster Flnucan, "because if improper addresses. All persons should be extremely careful how they address mail to soldiers In France, if they expect to have the mail reach its destination promptly. By writing out 'American Expeditionary Forces' instead of using the initials, 'A. E. F.' will simplify matters a great deal and avoid confusion with the Australian Expeditionary Forces."

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN

Germans have been superior in developing devilish means and instruments to kill, they have unfolded an elaborate scheme of scientific warfare, their troops are disciplined to the nicety of a human machine, but recent events on the west front demonstrate that "the man behind the gun" holds the key to victory. It has been demonstrated that America has the "man behind the gun" all along the west front, hence America holds the key to victory.

The American behind the gun is cool, calm, deliberate, quick to think and act on the spur of the moment, has nerves like steel, possesses no personal fear, never loses his head, is daring, cautious when necessary, an expert with a bayonet and a crack shot. He is well fed, well clothed, full of pep and ginger, does not worry. He has confidence in himself, in the folks back home, and relies upon his trusty musket and marksmanship to keep the Hun at a distance, and knows that what bullets don't do his bayonet will do in close quarters. And then, if quarters get so close that he cannot use a bayonet, he knows how to use his fists and feet and wields a trench knife with all the abandon and disregard for consequences of a negro breaking up a crap game.

This is "the man behind the gun" America has sent overseas to fight the blustering, puffed-up, overbearing, egostical German. If there is anything an American hates worse than a German it is the German egotism and lordly demeanor, so the German is peculiarly the type of man an American enjoys licking. Coupling this arroganee of the German with his fiendishness when left alone with women and children, and the American has an opponent that causes his manly blood to boil and makes him itch to get at the dastardly cowards who would violate women and glory in the murder of babies when surrounded by a host of his own lustful kin, and then raise up his hand and cry for mercy when he faces a real man.

Last week the Germans got a good taste of the Americans behind the guns when they imagined they could just march onto a bridge across the Marne and take on the name of "Ma und Gott." They didn't get this idea out of their heads, because it takes them too long to think, until 1,000 boches had been stretched out cold in death. The Americans lost one man killed and only a few wounded. Of course, this ratio of 1,000 Germans for every American killed cannot always be maintained, but it is a good indication of what is in store for the Germans in this war.

Only the day before 30 Americans slipped across No Man's Land, penetrated the second German line, and had the nerve to engage 200 Germans, with deadly results to the 200 and minor casualties to the Americans.

And these are the Americans the Germans have made light of, have scoffed at, that a pro-German in Petoskey said his brethern on the Rhine would "eat up before breakfast." No doubt some of the big, fat German generals telling their men what poor excuses for soldiers the Americans are, but they must do it with a gulp in their throat, and the Germans who have been in close proximity to some Americans, like those who saw the encounter on the bridge, know it is just another bit of make-believe courage.

America has "the man behind the gun" and it is the man behind the gun that will win this war.

While Germany has her 16-year-old boys under arms, the United States is tabulating 1,300,000 more young men who have reached their majority and are ready to perform their duty. And the "old fellows" above 31 have not even been asked to fight.

German newspapers still tell their people that the United States army is nothing, that America will amount to nothing in this war, but it would be a difficult matter to make the boche who has faced the American army believe it.

It is hoped that when Germany is all in that the kaiser will go to the west front and approach some Canadian soldier with his utility arm extended skyward and cry, "Mercy, Kom-me-rud."

Just as soon as class 1 appears to be dwindling, those district boards have a faculty of replenishing the ranks from the "deferred" and "late marriage" classes.

Gloating over the submarine raid on the U. S. coast German newspapers declare that America "will now feel the mighty hand of the war lord."

What has become of all those German bonds that were floated "over here" to carry on the war "over there" before Uncle Sam got into it?

One year ago the pro-German felt indignant; six months ago he felt uneasy; today he feels unhealthy.

Why not conserve our military genius and let Foch and Pershing win the war?

It would seem that at least one of the kaiser's six sons ought to take up aviation.

What the allied line seems to need most now is more Yankees.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

City schools all closed now. Rural schools of Rock Elm and East Chandler closed June 15th with picnics. Harmon school near Boyne Falls still in session, and two schools on Beaver Island.

Annie Wilson, a third grader of the Mountain school not absent or tardy for entire year. Will be sent diploma for the same.

High school students not receiving from their city superintendents formal applications for payment of tuition by their home district school board may receive these applications from the commissioner. They must be presented in writing to one member of the school board before June 24th. Failure to do so would make it impossible for the board to pay the tuition the following year. Parents should see that these applications are in.

Several lists have been sent in for fair tickets for next fall. After July 15th no names will be accepted. The complete list will at that time be sent to the secretary of the agricultural society and the tickets ordered. Those entitled to complimentary tickets should see that their names are in now.

The reading circle books for 1919 are now on the market. "The Vitalized School" and "Americanism, What Is It?" Complete set from W. H. Faunce of Cadillac or McMillan Co., Chicago for $1.70. All progressive teachers will read these books. The 1918 books are the basis for the August examinations just as in April last.

The commissioner is writing to the officers asking them if they prefer handling the program at time of annual meeting entirely from local talent or if they wish also a speaker sent to them for the occasion. General good feeling prevails regarding this plan combining the business meeting and patriotic instruction. Many feel that it will make the annual meeting a gathering place, just as it should be.

Holders of second grade and normal certificates with required amounts of normal training are many of them choosing this summer for the gaining of their credits. Two summers from three for second grade renewals and two summers from six for county normal. Most of our teachers have in more than anyone would ever think of requiring. They seem to wish to progress. The following teachers will be in summer school during the coming year: Miss Nell Maddaugh, Miss Lola Stuart, Miss Grace Malpas, Miss Thelma Spees, Miss Gladys Bustard, Lola Rothenberger, Miss Jessie McKinnon, Miss Alice Sedgman, Miss Georgia Scroggie, Miss Mary Berg, Miss Marion Worth, Mrs. Margaret Fairchilds, Miss Lela Geneit, Mabel Dunlop, Mrs. Mamie Scroggie and Miss Ruth Gregory. There are no doubt a number of others whose names the commissioner has not learned.

Through a mistake, the name of Russel Hughs was omitted from the list of eight grade graduates. He is from East Chandler school and passed with a very good average. Also the name, Bernard Topolinski was changed beyond recognition. Bernard is from the Robinson school.

Miss Lillian McNeal of the county normal class will teach in the Clark school of Norwood township. Ethel Brintnall will teach in the Rock Elm school and Edith Carey in the Ranney school. If each school board of the 12 still without teachers employ the teachers applying, before they accept in other counties, we shall be short just two teachers according to the best figures and knowledge now available. Perhaps we may somehow bridge the tide.

Let the Depth of Your Pocket Show the Depth of Your Patriotism

While you are at home tonight, many American boys "over there" are out in the rain and mud dodging death from bomb and shrapnel.

While you are enjoying your evening cigar, some American soldier may be smoking his last.

The boys in the trenches are risking their lives for you; and you are not even asked to risk your money for them. But you are expected to loan your money—loan it at four per cent compound interest, the highest rate the Government has ever paid.

Pledge yourself to buy War Savings Stamps on or before

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Charlevoix Readers

For months Charlevoix citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Charlevoix residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Charlevoix reader.

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason St., Charlevoix, gave the following statement in October, 1911: —"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for kidney disorder and backache and they have always given me splendid results."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Cook added: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I have had no occasion to use a kidney medicine since. I am always ready to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills."

Smother The Kaiser with War Saving Stamps

Sacred treaties are called by the Kaiser mere "scraps of paper." His words are an example of the "Kultur" of the Huns who commit unspeakable crimes against innocent women and children—the "Kultur" that America is fighting to remove from the world.

On that day every loyal American will be summoned to prove his patriotism by "signing the pledge"—by agreeing to invest in a definite amount of War Savings Stamps each month during 1918.

TAKES "CREAM" AS A HOT-AIR SHOOTER

Pride In Home Town (?) and Its Success Leads Ed. to Publish Misleading Statements

We notice an item in the Central Lake Torch of last week in which Central Lake is referred to as a dairy market.

Well it probably is good, that is, compared with the average town, but the total amount of cream shipped from the Central Lake station for the last five weeks, given as 4,506.6 pounds looks small when compared with that shipped from the station at Ellsworth.

For the one week ending Saturday, June 15, the Ellsworth Creamery Co. bought and shipped 9,350 pounds. Remember, when comparing these figures, that the amount shipped from Central Lake is the total amount of five weeks, while the amount from Ellsworth is only one week, and Mr. Boes of the Ellsworth Creamery informs us that this was not the largest amount bought and shipped in one week of this year at that.

Added to this vast amount from this station is the cream sold at the Atwood Creamery, the butter of which all leaves Ellsworth via the P. M. R. R., and some idea may be had of the amount of dairy business done in a real, live farming community.

CLAIMS HE IS A LOYAL CITIZEN

W. Slough Awakes to Fact That He Was In Wrong

W. Slough, Pere Marquette agent, under fire for some time on account of not voluntarily buying Liberty Bonds and contributing to the Red Cross, in an interview with a Courier representative last Friday, emphatically stated that he is loyal to the American flag, as patriotic as anyone can be, and will do his part towards helping in every war measure and will be in the fight to a finish to do all in his power to help finance the war and exterminate the Hun.

He claims he has received unfair trentment and publicity; that had he been asked to donate he would have done so, without hesitation, etc.

The affair is an unfortunate one, to say the least. Mr. Slough is thoroughly awake to the fact that he is in wrong, not only with residents of Ellsworth, but with Uncle Sam, and is making an effort to right himself and get into the game, as a true American should.

Regardless of his unenviable position, however, the spirit of getting even with those responsible for his exposure is uppermost in his mind. He believes he has been unjustly treated and pravailing public sentiment is that he was not.

If it is Mr. Slough's desire to "get into the game," as we might say, he should be given the opportunity. If by his actions and work he proves to the satisfaction of all that he really means business, is loyal to the cause, does his bit, financially, without urging or being asked, meet him half way, give him all encouragement possible and by these actions let him know you are with him and want him to be one of you.

We want good citizens but we also want all assurance that they ARE good citizens. We believe that Mr. Slough has at last "seen the light."

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

Miss Kate Wieland spent Monday and Tuesday of this week at Petoskey.

Mary Prince is off duty at the D. E. Clow and Co. store on account of the mumps.

Mrs. A. G. Angstrom of Ludington, arrived Saturday to visit her daughter, Esther, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boes of Reeman arrived quite unexpectedly lasts week and are visiting their sons, Ben and Henry.

A good many from this vicinity are planning on attending the old settler's meeting at Charlevoix, June 26.

Ray Nelson writes from Spooner, Wisconsin, that he is at work as switchman and that he is well pleased with his job.

J. H. Elzinga, E. R. Harris and D. E. Clow were in Ballaire one day last week attending the Thrift Stamp meeting.

Emily Wieland is back on duty at Clow's store after being absent the past two weeks on account of her mother's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis of Phelps were at Ellsworth last Sunday visiting Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Williams.

Fred Reamsma came home from Camp Custer the first of last week and remained until Monday of this week before returning to his duties.

Mrs. A. L. Ely is recovering very nicely from her recent illness. Her sistor, Miss Brosch of Traverse City arrived last week and is caring for her.

John McElroy has offered to donate a trio of full blooded white leghorn year-old chickens to be raffled in Ellsworth, Saturday evening, June 22nd, and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

Considerable complaint has been heard recently about motorists parking their cars on the wrong side of the street, and also about leaving cars at night without lights. People driving autos should remember the law covering both these cases as by so doing, trouble and expense may possibly be spared them.

Maj. B. J. Beuker writes a very interesting letter to his wife here in regard to his new post nt Camp Sherman, Ohio. A photo of himself taken on his horse about two weeks ago is also enclosed and shows him to be the same old "Doc" as of yore, looking perhaps a trifle more serious but still wearing the old care-free expression.

W.S.S. WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Teach the Children Thrift

Don't hide away the baby's pennies in a toy bank. Put them to work. Invest them in Thrift and War Savings Stamps, and watch the investment grow.

Baby bonds are the best investment for the baby.

Let your children learn what it means to have money out at interest. Teach them patriotism. Make them feel that they, too, can do something for the government.

When the War Savings Stamps, bought from money they otherwise would have wasted, comes due in five years from now, the little folks, then grown larger, will thank their lucky stars that they had parents who taught them thrift.

When children and even grown-ups go on the beach for a good time it might be well for one and all to remember that things that don't belong to them must be left alone. It would save a great deal of work and trouble perhaps.

INSPECTION OF ALFALFA FARM

EMMET AND CHARLEVOIX COUNTY MEN THERE

Wm. Pearson's Place at Boyne Falls One of Best in Michigan— 100 Acres of Alfalfa

County Agent Vining, Roy Otto and Charles Reberg took auto loads of Petoskey farmers to Boyne Falls Wednesday afternoon to inspect the ninety-acre field of alfalfa on the farm of William Pearson, At Boyne City they were met by several Boyne City men and County Agent Smith of Charlevoix County. A number also came from Boyne Falls for the occasion.

The alfalfa was found ready for the first cutting and was about thirty inches high in one side of the field and nearly as high on the other.

The land on which this crop is being raised is ordinary Northern Michigan soil with a good sub soil in which there appears to be about an average amount of lime. The crop has been planted about four years and appears to be in fine condition.

Mr. Pearson raises corn and alfalfa as his feed crops for his large herds of cattle on his four-hundred-acre stock farm, and is having splendid success with this ration. His alfalfa field is the largest in Northern Michigan and is but a sample of what can be accomplished by any Northern Michigan farmer.—Petoskey Evening News.

ble, also having a lot of nice car rides.

"Everyone in the billet is doing the same as I am, writing to the best friend they have on earth, our mother. We hope by this time next year we do not have to write, but will be able to spend the day with our dear mother, or nearer to them than we are now.

"Guess I will have to close for this time. Wishing you a very happy and pleasant day. Lots of love."

FORREST.

May 19, 1918.

"Dear Folks—Your letters of April 16th and 22nd arrived yesterday, and the papers the middle of last week. Just received a bundle of magazines, so have plenty to read.

"This has been a peculiar day. In the morning the sun was shining brightly, and it was nice and warm, while this afternoon it has rained and hailed some. Some of the hail stones were about half as large as a hens egg. Even now it is thundering and really promises a return of rain.

"Last night we had a movie given by the Y. M. C. A. and of course we did appreciate it, because it was the first we had seen since we have been over here, a period of three months and three weeks.

"I am feeling fine now only a little cold, but that is nothing.

"I hope you are well and not worrying about me, as it does no good, and anyhow there is no use of it. If anything happens you will be immediately notified, so don't pay any attention to reports.

"Told you once I would write a letter telling you all about our location. In all the villages there are stores, cafes, postoffices, telephone and telegraph office combined, bakery, meat shops, and a few carpenter and blacksmiths and other trade shops. Of course this is only the smaller places as we have not seen any of the larger cities yet.

"As we go out of the village, which generally, is located in a valley, at least this one is, we come to the farm lands which at this time of the year are very fertile and green. One trouble which seems to me very probable among the farmers, would be to keep track of their own land, as generally they only have a small strip usually rented, and there seems to be no marks or corner stones. Lots of the land is planted and looks fine, in fact very promising for a good season's crop.

"The hillsides as well as the valleys are productive and fertile. Passing along a well kept highway we come to a base of a hill, probably cultivated or covered with trees, some pine, some beech and occasionally maple. When looking back from the middle or the top of this hill we have a perfect view of the village we have left, and also of other hills and surrounding country. From the top and over the hill we come to another valley, through which flows a river and possibly a canal or creek affording a good place for watering stock, and farther up the river a good place for taking a swim, and baths, as we never take warm baths here and consider ourselves lucky to find water so handy in France.

"Occasionally we see canals with tow paths on each side for the donkeys which haul the boats up stream. There is certainly always something new to see.

"Must close and finish one of my weekly duties, washing clothes in the river. Best regards to all,"

FORREST.

Correct Spelling.

One of the most polished and painstaking of English authors regarded correct spelling as a totally unnecessary accomplishment. In his introduction to R. L. As all his friends are aware, to spell in a quite accurate and grown-up manner was a thing which this master of English letters was never able to learn."

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY.

A Worker

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY is a worker,—always has been and always will be,—because he loves work.

As a lad he went out and joined a railroad construction gang and worked up to be passenger and freight agent of the road.

Later, he sailed the Lakes and worked his way to a pilot's license, which he holds to-day as one of his proudest possessions.

Afterward, he went into business life, where, by hard work, he made a name and place for himself.

As Assistant Secretary of the Navy under President Roosevelt, he gave the closest attention to his duties and his good work advanced him to the position of Secretary of the Navy and a member of Roosevelt's Cabinet.

To-day his work as a Commander in the Third Naval District is winning widespread approval.

As a worker, he knows about other workers, understands them and their problems. He was one of the first business leaders to declare publicly in favor of the rights of the laboring men, and his reputation for fairness and straightforward dealing attracted wide and favorable attention in industrial circles.

While Secretary of the Navy he made it possible for the men in the Brooklyn Navy Yard to have an organization for mutual benefit and sought their suggestions on the work they had in charge, gave them an opportunity to examine and approve the wage scale and put the working force into such a frame of mind as to secure their fullest co-operation. The men were with him and he got results.

His Record Speaks for Itself

As a working United States Senator, Truman H. Newberry will be "on the job" for the workers of Michigan and the whole country.

BANKERS MEET CLOSES TODAY

ANNUAL CONVENTION AT INN A SUCCESS

Delegates From All Parts of the State Present—Officers Elected for Coming Year

Members of the Michigan State Bankers' association, at least three hundred strong, have been in attendance at the twenty-second annual convention held at the Inn on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Frank W. Blair of Detroit, President of the Union Trust Company headed the association, and opened the first meeting at 2:00 sharp Monday. Following the opening address and invocation by Rev. P. B. Ferris of Petoskey, A. I. Creamer, manager of the Inn, welcomed the visitors with the following words:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen—Charlevoix feels highly honored. The Michigan Bankers Association comprised of the big men of this big state, their families and their friends have assembled here today to transact business and to perform duties of importance.

"It is my pleasure in representing the Bankers, Merchants, Farmers and those in all walks of life, up here in our splendid rugged northern country, to attempt to convey our sincere appreciation of your visit with us, and extend to you, each and everyone a cordial welcome.

"We are aware of the tasks which have been in your lives since your last meeting, and those of today—the many you will necessarily have to master tomorrow and the days to come, consequently, I shall take no more of your valuable time except to say:

"In connection with your business, I hope you may all find time to enjoy our green fields and blue waters, and trust our programme combined with your own, may assist in making this not only one of your most successful but enjoyable meetings."

In response to the address of welcome, Wm. J. Gray of Detroit spoke in glowing terms of the reception accorded them by both citizens of Charlevoix and the Inn management. His talk was a masterly one and voiced the sentiment of the many visitors present.

President Blair, in his opening address, fired hot shrapnel at the I. W. W. and all other forms of organized disloyalty, saying that the bankers of America and all other good citizens should stand firmly by the edicts of the American government in these days of national stress.

Tuesday's forenoon and afternoon program was carried out in its entirety and many excellent addresses were given. The convention closed Wednesday after annual reports were made, a general discussion, report of committee on resolutions. Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the selection of the following men:

President, Otto Schuppe, Bank of Saginaw, Saginaw; First Vice President, Hon. G. J. Diekema, Holland; Second Vice President, John W. Staley, Peoples' State Bank, Detroit; Secretary, H. M. Brown, Detroit; Treasurer, H. H. McMullen, Peoples' State Bank, Munising.

Saginaw was selected as the next place of meeting.

GETTING READY FOR SUMMER SEASON

Charlevoix to Have Shooting Gallery and Bowling Alley

M. H. Ackley arrived in the city Tuesday and is now busy placing his newly acquired property into shape for the summer's business.

This year Mr. Ackley will conduct a bowling alley, and instead of the ball games as last year, will have a shooting gallery. This place of amusement was well patronized last season, and will without a doubt be a popular place of amusement this season. At various times during the summer he will conduct a rifle shooting contest and offer valuable prizes to the winners of each event.

SLAGHT RESIGNS AS DEPUTY CITY CLERK

Has Accepted a Responsible Position With Buffalo Corporation

Fred L. Slaght, for the past nine years deputy city clerk of the city of Charlevoix, has tendered his resignation and will go to Buffalo, New York, where he has accepted a responsible as well as luerative position with a large corporation doing business in that city.

Mr. Slaght assumed the position as deputy city clerk at the time of the first general audit of the city books some nine years ago, and since has been one of the city's most painstaking and faithful employes. Efficiency in its full meaning has been demonstrated by him while in office, and in his retirement the city loses a valuable assistant and worker.

His resignation has been accepted by the council to take effect July 1. Mr. Slaght, however, will be in the city during a greater portion of the month, and states his intentions of spending his summer vacation in Charlevoix for many years to come.

D. S. Payton, former county treasurer and clerk, has been named to succeed Mr. Slaght, and will take charge of the city's books on July 1. Mr. Payton is well known here and will without a doubt fill the position to the satisfaction of all.

WILL SPEND SUMMER HERE

TENNIS EXPERT IS TO HAVE CHARGE OF INN COURTS

Classes Already Organized and Big Events Are Planned During Coming Season

Douglas L. Hilton, the tennis professional, who has been in Charlevoix for the past week, has decided to remain here for the season and has taken over the courts of the Inn. Mr. Hilton will have exclusive control of the courts and is planning some big things for Charlevoix during the present season. One of the first he has accomplished is to place the courts into excellent condition, in fact, the best shape they have been in many seasons.

Mr. Hilton has played tennis for years and is, of course, an expert, his technique being beyond question. He has been connected with several famous clubs during his career, including the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Essex County Country Club, the Atlantic City Yachting Club, and the Club of Locust County, Long Island, where the famous millionaire colony finds its recreation in tennis, golf and various pastimes and sports.

Mr. Hilton has been accredited with the coaching of many of the big stars of the day, and within the short time he has been here has organized several classes, with many more under way.

A series of tournaments will be held at frequent intervals during the season on the courts under charge of Mr. Hilton. The dates of these will be announced later when more definite information can be given, and interest in tennis will be greatly stimulated by the very unusual and exciting schedule of events planned.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Lieut. Victor H. Hampton One of Four Men Out of Forty-three to Escape Murderous Bullets of Huns—Now on Way Home as Instructor

Lt. Victor H. Hampton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Hampton of this city, was with the American forces around Chateau Thierry, Belleau Woods and Bouresches, that helped stop the big German drive for Paris during the latter part of May and first part of June. The papers have told the story of the stone-wall defense of the Marines and other Americans, and it now develops that a Charlevoix boy was right in the thick of it. Lt. Hampton has been with the Marines, since the first of March, when they first took over a part of the battle line. From a letter received by his parents, dated May 22, and printed below, it seems evident that this regiment of Marines were taken from the front where they had been stationed, and hurried to the section around Chateau Thierry, to help stem the German invasion.

The other papers carried a dispatch telling of the gallant action of a party of 43 Americans, in wiping out a nest of German machine guns, but gave no names. It would appear from a dispatch printed in the Chicago Tribune, June 11, from their special correspondent, that Lt. Hampton was one of the four who came safely through this battle, and that he was now on his way home, to act as instructor. The Courier has taken extracts from the dispatch in question, as follows:

"With the Allied Armies,
June 9, 1918.

"The most bitter fight in which the Americans have yet been engaged is in progress for the possession of Belleau Woods, just north-west of Bouresches. The Americans hold part of the woods, and have flanked the Germans and are now pouring in a heavy artillery fire to blast out the machine gun nests. Last night the Germans made a desperate attempt to retake the woods, but were stopped by the marines. The behavior of the Americans the past week is gloriously indicative of what is coming for the German army. Captured German soldiers admit that the men in the ranks consider the Americans the biggest factor in the war henceforth, as they are now learning that their officers lied to them when they told them the Americans 'would not fight.' Nothing in the situation is more cheering than the behaviour of the officers during the severe fighting of the last week. Many of these American officers stepped from civilian life into training camps last year and are now good fighting officers. One such is Lt. W. M. Leonard, who has been cited for bravery. He took part in the capture of Bouresches. With forty-three men he was caught in a triangle by a nest of German machine guns blocking the path into Bouresches. He ordered an attack on the machine guns, and the men with rifles killed the crews of all seven German guns. When the job was completed, Leonard and four men were left. I talked with him today. He was wearing the same uniform he wore that day, and it had three holes where machine gun bullets had just missed him. With him were Lieutenants V. H. Hampton, of Charlevoix, Mich., J. C. Cooper, of North Carolina and J. M. Bass of Mississippi, now on the way back to the states as instructors. All four had been in the heavy fighting of the past week."

While the parents of Lt. Hampton have heard nothing official, the special correspondent quoted above apparently talked with the men and there seems no doubt that he has been ordered back to the states. His last letter, dated May 22, and received last week, was as follows:

France, May 22, 1918.

"Dear Folks—Well, circumstances have caused a little delay in my weekly letter. We have been moving, and as usual this breaks in on the mail service both outgoing and incoming. Have been having a most enjoyable experience the last five or ten days. I was detailed to go with the wagon train, and as a result had a three day horseback journey through some of the most interesting parts of France. I can't tell you how beautiful it is here at this time. Everything green and brown, and were it not for the many, many ruined towns and villages we passed through, it would be hard to realize that there is a war. It rather spoiled the trip, however, in the one room remaining of a once pretty little home, while all through the town nothing but grim charred ruins was to be seen. Most of it the result of German bestiality before evacuating the place, or the result of shell and bomb fire. Some of the villages had no civilian inhabitants at all, while others were occupied by a few of the original inhabitants who either stuck through it all, or have returned as the Germans were pushed back last year.

"At the end of my trip with the wagon train, I marched some forty miles, and then a railroad journey, and then more hiking, until at last we arrived here in this nice town yesterday. It was great, though of course 'hiking' isn't the easiest thing in the world. I slept one night in a beautiful chateau. Can't begin to describe it, but it's worth all the hardships, just to see a place like it.

"In the part of the country I am now in, the people are very hospitable and kind. This morning the French madame with whom I am billeted, brought my breakfast to me in bed. I was surprised and pleased, of course, and told her that was just what my 'ma' would be doing for me were I at home. (She just came in and we have had quite a little talk. I showed her my pictures and told her all about you all. She is a dandy old lady and patted me on the head and said to finish my letter.)

"It is very warm here now. Just like August at home, and we all know why they call it 'Sunny France.'

"Don't have my trunks with me any more, but carry stuff in my bedding roll and a canvas bag. They slipped one over on us, for now I have no use for all the junk I lugged along with me, and my trunks are in storage many miles away. Such is war. Never know what is going to happen, and generally don't give a darn. Don't know how long will stay here, but suppose will be on the move again soon. Am used to it now in fact get restless if have to stay too long in one place.

"There is nothing in this town, or in any of the French towns we get into that we can buy, that we really need. Everybody goes to Paris when they want anything, and of course at present we can't go. I came through the suburbs of Paris, but that's as close as have ever been.

"We are drilling and getting into shape here. Am feeling fine. Don't ever worry about me from lack of letters, for as long as you don't hear you can be sure I am all right. If anything should happen you will know it by cable at once. Want to mail this so will close. Heaps of love to all."

QUIETLY WED AT HOME OF BRIDE

Well Known Charlevoix Young People Surprise Friends

At 10:30 a. m. Wednesday (today) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Flanders of Evelins township, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Lillian Agnes Fenn Flanders to Lieut. Dan Willard Mather.

The wedding was a very simple one, only a few members of the family being present. The young couple were unattended, Rev. C. E. Taggart of the Congregational church speaking the words that made them man and wife.

The bride is well known both in this city and Eveline township, and the past three years was a teacher in the Charlevoix public schools. She was a graduate of the county normal class of 1912 and previous to coming to this city taught at Ironton and Vanderbilt.

Lt. Mather is one of Charlevoix's well known young men who entered the first officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan last August and won, by hard and conscientious work, the standing of second lieutenant. Later he was assigned to Aberdeen, Md., where he is now stationed.

Both bridge and groom have the best wishes of a host of friends. They will leave immediately for Aberdeen, Md.

RACHOW GOES TO DETROIT

FORMER CHARLEVOIX BANKER ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Will Take Charge of Savings Department of First and Old National Bank

Predictions that W. J. Rachow, former cashier of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank of this city, would make rapid advancement in banking circles have proven true, and his numerous Charlevoix friends extend him congratulations.

Upon his departure from this city about a year ago, Mr. Rachow affiliated himself with the Saginaw Valley Trust Company, acting in the capacity of vice president and secretary. Last week the Trust Company and the Amerigan State Bank of Saginaw, consolidated, this move being made on account of a certain clause in the Federal Reserve act, which we quote as stated by the Saginaw Evening News:

"The Saginaw Valley Trust Co. have been doing a good business but on account of the clause in the Federal Reserve act, which has been confirmed by the supreme court, allowing national banks to do a trust company business, it was felt that the future business of the Trust company would not be as lucrative."

"Mr. Rachow, vice president and secretary of the Trust company will retire July 1 and is taking a responsible position with the First and Old Detroit National bank at Detroit, and leaves many friends and well wishes in Saginaw."

Saturday's Detroit Free Press contains the following:

"Preparations are being made for the opening of a savings department in the First and Old National bank, July 1. W. J. Rachow, former vice president and secretary of the Saginaw Valley Trust company of Saginaw, will take charge of the department, and will assume his duties very soon. He is one of the best known of the younger bankers of Michigan in both the savings and commercial fields."

DRAFTED MEN LEAVE MONDAY

Soldier Boys Bade Godspeed by Host of Citizens

Despite the early leaving of the drafted men on Monday morning last, many citizens were at the depot to bid them farewell, and as the train pulled out, by cheers and yells the boys were in a manner impressed that the best wishes of the community were with them.

Before train time the Inn orchestra played several patriotic selections and the time was taken up in shaking hands and talking over the duty of the U. S. in her part of the great world war.

NEW PENSION LAW PROVISIONS

OLD SOLDIERS GET RAISE FROM $32 to $40 PER MONTH

Estimated There Are Now 268,000 Persons on the Pension Rolls — No Attorney Fees Allowed

J. M. Felts of this city is in receipt of a letter from Congressman Frank D. Scott, outlining and detailing the several pension increases granted by the amendment to the Sherwood pension law of May 11, 1912, enacted June 10, this year.

By the amendment matsrial increases are granted to the veterans of the civil war in accordance with the period of their service. Soldiers and sailors who have been receiving pensions under some other law than that of 1912 will have to file applications in order to receive the benefits of the new law, but for the others the increase goes into effect automatically. The letter to Mr. Felts is as follows:

"The act of June 10, 1918, amending the Sherwood pension law of May 11, 1912, provides the rate at $30 per month for soldiers and sailors of any age who served ninety days and less than six months during the civil war and were honorably discharged, and who are now receiving a lower rate. Those who are seventy-two years of age, or over, and who served six months, are entitled to receive $32 per month, those who served one year $35 per month; one and one-half years, $38 per month; and two years, or over $40 per month. These increases will be granted automatically, and without application of any kind to the Pension Bureau, to all soldiers and sailors now pensioned under the act of May 11, 1912, and who have attained the required age and served the necessary length of time.

"Soldiers and sailors who served during the civil war, and are pensioned at lower rates under some other law, but who are entitled to pension under the act of May 11, 1912 will be required to file an application under that act in order to receive the benefits of the new law.

"The pension bureau will make these allowances with all the dispatch possible under existing conditions. A special force for the adjustment of cases within the provisions of the new law has been organized, which will handle these cases exclusively. It should be borne in mind by those concerned that there are now nearly 268,000 pensioners under the act of May 11, 1912, and all are urged to exercise patience and consideration. While every effort will be made to hasten this work, there will be no avoidable interference with the progress of claims now on file or hereafter filed under other laws. A special effort will be made not to interfere with the adjudication of widows' claims.

"It will be wholly impracticable to make any payments at the increased rate on July 4, 1918, but it is hoped that payments due August 4, 1918, may be made at the rate provided by the new law. It will not be necessary to write the bureau about these increases. Letters of inquiry will simply delay the work of making allowances.

"No attorneys' fee will be allowed or paid for services in securing increase of pension under the act of June 10, 1918.

CHARLEVOIX TO CELEBRATE FOURTH

Day to be Observed In Safe and Sane Manner

Charlevoix will celebrate the Fourth of July, not as in former years, but in a safe and sane manner, befitting conditions at the present time.

While there will be no fireworks, other than a few for the amusement of children, nor athletic sports, etc., the time will be taken up by prominent outside and local speakers who will give addresses along lines in which we are all interested—the present day war.

Arrangements have also been made for at least two bands, and patriotic, soul-stirring music will take the place of usual amusements had at a celebration of this kind.

Charlevoix extends an invitation to all to spend the day here.

If you suffer with lame muscles or stiffened joints look out for impurities in the blood, because each attack gets more acute and stubborn.

To arrest rheumatism you must improve your general health and purify your blood; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is Nature's great blood-maker while it also strengthens the organs to expel the impurities. Scott's is helping thousands who could not find other relief.

AMONG THE PLAYERS AND CADDIES

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

The golf season opened officially at Charlevoix on June 15. There is considerable difference of opinion as to just what kind of a season there is going to be all around, but we can be pretty sure of one thing; there will be golf enough to keep us all busy, and then some. Be prepared.

THE WEEKLY TIP

Being a Caddie

Being a caddie means a good deal more than just following a player around the course and handing him a club every now and then. A caddie is an attendant whom the player employs to go with him, carry his clubs, find the ball, and otherwise help him play his game.

The good caddie is on time every time. He is on time at work in the morning; he comes at once when he is called; he is always ready when his player is; he is the first one to the ball every time.

The good caddie is obedient. He knows the rules of the course and obeys them. He does what he is asked to do, and does it cheerfully and at once.

The good caddie is attentive. He pays attention to business and does not allow anything to spoil his work on the course. Horseplay or foolishness never bother him because he never takes part in it when he is at work.

The good caddie is responsible. He takes pride in seeing that no ball, club or anything put in his charge is lost or stolen.

The good caddie is neat and respectful. He does not wear fine clothes, but what he wears is always reasonably neat. He never comes to his work with his hands and face dirty or with some of his last meal sticking around his mouth. He is respectful and polite to those in authority and to his employer. He says "Mr.," "Mrs," or "Miss" when speaking to players or about them. He does not dirty his mouth and mind with profanity or vulgarity.

The good caddies is a good fellow, an honest worker, an earnest parlaer, a responsible employee, a pleasure to all who have anything to do with him, and a sure winner.

Getting a number at the links this year is a little different from what it has been before. For several years caddies have been furnished folders containing certain rules and facts they were supposed to know, but no examination has ever been made to see whether or not they really knew these rules and facts. This year the boy who wants a number must pass an examination on them before he is entitled to a number. This examination is taken orally before the caddies who have already passed it, and the questions cover the names and uses of the principal clubs, the rules of the game most frequently used, and general rules which govern a good caddie. It is not enough to know rules and facts; one must practice them in his work if he expects to get by with it in good style.

This is a great year in the history of every organization in the country, just as it is in the history of the nation and the world. The keynote of all effort is "service." Men and women are giving their lives for that word. Naturally the best kind of work in these times is productive work, work which produces something for the nation to eat, wear or use otherwise in its period of need. In this sense golf is not productive labor, and the caddie is not producing anything in the way of useful articles. Larger boys who can work at productive labor should do so. But those who cannot for one reason and another, need not feel that the caddies' work is entirely unproductive. To begin with, the caddie can lend the nation his money. The caddie master will have Thrift and War Savings Stamps for sale at his stand. Boys who are living at home should put practically all their earnings into these stamps. The club will count these as savings and add the usual ten per cent just as though the money were in the savings banks. Furthermore, the caddie can make his labor productive by learning in his daily work to be honest, and above-board in all his dealings, punctual, obedient and attentive and honorable in all things and at all times. In doing this he is producing character which will be of as much value to his country later as things to eat are now.

The local Red Cross chapter will not be forgotten by the boys either. Arrangements are being made by which they can contribute five or ten cents a week apiece for the work of that organization. Contributions here are measures of real desire to give of what we earn, for money put into Thrift Stamps is merely a good investment. The stingiest and most selfish man in the world would do that. The contribution, however small, which returns to us only in the form of satisfaction at having helped a little, is the true mark of sympathy.

The caddies master is preparing a list of those who have been registered caddies at the Charlevoix course at any time in the last five years, for the purpose of having prepared a service flag to hang along with the American flag, in the porch of the field house at the links. The list will go back as far as 1913 because that is as far back as the caddies were registered, and it would be impossible to get an exact list of those earlier as practically every young fellow in and about Charlevoix has carried clubs at some time on the Charlevoix course.

John Gabrielson, assistant caddie master for the last two seasons, is now in the navy, and is stationed at the Bremerton navy yard near Seattle, Washington.

Carl Gordon is head caddie for the present season and holds the number one. Sixteen other boys have passed the examination and have been given their numbers in the following order: Henry Hyek, Martin Halverson, Frank Novotney, Marshall Ackert, George Jeffreys, J. C. Mershall, Jim Novotney, Robert Miles, Harold Hallett, George Contes, Raphael Gordon, Art Wexstoff, Frank Krulik, Arden Ulrich, Gordon Todd and Earl Smith. No more will be actually put on duty until the number of players increases sufficiently to demand more caddies.

If there are not enough boys to take care of the players this year, it is highly probable that girls will be given an opportunity to work. If such an opportunity should be given, they would be assigned to women players only as their clubs are usually lighter. Every facility would be given the girls to learn the caddie trade, every measure made for their comfort and every precaution for their comfort. There is no reason why girls should not earn some of these several thousands of dollars that go to caddies each season and at the same time relieve the course of boys who either cannot be good caddies, or will not. To do this work a girl should be at least thirteen or fourteen years of age, of average build, and in good health. Any interested may send word to the caddie master or call on him any evening at 702 South Bridge street, at the Alcock home.

Each week you will find in this column a special paragraph or two in heavy type which will be headed The Weekly Tip. It is written by the caddie master for caddies, about things that concern them and in words they can understand without using the dictionary. If you are in the caddie business, look for The Weekly Tip. And it may be worth reading, even if you are in any other business as well.

Jefferson Novotney is "general utility" man inside the field house this year. He has charge of the men's locker room, but his principal question is, "Who's my boss, I'd like to know?"

MUST DRIVE TO WIN

That victory follows the decisive attack and never comes with even the most courageous defense, General Foch points out as the first principle of modern warfare. In other words American and allied forces must assume the offensive before the kaiser is beaten into submission. We must carry the war home to the Germans, into the very heart of the German empire—On TO BERLIN!

Merely warding off blows isn't enough. We must whip the Huns now or fight this war all over again in the near future.

We believe the nations leagued against kaiserism are approaching the day when "They shall not pass!" will no longer be the battlecry. America can hasten the day when the word will pass all along that line "over there"—ON TO BERLIN!

For the United States must be "over there" in overwhelming forces before General Foch's "prepared bludgeon" can drive the Germans back across the Rhine and carry the war to the kaiser's doorstep, where it rightly belongs.

Uncle Sam's soldiers have shown the allies what they can do and it must be cheering to them all to know that thousands more just like them are on the way.

The Kaiser should pin his medals on the crown prince's back. That's the only place the Germans will ever get a chance to see them.

Mexican editors are touring this country. After their trip is over they should be able to give Carranza a lot of useful and much needed advice.

Perhaps some of these strikes for higher pay are caused by desire to get into the income paying class of 1919.

Nothing would please those marines more than to bring home the crown prince for a souvenir.

SUGAR SALES CUT TO TWO POUNDS

New Order Is to Become Effective at Once

New regulations governing sales of sugar to the private consumer, which become effective at once is announced by State Food Administrator Prescott.

The amount which the private consumer in the city or small town may purchase at any one time is reduced from five pounds to two pounds. The amount a farmer may purchase is cut from ten pounds to five pounds.

For canning purposes the housewife may purchase twenty-five pounds by signing a sugar card obtained from her grocer, on which she must certify that the sugar will be used only for canning purposes. If she needs an additional twenty-five pounds for canning purposes, the housewife must obtain a sugar card signed by the county food administrator. Before she can obtain a fourth twenty-five pounds the sanction of State Food Administrator Prescott must be obtained.

This change in sugar sales was authorized by Federal Food Administrator Hoover.

MAKE PLANS FOR BIG ROAD BEE

Every Automohile Owner Urged to Get Into Line

Good road enthusiasts and automohile owners are planning to hold a road bee, Thursday, July 11, the object heing to put the road north from Greensky Hill to Bay Shore in a passable condition.

At the present the road for the entire distance is full of deep ruts and chuck holes, making it exeremely dangerous and hard to drive over. In fact, it is the worst piece of road on the Dixie Highway north of the Antrim county line.

It is planned for everyone to get into the game and spend an entire day, working with teams, scrapers, trucks and wagons and put the road into as good shape as possible, good enough at least to last until the pending concrete road is built, which, it is now though, will not be done until next year.

County Commissioner Hammond has agreed to give his time and also the services of trucks, wagons, etc., and assume charge of the work if required to. Each mile of road will have an overseer, and with n days work, can be placed in passable condition. The work and time will be donated by all who take part, and it is hoped that every auto owner will himself be there or send someone to represent him. Get in line and do your share of the work.

CONVENTION OF COLLEGE GIRLS

Annual Meeting of Pi Beta Pi at Inn This Week

College girls from all over the United States, some four hundred of them—are expected to arrive in Charlevoix tomorrow (Thursday) to remain until after July 4, the event being the annual convention of the Pi Beta Pi.

Miss May L. Keeler, dean of Westhampton college, Richmond, Virginia, is president of this fraternity. The young people anticipate a glorious visit and for many it will be the first visit to Michigan.

Charlevoix's reception and entertainment accorded to a convention of similar nature last year has evidently been productive of a great deal of good, and the visitors this year should be shown that Charlevoix is a real out and out convention city.

W. S. S. DRIVE IN FULL FORCE

STARTED LAST WEEK WITH ROUSING MASS MEETINGS

Prospects That Township Quota of $22,000 Will Ba Raised—Your Help Is Needed

The W. S. S. drive in Banks township started on Tuesday evening of last week with a rousing mass meeting at Atwood, when Rev. Harwood of Mancelona addressed a large crowd at the Atwood M. E. church.

On the following evening a meeting was held at the Blue hall at Ellsworth, the pricipal speaker for which was District Manager Wilson of Traverse City, assisted by Lieut. Collins of the Australian army. The hall was filled to capacity and every one present enjoyed every moment of the meeting.

Lieut. Collins told of his life in the trenches and told among other things several amusing instances and happenings during his service since 1915.

Mr. Wilson's talk was all business, being principally on the object of the stamp sale. An especially pleasing feature of the meeting was the singing hy little Fern, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. Wilson.

On the day following this meeting committees were appointed by township chairman Clow, for each of the ten school districts among which the township's quota of $22,000 had been apportioned. These committees are now at work and prospects are good for the quotn to be renched this week. Several districts having already gone over the top.

Meetings have been announced for each and every school district in the state to be held at the school house, Friday, June 28, at 2:00 p. m., and all members of their respective districts are ordered to attend. At these meetings the quota must be raised and are to be held under direction of the school offieers and any taxpayer or wage earner not present who refuses or neglects to purchase stamps must be reported.

The editor of the Courier has received a somewhat long and extremely painful literary effort from a certain party in Ellsworth by the name of W. Slough, who has but recently appeared in the limelight and whose recent and past actions have been a subject of considerable comment. The communication is of a nature that should not be ignored, and we assure both our readers and the writer that it will receive full consideration, but not before next week's issue. Before answering we desire to confiirm certain facts and statements which will necessitate our getting in touch with certain Pere Marquette officials who have previously interviewed the writer on matters we desire to mention in our reply. However, our readers ean look for our reply in our next issue.

GRANDSON OF OLD CHIEF IS WOUNDED

Howard Petoskey With Marines Is Struck by Hun Bullet

True blue Petoskey blood has been spilled in the great war in Europe. For the first time the name Petoskey appears on the casualty list.

Howard Petoskey, marine, was dangerously wounded, according to official reports, in the fighting on the Marne a few days ago. The young man's home was given as Park Lake, Mich., as that was the place from which he enlisted. However, his home is in Petoskey, for it was here that he was born and grew to manhood. He attended school in district No. 6 of Bear Creek township and some time ago moved to Mt. Pleasant with his mother.

First news that young Petoskey had enlisted was brought to Petoskey by one of the Indian children who recently came home from the Mt. Pleasant Indian school for the summer vacation. He joined the marines and helped stem the flow of the Hun hordes toward Paris along the Marne.—Petoskey Evening News.

The Howard Petoskey above referred to is well known in and around Ellsworth, having been bookkeeper for the Ellsworth Produce Co., for some time. His many friends here hope and trust that he will reeover fully from his wounds.

Officers Chosen to Fill Vacancies—Notes On Work

Monday night, Juna 17, there was a special business meeting of the Red Cross, held in the Blue hall, for the purpose of electing new officers as some of the old officers had resigned or left town. New officers are as follows: Mrs. C. E. Baarss, President; Mrs. M. R. Nelson, Vice President; Miss Esther Angestrom, Treasurer; Mrs. E. R. Harris, Secretary.

We have ordered our allotment of work from tha county chapter of Red Cross. WRITES OF OVERSEAS TRIP

SEA JOURNEY WAS NOT A PLEASURE TRIP

Writer Says Men Were Packed Aboard Ship Like a Layer Cake—No Thrillers on Trip

The following letter from Harry Beuker, with Headquarters Co., 125th Regt., now somewhere in France, was received recently by his aunt, Mrs. B. J. Beuker. Harry's story of his trip overseas brings out the real hardships the boys have went through and will undergo before returning to the United States. And still there are people who refuse to give a few dollars toward their care if sick or wounded in their effort to rid the earth of the terrible menace that now confronts us:

"Dear Uncle and Aunt—To begin with, this letter will have to serve a dual purpose. There is very little news that we are allowed to write, and to write the same think over two or three times when it can just as well be passed around is useless and only makes more work for the local censor who has work enough as it is. So after reading this kindly pass it on to 1018 Madison Ave.

"The day we left Camp Merrit it was very slushy and misty. We were sent up a long gang plank and at the end stood a chap who gave you a slip of paper saying, 'No..., Birth No. ...., Hatch No. ..., Mess Hall No. ..., Raft or Boat No. ...., etc., Well I landed in hatch No. 2, second story or deck down and had a middle berth. If you have ever seen third class passage on a ship it will give you some idea of the mess we landed in. They had us stacked like a three-layer cake. I had the middle layer of one of the cakes and the upper layer was sick nearly all the way over, so I had to keep my head inside whenever I went to lay down or he would politely spill his last meal on me.

"The ventilation was poor and when a fellow came up on deck it seemed that he came into a new world. Meal times were great sport. They came twice a day and we had no tables only the floor on deck. Well, when the ship would roll a little your cups of coffee or mess kit of beans would simply slide over to someone else and stay there just long enough for your to get up, and before you reached for it, it would come back to where it started from.

"At noon we would have boat drill. They gave us a life preserver which served a dual purpose as pillow and preserver, the latter being a poor imitation. You had to put it over your head and then tie it around your waist. It was nothing more than two little pillows one in front of you and one on your back. They might have held up a sparrow in calm weather.

"As far as the weather was concerned we couldn't have wished any better. Once in a while it would kick up a little and soak a few of us, but we were able to be up on deck every day.

"Twice a day the band would give a concert and at night we had movies. A couple of times they staged some boxing matches so you see a great deal of the monotony was taken up by something or other. The ship's had target practice, and oh, how those boys would hit that old 4 x 4 sticking up out of the water.

"The morning we landed one of the destroyers got one of Fritz's U-boats and they weren't excited about it either.

"Well, when they let us off they marched us to what they called a rest camp. It was about five kilometers march and we were rather tired after carrying on full packs for that distance, after two or more weeks of idleness. It was a rest camp alright. We had to sleep on some old French beds which must have been used in Napoleon's time for all they were was a couple of boards raised about three inches off the floor. We had no straw and on these things we were supposed to rest. The next day they marched us back to town again and there we were put aboard a train.

"They put us in third class coaches with four wheels on them and wooden seats. They put 40 men to a coach so you have some idea of our crowded condition, packs and all. We had to spend two nights and one day in one of these things so you know how much sleep we had. Of course we were supposed to have rested up at the rest camp the night before. Our bunch was lucky at that for some of the boys had to travel in some of these small wooden boxes they have here and put a few wheels on them and paint them up a little and mark them 8 Cheveau and 40 Hommbres.

"We finally landed at our destination. It was some place. It had been and was snowing and raining at the same time, so every thing was slush and mixed with some of the clay they have here. We had a fine welcome to our new home. Our new home was one of those made to fit constructions destined to hold 90 some odd men. The roof leaked at the joints and the floor was nothing but water-soaked sand. It had two little stoves the kind we used in our tents at Waco to heat up a space 16 by 16 ft., so you can imagine how much heat we had. The first night we didn't have any straw so we had to sleep on the cold, wet ground. The next day we were given some straw and set to work to make bunks and get the ground drained off. The next night it was a little better. Then came a happy tiding.

"Gus, myself and a few more boys were sent on detached service. We landed in a regular drizzle and put in a stable. We were taken to supper and had darkies wait on us. Some class. Our beds were steel spring cots with mattress and pillow, why, the change made a fellow feel as if he had landed in heaven.

"We put in five weeks at that town and certainly had a good time even though we did have to work.

"Finally we received orders to return to our regiment. They had also moved in the meantime so we didn't land in the old mud hole. We landed in a small French village and were put in billets. It seemed good to be back with the bunch again. We were only together for about a week and then our platoon was sent to another place to go to the Divisional Signal school.

"Here my bed partner and myself ran across an old fashioned bed with nice high springs and all the other chaps are jealous of us.

"Now this is not a letter of complaint, because I've been soldiering long enough to be able to stand this knocking about. But it gives you an idea of some of the things we run across. Everybody is feeling fine and aching to get a whack at Fritz and I think that before long we will be given a chance. Gus transferred to the mounted orderlies and has a horse now. Wishing you all the best of luck and health. Your loving nephew,

HARRY.

Willard Herington, a resident of this district, has been trying for the past three weeks to get his car in running order, and on Sunday last attempted to make a trip with it. Upon starting out engine trouble started, complicated with other ailments. He got as far south from Charlevoix as the Sam Peters farm, near Phelps, when like a bucking broche, Lizzie wheezed and snorted and refused to go farther. Another Lizzie came along soon and took the driver and owner of the car home. H. Herington, with his Maxwell, towed the sulking Lizzie home later in the day. Willard's Lizzie undoubtedly developed internal troubles during the long, cold winter and spring months, and until its rheumatic joints are thoroughly massaged and warmed up, refused to perform its duty as a real Ford should.

How The Bayonet Lost a Great Battle
BAYONETS, first made at Bayonne, France, whence they get their name, to begin, were almost as dangerous to the army with them as to its foe.
Fashioned with a solid butt, to be jammed into the muzzle, it rendered a gun useless for firing.
The butt was soon changed to a socket, but not before the new fangled bayonet brought the English army to grief at Killiekrankie.
The English soldier found the bayonet a poor fit, hard to get into his gun; and when he got it in, hard to get out. When he had to bayonet, he couldn't bayonet; when he had to shoot, he couldn't shoot.
GOODRICH
SERVICE VALUE TIRES
The bayonet experiment gave the Scots the battle.
To safeguard tire users against the chance of experiment, Goodrich Test Car Fleets put the road test to Goodrich Tire, to make them in word and deed SERVICE VALUE TIRES.
Goodrich sees but one tire value, SERVICE VALUE—
That is, what a tire proves it is worth to the motorist on his car and on the road, in comfort, economy, dependability, and durability.
All Goodrich skill and sincerity build up SERVICE VALUE; whether you get SILVERTOWN CORD TIRES, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Ten Reasons Why Michigan Should Send
TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY
to the United States Senate

First—Because of his marked ability. As a business man, as a member of Roosevelt's Cabinet and as a Commander in the Navy he has shown himself capable and efficient.

Second—Because of his broad experience in national affairs. As Secretary of the Navy he came into close touch with Congress and legislative action, knows how laws are made and is thoroughly familiar with legislative processes.

Third—Because he is a worker, "a man who does things."

Fourth—Because of his splendid record—Ahle seaman on the "Yantic" in the Naval Reserves—Lieutenant on the "Yosemite" in the Spanish-American war—Secretary of the Navy and now a Commander, he has always "made good."

Fifth—Because he is a Michigan man. Michigan born and bred and a part of its business and industrial life, he is in close touch with the affairs of our great state. He knows Michigan conditions and needs.

Sixth—Because of his integrity and high character. Truman H. Newberry stands always for a "square deal."

Seventh—Because he is genial, approachable and sympathetic. Much of his time is taken up with doing things to help, personally, the boys in the Navy and he delights to be of service to them.

Eighth—Because of his good judgment and balance. He is dependable and reliable.

Ninth—Because of his 100% Americanism. Not only in the service himself, but his two sons as well, he is doing all he can at his post of duty to help to win the war. He is the "Win-the-War" candidate.

Tenth—Because of his knowledge of the war, he is the best man we have in Michigan to help solve the problems, arising and to arise out of this, the greatest conflict in history.

Ability—Experience—Industry—A Splendid Record—Integrity—Home Ties—Helpfulness—Good Judgment—Knowledge of War Conditions and Problems—all these are found in Truman H. Newberry.

HE IS THE BEST QUALIFIED MAN IN MICHIGAN FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR.

COURIER TRAVELS IN MANY COUNTRIES

West to California and In New Mexico and South America

Few people realize, as we sometimes do ourselves, the great distances covered in travel by our home paper.

Last week we received a letter written under date of June 4, from a subscriber who stated that he had received that previous six copies of the Courier at the following places: Los Angeles, San Francisco, Columbus, New Mexico, Porto Rico and Yahamato, South America.

The writer in question travels for a moving picture supply house and the Courier is forwarded to him, wherever he may be. In some instances he receives the paper several weeks after its publication, but says, "its news from home, no matter how late it is received."

At the present time the Courier is being forwarded to him at various points in Alaska, where his work has taken him.

REGULATIONS ON USE OF BEEF

HOTEL MANAGERS ARE TOLD WHAT TO USE

May Serve This Meat at Certain Meals on Certain Days of Each Week

The following communication, addressed to the hotel managers of Michigan was issued last Wednesday by George A. Prescott, federal food administrator for Michigan, and E. C. Puffer, chairman of the atate hotel committee:

"Tho changing situation in shipping and the increasing demands for our growing army, and with the fluctuation in the supply of local beef in France, all make it impossible to determine policies for long periods in advance.

"The demands for beef for our army and the allied armies are rapidly decreasing the present surplus, on the other hand we have enough increased supply of pork this summer to permit economy expansion in its use. Therefore, to render a direct service to our army and the allied armies, we must substitute beans fresh pork, bacon, hams and sausages for beef products.

"You are not to serve beef more than four times weekly. Roast beef may be served only on Monday at midday meal; stewed, boiled or beef hash on Wednesday and Saturday at midday meal; steaks in any form, including hamburg steak on Thursday only at midday meal. By-products of beef such as oxtails, livers, tongues, sweetbreads, hearts, kidneys, brains and tripe may he served nt any time.

"In view of the necessity for this ruling, violation of its provisions will be sufficient cause for closing your place of business. Very respectfully,

Geo. A. Prescott,
Federal Food Administrator.

Chairman State Hotel Committee.

CLOSED SEASON FOR PARTRIDGE

Can be Killed in Only Three Counties In State

Richard Lewis, county clerk, has received official notice from Lansing to the effect that the privilege of hunting partridge will be withheld from the people of the state of Michigan with the exception of three counties, for a period of one year, beginning June 15, 1918.

It has been the desire of the county supervisors for some time to obtain this order for the closing of the partridge season, it being their opinion that if such an order were not issued the hird would become extinct in this region.

The three counties where partridge season will be open are Schoolcraft in the upper peninsula, and Antrim and Kalkaska in lower Michigan.

LOTS OF GIRLS AT THE INN

200 PI BETA PHI'S TAKE POSSESSION OF INN

Dance, Boat and Swim, but Become Serious at Meetings—Close With Banquet

Many girls from Michigan points are among the 200 members of the Pl Beta Phi who have been in possession of the Charlevoix Inn since Thursday of last week, for their biennial convention and frolic. The Pl Beta Phi fraternity was organized fifty-one years ago and is the oldest women's "frat" in existence. Four of the founders are present. They are Mrs. Emma Kilgore, Monmouth, Ill.; Mrs. H. I. Gaddis, Monmouth, Ill.; Mrs. Ina Smith Eoule, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Fannie Whitenack Libby, North Ynkima, Wash.

The crowd is composed almost entirely of young women, and they are far removed from the old conception of the woman college graduate. Every time the colored jazz band strikes up they begin to danco regardless of the hour or where they chnnce to be. Spacious verandas, parlors, lobbies, balconies and bedrooms immediately are utilized. They have registered from Maine, Florida, Nevada. Washington and all territory between, but the great melting pot of the American school has put them on the same level—just nice, modest American girls, full of fun and minus steel-rimmed spectacles and plastered hair.

Although they boated, fished, swam, danced and banqueted without ths seeming need of male assistance, the entire program was serious and dealt with how they best could make things easier for the boys whe are bearing the brunt of the burden "over thsre." Everything was along patriotic lines and the biennial play was historical.

The officers of the fraternity are: Grand president, Miss May Koller, Richmond, Va.; grand vice-president, Mrs. Ford J. Allen, Oak Park, Ill.; grand secretary, Miss Amy Omken, Chapin, Ill.; grand treasurer, Miss Ann Stuart, Lincoln, Neb.; grand guard, Miss Inez Webster, Galesburg, Ill.

The convention closes Thursday evening with a banquet, and the meeting is conccded to bo one of the best in the history of the society. Chnrlevoix business men planned on entertaining the young ludies by un auto trip around Pine Lake, but on account of the storm and condition of roads several places on the 50 milc run, were compelled to give it up.

STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

DAMAGE WILL RUN INTO THE HUNDREDS

Stone Steps and Sidewalk Washed Out on Shore Near Beach Hotel—Blew a Gale

Sunday night and Monday's wind and rain storm is concedod to be one of the hardost that has visited this soction for years. The wind started to blow Sunday night and continued until about four o'clock Monday, blowing a gale and doing considerablo damage to roads, docks and resort property.

About seven o'clock Sunday the canvas covering over the Ackley Bowling Alley on Bridge street collapsed and considerable damage to the alleys is reported from the effect of the rain.

At the Beach hotel the waves washed the banks and stone steps nway and destroyed considerable sidewalk. Some damage also resulted from the action of the water on tho foundntions to the sun parlors and pavillion.

At Petoskey pieces of the brenkwater camo ashore all day and some thirty feet of the log pinning of the dock was washed out. The new Bay View dock, just completed, was washed away, hardly any evidence being left to show where it formerly stood.

Damage to county roads will amount to a great deal as in some places the roudlied is washed out entirely.

Streets throughout the city were covered with broken branches of trees and in the rural districts trees were overturned and considerablo damage done. Water in Pine Lako rose at least three feet, flooding the docks and boat houses on the lake front. The damage to tho entire community is hard to estimate.

NEW LAKE BOAT IN PORT TUESDAY

Steamer North American Here On First Trip of Season

The Str. North American arrived in this port early Tuesday morning on her first trip of the season. On board were about twonty passengers for this place, besides a large number for Harbor Springs, Mackinac Island and other northern Michigan resorts.

On account of the early arrival of the boat, few people were at the dock, but on her return trip at 5:20 in the afternoon, she was greeted und viewed by hundreds. The North American is said to be the equal of an Atlantic liner and to have many facilities for comfort and amusement, including a ball room, play ground for children and deck games. There is a large promenade deck and sun parlors of unusual width, commodious lounging rooms and oxcellent dining service. Furnishings are all new and modern.

The transportation service will be tri-weekly, and will continue until September 5.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Lieut. Jno. E. Loskot Tells of Mammoth Warehouses Erected by U. S. Government and Enormous Amount of Supplies Received Daily for Soldiers

Lisut. Jno. E. Loskot, in an interesting letter just received by members of his family, tells a wonderful atory of the mammoth storehouses built by the U. S. government in France under his charge. Also of the beroism of a Captain under whom ho is serving. Tho letter gives information of real value and we are glad of the opportunity to print it for the benefit of our readers:

Somewhere in France,
Juno 2nd, 1918.

"My dear Kittle—This is Sunday morning so will take a few minutss to write you a little lotter to let you know that I am still on the job. We have so much to do that we work practically day and night. We do not know what it is to quit work on either a Sunday or holiday, Decoration was tho same to us as any week day.

"I received four lettera from you the first of this week and again one this morning. I was surely glad to hear from you as it has been the first muil I have received since arriving, and had gotten to the stage where I began to long for mail from home. My mail will now probably coms along with some regularity.

"I was in hopes that I could write you at least two letters each wesk, but so far I have had a hard time in trying to find a few minutes in which I could even write one. I have hopes that as soon as we get more men and I get my warehouso system in better working order, I will then have more time. Just now I am doing just about as much work as any three average men. During the past week I put in a request for seven additional officers and 50 clerks and checkers. Some of them will probably start arriving during ths coming week.

"Tho Base Q. M. was out here the other day and complimonted us very highly on what we had accomplished, and we also received a compliment from tho Inspector General on having the best and neatest arranged warehouses and least losses of stock of any place in France, so you see we have occasion to feel rather proud over what wo have accomplished. As far as my accountability is concerned, it is increased by leaps and bounds daily. We are receiving an average of 100 car loads of supplies per day. The money value of my property accountability now runs up in the millions, and when we get the rest of our warehouses finished and filled, this will be the largest depot in the world. The Manila depot is not a drop in the bucket in comparison to what we even now have here, and you know what that was. Just imagine 107 warohouses each 600 feet long and 60 feet wide, and each one filled to the roof. I even now have several carloads of the choicest of chocolate bon-bons alone, and train loads of tobaccos nnd cigars, making no mention of the commissaries that constitute the regular ration.

"I went to B——yesterday on some businoss. I drove over in one of our cars and while there I drew my pny. I will probably pay myself at the end of this month as I understand I am also slated to tako over the Disbursing Branch at this depot. I lodged and objection to it while in B——, as it is more than I can handle. I am willing to hundle either the property or the financial branches alone, but not both, as it is too much for one man even with all the ussistance I might need.

"I am glad that the weather is such that you can have the children out doors during the greater part of the day. Keoping them outdoors will do them good after their being kept housed all winter. It is nice and warm here. Everything is in full bloom, the potatoes are in blossom, the vineyards look nice and the flower beds are handsome. This part of the country looks more like a vast garden of paradise, the only signs of war is shown by absence of all men except an exceptional soldier you see who is home on a week's leave of absence. The women do all the work. In going to B—— I even noticed women employed as section hands. Children in arms are also about as scarce as the men. This country is very thickly populated. Every available foot of space is under cultivation. A trip through France away from the war zone is a trip woll to be remembered. I must get a lot of pictures of this country before I leave.

"I surely am well located here. Capt. Michael and I have taken furnished rooms just outside of the camp. The old landlady is a wonder. When it comes to looking after our comfort she does everything for us she possibly can. She puts everything in its proper place, makes up tho bed and room in the morning, and in the evening goes to the rooms and takes off the bod spread, folds the bedclothes back, places my pajamas on the bed, takes my slippers out of the commode drawer and pluces them at the side of my bed, gets fresh drinking water and keeps a nice large fresh boquet of flowers on our center tables every day. She also takes care of our washing and ironing. This week she took the collar off of my O. D. flannel shirt and reversed it, putting the worn-out part underneath and then darned it. She darns all my socks, sews on buttons, etc. She is an old lady about 60 years old, but as active and strong as a young man. Her family are all on the war front. Capt. Michael and I were in Manila for several years. You know him, but probably will not be able to place him just now. Capt. Michael received a gold medal from the French government during the past week for putting out a fire on a boat at B——, which was loaded with samo kind of explosives that did so much havoc at Halifax. The ship's crew had abandoned the boat, which was tied to a dock, and Capt. Michael and another officer rushed aboard, got a fire hose attached to fire plug and went into hold of boat and fought the fire all night alone. Thoy finally succeeded in putting fire out before it got to tho explosives. If the explosives had ever caught fire, the second largest city of France would have suffered ths same fate Halifax did. The presentation of medals was occasion of a large public ceremony. Capt. Michael is now almost 62 years old and is the liveliest old man I ever saw in my life.

"I have been all day trying to write this letter. It seems like every time I get an idea into my head and go to write it down, I am disturbed and have to put the letter aside.

"Gee Whiz, but it is nice and warm here today, it reminds me like Fourth of July weather more than anything else. Probably that is because I have on my blouse and Sam Browne Belt. During the work days nll of us go around here in shirt sleeves, I don't know what I dressed up for today, as I had no intention of going anywhere, as in the first place I have no place to go and if I did I couldn't find the time.

"I have been authorized to employ such French clerical help as I deem necessary, so will probably employ a couple of lady stenographers some of these days. It will he nice to have some of them around the office so as to keep us men within check, otherwise we will soon get in the habit of swearing about every thing we do and say. We pay them from $50 to $60 per month, which is big pay over here although it would sound small in the U. S.

"My dear girl I must come to a close for this time and go to work as I have now written more than I thought I would when I first started to writo.

"Hope everyone is well and that you are all onjoying yourself, and above all things do not worry about me not being nble to handle this proposition, I will handle it if any man in the army will, and will come out of it with flying colors. The nrmy depends as much on a well organized base of supplies as it does on fighting men and as this is the greatest opportunity I have ever had of producing results on a large scale. You can depend on me to come across with doing more than my share to win this war.

"With love to all, I remain,"

JACK.

1st. Lieutenant, Jno. F. Loskot, Q. M. C., depot Q. M. No. 1, Base Section No. 2, A. P. O., No. 705, A. E. F. France.

Newport, R. I.,
June 17, 1918.

"Dear Mother and Dad—Just have a few minutes before I go on guard so I will drop you a few lines now. Bob and I went ashore yesterday and I got you u service pin. It is not a very good one, but it is as near like the one you described as I could get. Next time I go ashore I um going to a jeweler and get a good one which I think you will like better.

"I hear from Poggy quite often and also answer her letters as promptly as I can. I guess she is pretty lonesome, but I don't think she is homesick. I think I will get her some things and send her. Somo music und candy, etc.

"I hope to get transferrod to the radio school this week, but don't know whether I will or not. Got out of quarantino last Saturday nnd believe mo, it sure seemed good to be out again and get exercised up once more. No one got sick and all in all we had a pretty good time while inside. Would have been transferred to the radio school last week except for the quarantino.

"We had a fire drill again today and my company, being on guard, we had to get our rifles and belts and run all the way to where the fire was supposed to be, and we nearly went all over the island. When we are guards and the fire alarm sounds we have to go to the seeno of tho fire and keep the crowd back.

"I got yours and Duke's lettor and was mighty glad to get it. I also had a letter from tho Detroit Free Press

WEDDED SATURDAY IN GRAND RAPIDS

Alderman Hillar Springs a Surprise On His Friends

Miss Christine Peterson of Grand Rapids, and Mr. Ernest J. Hillor, of this city, were quietly married Saturday, June 29, at 8:00 p. m., in the parsonage of the Trinity Lutheran English church, Grand Rapids, by the Revorend Henry Roehner. The ceremony was witnessed by a brother and sistor-in-law of the bride.

Alderman (E. J.) Hiller slipped one over his friends in a mannor that rather took their breath. He took the train from Charlsvoix Friday night, reached Grand Rapids early the next morning, was married at 8:00 in the evening, and with his bride arrived at his home in this city the following day.

The bride is a formor teacher in the public schools, having taught here during the years 1014, 1915 and a part of 1916. She is a most charming woman and mads a host of friends while here.

The groom needs no introduction to our readers. Earnie, as we all call him, is one of our best known young business men, and few men in the city have a greater number of close and intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiller are now at home on Antrim street, and have the best wishes of all for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT M. E. CHURCH

FITTINGLY OBSERVED BY PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

Church Filled to Doors Despite Story Weather—Graduates of Primary and Cradle Roll

Children's Day this year was given an unusual significance, because of tho nation's participation in the great world war. As was fitting and appropriate the day was ushered to its close by a splendid patriotic program. Despite the stormy weather the church was filled to the doors some time before the hour for services.

The children were garbed in patriotic costumes and the national colors lent an inspiring note to the color scheme.

Pastor Quinton Walker returned from an educational campaign through the Eastern states in time to uttend the services. He reported un unusual and pleasing state of nffairs, viz, the oversubscription of the $20,000,000 centenary fund by some $7,000,000.

Under the efficient instruction of the Sunday school teachers, the children rendered a series of essays and patriotic songs, the military evolutions and drill of the children received a well merited ovation. America will remain safe for democracy and democracy a safe institution for humanity to live under as long as our children are taught to love and revere our American institutions. Subject to the enobling influences of a virile christianity; Children's day is a church feature worthy of perpetuation. Pro-Germanism or disloyalty cannot thrive in such an atmosphere.

Death of Peter Rush

Peter Rush, a former resident of Hayes township, who but recently moved to Detroit, died in that city, June 20, after a short illness. Deceased had been a resident of this section for many years, and the news of his death came as a surprise to his numerous friends. Burial took place on June 24, in Detroit. A wife and one daughter, Mrs. William Gregory of Detroit, survive him.

AIRPLANE HERO' LANDS IN JAIL

POSED AS BRITISH "ACE" IN THIS CITY

Nabbed in Cadillac Friday by Shariff Novak and Placad in County Jail—Fake Hero

A man impersonating Lieutenant Frederick A. Marsh, of the Royal Flying corps, who has been baying good times in Northern Michigan because of his supposed heroism, has, after much investigation by Sheriff Charles Novak, at the request of the United States govornment, been found to be an impostor whoso real name is August Rennikre.

Rennikre had established a firm reputation for heroism in this vicinity. He had a cork leg, like Marsh, and was badly bruised. Hs was for some time in the Petoskey hospital for treatment and was autoed and feter while there. He told of a Hun bullet exploding the gasoline in his airplane at a heighth of 3,600 feet. His gunner jumped and was killed, he said, but he stuck until within 150 feet of the ground, when he jumped, and was badly mangled. He alleged many months had been passed in French and Detroit hospitals, and went from here to St. James, Beaver Island, where he was to wed his fiancee.

The supposed hero went from Beaver Island last week to Cadillac and registered at the Hotel Russell as Marsh with his usual flourish. He agreed to lecture, and a banquet was planned, but before ths hour arrived sheriff Novak blew in and then blew out again with the hero. He brought Rennikre to this city, and placed him in the county jail. Investigations so far have revealed that Rennikro forged three drafts, one for $125.00 one for $109.00 and another for $334.00, besides obtaining $100.00 in cash in some manner. He claims he has a wife and one draft was made out to Fred and Mae Marsh. Several local merchants, we are informed, have checks signed by Marsh (Rennikre) and are wondering where they will get their money.

Pontiac police are also looking for a man that answers to his description. Other reports stato that he is a former Pontiac business man. Anyway, he is a smooth one and worked "hero" dodge to a finish.

The Impostor's cork leg is "genuino," and he said his own had been amputated because of the fall. The only doubts expressed by his hearors were when he told of flying over Berlin.

EVERYTHING READY FOR ROAD BEE

Men Offer Services to Put Road Into Good Condition

Plans are about complotod for the big road bee on Thursday, July 11, all day—please remember. Good roads enthusiasts, not only among our townspeople, but among rasorters and residents of Hayes township, have offered their services as well as teams and wagons, and will do their part towards making this stretch of road a pleasure rather than a hardship to drive over.

County Road Commissioner O. D. Hammond and R. C. Hammett have offered to oversee the work in a general way. Other men will be chosen to overlook the work each mile of the entire distance. Men and teams reporting for duty will be separated into gangs and placed along the route, each to have a mile to repair and grade.

Gravel beds have been plowed, thus making it as easy as possible for the fellows shoveling gravel who are unaccustomed to the work.

The proposed road for repair lies between Greeasky Hill and Bay Shore—the connecting link between state award roads and on the only safe route between this city and Petoskoy. Hundreds travel it—and from all reports, also cuss it—and for this reason the plans have been made to place it into passable condition. Get in line and do your part on Thursday, July 11.

and they said that the paper would be sent to me, and also to let them know my address when it changes.

"Well the Germans are getting sort of nervy but there is no danger about them and everybody knows that we will win the wnr. Believe me I pity them if this bunch of Jackies ever eut loose on them. I never saw a more optimistic bunch of fellows in my life thnn we have here, and all of us are just aching to get aboard ship where we can take a crack at the Hun.

"You don't need to worry about my washing underwear, because I can do it in half the time you think I can. Another fellow and I washed, rinsed and hung on the line, two suits of underwear, two pairs of socks, one white hat, two handkerchiefs, two pairs of leggings, all in half nn hour. That is speed, isn't it? They are washed clean, too, because you see we have underwear inspection here every morning by the officers, and if we have dirty underwear on we don't get the chow. So, believe me, I always put on clean clothes and it keeps me busy washing them.

"I am glad that I enlisted when I did instend of in the fall, hecause it is colder than the bats out of heck here in the winter time. And if everything goes the wny it should I will be in Harvard or abonrd ship by winter.

"Hnd a swim in the ocean yesterday, and like it finc, all except the taste. It reminds one of taking a drink of strong salt water.

"Well I think I will unlash my hammock and get ready to turn in now. Write snon and don't worry. Love. Your son,

KING.

"Dear Bet—Reccived your ever welcome letter of April 28, this morning, and was glad to hear frum you nnd Joseph.

"Well these days are pretty busy for us. I mean dodging bullets and shrapnel, but am getting used to it. The other day while coming home from swimming we stopped to pick a few roses, and a 'big Bertha' burst so nenr me that I could hear the shrapnel singing, 'Nearer My God to Thee,' and if you ever saw anyone run it was me, for a fine little dugout. The dugouts are real nice to live in around here, all fixed up su cuzy, not like they have them pictured.

"Have been in and out the trenches lately, but sleep in town nights. Lee is with the 3rd battalion just now and Frankie with another, so it seems a little lonesome again. Had our pictures taken in the woods with some Frenchmen that we were helping. Will send you one if we can. Just as soon as the Germans find out where we Americnns are they start their music right off.

"I suppose Bet I told you I saw Harry about a week ago, but not since. The girls and boys at school here all wear gas masks, and how they study with the noise is a mystery. Read the Courier this morning, but it was awfully old. Tell Joe Amer that tobacco is awfully scarce at the front, and the tobacco is more like Peerless.

"We certainly have had fine westher here, and of course I found a ereek to swim in. I see that the fruit trees along the road nre all budding and eherries will soon be ripe, also other fruit. The road, eailed 'Ruea' from one town to another are like Dixon Avenue all over France, and are kept very good.

"Well, be sure and write and tell every one at home the same for it is terribly lonesome, and the days are long when I don't hear from home, for we arise at two thirty, breakfast at three, and then return at eight, for the Boche are pretty good at shooting in daylight.

"Well, I guess I will have to close for this time. Am still well and hoping for it to soon end and to come back all together.

Your loving brother,
ADOLPHUS.

France, June 5th, 1918.

"Dear Mother—I received your letter today. I can judge by your letter that there is not much doing there, but there is plenty doing here.

"I received the papers that you sent me. I have never regretted for one minute that I enlisted, and if I was discharged today and they needed me tomorrow, I would enlist again.

"I have all the time in the world to write to you tonight, as I am on duty from twelve o'elock until six in the morning. Our dugout is a very nice one, and we have all the comforts of home in it, and also lots of rats.

"Now I want to tell you the truth about this life over here. It is not as bad as you would think. We have good times, and all are happy and in good health, so what more can we ask except to be back in the good old U. S. again, as there is no country like our own. Now you can see there is no cause for you to worry. We will soon be back on the job again.

"Well, I think I have said my little piece so will close for this time. With love,"

LEE ALLARD.

Somewhere in France,
June 13, 1918.

"My dear Mother and dear ones at home—This finds me at Pauilloe Gironde, France. We had a long, nice trip through France, and of course I saw some nice country. France seems very peculiar in many ways to we soldiers from the good, old U. S. A. The buildings are made of stone and brieks, and look very substantial. Very few wooden buildings are found in the eountry, and the streets are very narrow, and the towns numerous. Anywhere you go through all the towns you feel a eordial welcome, and the spirit of France is fine, considering all things. I feel very sorry for them and I am sure every American soldier or sailor will do his bit to keep and preserve what is left of France.

"Our trip from the station which we arrived at from America to our present home was very tiresome on account of the traveling inconveniences. If France could see some of America's trains and 20th century equipment they would be afraid to risk a trip on one. Their locomotives sound and look like our modern threshing machines back on the farm. Their farms are all small, and the crops here look fine. I never saw as many vinyards in all my life, and every crop and vinyard is as clean as ean be. Not a weed in sight, and I could not help but notice it all the way. Everything is in small patches. I also saw some fine enttle, and they so much look like Uncle Ed's. Guernseys.

"Well mother I don't suppose you will get this for a few weeks and no doubt it will be some time in August before I will hear from you, but please send me all the news, and I will certainly appreciate it.

"Where we are now is at an aviation camp (naval) and our barracks are clean and our chow is fine. Here is what we had for supper: Spuds, meat stew, wheat bread, jam, tapioca puddlng, orange flavor, and tea. Everything is fine and really I eannot realize that I am in France. Just four weeks from the time we left Great Lakes we arrived here. The longest trip I ever took and I saw some wonderful sights. Now don't you wish you were a yuun; man and could get out and see so much of the world? I will be proud of it when I put in my term and when I am permitted to come home. I will be able to tell many things that I cannot write.

"Must close. Don't send any packages until I let you hear from me again. Best regards to all, and I hope you have a very enjoyable summer. Write and tell me all the news. Ever your son,

ROSCOE O. BENNETT,
S. 2C, Pauilloe Gironde, United State Naval Aviation Forces, care Postmaster, N. Y., France.

BARNARD

Mrs. Jos. Clark is quite ill at present.

"What are you going to do on the Fourth?" has been the question in vogue lately.

The Children's Day exercises which were to have been given last Sunday, were postponed until next Sabbath.

The rain on Sunday was very welcome. We can't begin to tell how many million dollars it was worth to the country.

Mrs. George Dougherty, who has been staying in Charlevoix taking treatment is now at home again. We hope to see her fully recovered very soon.

The Farmers' Co-operative meeting on Friday night was well attended. A great many of the farmers joined the Potato Growers Association, which they believe is the best way to market their "tubers," and fairest to everyone concerned from producer to consumer.

George Dougherty's home was discovered to be on fire last Saturday afternoon, but with the aid of the telephone alarm and automobiles, help was soon secured and not much damage was done although it caused some excitement on our streets for a few moments.

EVELINE

We have had a good rain when it was beginning to be badly needed. Now if it will only warm up agsin it will look encouraging for crops.

Most of us heard the talks by Mr. Stewart in East Jordan and we hear nothing but praise for what he said. Evidently there are no pro-Germans among us.

Eveline Farmers' Club meets again on Friday night, July 5. Two very good speakers have been secured for us by Mr. Oldham of Charlevoix. We are also promised specisl music and the Farm Bureau will meet for action.

The road into East Jordan is almost impassable and will probably remain so throughout the season, although they are getting along much faster with the road making than they did last yenr nnd the year before.

When you come to a sign beside the road that says "Danger, this road under construction," do not be alarmed as it does not mesn anything. Our commissioners never bother to take down such signs for a year after the road is completed.

Orson Cook had a barn raising Tuesday.

Mrs. Pant and Leo spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Howard of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Tyndall returned to Mrs. Whightman's Sunday, after spending a few weeks with Dulcie Howe.

It was Harold Webster and Margaret Stroud who they hsd a surprise on last week instead of Harold Stroud.

Next Monday is annual school meeting. Every resident should go. There is to be a patriotic program besides election of officers.

The rain which came Sunday was just what was needed. Now if it warms up everything will grow rapidly even to milkweeds, thistles and quack grass.

AUDITOR FULLER HAS FINE RECORD

OFFICE WORK MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING

While Other Departments at Lansing Show Increased Cost of Maintenance, Auditor's Less

Statistics made public at Lansing reflect illuminatingly the efficiency of the auditor general's department of the state, headed by O. B. Fuller, of Delta county. A record of the cost of supporting the various departments in the state government for nine years, beginning in 1908 and including 1917, ehows that the auditor general'e office in the only state department conducted at less cost to the taxpayers today than in 1908. The figures show that in 1908 the cost of running the auditor general'e department was $172,081 while in 1917 the Delta county man had reduced the cost of his department to $151,186, a decrease of 12 per cent.

Mr. Fuller has established an efficiency record in the office of auditor general that has been a matter of eatisfaction not only to his home people in the upper peninsula, but to taxpayers throughout the lower peninsula.

In spite of the fact that work of the department has doubled in the period covered by the report through the constant practice of economy of the taxpayer's money it has been possible for Mr. Fuller to reduce the cost of running his department.

Other Costs Jump

The report shows that the attorney general's department has increased from a cost of $19,117 in 1908 to $28,831 last year, an increase of 51 per cent. The banking commission's cost increased in the snme period 136 per cent; dairy and food commissioner increase 33 per cent; department of labor increase, 65 per cent; executive office increase 9 per cent; game, fiish and forest fire commissioner increase 738 per cent; geological survey increase 176 per cent; insurance commission increase 272 per cent; public domain commission increase 78 per cent; Michigan railroad commission increase 40 per cent; secretary of state increase 115 per cent; state tax commission increase 376 per cent; state board of fish commissioners increase 65 per cent; state board of health increase 303 per cent; state highway department increase 198 per cent; state library increase 31 per cent; state military increase 49 per cent; state naval brigade increase 128 per cent; state treasury increase 97 per cent; superintendent of public instruction increase 99 per cent and state supreme and circuit court increase 65 per cent.—Menominee Herald-Leader.

The Middle West

Here's to the maid o' the Middle West,
The bride of the years to be,
With her stately dower of cliff and bower,
And the smile of the Inland Sea.
Her breath is sweet with the orchard bloom,
And her tresses are gaily twined
With the golden yield of the harvest field,
And treasures of every kind.
She has gotten my heart, in spite of me,
Since I rested in her bower,
And on my farm I feel the charm
Of her witchery and power.
She showers on me the joys of men,
In a life that is broad and free.
I have found my quest; my heart is at rest
In my home by the Inland Sea.

COMMUNICATIONS

"Editor Charlevoix Courier—In the last issue of your paper you printed a naws item telling a gaping community that 'Rachow Goes to Detroit.' As a matter of news it was of interest and it would have been of still greater interest had the destination been some other place. But when you introduce the dispatch with your own comment that the former cashier of the State Savings Bank had proven true the predictions of his rapid advancement in banking circles, and that 'numerous Charlevoix friends extend him congratulations' you stirred up several hundred warm friends of Dr. Robert B. Armstrong.

"It is u matter of court record that Warren J. Rachow was sued by Dr. Armstrong for the recovery of several thousand dollurs of money alleged to have been obtained through fraudulent representations to the man who he claimed to be his dear friend. The twelve good men and true who composed the jury, awarded a verdict for the full amount claimed by Dr. Armstrong, and in so doing vindicated the Doctor in the position assumed by him in the case.

"It is a matter of record in the books of the Charlevoix State Savinga Bank that Warren J. Rachow was asked to resign from the Board of Directors of that bank, and requested to surrender his stock, which he did.

"It is a matter of court record that the testimony of Dr. Armstrong and Warren J. Rachow, given at the trial, was flatly contradictory. One or the other of these two men were right, the other was wrong. It is needless to state that the overwhelming majority of the people of Charlevoix believe that the jury arrived at the right decision.

"The friends of Dr. Armstrong do not care a great deal about the future of Warren J. Rachow. If he has fallen into a good job in Detroit, he is fortunate. But we do object to the statement in your publication, 'That his numerous friends in Charlevoix extend him congratulations.' There are a lot of us here who want to see Dr. Armstrong collect on that judgment. We believe that he was a victim of a mun whom he trusted as a friend and adviser and just out of curiosity we would like to see the names of the 'numerous' friends of our ex-banker citizen signed to a statement that they believed Dr. Armstrong wrong in his claims and that Mr. Rachow was a truthful, trusting and abused friend.

"We realize that matter frequently finds space in a newspaper that is not always in the lunguage of the editor and that falls far short of expresaing the viewa and opinions of the management of the paper. We believe this is a case of that kind, and our purpose in writing this communication is to correct a manifestly incorrect expression of the sentimnt of the community concerning the subject in question."

FRIENDS OF ARMSTRONG.

(The above communication comes to us through the medium of certain friends of Dr. Robert B. Armstrong, and is printed for the purpose indicated by it. Owing to prominence which the matter has had in the public mind for some time past, we feel disposed to muke clear the atmosphere aa best we may.

The urticle complained of came to us as an item of news and was published as such. In publishing it we had no thought of voicing the sentiment of the people of this community regarding the merits or demerits of Warren J. Ruchow, and it was far from our purpose to say a word that would hurt the feelings of Dr. Armstrong, his family or friends. Aa a citizen of this community, we always take an interest in the good fortune and success of our townspeople and try to make fitting mention of their success wherever they may be. In the present case, it may be that we have been too enthusiastic in thia respect. It is not the province of a newspaper to pass upon the standing of men in a community, or to judge of the number or quality of their friends. The word "numerous" used by us and the use of which is objected to, may have been unfortunate, and if it failed to convey the meaning intended, some other word would have been preferable.

We are bound to confess that the editor secured more information relative to the Armstrong-Rachow controversy in a few minutes talk with the persons who submitted the above letter, than we had been able to secure during the entire time the matter has been before the public. This may or may not be a complimentary admission of our ability as a collector of news, as we probably would have been able to obtain this information, but we are inclined to the belief that the inside facts in the possession of those interested were none of our business from a newspaper standpoint. In other words, our ignorance of facts and the exact state of public opinion came from our unwillingness to pry into other people's troubles.

As to the effect of the whole matter, we say to the writers of the letter that we hope their view of the importance of the article is somewhat exaggerated, and that something must be left to the good judgment and discrimination of the readers. We yield to none, not even to the writers of the letter, in our esteem and regard for Dr. Armstrong, and it would take more than we can now imagine to change that relation, certainly a newspaper item concerning one individual who had wronged him would have not the slightest effect one way or the other. —Editor.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WILL CUT FARES TO ALL RESORTS

Reduced Tourist Rate May Be On Within the Week

Reduced excursion fares to summer resorts will be put into effect soon by the railroad administration. Passenger traffic committees now are working on several hundred local rates to seashore and inland resorts and many of these will be recommended to Director General McAdoo within a week. Although low excursion rates existing before June 10 when the 3 cents a mile passenger rate went into effect will not be restored the special rates will range from 10 to 20 per cent lower than the straight fare.

A number of other apparent injustices effected by increasing passenger rates flatly to 3 cents a mile, purticularly in short hauls, are under consideration by passenger traffic committees.

The railroad administration decided to add to the freight traffic committees which are threshing out adjustments in rates necessitated by the general increase representatives of the shippers and others. They will be appointed next week.

New export and import rates, established on a specific basis of increase, went into effect today. They range from 25 to 50 per cent above the old rates.

NEW "WORK OR FIGHT" ORDER

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID UP TO PRESENT TIME

Able Bodied Men Must Shift Jobs Very Soon or They Will be Taken From Deferred Class

Few cities or towns in northarn Michigan are paying much attention to the "work or fight" order which went into effect July 1, as there has been no noticeable effort among registered men now employed in "non-easentials" to find employment in "essential" work. Unless these men find other employment after July 1, the local boards are duty bound to take notice of them, no matter what their deferred classification, and even call them into military service ahead of their regular order number.

In Charlevoix the new order will effect but few, as is also true in many other northern cities and towns. In some instances the business that will be hit are stores, eating places and office clerks and bookkeepars.

In stores, especially those dealing in shoes, hardware, drugs, men's furnishing, cigars, furniture, etc., there are a number of clerks who are included in the order. In the restaurants and hotels there are cooks and waiters and attendants who must either desert their usual vocation or forfeit their classification.

"The employment or engagement of any able-bodied registrant of military age in any of tha following occupations or employments is not sufficient, in the present emergency, to justify the postponement of his call into military service, notwithstanding he may have a late order number and notwithstanding he may have been placed in Class 2, 3 or 4 on the ground of dependency" reads the official notice from the war department received in the city by the registration board. "And all registrants engaged aa follows are to be considered by local and district boards as non-productive occupations or employments:

(a) Persons engaged in the serving of food and drink, or either, in public places, including hotels or social clubs;

(b) Passenger elevator operators and attendants, and doormen, footmen, carriage openers and other attendants at clubs, hotels, stores, apartment office buildings and bathhouses.

(c) Persons, including ushers and other attendants, engaged and occupied in and in connection with games, sports and amusements, excepting actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas or theatrical performances;

(d) Persons employed in domestic service.

(e) Sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments.

Citizens Must Report

The regulations make it the duty of citizens to report to the local board all facts which may come to their knowledge concerning the registrants who are idle or who are engaged in any occupation defined as non-productive.

Being idle, except on one's regular vacation, if idleness exceeds one week, will be sufficient reason for withdrawing all deferred classifications. The board will accept as a reasonable excuse for temporary idleness, or being engaged in non-productive work—sickness, reasonable vacation, lack of reasonable opportunity to secure essential occupation. If domestic circumstances are such that to change employment would he to work a great hardship to dependents of the registrant by causing the family to move, the board is given the right to excuse said registrant.

Any man known to be in non-productive employment after July 1 will be forwarded a notice by the local board instructing him to appear to submit evidence bearing on reasons for not being engaged in an essential occupation.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids—Splendid for system.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

THE PART THAT CIVILIANS PLAY IN THE WAR

Separated by 3,000 miles of ocean and protected by our navy, our civilian population can during this war continue to live in the same security as in peace times. The Hun invaders are not in our midst. We are spared the agony that came to the women and children and old men of Belgium and France and Serbia and the other overrun countries. While thus secure from harm we must not forget that the civilian populations of these desolated countries are as much our allies as are their fighting men. Let us realize more deeply their tragedies.

Read this testimony of Brand Whitlock, who as our minister to Belgium knows what it means for a land to be occupied by German troops:

"Tamines is a little mining town on the Sambre. The little church stands on the village green overlooking the river, its facade all spotched where the bullets and grapeshot spattered against it. And in the little graveyard beside the church there are hundreds of new-made graves, long rows of them, each with its small wooden cross and its bit of flowers. The crosses stand in serried rows, so closely that they make a very thicket, with scarcely room to walk between them. They were all new, of painted wood, alike except for the names and the ages—thirteen to eighty-four. But they all bore the same sinister date—August 22, 1914.

"The Germans began to pillage and burn the houses, 676 of them; then they turned all the inhabitants into the street, promiscuously marching them about. It went on for long hours; they were given no food or drink. During a halt they forced them to lie beneath the machine guns, then they lined them up against the church wall and performed a mock execution. About 600 men were massed in St. Martin's Square, on the river bank, and their wives, mothers, daughters, were assembled by the soldiers to witness the scene.

"They lined up their victims in three rows along the Sambre and tumbled 150 of them head over heels into the river, shoving back with their bayonets those who attempted to cling to the bank. Only four or five escaped by swimming. During this first execution the machine guns were trained on the remaining lines. When the firing had ceased that night, there were more than 400 dead; their bodies lying there, women, too, and children. And the graves are there near by, in the cemetery, and the ages given are from 13 to 84."

The part that these civilians played in the war was to bring to the civilized world the realization of what it would mean for German arms to conquer. In playing their part they gave their lives in the most cruel way a beastly enemy could devise.

What part will our civilian population play in the war? Will it go along living as it did before the war, or will it glory in the opportunity to serve in the tremendous task of defeating civilization's enemy? Each individual must decide that question. He can prolong the world's agony or he can save—save and sacrifice—to the utmost of his ability and with his savings buy war savings stamps that there may be more money, labor, and materials to back up those who fight and die not only for us, but for all who love freedom.

VALUE OF THE THRIFT STAMP

The present canvas for pledges to purchase a definite number of war savings stamps during the coming six months is in reality, a nation-wide campaign for thrift. All the people are asked to do is to save as much as possible of their regular incomes and thereby accumulate a reserve fund of savings, or to add to such fund if one already has been started. To facilitate and encourage the effort, the people are urged to put their savings into war stamps, a form of securities that provide perfect safety and pays a good rate of interest, which will help the savings fund grow larger. In a comparatively short time—four and one-half years—these securities will mature and the lucky holder will get back his money, together with a profit of nearly $17 on about $83 invested at present rates.

Entirely aside from the patriotic duty performed in the purchase of war stamps, this campaign for the encouragemsnt of thrift and savings is certain to prove of immense value and advantage to the American people individually, and to the nation as a whole. By co-operating with this movement the people will better their own financial condition and will find themselves possessed of an immense reserve fund of savings, which otherwise doubtedless would be spent and dissipated. Better still, in cultiveting the habit of thrift and saving, in response to the present appeal, the people will discover how easy and how much better it is to follow such rules, than to waste their money on frivolities, little extravagances and non-essentials. To a large extent the American people have been careless, extravagant and improvident in the past, but it is safe to say that all this will be changed, and for the better, largely as the result of the valuable lessons of thrift taught by the war.

Every sensible person will consider this feature of the question when he is asked to pledge himself to purchase a definite number of war stamps. And instead of grumbling, or trying to get out with the smallest possible pledge, he will promise to take the largest number of stamps which he can pay for with prudent saving. For, after all, he is getting the real benefit of this plan, and at the same time is meeting a patriotic obligation.

PAYING THE FREIGHT

The "dear people" are just discovering they are paying all the back wages of the railwaymen and the increased freight rates now demanded. You will observe that you will pay a dollar more for a load of wood than formerly. John Jones, the miner, will pay it just the same as Henry Ford, the multi-millionaire. James Smith will pay an additional thirty cents a ton for his coal because the extra freight now amounts to that, and the fuel administration allows it. Your flour, your tea and sugar and coffee, your meats, everything you eat and everything you wear will cost you more because the pay of railwaymen has just been increased to $300,000,000 a year. The people pay the extra three hundred millions, and the back pay. It all comes on the labor of the country, remember, not on the rich. The latter's a joke. It's the man with the dinner pail that pays the extra cost of running the railways. Labor is being asked to praise Mr. McAdoo because he raised the pay of the railway workers. And when he did this he lowered the pay of all other workers because the others will have to make up for this big boost in pay of the railwaymen, and there's no other view to be taken of it, no matter how you figure, to what political party you belong or whether you belong to any or not. It's directly on the shoulders of the workers of the country.

When freights go up then up goes everything you buy. It's the only way the merchant can meet the increased cost of doing business, isn't it? There's no other solution of it. The workers of the country pay the freight and the bigger the freight the more they pay. An there's a limit to the load that can be imposed on them in this way.

If the man of wealth thinks that War Savings Stamps and their meaning are not for him he is mistaken. It is true that he can buy only $1,000 of them, but he is more able than most folks to accept the philosophy of the stamps. That philosophy is, Save! Save! Save! Julius Rosenwald says: "That man financially able to indulge himself in luxuries during war time has the least excuse for doing so."

We expect, as a matter of course, that our soldiers and sailors will do as they are ordered. We oftentimes do not think it necessary to do what our government asks us to do. Why should we not be just as prompt in our response? Our men are ordered to expose themselves to the guns of the Huns. We are asked only to save and to loan our savings to the government. Can we refuse the request?

Someone has said: "If one of our boys hesitated as long in going over the top as some people do in buying Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps, he would be court-martialed and shot for cowardice. And if the same punishment were meted out to noncombatants for financial cowardice and awful lot of people would be shot at dawn."

Wonder if Hank Ford expects that every purchaser of one of his chuck, chuck, chuck machines is going to vote for him? Hank isn't much of a friend of the dear people who are paying him net profits at the rate of several million dollars a month.

"He kept us out of war" was the cry with which the Democratic party conducted the National campaign two years ago. In the state and district campaigns this year the same Democratic party will howl for votes because we are at war.

Only the kaiser would want to march to Paris through heaps of his own dead.

THE BIG BANK ON THE CORNER

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddia master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

Twenty-seven more boys have been registered for work as caddies. Their names follow, in the order in which they passed the examination? Lewis O'Neil, Webster Bacon, Melvin Bacon, Clayton Bacot, Glen Hewitt, Thaddeus Brown, Carlton Oberlin, Clayton McFarlane, Oakley Crandall, Elmer Barber, Ernest Smith, George Zagorski, Carl Ruber, Ralph Hamilton, Ward Richardson, Leon Solomon, Harry Paulson, Ted Loper, William Allen, Floyd Brown, Harold Dutcher, Arthur Cross, Harold Jones, Earl Harrington, Airel Cooper, Norman Shanahan, Roswell Williams. Caddie classes and examinations are held each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

Now is the time to start that money saving for the season. Every boy should plan right now how many thrift stamps he will buy each week this summer, and how much he will put in the savings bank; then be sure to do as he planned to do. The club will pay the ten per cent on thrift stamps bought by the caddies this summer just as they will on money saved in the bank. However caddies must buy their thrift stamps of the caddie master so that he can keep a record of the stamps they purchase. Every boy should plan to buy at least two thrift stamps each week. Remember also that the bank books this fall must show that the boy has deposited his money every week, or at least every two weeks during the season. No one can get into the habit of doing anything by doing it only once or twice.

While in Chicago the caddie master and his wife visited the family of Capt. Peter McCafferty and ate supper with them. The three boys, Harold, Stanley and Jerold were caddies here last season. Harold is working in the office of the claim agent of the Illinois Central. The other two boys are "newsies" on the Illinois Central suburban trains after school hours. Harold has a two weeks' vacation in August which he expects to spend in Charlevoix. Mrs. McCafferty and the rest also expect to visit Charlevoix sometime this summer.

Forty of the caddies and other employes of the links have formed a "dime a week" club the purpose of which is to contribute a dime a week from each of its members for ten weeks to the local chapter of the Red Cross society, commencing last week (June 24). The dime may be paid at any time during the week before Saturday noon, and the week's contribution will be turned over to the treasurer of the Red Cross chapter each Saturday evening. Last Saturday the amount turned over was $4.00. As the membership of the "dime-a-week" club will doubtless increase, the list of names will not be published in this column for a week or two. Thrift stamps represent willingness to save; Red Cross contributions express willingness to help others.

Mrs. Art Alcock has recently received a letter from her son Harry, in which he says he "don't know where he's going, but he's on his way." The letter was written from New York. Up until this last move, Harry has been stationed at Rantoul, Illinois. Mrs. James Gaskin, Sr., has lately received her first over-seas letter from James, Jr. The letter, published in last week's Sentinel, was written from somewhere in France. Jim is a sergeant now.

William Watson, of Los Angeles, California, professional in charge at the Charlevoix links, arrived in Charlevoix Thursday, June 27.

Several girls have been to see the caddie master about working as caddies. It looks bad—for the "bum" caddie, and for the fellow who would rather go swimming than stay on the job!

Don't forget the Thrift Stamps, the savings bank and the Red Cross!

THE WEEKLY TIP

Our Sisters

When it was mentioned a few days ago that it might be necessary to train fifteen or twenty girls to be caddies this year, many of the boys thought that was the funniest or most impossible thing that could ever happen. It is, however, neither funny nor impossible.

It is not impossible, because at many places in the country, and at one place not far from Charlevoix, girls are already acting as caddies.

It is not funny, because all over the world during the last three years girls and women have been doing the work of boys and men. We must stand aside enough to make room for our sisters in any work for which they are physically fitted. Men everywhere who have been obliged to do this have thought the situation "funny" — until they found that in most cases men had to hustle to keep from being outclassed.

When our sisters come to help on the links, if they do come, every boy there will treat them with the respect due them (if he respects his own sister or his mother,—or if he values his job) remembering that girls are entitled to any place they can hold in the field of earning, that as a general rule they are mentally a little in advance of boys of the same age, that they need spending money just as much as their brothers do and have every right to earn their share of the money passed out to caddies on this course every season.

Announcement

I wish to announce to the Republican voters of Charlevoix county that I will be a candidate for nomination for sheriff at the primaries in August. Your support will be appreciated.

ELECT OSBORN, SAYS TRIBUNE

"SOO" MAN FAVORED BY CHICAGO PAPER

New York Times Says Opponent's Election "Would Create Vacancy In Ford Plant and Senate"

A trenchent Detroit supporter of Chase S. Osborn for United States senator calls attention to a most significant drift, as he sees it, in the United States senatorship campaign. Mr. Osborn's strong statement has staged him as the one fighting candidate. It has rallied republicans to him without reference to personal considerations, and a sentiment to the effect that the fight is between Osborn and Ford has crystallized.

Only Osborn and Ford

At the Detroit dinner to the Mexican editors the senatorship was freely referred to by the visiting speakers. There was mention only of Osborn and Ford; no others. This is further indicated, the Osborn partisan states, by the fact that the Chicago Tribune, with a large circulation especially in southwestern and northern Michigan, has published two strong editorials in favor of Mr. Osborn, which do not mention any other candidate except Mr. Ford. There is editorial criticism covering the entire country of the partisan boldness of President Wilson in requesting Mr. Ford to run. They term the deal an attempt to secure another rubber stamp senator for Mr. Wilson.

Howard Coffin "The Goat"

Mr. Osborn calls attention to another phase of the war program situation. He says Howard Coffin, of Detroit, was made a goat by the administration because Secretary Baker made inaccurate representations as to possible airplane production without the sanction of Mr. Coffin and others who knew they could not meet them. Then, when the country wrathfully called for an accounting, Mr. Coffin was let out and Mr. Ryan put in so as to mask the errors, and just at a time when Mr. Ryan and the administration could start on a new deal apparently, but in reality only the utilization of the organization and development already created by Mr. Coffin.

Blames Ford and Bryan

Mr. Osborn says all of the country's embarrassment and delay are chargeable only to those who with lack of vision or temperament prevented necessary and timely preparedness. Most responsible indeed he holds Henry Ford and William Jennings Bryan, and quite naturally agrees with the editorial statement in the New York Times that if Mr. Ford is taken away from the Ford plant where he is needed to put him in the United States senate, there will be a vacancy in both the Ford plant and the senate.

Newberry and Preparedness

Truman H. Newberry is no new convert to Preparedness. He has preached it for twenty years,—he has practised what he preached.

He stood for preparedness away back in 1896, when he helped organize the Michigan Naval Brigade.

As Assistant Secretary of the Navy under Roosevelt he urged preparedness. Speaking in New Orleans in 1907, he said:

"You can put it in the biggest type you have that we must have a bigger navy, and I hope such enlargement will come soon. It is for you people here to use your influence for more appropriations for the building of battleships and cruisers. There is no doubt that we shall need them and the sooner they are built the better."

While Secretary of the Navy, Newberry contended for a Merchant Marine as a preparedness measure.

"A large number of merchant vessels will be required in the event of a serious war," he pleaded

He not only talked preparedness, but be prepared.

He put the Navy on a sure foundation On our entry into the war it was the one branch of our national defense which was prepared.

He backs up his belief in preparedness by being in the service himself. His sons are in the service. His whole family is serving.

Newberry and Preparedness mean the same thing.

Truman H. Newberry is prepared to give Michigan and the nation wonderfully able service in the United States Senate.

DEATH SHOCK TO COMMUNITY

PEOPLE MOURN LOSS OF NEIGHBOR AND FRIEND

Frank Peebles, a Life-Long Resident of Banks Township, Died on Tuesday Last

The people of this community were called on last Thursday to pay their last respects to the dead, when Frank J. Peebles, a life-long resident of Banks township and one of its best citizens, was laid at rest in Boss cemetery.

Mr. Peebles was born near Atwood, September 20, 1870, and died at his home in Ellsworth, June 25, 1918, following an illness of about ten days, and of the serious nature of this final illness few people, even among his closest friends and associates know.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth J. Parsons at Atwood, December 25, 1900, and she together with their two children, Lora, aged 14, and Herbert, aged 9, are left to face the world without the love and care of a true husband and father.

Mr. Peebles was always a hard-working, peace loving man and was held in highest regard by his many friends and business associates. Although by choice a farmer, deceased had been engaged in various other enterprises during his life-time, and was at the time of his death a member of the firm of D. E. Clow & Co., of this village. He had been in very poor health for several years and it was this which forced him to sell his splendid farm on the Atwood road one year ago last spring, in the hope that lighter work and less worry would improve his health, which for a short time it seemingly did, but about three weeks ago he began to fail and continued to do so until his death.

The funeral services conducted by Rev. Eldred, were held from the Congregational church and was attended by what was conceded to be the largest crowd ever attending a funeral in this vicinity.

Mrs. Peebles and children, together with his other relatives, have the deepest sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

The Red Cross is richer by eight dollars which was received from the sale of the chickens donated by John McElroy last week. The poultry was won by Siblo Veenstra and the money will be used for the purchase of yarns for socks.

Bill Patterson has put himself up as a dog fancier and last week purchased a full blooded Scotch coolie purp. Bill however, thinks two dogs are more than enough and will probably sell the registered Alredale which he has been bragging about the past six months.

During the severe storm of last Wednesday night, lightning struck the residence of John Crawford, southeast of town and set the house on fire. The fire was extinguished, however, before much harm was done and no one was injured beyond the fright caused by such an experience.

Miss Ruth Chellcs has been appointed chairman for registration of women and announces Wednesday and Thursday, July 10 and 11, as the day when all women should register for work. Registration will be held at the Blue Hall, Ellsworth, hours: Wednesday, 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 6 p. m.; Thursday, 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 9 p. m.

In last week's Courier mention was made of receiving a communication over the signature of W. Slough, and that a suitable reply would be made in this issue. We have given this matter considerable thought, and after submitting the above mentioned letter to several of our citizens, have decided that it would be an insult to our readers to publish it. Ordinary communications, in language fit to read, will be given publicity, but where one is filled with filth and abuse, we are compelled to ignore them. Its writer only seeks to create a disturbance in his effort to clear himself of certain charges against him, and would hesitate at nothing, fair or unfair, to gain his end. We believe, however, that the matter will soon be settled to the satisfaction of all.

THE PROPER COURSE

Information of Priceless Value to Every Charlevoix Citizen

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with kidney backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement should add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of a Charlevoix citizen who used them and who publicly tells of the benefit derived?

Mrs. W. L. Cowan, 210 Antrim St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered from a severe backache and pains across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly also. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug Store, fixed me up in good shape."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Cowan said: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble, I have recommended them to many people. Doan's certainly are worthy of endorsement."

W. S. S. DRIVE OVER THE TOP

BANKS TOWNSHIP FIRST IN THE COUNTY

Result of Work Shows Community to be One of the Most Loyal in the State

Banks Township went over the top in the drive for War Savings Stamps ahead of any township in the county and probably ahead of any in this section of the country. Every school district went above its quota, the Ellsworth district No. 9 raising about fourteen hundred dollars more than was actually expected of it.

In the township where twenty-two thousand was called for, the citizens put their shoulders to the wheel and when the final returns were in nearly twenty-six thousand had been pledged.

The W. S. S. drive has proved this township to be one of the most loyal in the state, as in addition to their many sons now in the service and the wonderful work in the War Stamp drive, they doubled their quota for the Red Cross and nearly tripled their quota in the third Liberty Loan.

Mrs. Tillotson had a chimney built for their house last week. Mr. Routley of Ellsworth did the work.

The two carpenters who built Mr. Chellis' barn worked on the Tillotson house two days and a half last week.

John Wieland of East Jordan was around here last Friday evening bidding friends goodbye, as he expected to leave the next day to enlist.

Miss Ada Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Torenga went to Camp Custer last week. Mr. and Mrs. Torenga had received word that their son, Bert, was to leave there for another camp this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wielaad, and family spent Sunday in East Jordan with Mr. Wieland's brother, Joe Wieland and family. Miss Kate Wieland of Ellsworth went with them.

A speaker was at the school house Friday afternoon to talk on War Savings Stamps but he will have to get up earlier to sell stamps as everybody had bought their share, so he did not make a speech, but took the names of subscribers and went on to the next place.

RATS AS BIG AS LARGE CATS

AND MOSQUITOES FULLY AS LARGE AS HORNETS

Daily Life of Our Soldier Boys in the Trenches as Told by Doug. Smith and Ruel Chelles

The following letters recently received from "over there" will no doubt be of interest to all who know the writers, Ruel Chelles and Dnug. Smith:

Hdq. Co., 125th Inf., A. E. F.,
June 1, 1918.

"Dear Folks—I received a good letter from you a few days ago and I will try to write you a few words now. If I did not tell you about it you would never imagine that as I write this, I am in a dugout several feet underground. Really, there is nothing very exciting about it. We have an electrie lighting system, but, it is on the hummer most of the time. We have rats as big as a large cat and the mosquitoes are about the size of hornets.

"The weather is sure fine. The sun shines every day. The nights are a little cold sometimes. Well, I don't know if I will ever get this finished or not. There are so very few things to write about. I'll sure have something to talk about when I get back home again. Some people think that the war will be over very soon. I hope that it is true, but, it is hard to tell anything about it.

"Of one thing you may be sure, I am well and while I may not be just exaetly happy, I have seen places that I disliked more than I do this. In your lsst letter you mentioned the faet that they are sending more men over here. The more they send the better. I did not buy any bonds on the third loan. I bought five on the second loan and will have them paid in July. The bonds with the insurance that I carry leaves me thirteen dollars and fifty cents a month. I psy laundry bills and have a little spending money from what is left.

"Ruel and Wren and the other fellows from home are well, but I don't see very much of them. The nrmy that we have today is much different from the army of one year ago.

"I will write to you whenever I can and that is most every week. You need not worry about me. You can bet your last dollar that we will all fight like the devil every chance we get. DOUGLAS."

May 30, 3:15 a. m.

"Dear Leved Ones—If you could see me now in our partially underground homo about 2 kllos (1 mile) fram aur front line—on duty watching for our own signals and boche activity—occasionally going outside to determine artillery hits, and always carrying my revolver out with me. All are ssleep except one Frenchman with me just now. By the way, he has been in nearly every great battle since the war started.

"Just imagine—I am writing by a dim and well concealed light. We have two compartments and a hall, or, rather a trench, a very comfortable little home as long as the boche do not disturb us. At 10:30 four small shells dropped within a few yards spraying our roof with dirt.

"There are four of us here and three Frenchmen. Two of the boys have gone to dinner and will bring ours baek. Wren and the 3rd corporal are on duty just now. The other two are writing. Our living room contsins beds, table, shelves and benches—also electrie lights. We are using candle just now, however, as one of us broke the light last night. Have just been talking about what each other could write in our letters. Of course we have to use sign language mostly but think I will be able to parley French in a few months.

"Wren got Ma's and Joe's letter yesterday morning and he brought me Ruth's and Ma's (to me) last night. Also one from Chub S. whose address now is via London. My letter to him erossed the oeean twice.

"Glnd to get the pictures. I think I asked for some in my letter. a couple of days ago.

"So California had an earthquake? Well, we have them here quite often.

"Am trying the Frenchman's pen, mine is about dry. Sorry to hear about Mr. Tillotson and C. L. Taisey. See by the Courier that Clyde Griffin is at last located at Camp Custer.

"Hesrd about C. L. Taisey from several sources. Got a letter from Beth. Bill Boss and Doug always get the news ahesd of us so you had better quite writing letters on the installment plan.

"I just brought in a handfull of shrapnel that fell here last night. Would have liked to dropped in for the fish fry myself. Glad you had a good time.

"Yes, mother, I remember sitting on your lap a year ago, May 23, and wish I could have done so this year and Wren does also, but we celebrated it late in the evening in No Man's Land. We don't need any towels or handkerehiefs mother, as we can't carry any extras. No, I don't agree with Private Peat on somethings, but that book I asked you to read (of his) contains some good information. Think you will like "A Student in Arms" better.

"Well, am going to get a little more sleep, so goodbye, love to all, RUEL.

SIGNIFICANCE OF MAINTENANCE

BUSINESS METHODS NEEDED

There Should Be a Proper System of Road Maintenance, With Its Auxiliary System of Road Accounts and Financial Control—This Would Place Expenditures on a Sound Basis.

The greatest part of the large annual expenditure for roads is for construction, writes E. W. James, chief of maintenance, United States office of public roads, in the New York Evening Post. Another large part is spent in repairing worn out roads. Very little is spent systematically for maintaining in good condition roads already built. The fact that it is usually impossible to separate expenditures for construction, repair and maintenance indicates the indifferent attitude of local officials toward maintenance. What such indifference means should be thoroughly understood.

The idea of building roads with bond money is a good one. The arrangement can often be made to good business advantage, and is a good device for making posterity share in the payment of a certain advantage that we bequeath to it. But as usually practiced the arrangement of issuing bonds serves actually to shift all payment to posterity and to exhaust the proceeds of the sale in our own generation. We are heavily discounting the future in road building, and unless some change is brought about, financial difficulties are sure to come that can be met only by heavy direct taxes that will have to be expended without any direct benefits.

The first step toward remedying this condition is really a very simple one. Every mile of improved road built by a county from any funds whatever should create a determinable annual liability against the annual road revenues of the county. This liability is determined by a competent engineer as the probable annual cost of maintenance of that particular mile of improved road.

Let us assume the case of a county having $10,000 annual road revenue under the maximum levy. The county already has 300 miles of common dirt roads and is unable to keep them in good condition for $33 per mile, because of the heavy traffic near the market towns. So it plans to issue bonds and to construct gravel roads near the principal market towns or railroad points or centers of population. The question is, How many miles of gravel road should the county build? The engineer advising the county studies the materials available and estimates that roads built with the best local gravel will cost $125 per mile annually to maintain. To maintain the dirt roads at least $30 per mile should be allowed on 100 miles. By a simple computation we find that fifty-six miles of gravel road at $125 is $7,000, and 100 miles of dirt road is $3,000, and our $10,000 revenue is exhausted. This is, then, the limit of such road that the county should construct.

Our county governments are not so efficient as our city governments. However honest county officials may be, however seriously they take their duties, they labor under a heavy burden of habit and custom that practically makes impossible any thorough, effective work by present methods.

In 1914 the United States expended in all $249,055,067 for road work; a quarter of a billion dollars; more than one-third of the value of the 1915 cotton crop at 10 cents per pound. If we would conserve this tremendous annual investment of public wealth in public works so that it may be cumulative in effect and not a dead annual charge for transportation, we must revise our methods of conducting road affairs, introduce proper supervision, proper business methods, and once and for all take roads out of local politics.

The instrumentality for accomplishing these ends is a proper system of road maintenance, with its auxiliary system of road accounts and financial control. Such system will save the community from assuming an undue burden of fixed charges, will provide for the permanent and effective upkeep of the public property represented by the road system, will distribute the annual revenues where traffic and investment values demand, and not as sought by local politicians, and will place the largest single item of public expenditure, that for public roads, on a business basis. The result will be that the huge investment of annual public revenues will have a cumulative value and the public property represented by that investment will be permanently conserved.

"Two-thirds of the feeding value of the alfalfa plant is the leaves," says a writer in the Farm and Fireside. "If the leaves are lost in curing only one-third of the feeding value remains. This makes it important that alfalfa hay be cured so as to save the leaves. This means that the alfalfa must be raked into windrows before the leaves dry or they will fall off. The alfalfa should be raked into windrows an hour or two after being cut. This not only saves the leaves, but also keeps the alfalfa green, and more of the flavor is retained."

BOB MERRIAM NOW BAYONET INSTRUCTOR

Showed Fitness for Position After Two Week's Training

A letter from "Bob" Merriam tells of his promotion. "Bob" evidently is making good—possibly the rap on his head with the swagger stick mentioned in a recent letter had something to do with it. Anyway, we are all glad and hope he will make good in any position he is placed. He writes in his usual characteristic manner, brief as possible and to the point:

Paris Island, June 24.

"Editor Courier—I've been transferred to the bayonet school—two weeks—and I come out as a bayonet instructor. I sure was lucky."

Political Announcement

To the voters of Charlevoix County:

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination as Representative of Charlevoix County in the State Legislature.

It seems to me the duty of a candidate for public office to give to the voters a statement of his reasons for being a candidate and a full outline of his views on public questions. This I shall attempt to do at every opportunity. This office is an important and responsible one, demanding of the man who holds it certain well-known qualifications peculiar to the position. He must zealously represent and protect the interests of his county and at the same time must look to the welfare of the state at large and the nation. Particularly in these trying times should the importance of this office be borne in mind by the people. To be of the greatest service and to accomplish most, he should know men and have a knowledge of public affairs. He must know how to do things and must measure up to the standard of the men chosen to represent the other counties of our state. He must be able to make his county an influence in our legislature and compel the respect of the members of the body in which he sits. Just so far as the man fails in these things the county and state are the losers.

I do not claim to possess all of these qualifications. In fact, if I am nominated and elected, there is no doubt that I would make mistakes and fail to please someone, but my mistakes would not be the result of a faulty intent or lack of effort. However, I am not to be the judge of my fitness and ability. Representative men from all parts of the county seem to give me credit for possessing some common sense and business experience or they would not have urged me to be a candidate.

I firmly believe in the enactment of needed laws but I am opposed to bulky legislation. I am opposed to legislation for the benefit of a few interests who would make capital by spoilation and greed—to take advantage of war times and conditions at the expense of the people. I strongly favor all wise laws which will aid production of all necessities. A broad attitude should be taken by our legislature in relation to measures recommended by President Wilson for the better carrying on of the war. All friction and unnecessary delay and objection must be avoided. To state it briefly, I wish the voters to understand that I stand for good, sound, horse-sense laws, based on broad grounds without any frills and "hobbies."

I came to Charlevoix county 36 years ago and during that time have been identified with its affairs and interested in its growth and development. I believe in "boosting" this wonderful county at every opportunity. I always have and always shall, and if you see fit to select me as your representative I earnestly assure you that I shall spare no effort to maintain and increase the growing prestige and influence of Charlevoix county. I ask your careful consideration of my candidacy at the August Primary.

Very respectfully,

DAIRY NOTES.

Don't neglect to have the box stalls ready for the cows that are to calve in the early spring.

If cream is held too long it will become bitter and hard to churn.

No herd of cows can do well unless the supply of water is abundant and clean. If the herd can be watered in the stable and help themselves so much the better.

Give the heifers that are to calve in the spring very special care. They should have exercise, but not where they can be knocked around by the older cows.

Sometimes a cow is uneasy, steps or moves or even kicks when being milked. See if there are stray hairs on the udder that are being pulled. Remove them by the use of shears.

MARRIED MEN ARE EXEMPT

CHANGE OF CLASSIFICATION OF MARRIED MEN

Exempt Under Certain Conditions—Board Does Not Have to Hunt Men—Their Duty

"The regulations further provide that sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments are engaged in non-productive employments, but this does not include store executives, managers, superintendents nor the heads of such departments as accounting, financial, advertising, credit, purchasing, delivery, receiving, shipping and other departments; does not include registered pharmacists, employed in wholesale and retail drug establishments, and does not include traveling salesmen, buyers, delivery drivers, electricians, engineers, carpet layers, upholsterers nor any employees doing heavy work outside the usual duties of clerks. However, sales clerks, and other clerks include the clerical force in the office and in all departments of stores and mercantile establishments."

A good deal of discussion as to the change of classification of married men has brought out the following information from official source. All draft boards have been notified exemption on the ground of dependants advised to waste no time in the reclassification.

The new regulations will apply particularly to those registrants who signed up at the first registration and who were married after May 18, 1917 but the amended ruling will also apply to the registrants of a week ago who were married since January 15, 1918. Those men will have no claim for dependency by reason of their marriage alone.

Registrants who were married after May 18, 1917, and who registered June 5, 1917, will be placed in class one, under the new ruling from Washington. Registrants who were married after January 15, 1918, and who registered one, and if their claim for dependency rests alone upon the fact of their marriage such claim cannot be considered by the local board as justification for a deferred class.

Two Exceptions

The regulations provide two exceptions in which a deferment to Class 2 may be granted by the local boards. These exceptions are in the case of a 1917 registrant who was married after May 18 of that year and to whose marriage there was a born or unborn child on June 9, 1917 and in the case of a 1918 registrant, who was married prior to January 15, 1918, and to whose marriage there was a born or an unborn child on June 9, 1918. In the case of 1918 registrants, married after January 15, 1918, there are no exceptions and if their dependency claim rests alone on the fact of their marriage, they are placed in Class 1. Registrants who qualify under the two exceptions will be eligible for Class 2.

To cite examples: Black was married May 20, 1917, and registered June 5, 1917. A child was born to the marriage June 2, 1018. Black is entitled to Class 2.

White was married early in June 1917, and registered June 5, of the same year. On June 9, 1018 there were no born or unborn children to the marriage. White will be placed in Class 1.

Green was married last summer but did not have to register until this month. There was a child born or unborn to this marriage before June 9, this month. Green is eligible for Class 2.

Two Important Rulings

An important clause in the regulations provides that the registrants shall present themselves before the boards for reclassification and relieves the board members of any responsibilty in hunting the men who are to be moved ahead in the list. Local board members urge that registrants comply with this regulation as soon as possible and that when they appear before the boards they be prepared to answer such questions as may be necessary to determine the justice of a change.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the livor washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

VOLUME 26. NUMBER 28. TEN PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1918. PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CITY ORDINANCE HELD VALID

AUTO DRIVERS MUST PAY LICENSE ON ALL CARS

Test Case to Decide Validity of Traffic Ordinance Decided in Favor of City of Charlevoix

In a clean-cut, unmistakable decision, circuit judge Mayne has held that in adopting the ordinance the council of the City of Charlevoix were well within their statutory rights.

The ordinance was adopted about a year ago, because of an insistent demand for protection from the automobile owners of the City of Charlevoix, and the owners of cars who spend the summer season here.

The mooted point in the case under which the decision was rendered was an interesting one, and well qualified to test the validity of the entire ordinance.

The defendents, Horace R. Fowler and Theodore Erickson were operating a bus line between the City of Charlevoix and suburban points. They held, it is alleged, that the ordinance did not apply to their business, because their cars were not operated wholly within the corporate limits of the City of Charlevoix.

The judge held, with Lisle Shanahan, city attorney, that the ordinance was well within the powers of the council to adopt, and in rendering his decision a transcript of which is published below, that the city did not have a right to tax, but it did have a legal right to license cars or vehicles used for a profit and to reguiate the movement of private automobiles in the stroets of Charlevoix and that all automobiles entering the city, became amenable to the provisions of the city traffic ordinance.

The congested condition of the streets of Charlevoix in the summer season, make imperative a very careful regulation of the automobile traffic for the protection of car owners as well as pedestrians.

The court having upheld the ordinance it is hoped that there will be no equivocation as to the proper enforcement of this very necessary measure for public safety.

State of Michigan, Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.
The People vs
Horace R. Fowler and Theodore Erickson.

DEATH TAKES CHARLES JONES

Had Been Afflicted With Heart Trouble for Years

The Courier has received news of the death of Charles Jones, formerly a resident of this city, where he resided for many years, until with Mrs. Jones he removed to Detroit where they have since made their home, at 368 W. Hancock Ave. Mr. Jones died in Pittsburg, Penn., where he was visiting his son, on July 2nd, and was buried in that city. He had been afflicted with heart disease for many years, and it was a fatal attack of that trouble that caused his death. Mrs. Jones was with him at the time, having joined him in Pittsburgh but a few days prior.

Charles Jones was born at Unadilla, N. Y., and was married in Philadelphia in 1882, to Annie Vaughan. One son was born to them, Charles Vaughn Jones, and it was at his home that the husband and father passed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had many friends in Charlevoix, and all will regret to learn of his death, and will join the Courier in extending sincere sympathy to the wife and son in their great sorrow.

DRIVE ON FOR W. S. S. SALES

MEETINGS HELD THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE COUNTY

Local Speakers Report One Hundred Per Cent Meetings In Nearby School Houses

The City of Charlevoix may well bestir itself if it is to keep pace with the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps in the county.

Meetings are being held or will be held in every one of the 69 school districts of the county. Judge Mayne addressed a meeting Monday at Maple Grove school house and reports a very well attended meeting.

Lisle Shanahan addressed a meeting at the Walker school in Eveline township and reports an almost 100 per cent meeting in point of attendance and a full 100 per cent in enthusiasm and interest.

At the meeting being held in the townships, speakers are making a strong appeal for woman suffrage, and those attending are requested to register in favor of the movement.

A very telling point of appeal in the new campaign for woman suffrage is this point. Our loyal boys are at war and consequently are non-voters, which practically means a nullification of thousands of patriotic votes. The pro-German element is all at home, and will make its influence felt through the ballots wherever it can be done, and our loyal American women are asking for the ballot to protect our government.

It is safe to say that the mothers and wives and sweethearts of the men at the front have very little patience with an unefficient public official, or one who is not giving a whole-hearted support to our government in its present crisis.

FOURTH OF JULY QUIETLY OBSERVED

Visitors By Hundreds Throng Street All Day

If Charlevoix had pulled off a real Fourth of July celebration, can anyone estimate the number of people who would have been our guests?

But we did not—and a goodly portion of those who did visit the city were disappointed. It was quite evident that a safe, sane fourth did not appeal to them in the least.

Hundreds visited the city during the day. At one time it is estimated that at least 138 cars were parked on Bridge street, not counting those on side streets or in the park.

But we had music, patriotic speeches, and the crowd amused themselves as well as they could.

War Savings Drive

Is On Through Co-Operation of the Merchants, Citizens and Charlevoix Courier—the Quota of Thrift and W. S. S. Will be Oversold

Prizes Given Young Workers—Residents are Asked to Employ Boys and Girls—the Young Folks to Accept Payment in Thrift Stamps

For four weeks commencing today (Wednesday), July 10, the citizens of Charlevoix and Charlevoix County adjacent thereto will institute a War Savings Drive to sell Thrift and War Savings Stamps. With the co-operation of the merchants and citizens in general, the Charlevoix Courier has entered into a campaign to aid the selling of Thrift and War Savings Stamps for the government. Many people are unable to buy Liberty Bonds on account of the amount involved or hesitate to assume the obligation of consecutive payments. This is not true of Thrift and War Savings Stamps, that can be purchased from the postoffice, the banks and the merchants of Charlevoix. A Thrift Stamp can be bought for 25 cents and when a stamp book is filled it can be exchanged for a War Savings Stamp, which earns 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly.

The merchants as a unit will, each week, offer needed merchandise at prices that will effect a saving to the householder, who is requested to invest the savings effected thereby in Thrift Stamps, and a very large number of merchants will give discounts from regular prices, giving Thrift Stamps instead of a cash discount.

$7.50 In Thrift Stamp Prizes for Readers of Merchants Advertising

To further arouse an interest in the subject of careful weekly shopping, the Courier will each week award two prizes in Thrift Stamps to two or the persons who most carefully read the merchant's advertising on the W. S. S. Drive page of the Courier.

$12.00 In Thrift Stamp Prizes for Boy and Girl War Savers

Eight prizes will be given the boys or girls who earn the money to buy the largest number of Thrift Stamps from July 10 to August 6th, 1918. To make the contest a fair one the boys and girls will be divided into two classes, the Junior class will consist of boys and girls up to 10 years of age. The Senior Class those of boys and girls from 10 to 14 years. The Junior Class will be given four prizes: First prize $2.25; 2nd. Prize, $1.50, 3rd Prize $1.25; 4th Prize $1.00, all payable in Thrift Stamps. The Senior Class will be given the same prizes also payable in Thrift Stamps. Householders are requested to help these patriotic boys and girls. They want you to help them by giving them opportunities to earn Thrift Stamps.

The boy Thrift workers are prepared to do any of the following tasks; cutting grass, caring for lawns, running errands, delivering parcels, washing automobiles or any useful work that a boy can do.

The girls are also prepared to do any work that is proper for a girl to do. Payment for work to be made in Thrift Stamps. Try and keep Thrift Stamps in the house, you can buy them at the postoffice, the banks, at most of the leading stores or from your postman. Please remember that these boys and girls are undeveloped, do not let them work beyond their strength and do not give them more stamps than are earned. We want our young folks to grow up with a correct idea of fair dealing.

The Prizes for Boy and Girl Thrifties On Exhibit

The prizes for the boy and girl War Savers will be shown for a week in the window of Fred G. Bellinger and will be awarded August 6, 1918. The prizes for the boy and girl War Savers were contributed by the following citizens of Charlevoix: Dr. R. B. Armstrong, $1.50; Will E. Hampton, $1.00; S. H. Aekley, $1.00; Lisle Shanahan, $1.00; E. V. Madison, .50; Geo. Glados, $1.00; Thomas & Thomas, .75; Adam Pfister, $1.00; Sarah Emrey, .50; Simon H. Rose, $1.00; A. L. Fitch, $1.00; L. P. Adams, .50; R. T. Mears, .50; L. S. See, .75.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS NOW IN THE SERVICE

Claud Volkert Tells of Brilliant Fighting of Marines and Prisoners Taken—Bob Merriam Highly Elated Over His Advancement as Bayonet Instructor

Somewhere in France,
June 1, 1918.

"Dear Uncle Dick—Received two letters from you a couple of days ago. One of the boys brought them to me while I was on duty at our advanced post, and I read them in a dug-out several feet underground.

"The Americans made things pretty warm for Fritz up here on the 29th. They took about 200 prisoners and some advantageous positions. You certainly have read about it in the papers and can imagine where I am—about the distance from Charlevoix to East Jordan north of the place.

"Have been pretty busy of late, but yesterday and today it is again rather quiet. On the 29th I worked all day at the front and had a rather strenuous day. The ruins of the old town where our farthest outpost is located is just 500 yards from the town the Americans took, and the battle was clearly visible. The smoke from the big shells hung over the trenches in big clouds, through which the aviators flew all day long directing the artillery fire. The Germans launched counter-attacks, one after another, but were unable to budge the 'Yankees,' who still hold the old German trenches.

"The shells kept falling all day long into the town where we go to our post. On my last trip one hit the remaining wall of a house over my head and threw so much debris into the road that it was necessary to remove some of it before going on. A few of our cars have additional shrapnel marks, but all the boys came out without a scratch.

"In this town, which I speak of, is an old water wagon overturned in the street. It bears the inscription, 'This Car to all Parts of the City, Except No-Man's Land.' It's rather humorous after being acquainted with the city, but you can't exactly appreciate the humor until you are well back and away from the town.

"You remember what Sherman said about war back in the cannonball days? Well, if he could see this one, I think he would turn over in his grave.

"We are having fine weather all the time and the nights are moonlight, so there is plenty of aerial activity. Nothing of particular interest has happened today, except a small munition dump going up in our back yard, from which a six-inch unexploded shell landed at our back door and smaller pieces flew all about.

"I received a Courier a few days ago and noticed that Bob Bridge was at Camp Logan. What branch of the service is he in? I took a German prisoner, who had been wounded, up to divisional headquarters to be interrogated. Tried to get some souvenirs but he only had one button left on his uniform, so had to be satisfied with that. They are usually pretty well stripped before we get a chance at them.

"How does things look up at the farm this season? Does Charlevoix expect its usual number of visitors?

"Will have to close now, as it is time for supper. Give my best regards to inquiring friends. Your nephey, CLAUD VOLKERT.

AEROPLANE HERO PROVES A FAKE

WAS FORMERLY CONNECTED WITH A CARNIVAL

Now on Way to Detroit to Face Charges Lodged Against Him and Prison Term

August Rennevk, fake airplane hero, forger, and all-around confidence man, arrested last week by Sheriff Novak at Cadillac, is now on his way to Detroit to answer to the charge of having delivered an automobile to a purchaser, collecting the purchase price, and making away with the proceeds to parts unknown.

The story of Renneck's dealing compares well with those of the "Deadwood Dick" variety. For a number of years he was the chief attraction with a carnival company. About eight weeks ago he landed in Detroit and through the influence of a friend, obtained a position with the Telloto Buick Sales Co., of that city. A few weeks ago the Tellote Co. sold a car to one Frederick A. Marsh, and Renneck was sent to deliver the car. He made the delivery, was paid the purchase price by Marsh in three drafts, one for $125.00, one for $100.00, one for $334.00 and cash to the amount of 105.00. Then he disappeared.

—Detroit police officials were on the lookout for him and had notified all agencies far and near. They thought he had gone east, but a news article in a Detroit paper, dated Charlevoix, telling of the arrest of one Lieutenant Frederick A. Marsh by Sheriff Novak, gave them a clue with the result that investigation revealed that Marsh was their man, and on Tuesday they sent Policeman Santell here for him. Santell returned to Detroit Tuesday evening with his man.

The boldness of Marsh's operations was a surprise to all. The purchaser of the car, Marsh, whose name he assumed, had no military connections whatever, and Renneck's stories of his adventures were pure fiction and imaginary. He deposited the draft for $334.00 in one of the local banks and the others were recovered by Sheriff Novak. Holders of checks drawn by him are without a doubt loosers. Thus we are deprived of the privilege of entertaining a real hero.

CANADIAN NURSE HERE ON A VISIT

Was On Ocean Time Lusitania Was Sunk by Submarine

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Mills of Marion township, are enjoying a visit this week from their sister-in-law, Mrs. Read of Stratford, Ontario, and their niece, Helen Read. Miss Read enlisted as a trained nurse for overseas service and crossed in April, 1015, with 95 nurses who had been selected from several hundred aspirants who deemed it a great privilege to serve their country in that capacity.

Miss Read was matron at Shomcliffe, England, for a year. Then she was transferred to Boulogne, France for another year, where she was close behind the firing line and where about 600 wounded soldiers were usually being treated.

She returned to Canada on the hospital ship Letitia, which was wrecked on the next voyage. She was also on the water when the Lusitania was sunk, but on another transport.

Since returning to Canada Miss Read has been matron of the Byron sanitarium for returned tubercular soldiers, and is now being transferred to Kingston, Ontario.

Canadian nurses are enlisted in the army for service the same as an officer and carry the rank of lieutenant, indicated by two stars on the shoulder, instead of stripes, as Yankees do. A matron ranks as a captain and wears three stars. Miss Read also wears a badge for service at the front, presented by the Canadian government.

TO MICHIGAN; NOT FORD

It is a most astonishing political phenomenon presented in Michigan, where the moral right of the Republican party to do anything except accept Henry Ford as a candidate for the United States senate is questioned.

There is a spirited endeavor to make it appear that a contest against Mr. Ford will savor of the devil and his works and can at the best be animated by nothing but reprehensible motives of the ugliest political selfishness.

Here we dissent. No state is an isolated unit in the selection of its representatives in congress. It is isolated in its right of choice, but not in the influence which that choice has upon the country.

Upon some of the biggest questions of Americanism, Henry Ford is, to our way of thinking, wrong. He is dangerously wrong. He has not changed his ideas, so far as we have been able to discover. He may have suspended them for the period of the war. The chances are they will reassert themselves as soon as the war is over and Henry Ford, with the ideas he had before the war, is not the kind of an American Michigan ought to send to the United States senate.

We agree with Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Ford's conceptions of Americanism, advertised by a prodigality in the use of money, did a great deal to corrupt American opinion. At a time when a wise nation would have been strengthening itself against a trial it could see approaching, Mr. Ford used his money to persuade the American people that the talk of war came from munition makers, war profiteers, armament makers, builders of warships, and cannon manufacturers.

He persuaded them, or tried to, that the war profiteer was urging the United States into war, and that the first move in this malign scheme would be to induce the people to look to their defenses. It is a serious responsibility Mr. Ford has to face, that of a man who played upon the credulity, suspicions and prejudices of people with such base accusations and thus persuaded them to take the perilous chances this nation took.

The banks of the Somme, the Aisne, the Marne, have testimonials of the frightful chances this nation took. British and French frankly say that they are relieved and have renewed confidence now. Why? Because American troops are coming in. The British and French can hold out. The Americans are coming. But the terrible days when the Germans might have crushed the allies are bitter in memory. They were terrible days because the Americans were not here. The Americans were not there because this nation would not do in preparation what it ought to have done when time was given. This nation did not do what it ought to have done because men such as Henry Ford used great influence and much money to tell Americans they did not need to prepare and that if they did prepare they were the victims of war profiteers.

We see no evidence of a genuine change of opinion in Mr. Ford. We have no confidence in the judgment of a man who can work to prepare a catastrophe and then, when the event showing how wrong he was and how dangerous he was, show how active he can be after the damage is done.

Mr. Ford's gift is not statesmanship. That requires qualities he does not possess. When this nation comes to its big decisions in congress Michigan ought to have men in the senate whose opinions, acts, and influence will not commit or help commit the nation to some gigantic and dangerous folly.

Mr. Ford's humanitarian impulses may be all right. They do not give him a sane voice on national policies. There is moral obligation upon the Republicans of Michigan to see to it that if Henry Ford goes to the United States senate he goes in spite of the most desperate fight which could be made.

Michigan is an American state, a state of ardent and intense Americanism. If Mr. Ford is an ardent American we'd like to have him state his new policies. If they are sound they will constitute the most serious rebuke of his past acts which anyone could frame. If he is the Ford of those war-profiteer advertisements he is not the man Michigan ought to give the nation as a senator.—Chicago Tribune.

WHY WE MUST SAVE AND BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

When the quaint, beautiful cities of Maline, Termonde, Lierre, Dixmunde, Ypres and Louvain had been ruthlessly sacked, demolished, and their treasures and works of art scattered to the four winds of the earth, our hearts were sad, yet we still had hope, knowing the seriousness of war and trusting and believing in God. We still prayed for peace.

When General von Bissing told our national representative of the Red Cross that starvation was a powerful weapon and that when France and England ceased to provide food for the old men, women and children of Belgium, that they would be driven in the face of shell fire across the firing lines into France, we hung our heads in hopeless despair.

The fires kindled within us are not the making of a day or an incident, but of three long, heart-breaking years of such inhuman Prussian cruelties that we have wondered if a just God still lives.

This war was not of our own making. When the news was flashed across the ocean of the sinking of the Lusitania, carrying to ocean graves hundreds of defenceless American men, women and children, their cries from across the ocean depths bore to our ears and our hearts, the facts that we dreaded, that a people fed for years on poisoned, aristocratic militarism had turned a nation into a madhouse.

That we were being challenged for a war with a nation headed by a despot of brutal conscience, whose policy was ruthlessness, starvation and desolation. Now, having been forced into this war, we must win it. Your Uncle Sam has his hands full now. His quarrel is just. His heart is sound. He is your Uncle Sam and he is mine and he is fighting for you and me and our children and our children's children.

We believe in orderly representative government. We elected our rulers and we are in favor of standing by them. We have no use for slackers or their slanders, or their innuendos, as to the conduct of our government officials. We are for this war, we are in it, not a war of our own choosing, but a war forced upon us, and we at home must not go back on our boys at the front.

We must make good and when our government asks us to save and loan our savings to support, arm and provide for the boys who go over to make our homes here safe, we must buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps, we must support our government to the last red copper.

We'll talk peace when we lick Germany and have licked her thoroughly.

The great newspapers of the United States, commenting upon the Michigan senatorial situation, are one hundred per cent pro-Osborn. This fact is worthy of note by the voters of Michigan.

Do not forget that war savings stamps are not for children only. Most of the squandering is done by the grown-ups.

Can you refuse to loan your savings when other men give their lives? Buy war savings stamps.

Help fight the war. Pay your way with War Savings Stamps if you can not go to the front.

BURNING MATCH —CLOTHES AFIRE

Little Carle Lusk Hes Narrow Escape From Serious Burning

Night Policeman Charles Howard is suffering from a severely burned hand, obtained while smothering the flames which came near causing the death or terribla burning of his grand-daughter, Carla Lusk.

The little girl was playing near the jail where some prisoners were working. One of them asked her to run into the house and fetch him a match. On returning with the match the prisoner asked her to light it, which she did, and in some manner set fire to her dresses, which in an instant were in flsmes.

Her grandfather, Mr. Howard, was standing near, and in a second reached her and smothered the flames, with his bare hands. The little miss was severely burned on ths right arm, and side, also her hair and eye lashes. Mr. Howard's left hand was also badly burned. Had he reached tha little girl a minute later, there is no doubt but that she would have burned to death.

HOTEL AT WALLOON LAKE BURNS TO GROUND

Lakeside Hotel Was Built Some Forty Years Ago

The Lakeside hotel on Walloon Lake was totally destroyed hy fire about 5:30 o'clock Monday morning, July 1. The hotel was built about forty years ago by C. H. Canburn and was mnnaged at the time of its destruction by Mrs. Canburn. The hotel was originally a large farm residence, but was grently enlarged into a pleasant summer hotel, every room of which was reserved for this year. Several cottages adorn the farm on which the hotel stood, they did not burn. The property was partially insured and it will probably be rebuilt.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Association of Probate Judges of Michigan will be held at Traverse City, July 10, 11 and 12, 1918. The Probate office in Charlevoix county will be closed on those days for the purpose of attending the meeting.

To the Citizens of the Eleventh Congressional District

I hereby announce my candidacy for renomination to Congress at tha coming Republican primaries.

During my incumbency as your Congressman I have assiduously endeavored to fully and faithfully perform the duties of the office with which you have honored me. Congress is now in session and has been, almost continuously, during the past two years. The work of your office has prevented mo from sooner indicating my desire to continue as your Congressman. My constant attendance and unqualified support of the war programme, my votes on wnr legislation, national prohibition, war prohibition, suffrage, immigration, spy legislation and constructiva laws bespeak my future conduct louder than vociferous promisss on the eve of election. By my votes and actions here I have ettempted to portray the advised judgment and the sterling Americanism of our District. I am authoratively advised that my renomination is being secretly opposed by influential persons in our District who were averss to the position taken by our country in this war. This opposition was expected and is gratifying. If I am continued as your Congressman I wish to feel and know that the honor was bestowed by an Amerlcan eitizenry whoss one aim and ons purpose at this time is "to win this war with victory."

If you considsr by expérience here during the past two years of value for the other months of eqnal importance to come I shall be glad to continue to serve you in Congress. I deeply appreciate the honor you have already bestowed upon me, and I trust my actions in your behalf merit an expression of your continued confidence. Very sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Jones Lewis, Nora Ward and Mrs. Pant spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Coykendall of Pleasant Valley and had a feast of strawberries and enjoyed themselves immensely.

School meeting was held with a short patriotic program, recitations, readings and songs. A song "Rally 'Round the Flay, Boys," by Vera Shearer, Ruby and Vivian Webster was fine. Answer to encore with a song, "Old Glory's Garden Brigade" which was grand. Gilbert Ferris was elected director to fill vacancy. Dee Sneathen was re-elected Treasurer.

A Patriotic Duty.

We owe it as a patriotic duty to onrselves and our friends to keep in a happy frame of mind. With depressed spirits we cannot do our best. And now, if ever, we should keep ourselves in such condition that we can fulfill to the utmost every duty imposed upon us. Let us cultivate daily the happy frame of mind which makes the rest of the world laugh with us.

FREEDOM OF INTERCOURSE

My interest in good roads is not merely an interest in the pleasure of riding in automobiles, it is not merely an interest in the very much more important matter of affording the farmers of this country and the residents in villages the means of ready access to such neighboring markets as they need for the economic benefit, but it is also the interest in weaving as complicated and elaborate a net of neighborhood and state and national opinions together as it is possible to weave. It is of the most fundamental importance that the United States should think in big pieces, should think together, should think ultimately as a whole. I believe that the development of great systems of roads is, psychologically speaking as well as physically speaking, a task of statesmanship. I believe that it is the proper study of the statesman to bind communities together and open their intercourse so that it will flow with absolute freedom and facility.—President Wilson.

IMPROVED KANSAS ROADS.

Public Sentiment For Better Highways Is Increasing Rapidly.

A marked improvement in Kansas roads is noticeable in all parts of the state and especially in those counties where the road work has been placed under the direct supervision of a county engineer.

"County boards are beginning to realize that their many other duties make it impossible for them to give proper attention to the county roads," said W. S. Gearhart, state highway engineer. "Where the county engineer and county boards work co-operatively much good work is done and it is done more efficiently than could possibly have been done by the board alone. Under this system, now being carried out in a number of the counties, the county board determines what road work shall be done and the county engineer is made directly responsible for carrying out their plans.

"Sentiment in favor of better roads for Kansas is increasing rapidly because so many persons have had opportunity to observe what other states are doing along this line. The earth roads in this state are the best in the country, but it is hard to keep them in repair, especially in wet seasons. The summer rains of 1915 caused the bottom to drop out of our earth roads, and they are just now being brought back into their former condition.

"Roads are being built with the idea of permanency. In many communities temporary makeshifts are no longer tolerated. Cement culverts replace dilapidated bridges, and all other road improvement is of a more durable character than formerly.

"Kansas now has an average of one automobile for avery mile of road, and if the state expects to keep pace with this increasing traffic the main traveled roads sooner or later must be surfaced with durable materials. Of all the different kinds of material available for road surfacing gravel probably is the best for Kansas conditions so long as the traffic does not exceed 200 vehicles a day. When the traffic increases beyond this number brick or cement is the best material.

"Gravel deposits are numerous throughout all of that part of Kansas east of a north and south line through Solomon. This fact makes gravel the cheapest surfacing material. Because it is so plentiful and so easily obtained it is cheap in respect to both first cost and maintenance."

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS NEEDED.

Demand For Trained Men Greater Than the Supply.

College and university students who specialize in the highway engineering branches of civil engineering courses will find unusual opportunities henceforth of securing early employment and good pay after winning their degrees. There has long been a decided lack of trained road engineers, and the demand for them is increasing rapidly. Probably no other branch in engineering offers such sure reward at this time. Eighteen state highway commissions out of twenty-four reporting to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in New York city state that there is a lack of trained road engineers, and sixteen say that preference would be given to graduates of college highway engineering courses in the appointment of additional road engineers.

Nearly 1,000 engineers are now employed by the twenty-four state commissions, and in addition about 2,000 are employed as county and city engineers in nineteen of the states. Salaries of highway engineers range from $900 to $3,000 a year. The average is about $1,500. There has been a tremendous increase in highway improvement throughout the country during recent years, and the demand for good roads is growing rapidly. Highway commissioners report that they expect the number of engineers employed by the state highway departments will be doubled within five years. Enactment of the federal good roads bill appropriating $75,000,000 for construction of public roads during the next five years, provided the various states appropriate an equal amount, assures the expenditure of $150,000,000 on main state highways in that period. This will greatly stimulate the building of minor roads by the states and counties.

THE CADDIE COLUMN

(A column edited by the Caddie master for the purpose of sharpening the caddies' interest in their work and keeping parents in touch with those in charge of the boys at the golf grounds.)

—o—

The golf club house now has two flags: a service flag and an American flag. There are stars in the service flag for the following boys, who have been employees or caddies at the links within the last five years: James Gaskin, Jr., Harry Alcock, Ernie Olney, John Gabrielson, Isaac Willis, Dick Finucan, Will Linn, Frank Contta, Russell Wyers, Ray Solomon, Harold Usher, Glen Kirby, Ted Kibbe, Adolphus Allard, Warren Kibbe, Frank Poole and Jack Adams. Additional stars have been bought to put on for boys who enter the service from now on. It is very difficult to make a correct list of the boys already in, and the caddie master will appreciate any help either in correcting the above list or adding to it. The flags, which will each be five feet by nine, are the gifts of the Charlevoix golf club, and will be hung in the porch of the golf club house, at the links.

—o—

The "dime-a-week" club has increased to fifty-four members, making the amount turned over to the Red Cross last week $5.40. Lewis O'Neil has paid the whole ten weeks already.

—o—

A Thrift Stamp group is also being formed, the members of which agree to buy one or more stamps each week. Twenty boys have signed up for this so far, most of them having agreed to buy two stamps a week. The golf club will pay the ten per cent savings prizes on Thrift and War Savings Stamps just as it will on savings in the banks. Save your money and help put an end to the war! We want our boys back home. Enough quarters will finally bring them.

—o—

Eighty numbers have been given out so far, though not all the boys have been examined. The following have been accepted as registered caddies: Clayton Trimble, James Marsh, Gilbert Gordon, Wm. Paddock, Roy Ance, John Woods, Archie Shearer, Earl Collins, Donald Swinton, Claire Myers, Hubert McCann, Harold Taylor, Emerald Loskot, Clinton Sanford, Vern Sanford, Roy Copping, John Burns, Alfred Pontius, Vane Smith, Leonard Burns, Kenneth Pierce, Chas. Dewey, Wm. Wood and Fred Norton.

—o—

Henvier play commenced after the Fourth of July. If every boy who registered would come regularly to work, there might be enough. But knowing the habits of boys, the caddie master is going to start training a class of girls to step in and help out in the rush times. He hopes to get together a class of fifteen girls this week. Girls interested should get word to the caddie master immediately, or come and see him themselves at the Alcock home.

—o—

Be regular and punctual, and earn —be thrifty, and save!

THE WEEKLY TIP

—o—

Independence

We have just lately celebrated again the signing of the Declaration of Independence. A tip about independence will not be out of place here.

Every true American boy loves independence. He ought to, for that is what America means. But he ought not to get the wrong idea of independence, for it will make a fool of him every time.

According to the wrong idea of independence, the only absolutely independent man is the insane man in the charity asylum. He is independent because it makes no difference to him what other people do, and what he does makes no difference to them. This is the only way you can become independent if you think being independent means cutting loose from everyone else, for we are dependent as long as we need and use what others make, as long as we care about what they do.

According to the right idea of independence, you are independent only when you sell your labor or your goods honestly, value for value; when you say and do what you know know to be right in spite of the jeering crowd which you know to be wrong, when you stick to a hard or unpleasant job until it is done; when you treat your companions according to the golden rule; when your actions and transactions are clean, your debts honorable, and your promises as good as gold.

This is the true meaning of real independence, the kind of independence which gives you the right not to snap your fingers in everybody's face, but the right to look everybody square in the face, without fear, without shame.

THE COLD SPRING CEDARS
(Ironton)

Twisted, weathered friends of mine
Patient through each hundred years,
With the younger spruce and pine
How your company endears
Every hour by thee I spend
At the spring which 'neath thee flows,
Where desire comes to its end
As on me thy beauty grows.
Could there be more charming spot,
One where nature so does speak
Cheered by the forget-me-not,
Where the squirrel hide and seek
Where I hear the sea-gulls call
O'er the lake blue to the west
Where the waves do rise and fall
'Long the shore where plover rest.
Cedars, how I envy thee!
Set in such an company!

PAPERS HIT HARD IN NEXT ADVANCE

ANOTHER RAISE THOUGHT TO BE INEVITABLE

Increase in Price of Printing Material Will Add Burden to Publisher and Buyer

Another raise in the price of news print paper is considered inevitable by officials of the federal trade commission. Operation of the Canadian draft law together with the granting of an increased wage of ten cents per hour to all workers in print paper mills is certain to cause the price to soar.

Former Reports Erroneous

Reports to the effect that the prices recently fixed for print paper by the federal trade commission were to remain for the duration of the war and three months thereafter are wholly erroneous. The agreement entered into gives the commission the right to fix prices during this time. But it may fix and refix prices many times. Factors which make a further raise in the price of print paper inevitable are :The general tendency toward high prices during wartime; the grant of a raise in wages to workers in print paper mills; the scarcity of labor due to the draft and especially the Canadian draft law which will hit the Quebec paper mills hard; the increase in freight rates. Paper mills are expected to operate at only about 75 per cent of their capacity this year.

Publishers May Appeal

The request of the price of print paper can be opened at any time by the federal trade commission itself. The paper manufacturers or the publishers may appeal from the order fixing the price to the circuit court. Either party may also open the case before the federal trade commission. Some such action in regard to fixing of a new price is certain to be taken by the dissatisfied paper makers, as it looks as if the newspapers are to have another burden added to their financial responsibilities, which already include paper prices much above the old rates, income, corporation and excess profits taxes, the tax on advertising and the impending zone system of postal rates.

AMERICANS IN PRISON CAMPS

Red Cross Preparing to Take Good Care of Them

Germany now has twenty-seven prison camps where American soldiers captured in battle are held.

The American Red Cross has accurate information about these camps and with the aid of the Swiss Red Cross keeps our soldiers and sailors supplied with nourishing food, new clothing, soap and other necessaries.

At the beginning of June there were about 300 men in uniform in German prison camps. The American troops have captured considerably more than 1,000 Germans, so the score is more than even in that respect.

In Berne, Switzerland, the American Red Cross has a great warehouse from which is sent to each American prisoner in Germany twenty pounds of food every week. Our government pays for this food and equipment and the Red Cross sees that it reaches the men.

Already there are enough supplies in the Red Cross warehouse at Berne to take care of 22,000 American prisoners—if the Germans can take that number!

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

Tilling the Soil.

No race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem. It is at the bottom of life we must begin, and not at the top. Nor should we permit our grievances to overshadow our opportunity.—Booker T. Washington.

TRAFFIC COP RIGHT ON JOB

Reported to Have Pinched Two Autoists for Speeding

Speed fiends and road hogs had better think twice—also give half the road—for Charlevoix's new traffic cop is reported to be right on the job.

Reports are on the street as we go to press that he had nabbed two would-be Bob Burman's for speeding, and had quite a number under surveillance, with arrest facing them if they keep up the pace they have been going.

Good work—keep it up. A lesson of this kind will do considerable good to some auto drivers, who have no regard for the rights of others and who speed along the road without thinking of the danger they subject others to.

ARMY TRAINING IS TELLING ON RAW RECRUIT

Glen C. Townsend Fast Becoming Accustomed to Strenuous Training at Paris Island

Glen Townsend writes the following interesting letter from Paris Island, where he is atationed at the Marine Barracks, and as practically every one in this vicinity knows Glen and will be glad to hear from him, and as his duties do not allow him much time for correspondence, we reproduce the letter so that his many friends may know how he fares:

Paris Island, June 29, 1918.

"Friend Art—Well here I am settled and on the job. Have been in two weeks tomorrow, but have been so very busy and a lack of writing material has kept me from writing before. Wish some of the good money donated to the Y. M. C. A. was spent here. They have been out of writing paper and envelopes ever since we came and as many of the boys depend on this source for their paper, they are put to some inconvenience. But every dollar that is given to the Y. M. C. A. is as well spent and does as much good as donated to any other branch, as their work reaches far and wide in army work.

"Made a fine trip down although it was pretty hot most of the time. Left Detroit Tuesday morning, June 11, in company with seven other fellows from Michigan among whom were Bruce Cross and Ilelton Milford of East Jordan. Was mighty glad to see them and we get together as often as possible, even though we are in separate companies, but all in the same battalion, so we will go out together if nothing happens. Cross is in 169th Co. Milford 170th and myself 171st.

"We took the Queen and Crescent route, passing through Toledo, Lima, Dayton, Wapsganta and Cincinnati, Ohio, and thence by way of Lexington, Ky., Chattanooga, Tenn., Atlanta and Auguata, Ga., to Port Royal, our port of embarkation for the Island. Passed through Kentucky mostly at night, but saw Lookout Mt. early in the morning. What I saw of it looked good. Tennessee was fair with some fine scenery, but Georgia looked to me like the end of the world. South Carolina is not so bad.

"We landed on the Island, Thursday evening, June 14, and marched to applicants camp, about two miles, where a good supper was provided for us. We stayed there until Sunday the 16th, in the meantime taking final examinations and being sworn in, etc., at which time we were marched to the quarantine camp, six miles, where we now are. Have been here just two weeks and expect to leave any day for the manoeuver grounds, although we are expected ordinarily to stay here three weeks. We get about three weeks at manoeuver grounds, where we finish our drills, and three weeks on the rifle range, after completion of which we go somewhere—no one knows where.

"We have received very stiff training here and am getting hard as a nut—5:30 a. m. to 9:00 p. m., every day except Saturday p. m., when we take shots for typhoid fever, etc., and have little to do on Sunday except wash clothes, dress up inspection, etc. Have a fine chaplain here conducting services, and it is a pleasure to hear him after the rough stuff we get all the week.

"Men are coming into the applicant camp at the rate of 200 or more a day and looks as if the Marines would be recruited to full strength soon, the government wishing to recruit up to 75,000 men. The spirit of the men is fine. We have some quite talented men with us. The marines are known as the best trained soldiers in the world and consequently draw large numbers of recruits, some very good men. The navy men call us the Leatherbacks.

"We have very warm weather here all the time and little rain. Suffered greatly from blistered feet and arms and back from sunburn, but am nearly all healed up now. Have been swimming in the old Atlantic several times which is a great relief after a hot days drill.

"We are also blessed with shower baths and conditions are good in general and being made more so as fast as possible for our accommodation. Eats are plenty but like most army chow is tiresome to us who have been used to other things. All the fellows are crazy for something sweet and when we can get hold of anything like chocolate, cookies, etc., think we are blessed. Get very little sweet of any kind here. Fellow in next tent gave me chocolate bar sent him from home and I whistled and sang all p. m. over the taste left in my mouth. We will be glad to finish our training and get shipped out somewhere in God's country again. No civilians are allowed on this Island at all. Am wondering how everyone is coming at Ellsworth. Would be glad to have any of my friends write me at any time as letters from home are certainly enjoyed and as we get so very little time for writing it will take me some time to get a letter off to all my friends. My address is: Pvt. Glen C. Townsend, 171st Co., Marine Barracks, Paris Island, So. Carolina.

"Keep up the good work you are doing there for the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and W. S. S. and Liberty Loan. All you can possibly do is needed and we trust in all good time we will be allowed to return to our homes and enjoy the benefits of peace. With best wishes to all and regards to yourself and family. I am,

Sincerely yours,
GLEN C. TOWNSEND.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

DRAFT HORSE ACTION.

Snappy Walk With Long Stride Indicates the Good Ground Coverer.

Proper action in the draft horse is important, according to David Gray, assistant in animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. Size and power are of little value if the horse has not enough agility to handle big weight in a manner yielding the greatest efficiency.

Action of the draft horse should be clean, bold and rather stylish. In moving the feet should be carried forward and back in a straight line without paddling, winging or other irregularity of gait. In order to get the best and greatest stride with the least energy it is absolutely necessary that the feet move straight and smooth without defects of gait.

Knee action in the draft horse is not of great importance. A long stride which covers considerable ground is much more important than high knee action, as ability to cover ground is what is wanted. The walk is the important gait. It should be snappy and true with a good length of stride.

First American Newspaper.

The first American newspaper was the "Publick Occurrences," the first number of which appeared in Boston September 25, 1690. The publisher and editor was Benjamin Harris of anabaptist and antimonarchical tendencies. Owing to a charge brought by him against Louis XIV his paper was suppressed by the governor of the colony. Harris was afterwards made official printer of the colony.

ANSWERS TO FINAL ROLL CALL

CHRISTY C. EMPEY DIES AT CAMP MACARTHUR

Gave His Life for Cause of Liberty as Genuinely as If He Had Died on Battlefield

When, on June 28th, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Empey, living six miles west of Ellsworth, received a telegram telling of the death of their son, Christy C. Empey at the base hospital at Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, the first casualty directly effecting this community was announced.

Mr. Empey entered the service of the U. S. on May 10, 1918, and after a short period of training at Columbus, Ohio, was transfered to Camp MacArthur and assigned to the 19th machine gun company. He was nearly ready for overseas service when called by death.

Deceased was born at East Jordan, Charlevoix county, October 30, 1890, and moved with his parents to the farm west of Ellsworth in 1896. He had been troubled with a form of heart disease for a number of years and it was a source of wonder to the relatives and friends how he managed to pass the rigid physical examination for entrance into the army.

The body arrived in Ellsworth on Wednesday of last week and was taken to the home and funeral services were held the following day, July 4th, from the M. E. Church at Atwood, conducted by Rev. Walker of Charlevoix, and interment was at the cemetery at Norwood.

"Crist," as he was commonly called, was the second of four children, two brothers Guy and Percy, being at home and one sister, Mrs. Ethel Kirby, residing at Charlevoix. He was of a jolly, light-hearted nature and was loved alike by young and old, and although the family are nearly heartbroken at their loss, they realize that he as truly gave his life for the cause of liberty as though he had made the supreme sacrifice on the bloody fields of far-off France.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

The committee serving in Banks township school district No. 2 on the W. S. S. drive wish to thank the people for the noble and generous response met with in this work. Naturally a few were a little on the slow order, but not one in the district had to be listed as a slacker in this drive. CITY ORDINANCE HELD VALID

A. 1915, which provides for levying a specific tax upon automobiles and exempts them from all other forms of taxation.

Independent of said Act, the authority conferred upon the city is to regulate, and this authority can not be invoked to create a revenue measure. Incidentally the amount realized may exceed the actual expense directly traceable to such regulation. The cost of regulation necessarily varies in different cities. An inland city located on one line of railroad does not require the same regulation as a resort city having both railroad and steamboat service, and located in "dry" territory entirely surrounded by "wet" within easy reach by auto, over roads that permit of high rate of speed. The "night life" of such a city calls for protection of both life and property. All classes of people visit summer resorts, and special regulations of this class of business is necessary for the protection of the many interests likely to be injuriously affected.

The license fee must be reasonable and when questioned it's reasonableness presents a question of judicial determination. I can not find that it has ever been judicially determined as to what would be a reasonable license fee for motor vehicles. It is practically impossible to name a fee that would meet every case, or even a given case, and exactly balance the debit and credit side of the account.

It has been held that "the fee should not exceed the necessary or probable expense of issuing the license and of inspecting and regulating the business covered by it."

The present case is a good illustration, the receipts are shown in full, the expenses only part. Official records must be kept and this takes the time of the officers and requires an expenditure of money for the books in which to keep such records. Then, too, in cities of the fourth class the sheriff's force aids in policing the city and the courts are called upon to hear matters arising under the ordinances.

It would be impossible to apportion the salary of the police officers alone and say how much of the expense should be applied to police regulation.

Under these circumstances we may safely apply the rule stated by our own Supreme Court: "What is a reasonable fee must depend largely upon the sound discretion of the City Council, having reference to all the circumstances and necessities of the case; and unless the amount is manifestly unreasonable in view of its purpose as a police regulation, the court will not adjudge it a tax."

"Every presumption is indulged in favor of the reasonableness of the ordinance."

Standing alone the maximum fee of fifty dollars might be considered a tax, but no such case has arisen or may ever arise. I therefore hold Ordinance No. 135 to be valid.

FREDERICK H. MAYNE,
Circuit Judge.

answer, so I have given it up as a bad job.

"Mother, you don't want to believe much of that paper news, for they exaggerate too much and make a whole lot out of nothing. We are now on our way back to a rest camp, from our first trick on the line. None of us gassed or hurt from the shells, although we have had some real close calls. We have seen some aeroplane fights, and have seen two of them fall.

"Where we work is only about as far as Orlowski's store from home, and they always send us shells, but not gently—they throw them. One day I was looking through a pair of glasses at a baloon and seven, one after the other, burst around me so quickly that I could hear the angels sing "Nearer my God to Thee," but these dugouts are so good that if you are lucky enough to get inside why you can laugh at the Kaiser's messages as they whiz by.

"The Frenchmen we work with are sure nice fellows—young and good fighters, so we feel pretty safe when we are with them, and if the Boche does not fire, we find it lonesome around the barracks. Lee will soon be with me again. Frankie is here again for a rest.

"I have collected quite a few souvenirs, but I guess they won't allow us to send them, so I will have to keep them and bring them along. We sure have seen a lot of sights and a lot of France. The way some of the boys get shot up is nice, but I guess they will all be home for Christmas (1921.)

"I have not received that package of smoking from Aunt Jennie, but there is so much loss sorting the mail, so if you send anything don't put tobacco on it.

"Have not seen Harry in the last few weeks, so I do not know how he is, but am sure he is O. K., for we hear all the casualties.

"This being Sunday morning, I suppose you all have been to church, but it was so far to walk for me, five miles and then a German sermon, as it does not seem like a mass without an English sermon.

"Well mother I will close for this time, and hope to hear again soon. It sure is a fine country where we are now and is much nicer than where we were first billeted. Say hello to Father Ives for me and I will write to him soon. Am sending a photo of us at work with our friends. Wish I could tell you where we are, so you could follow us on the map, but watch the newspapers, they will tell you where the 125th is.

Lovingly,
ADOLPHUS ALLARD.

"Dearest Grandmother—Just take it from me, I'm lucky. There were seven men in our company including myself, called out yesterday told to pack our seabags and get ready to 'shove off.' As the entire battalion is being split up now, it was not out of the ordinary, but when we were ordered to report to the bayonet school we very nearly dropped dead—and not from joy either, for we had heard tales of that bloodthirsty place, and couldn't get the idea at all. But since we've found out what it is we're about the happiest bunch in this little globe that the Kaiser claims.

"Let me tell you first of all the advantages we have, before I tell you what we do. Our hours are from 7:30 until 11 in the morning, and from 2:00 until 4:30 in the afternoon—nothing to do the rest of the time except on Saturday, when we get off at eleven and have nothing to do until Monday morning at 7:30 again. During that time we can get a liberty pass and go to Beauford or Port Royal, S. C., or Savannah, Ga. We can hire our clothes washed, and never have any inspections of any kind. We wear leather belts and sneaks and get a corporal's rating when we get through the school.

"Naturally we work, but it's regular gym work except the bayonet work, so it's all kinds of fun. There are a lot of things that are different here than in a gym. In wrestling we are taught to more than get your opponents shoulders on the mat. The principle things are to get his soul in the Kaiser's heaven. Captain Winters put it up to us this way: 'When you come up to a Hun without your bayonet, you aren't going to stand up and box with him. Not by any means. If you can't do anything else, hite him.'

We box every day, wrestle, have setting up exercises of every kind and lastly the bayonet. They have the nicest lot of trenches here, as near as possible like those in France, and we learn to crawl in and out of them without prodding each other, and to make a break at the other man when you come over. Of course everyone gets this before they go over, but ours is pretty intensive, for we have to do the teaching in about a month.

"Then too, we get regular gym work, for we are physical instructors as well as bayonet men. We get disarming holds for the bayonet, dagger, pistol, mace, and I guess anything in the world, but that's all we've run up against so far.

"I reckon there are a lot in Charlevoix that would probably laugh at the idea of me as a bayonet man or a physical instructor, but by golly, I'm going to make good at it if I ever make good at anything in my life. It's a case of have to. The little signs they have on the dummy braces, sure do drill that into you. 'If you don't know how, you get killed.' 'If you don't get him he gets you.' Then in the bayonet instructors handbooks—'your business as a soldier is to go out and kill and be killed.'

"But please pity me tomorrow. Every man in the new bunch (party of us) have to box the champion of the island, and I get him tomorrow. We aren't expected to whip him, thank the Lord, but only to learn to stand up and take what he can hand out. I'm glad of one thing. He doesn't try to knock us out, but only to knock us down as often as he can, and try to instil in our minds that there are worse things in the world than a wallop on the jaw. One guy laid down today, and after the swellest cussing in the world was transferred to the galley as a messman, and that's twenty five times worse than being made a cook. Believe me, it doesn't pay to quit on anything in the Marine Corps, until you're down and out, and can't get up on your knees, at least.

"One of the old bunch got a rib cracked today, when they were playing with the heaviest medicine ball in the camp, and last week one fellow got an ankle broken when he hopped into a trench, and lit some fool on the firing step.

"The big thing I like about this, is that we're 'boots' no longer, but Marines, and are spoken to as men, and not animals. Of course I may be here on the Island six months and may never go across, but just the same, it's the best job you can get on the Island.

Three men in the company left for Shanghai, China, two days before I left, and they considered themselves lucky, but I feel as satisfied as any one ever did for they will never see service, except on legation guard duty, while my chances are nine to one that I will get across and when the battalion goes into the trenches I am not an instructor any longer, but just one of the regular doughboys.

"It was fun watching and waiting for your name to be called for your detail. Some went to Miami, Florida, to the Aviation school, some to Utica, N. Y. as machine gunners, some to the range as coaches, some to Philadelphia and Brooklyn as guards at the navy yards, some cooks, some to the non com's school here, some to Quantico, Va., as balloon men, some to the Radio school, some as teamsters, some as truck drivers, some as clerks, print shop and canteen, and the rest will go to Quantica, too, as that is the overseas depot. There were six sent as the guard—ship duty which is the stiffest job in the bunch, for there is an inspection of something or other every fifteen minutes or so.

"That is one of the nine things about the marine corps. You enlist as nothing but a marine, and they put you wherever they want you, while in the army you enlist in a special branch, and do that. But there is the quality of curiosity and hope and anxiety in this that keeps you on the jump every minute, when they start assigning the different details.

"I've been watching the movies from the window for about a half an hour, trying to decide to go, and I've decided at last. I'm going.

"Please notice my new address, and if you'll use it after this, I'll get my mail sooner by a week or so.

"Let's call it quits for this evening. All my love, BOB."

Ford Repairs and Ford Parts

You will find few, if any garages, better equipped to take care of your Ford wants than our garage. We believe we are making a truthful statement when we say that we carry the largest line of Ford parts of any garage in the county. No matter what your car needs, we have it in stock—and should we happen to be short on the particular piece you need, we will get it for you on short notice.

Overland Service Station

A new departure for Charlevoix but never-the-less it will be a success. People rather ride in new, easy riding cars than a rattley Ford or an old, wheezy touring car. Every car placed in service are new ones and we can guarantee you service day or night.

Tires and Accessories

We are selling more tires this season than during previous ones. The reason for it is that we carry the leading makes in all sizes and treads. Your old tire is worth money at this garage when you buy new ones. Our tire offer still remains good. Better buy now.

WIN-THE-WAR MEETING A SUCCESS

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE GATHER AT OPERA HOUSE

Charlevoix Turns Out En Messe to Hear Locel Boy—Overflow Meating at M. E. Church

Long before the hour announced for the meeting, the entrance to the opera house was bsieged by an anxious erowd of people who were unabls to secure admission. It was then determined by the committee in charge to hold an overflow meeting at the Methodist church, the speakers alternating their appearance at each meeting.

Will E. Hampton, aeting as chairman, presided at the meeting at the opera house. With the pardonable pride of a father who has given a son to his country's service, Mr. Hampton's introductory remarks brought a salvo of applause from the assembly.

The first speaker of the evening, Private W. B. Smith, a Chicago boy enlisted with the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles in 1915, when only a boy in his teens, in fact it might be said that he was wearing his first long trouser suit when he was inducted into the Canadian army. When presenting himself to the Canadian recruiting officers and questioned as to his age, with characteristic American "sang freid," he enquired as to what the age of the volunteers should be. When advised that the age of 21 was the minimum age at which a volunteer could be accepted his reply was, "put her down as 21."

Alternating from the sombre side of war to the recital of humorous incidents of his three years' service, he held the undivided attention of a sympathetic and appreciative audience until he retired to go to the Methodist church to resume his address there.

Following Private Smith the Rev. C. E. Taggart spoke briefly and insisted in curtailing his address to allow more time for tho speaker of the evening, Lieut. Victor H. Hampton. The story of this young son of Charlevoix was that of the modest soldier who asks no credit for himself, but all for his comrades in the nation's service.

With the unassuming nonchalance of the typical American fighting doughboy, Vic Hampton had little to say of his own exploits, and yet how many of the vast audience will ever realize the effort he made to minimize the hardships that these boys are meeting in a manly way, taking the brunt with a cheery smile and a joke, and going over the top to stare death in the face and get the Hun or die like an American soldier should.

Whein ordered to the Somme for active service with the marines at Chateau Thierry, the trip was made by lorry in 12 hours. When making the ne'er-to-be-forgotten trip, "the most pitiable thing I ever witnesaed was the aight of the helpless refugees coming back, bereft of everything that mads life liveable, these French peasants were leaving their homes, their all to the inhuman brutallty and destruction of the Boche. Knowing full well from former bitter experience that those despoilers of the soil of Franee would wreak their vengeance on the pitable remnants of the household left behind, and yet these wonderful peeple, old and worn men and women, mothers with a helpless brood of children to care for, turned out to let the Americans pass, and standing erect by a roadside filled with dust until it was almost unbreathable, they cheered and cheered the American beys geing up to relieve the sorely pressed French and English batallion. We told our driver to 'step on her.' We wanted to get there as quick as possible and put a stop to such work."

"The boys, your boy, is safe from contaminating influences over there," is the message he brings to the mothers of Michigan boys in the servjce.

"The Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus are doing a wonderful work for the boys, and in out of the wny places where human habitation would seem impossible, the boys on a night march when you would give the last cent

DEDICATES ITS SERVICE FLAG

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Citizens of Hayes Township Re-affirm Unwavering Support to Nation at Mass Meeting

Saturday afternoon on the border line of Charlevoix and Hayes township, under the shelter of a wide-spreading maple, the men and women of Hayes township gathered to re-affirm their unwavering support of our Nation in its war crisis, and to raise their service flag under the stars and stripes. The service flag unfurled Saturday indicates that ten boys of Hayes township are serving their country, but seven more have entered the service since the present stars were placed upon the flag. The meeting was held at the home of Ernest Peaslee, supervisor of Hayes township.

Hayes township may well be proud of its citizenship. Its Third Liberty Loan quota was $4,700, but it oversubscribed that amount nearly three times, raising its subscription to $12,200.

The meeting was organized under the direction of E. E. Stroud, chairman of the township war board. A musical program was provided by the ladies of the township, patriotic songs were sung to tho accompaniment of an organ carried into the field from one of the neighboring homes.

Lisle Shanahan of Charlevoix delivered the dedication address. A stirring patriotic call to the men and women of Hayes township for continued service and as a preparation for further and greater sacrifices than we have yet been called upon to bear.

Silas Beers rendered a solo, singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The attendance of about 100 persons, considering the fact that practically every man in the audience had left the harvest field where his need was urgent, was a splendid evidence of the patriotism of the citizens of Hayes township.

While the services were being held word came that one of the boys of Hayes township in the service had died while awaiting a transport at an eastern port. This first boy to answer the last roll call is Joseph Anaweski.
